Allerton High School News

Jessie R. Witt, Reporter

The quartettes of the high school are practicing almost every day.

Several attended the Tea last Friday given by the Grade Teachers for the mothers of their pupils.

The Juniors are selling candy in the school building during the noon hour. They also sell pop corn and candy at all home baseball games.

The Freshmen entertained the Sophomores at a party in the Gym last Thursday night. Everyone reported a grand time and the Freshmen are very well pleased.

The Seniors are all busy working on term papers for their American Literature Course. These papers are due Friday. Many sent to the state library for material. There should be some very interesting papers turned in.

The Prince of Peace Declamation contest was held in the M. E. Church Sunday morning. Helen Goodall placed first and received a bronze medal. Weldon Harby placed second, and Wilma Richard third.

On Thursday night of last week an oyster supper was held at the Presbyterian church, several from the high school taking part in the short musical program which was given. Following are the numbers:

Solo, Lazy Bones—Weldon Harby; solo, When the Banjos Ring—Harry Archer; solo, When Mother Plays the Organ—Vivian Eaton; Come to the Fair—Girls Glee Club.

The Allerton basketball team lost to a larger Homer team Wednesday of last week on the Homer floor, 50-19. The second team won, in almost a football game, 19-14.

Referee—Vibbeart. The boys played Sidney, there, Thursday night. Fairmount plays here next Friday, Nov. 24. A real game is expected as the visitors have a fast, scrappy little team which should be a match for our boys. Fairmount lost Rowand, center, and Dickson, forward, two Vermillion county all stars men. With what we think is an improved team over last year we should have an interesting game. Rivalry has been keen between these two schools for years. Last year on our court the visitors outscored the Allerton boys in the last few minutes left to play 24-17.

Wednesday is "Blue Eagle Day" in Danville

The announcement made this week by merchants in Danville that Wednesday, Nov. 22nd was to be observed as "Blue Eagle Day" was warmly welcomed in this community.

Coming at the height of the season, when the public is shopping for winter apparel and cold weather needs; right at the gateway to the holiday season—and with Thanksgiving less than two weeks ahead, the popular Danville retail stores are certain to be thronged all day next Wednesday by those who know all selling events in Danville are real money-saving opportunities.

"Blue Eagle Day" in Danville will give hundreds an opportunity to get their Christmas shopping under way. Thrifty folks will find scores of bargains on sale for this occasion suitable for gift giving.

The event has been well planned and all of the leading stores who will participate will endeavor to prove the popularity of Danville as a shopping center and convince all skeptics that the Danville stores carry larger stocks at money-saving prices, and at all times offer quality merchandise at lowest possible prices.

Danville will prove the mecca for eastern Illinois and western Indiana next Wednesday—Blue Eagle Day. Plan your trip now. Call your friends and be among the first to secure your share of the bargains Danville stores will offer. Blue Eagle Day is your opportunity to save. Don't miss it.

Methodist Aid Meets With Mrs. Leanna Miller

The M. E. Ladies Aid met at the home of Mrs. Leanna Miller on Thursday afternoon of last week, with Mrs. Ida Messman and Mrs. Gladys McClelland assistant hostesses.

The meeting opened with a scripture reading by Mrs. Edna Dicks who led the devotional service.

The president, Mrs. Cora Chafin, had charge of the business meeting.

Refreshments of pumpkin pie with whipped cream, and coffee were served.

Guests were Rev. Edward Hardy and Miss Gladys Neal.

Members present were Mesdames Mary Fitzgerald, Lottie Astell, Cora Chafin, Eva Brewer, Anna Laverick, Frances Smith, Ruth Thode, Mabel Haines, Eva Walker, Rose Smith, Edward Hardy, Ida Messman, Maude Moore, Leanna Miller, Nanny Doney, Gladys McClelland, Edna Dicks, Mary Dicks, Helen Daltzell, and Miss Mildred Neal.

Play "Step Lively" is Well Attended

The two-act play, "Step Lively," given by the pupils of the Broadlands Public school, at the local theater on Monday and Tuesday nights of this week was well attended. This was the first attempt for most of the cast and they played their parts in fine shape, considering the short time they had for practice, which was scarcely more than a week. Total receipts for both nights were about $30. Rex Tyler of Newman directed the play.

Miss Marie Mohr Is Given Party

Ernst Mohr successfully carried out a complete surprise for his sister, Miss Marie, on her 22nd birthday, Wednesday night, and entertained the following persons: Mildred Messman, Eleonora Wienke, Walter Messman, Ralph Messman, Leora Gericke, Wilbur Luth, Raymond Frick, Hilma Luth, Wilma Schweineke, Florence Rothermel, Florence Darley, Frieda Schweineke, Dale Summers, Mildred, Kenneth and "Skinny" Darley, Vera Summers, Milo and Marie Berbaum, Blanche Summers, Darrell White Ansel and Rex Buckner, Lucille Copper, Leland Hogan, Claude Nidey, Kenneth Hogan, Stanley Wheeler, Jewell and Doyle Burton, John Mohr and Harold Smith.

Various tricks were performed by several of the group. Wilbur Luth, Raymond Frick, Darrell White and Stanley Wheeler entertained the crowd with music, and Darrell White did tap dancing. Refreshments consisted of sandwiches, pickles and coffee.

Card of Thanks

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to the neighbors and friends for their many acts of kindness and sympathy shown following the death of our beloved sister, Freda Schumacher.

The M. E. Ladies Aid will serve a soup, sandwich, pie and coffee lunch, at Brewer's Garage on Saturday evening, Nov. 25.

Fire Destroys The Harry Allen Home

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Allen, in the southwest part of the village was completely destroyed by fire last Tuesday morning. Mrs. Allen discovered the smoke in the southwest part of the house, when she arose at about 7:00 o'clock. Defective wiring is thought to have caused the fire. The flues had just recently been examined and found all right. Practically everything from the downstairs was saved. The only things of value not saved were an electric range and a kelvinator. It was impossible to save anything upstairs. All winter bedding and winter clothing upstairs were destroyed. Mr. Allen had a safe in the basement containing some valuable papers. He got to the safe Wednesday morning, opened it and found the papers slightly scorched but otherwise in good condition. The papers would have been found in perfect condition, had the outer safe door been kept tightly closed, Mr. Allen stated.

There was a very strong northwest wind and the flames spread rapidly. On account of the composition roof on the house there were scarcely any sparks which might have endangered nearby property.

The residences of Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Shipley, across the street east from the Allen home got pretty hot during the fire but were not damaged.

Both the Broadlands and Longview fire engines were rushed to the scene but could not extinguish the blaze as it had got beyond control on account of the high wind. There was about three tons of coal in the basement which kept the fire burning for two or three days.

The house and household goods were covered by insurance.

The K. J. Class Meets With Miss Clara Haines

The K. J. Class of the M. E. Church met at the home of Miss Clara Haines on Saturday evening, with Miss Zelma Hardyman assistant hostess.

The usual business meeting was held, after which games and contests were enjoyed. Wayne Brewer gave a reading.

Refreshments consisted of sandwiches, pumpkin pie with whipped cream, and cocoa.

Guests were: Garnet Walsh, Phyllis Bergfield, Alice Maxwell, Wayne and Carlos Brewer, Emmett Freeland, Paul Jones and Merle Brown.

Members present were: Wilma Richard, Gertrude and Ferne Walker, Marjorie Messman, Rosetta Smith, Kathryn Warner, Gladys and Odell Swangle, Alice and Kathleen David, Opal Thode, Dorothy and Zelma Hardyman, Clara Haines, and Mrs. George Walker, teacher.

An Appreciation

We wish to thank all who so kindly assisted in removing the household goods and also those who helped to fight the fire which destroyed our home last Tuesday. Everyone was very careful in removing the furniture, things being taken out in fine shape, and everything possible was done in fighting the blaze. We deeply appreciate all that was done and assure you such kindness will never be forgotten.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Allen.

Freda B. Schumacher Is Called Beyond

Funeral services for Miss Freda Beata Schumacher, who died early last Friday morning, were held at St. John's Evangelical church last Sunday afternoon, at 2:00 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Theo. M. Haeefe.

Music was furnished by a quartet composed of Mrs. Theo. M. Haeefe, Mrs. Howard Mohr, Mrs. Frank Frick and Mrs. Philip Limp, with Miss Muriel Mohr at the piano.

Interment was in St. John's cemetery.

Miss Schumacher, who made her home with her brother, Emil Schumacher, and family, had seemed in her usual health and was able to be in town on Thursday, where she visited with friends. She had gone upstairs on returning. When she failed to come down again, Mrs. Schumacher went to look after her and found her lying on the floor, unconscious. It was then about 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon. She never regained consciousness, passing away at 3:15 the following morning. The exact cause of her death was undetermined.

The following obituary was read at the funeral:

Miss Freda Beata Schumacher was born on the 3rd of September, 1876, in Broadlands, Illinois. She was the daughter of John Schumacher and Catherine Schumacher (nee Edens). She was confirmed in the German Lutheran Church and later transferred her membership to St. John's Evangelical Church.

Preceding her in death were three sisters and one brother, mother and father. Those remaining to mourn her departure are: two sisters, Mrs. George Graf of Crawfordville, Indiana; and Mrs. C. P. Hoggatt of Urbana, Ill. Three brothers, John Schumacher of Woodburn, Ind.; Henry Schumacher and Emil Schumacher of Broadlands, Ill. Three sisters-in-law; three brothers-in-law; nine nieces and nine nephews; and many other relatives and friends.

Her departure is deeply mourned by those connected with her church, St. John's Evangelical church of Broadlands, Ill., of which she was a member for many years. She was also a member of St. John's Ladies Aid Society. She died on Friday morning, Nov. 10th, 1933, at fifteen minutes past three o'clock.

Relatives from out of town attending the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. John Schumacher, son Loren, and Mrs. Albert Ringenberg of Woodburn, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Graf, Mr. and Mrs. James Clark, and Mrs. Richard Poore, Crawfordville, Ind.; Dr. Arthur Schumacher and Edward Schumacher of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Hoggatt, Springfield; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hoggatt, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Hoggatt, Urbana; Mrs. Waldo Graf, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ross, Danville.

Correspondence Schools

About two and a quarter million persons in the United States are now taking correspondence courses in various subjects, embracing almost everything under the sun. A majority of these courses are practical and helpful, while others are of questionable value.

Like every idea, the correspondence plan of teaching and study has been exploited from time to time by unscrupulous individuals who promise results which any intelligent person should know are impossible of fulfillment.

This should not deter any earnest seeker for knowledge from enrolling in a correspondence school, however, because there are many such institutions of established reputation that are rendering splendid service to thousands of students.

The correspondence plan of study is sound in principle. The important thing is to select a school whose methods are sound in practice.

Better Lighting Pays

Skimpy lighting in industrial plants lowers production, increases spoilage of materials and causes many accidents, according to the labor commissioner of New Jersey, whose department has made an extensive study of the subject. Poor lighting also causes serious eye strain which further reduces the efficiency of the workers.

A concrete example is given by Mr. Weeks, in which the installation of a modern lighting system in a large industrial plant led to an increase of 12 to 16 per cent in production and reduced spoilage of material more than 50 per cent. It was also found that 18 per cent of industrial accidents in the state were caused by defective lighting arrangements.

Not only in factories, but in business houses, offices, school-rooms and homes as well, good lighting pays in efficiency, comfort and improved eyesight. Its cost is trifling in comparison with the benefits it confers.

Birds Our Protectors

Although some varieties of birds are considered a great nuisance by farmers and others, it is doubtful that any of these feathered tribes are more destructive than useful.

Birds are the natural enemies of insects, and insects are the greatest enemies of mankind. Scientists have declared that without continued research and the employment of improved means of combating insect pests they would overrun the world and destroy all other life, including man.

The rapidity with which certain insects multiply is beyond the imagination. For example, a pair of pucerons, a species of flea, will in a year produce more than 441 quadrillion young. One small bird, such as a tomtit, will destroy about 1,500 of these in a day; a partridge will eat 30,000 white grubs in a year. Various birds have their favorite insects upon which they prey, but all eat practically any insect which crosses their path.

With this ever present menace of insects to combat, we can hardly have too many birds. Not only out of humane sentiment, but as an actual protection to civilization, the birds should be spared.

Cripples Restored

Among the many humanitarian activities which engage the support of benevolent societies and individuals, the restoring of crippled children to health and happiness is one of the most commendable.

The work of modern surgeons in this connection is effective almost beyond belief. At a recent convention of the International Society for Crippled Children it was stated that "modern science has healed all manner of diseases and we are happy to say today that practically every type of malformation, if taken in early childhood, can be cured."

Among the organizations which have given special attention to crippled children, the Shriners have been particularly active, each member of the order contributing regularly to the maintenance of homes for these unfortunate little ones, who would otherwise go through life with deformed bodies and limbs.

The hearty encouragement and support of this labor of love should be extended by every person who is in a position to lend a hand.

Quacks and Suckers

The ease with which charlatans of all kinds, particularly medical quacks, defraud the public would be incredible were it not for the evidences to be seen on every hand. A few of the schemes whereby the gullible and superstitious have been separated from their money by these swindlers are mentioned in an article by Dr. Morris Fishbein.

Soon after Franklin made his famous kite demonstration in electricity, everyone was discussing the wonderful new force. A doctor named Elisha Perkins manufactured a lot of short metal rods which he claimed were charged with electricity and therefore capable of drawing disease from the human body. He sold many of the rods—one pair to George Washington.

Electric belts and similar appliances have been sold by the millions, not one of which had any curative value whatever. A few years ago a widely advertised product called Sanatogen had an enormous sale and testimonials were obtained from many persons of prominence. The stuff was composed of 95 per cent cottage cheese and the remainder glycerine phosphates, neither of any medical value.

One promoter acknowledged making $45,600 profit in a year from the sale of a chemical ring supposed to cure diseases of the blood.

But we can hardly wonder at the success of quackery in a state of civilization which still accepts a mass of medical superstition as gospel truth.

The First Slave Trial

The French people claim with pride that their country was the first in Europe to have chattel slavery declared by a court to be unlawful. From Paris comes the story of the famous case.

Denmark was the first European nation to declare by legislative act that all human beings on its soil were free. That was in 1792 and the law took effect ten years later. But the legal case of John Boucaux, who was set free by a French court in the time of Louis XV came a half-century earlier.

Boucaux had been brought to France from Martinique, in the West Indies, by a Monsieur de Verdelin, whom the negro served as a cook. Remarking finally that he was in a free country, Boucaux demanded wages. His master's reply was to have him put in the prison of the Chatelet, at Paris. Boucaux was liberated after three days, there being no law to fit his case, and he thereupon sued his master for ten years' arrears of wages.

Since he came from a French colony, the suit had to be heard by the judges of the Admiralty court, who were compelled to detain him nearly three months while they considered what their decision should be. It was a victory for Jean Boucaux, who was declared to have been "free from the moment he stepped on French soil and to be a free man from now on."

Buy Now

Thrift is commendable; everyone who can should save something. But while extravagant spending is harmful, too much hoarding is equally detrimental, according to leading economists.

For a long time there has been an unusual percentage of unemployed in this country, as in the rest of the world. This has decreased the total buying power of the public. But the tightening of purse-strings by those who are still employed and are able to buy has reduced consumption to an even greater extent.

What is needed right now in order to aid in restoring normal conditions is more liberal spending on the part of those who have money to spend for things they can really use and need.

It has been pointed out that the additional spending of ten cents a day by every one of the 120 million people in the United States would increase the nation's business to the extent of more than four billion dollars a year. Of course, the unemployed can not spend this extra ten cents a day, but millions of people could easily spend an additional dollar or more a day to good advantage and hardly miss it.

It is sound advice then, to say to those who can afford it: "Buy what you need while prices are low; employ a little extra labor that you can use to advantage; stop hoarding and put more money into circulation."

By following this advice the more fortunate elements of our citizenship may do much to accelerate the return of general prosperity.

Sidelights

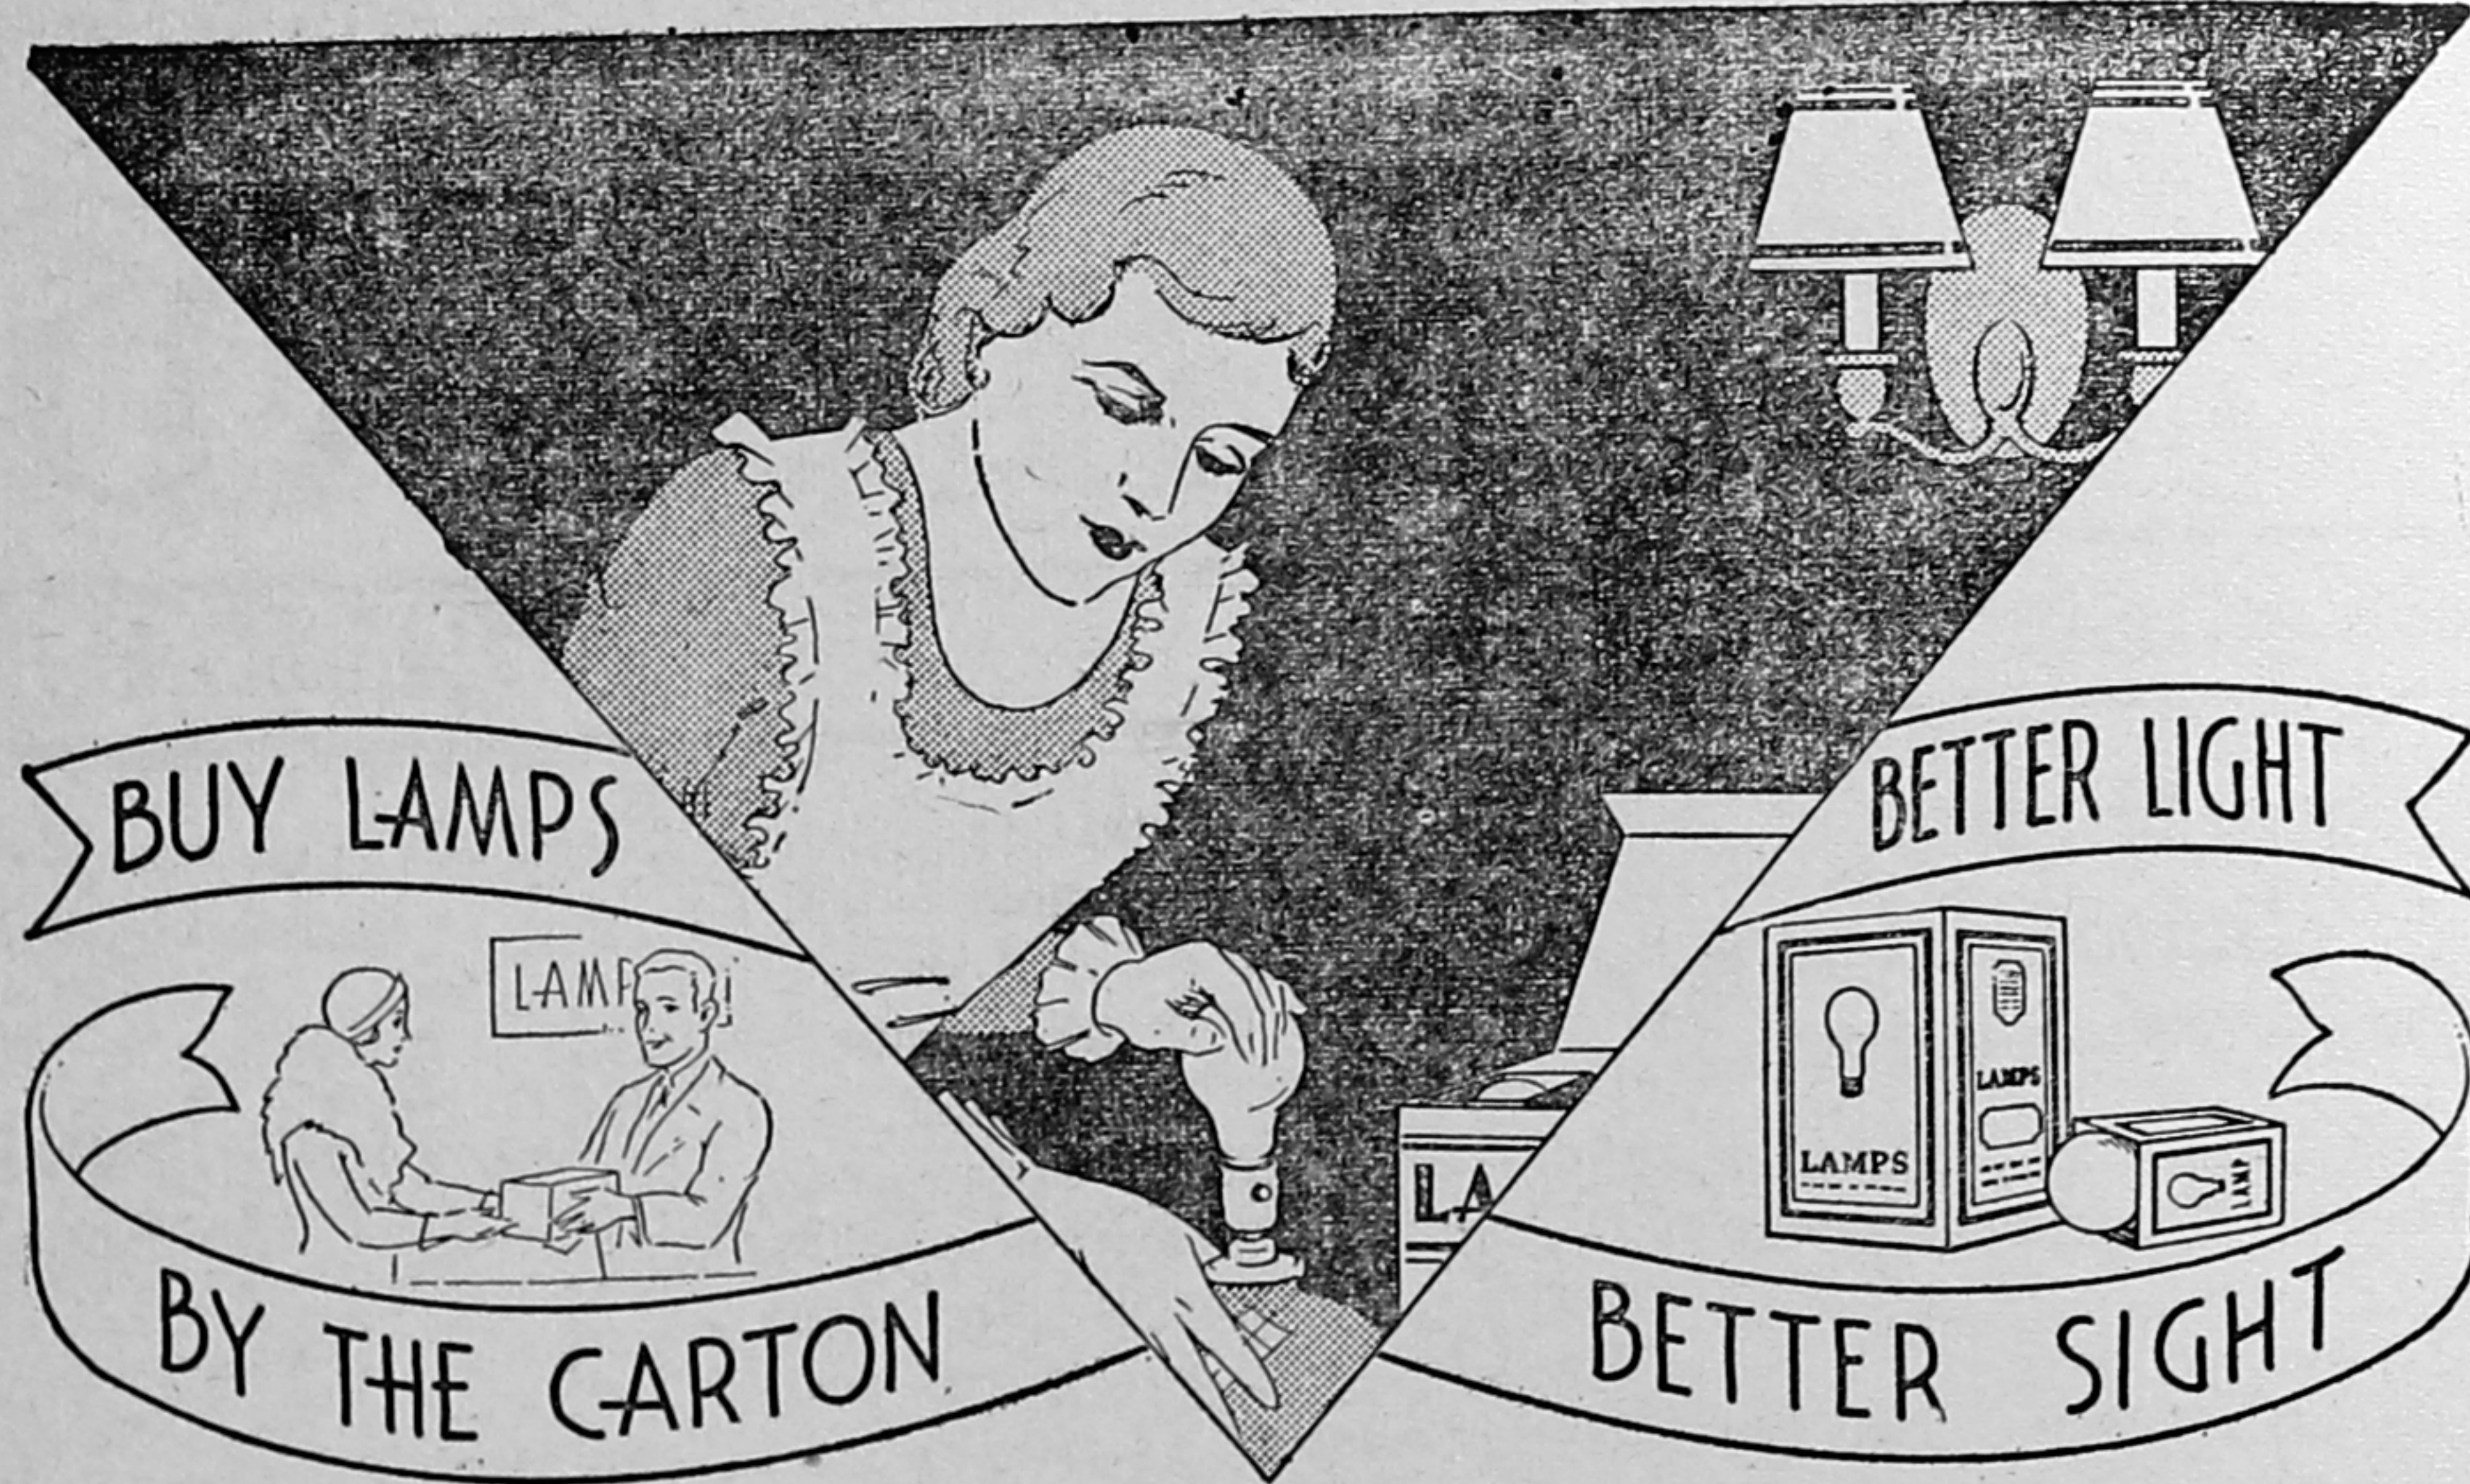

Political opponents recently conveyed a delicate suggestion to a high Japanese official, whom they accused of perjury in connection with a real estate deal. They left on his doorstep a coffin and a disemboweling knife, as a hint that he should commit harikira. He declined to take the hint.

Mrs. Philip Harris of Newark appears to be a most unappreciative woman. Her husband was bowlegged and she did not admire his gait, so at her suggestion he had both legs broken in an attempt to straighten them. The surgeons did not do a very good job, so now she is suing Philip for a divorce.

Extremely old people are often asked to explain how they happened to live so long. Some attribute their longevity to either the use or abstinence from tobacco and whisky; some are vegetarians, while others eat meat, and so on. An old darkey gives what is perhaps as good an explanation as any. He explains his great age by the fact that he "was born so far back."

Anecdotes concerning the late Florenz Ziegfeld are still frequently told. One is concerning how he was fooled by Sally Long of the follies, when he bought a policy for $100,000 to insure that she would not get married. It later developed that Sally had already married secretly at the age of 15, and was the mother of two children at the time the policy was written.

Admission 5c to all, at the Broadlands Theater, Saturday night.

Johnny's Persuasion

By LIBBY O'NEAL

© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNU Service

"IT'S a funny thing," said the cook, beating mashed potatoes to a creamy frothiness, "it's a funny thing that the doctor, bless his heart, is such a swell man to work for, and the idol of all his patients, and is such a devil in his own house."

"Oh, hush up, Mrs. Carey," said Molly, the maid. "Hurry up with them potatoes. I want to take in this course. They're licking up your soup like they always do, I suppose."

"Hello, Mrs. Carey," said John, the chauffeur, coming in from the kitchen porch. "May I have my dinner as soon as it's convenient? The doctor's got a date at the hospital at eight-thirty and he and I've got to hustle with dinner."

"All right, Johnny boy," said Mrs. Carey. "I'll serve you as fast as you can eat. Just get a soup plate and you can start right in."

"Say, Mrs. Carey," said Molly, returning, "there's something wrong. Miss Betty's left the table crying, and Mr. Bob is sitting there sulky and red as a beet. The doctor's giving him the—Oh, you here, Johnny? Well, you know as much as we do, I suppose. Things are in a mess, I'll say."

"Sure, I'm here, Molly. I'd always be where you are if I had my way." He winked broadly at Mrs. Carey, who smiled benignly. She favored Johnny's suit for Molly's hand. So did Molly, for that matter, but she hadn't told Johnny as yet.

"Molly, how about the movies after I get back from the hospital with the doctor?"

"O. K.," said Molly. "Only Johnny, I sort of feel I ought to stay home tonight. I mean, Miss Betty seems to be in trouble, and the whole house is upset, and maybe I'll be needed."

"Sure we'll all stay in this evening," said the cook, giving Molly a platter of chops. "I'll make coffee about eleven, and we'll have toast and some of that strawberry jam—maybe Mike'll come in, too, and we can have a game of cards. It beats me how anybody who doesn't mind having the servants play cards and drink coffee at all hours can be so near-sighted they drive their own children from home."

"There's no use taking in the dinner," said Molly. "They're not eating anything. But I suppose I'll have to." And she started in.

"I hate to waste that nice pudding on them. It's Mr. Bob's favorite. Well," added the cook philosophically, "maybe he'll eat some of that and feel better. Hello, Mike," she said quietly, as a weather-beaten middle-aged man came in from the garden. "The family isn't through yet. It'll be twenty minutes till our dinner. Go in there and tell Johnny how your cucumbers are getting along."

Mike the gardener said "Hello" gruffly, grinned a little sheepishly at Mrs. Carey, and clumped noisily into the little room where John was already half through his meal.

As the voices of the two men joined in conversation, Mrs. Carey stopped Molly by the arm. "Molly," she said, "what's the trouble in there?"

"The doctor's raising Cain because he's found out Betty's engaged to that young Jack Prescott."

"But why doesn't the doctor like him?"

"Oh, he's young, and hasn't got any money. I guess that's all. And Miss Betty could have anybody she wanted, she's that lovely. And the doctor's blowing up Mr. Bob because Prescott's his friend."

At eight-fifteen John put on his hat and coat preparatory to starting out with the doctor. "Molly," he said. He and she were alone in the little room. "Molly, with all that trouble in there, why can't you and me settle things? You promise to marry me, Molly—will you?"

Molly bowed her head. Her heart fluttered, and for a moment she hesitated. Then, "No," she answered. "Johnny, I couldn't. They're so unhappy in there. It wouldn't seem—"

"But Molly, you're all wrong. It won't help them any—and—"

"Johnny!" Molly turned shining eyes toward him. "If you can get the doctor to give his blessing to Miss Betty, I'll—marry you."

At half past ten Molly and the cook and Mike heard the purr of an engine and a few minutes later John came into the kitchen. He swept across the little room, smiling exultantly, and took Molly by the shoulders.

"Molly," he said, beaming at everybody, "you're going to marry me. It's all right about Miss Betty and her young man and—"

A voice came from the pantry door. "Oh, Molly—" it was Mrs. Bartley—"I wonder if you'd bring me something to eat in the living room. Some for the rest, too," she added, "as we all seem to be hungry." Her voice sounded light, happy.

Molly beamed back at John. "How did you do it, John?" she asked.

"I told him a man could eat his heart out and die if he couldn't get the girl of his heart—and that he was killing Miss Betty. I told him you said so, that you said he was a brute and—"

"Why, Johnny," said Molly. "What did you do that for?"

"For you," said Johnny.

"Well," said Molly. "All right, Johnny, you can have me."

Notice of Farm Allotments and of Maximum Acreages of Wheat For 1934 Under Contracts For Members of the Wheat Production Control Association of Champaign County, State of Illinois.

Listed below are statements of the allotments which have been determined for members of the Champaign County Wheat Production Control Association from Longview Unit. These allotments are to hold for the duration of the present wheat contracts, and they are the basis upon which adjustment payments are to be made. They have been determined by the County Allotment Committee after careful consideration of the application statements. Every effort has been made to have these allotments as accurate as possible. The maximum acreage which may be sown to wheat for the 1934 crop on each farm, under the reduction requirements of the contract, is also listed.

The Champaign County allotment, which has been calculated from records of the United States Department of Agriculture, is 227,124 bushels. This is the total number of bushels allotted to the county under the wheat plan. The total of the individual allotments, including those allotments which could have been assigned to farms which are not participating under the wheat program, must be in line with the county allotment figure. The number of nonparticipating wheat farmers in the county is; the average total wheat acreage for those nonparticipating farms during the base period is acres; the total average wheat production on these nonparticipating farms during the base period is bushels.

Sufferer—I have a terrible tooth-ache and I wish somebody could suggest something to relieve the pain.

Friend—I had the toothache myself one day last week and I went home and my wife kissed me and consoled me and in a few minutes the pain was gone. Why don't you try the same sort of thing?

Sufferer—I think I will. Is your wife home now?

Stranger—What makes your cat so small?

Boy—I guess it's because we feed it on condensed milk.

Guy—Do you know Lincoln's Gettysburg address?

Jane—No, but in Washington it was the White House.

Henry Walsh, aged 62, became impatient with the traffic which prevented his crossing a busy New York street. Drawing a pistol, he quickly cleared the way and crossed in triumph. But he recrossed a moment later—under the escort of a policeman.

Little Boy—Mother, do cows and bees go to heaven?

Mother—Why, child, what a strange question! Why?

Boy—Because, if they don't, the milk and honey the preacher said was up there will all be canned goods and I've had enough of such stuff.

Visitor—What lovely furniture you have?

Johnny—Yes, I think the man we bought it from is sorry now that he sold it; anyway he calls nearly every day on account of it?

Longview High School News

DECEMMA MARTINIE, REPORTER.

Don't forget the Junior play, Clover Time, Nov. 18, 8 p. m.

Dorothy Turner was absent from school Tuesday afternoon.

Long View won its first basketball game last Friday night at Allerton with a score of 32 to 10.

The F. F. A. basketball team lost its first game with Ridgefarm, Monday night. The score was 31 to 21.

Posters advertising the Junior play were made by pupils of the school. Rachel Davis received a free ticket for having presented the best one.

Posters were made during Book Week. It seems to be the general opinion that those made by Clarence Phelps and Rachel Davis, illustrating Silver Chief, and Ramona, were the best.

The Junior class will present Clover Time, a three-act comedy, Nov. 18 at 8 p. m. in the high school auditorium. Admission: bleachers, 10c and 15c; reserved seats, 25c. Tickets on sale at Harts' and Sullivan's stores.

To The Editor

Dear Joe—Just happened to think of you fellows back home and wondered if everybody is getting enough to eat as we eat three square meals a day and don't notice the depression as we are broke all the time. I and "Pink" are clerking in Co. 609 and don't have much to do now cause Roosevelt has stopped the proceedings during the winter. We don't know where we are going and don't care as I can make between $36 and $45 a month here and board. We don't get this the first month as this is only a reconditioning camp. The boys that come up here with us are leaving for Washington tomorrow.

Chicago Stock Show Excels Past Records

Through eight big days and nights, the International Live Stock Exposition will celebrate its 34th anniversary in Chicago from December 2 to 9.

Earlier predictions that this largest of the continent's live stock shows would exceed its own past records in the number of animals that would be exhibited have been realized, reports B. H. Heide, secretary-manager of the Exposition. There is an increase of several hundred entries over last year, which broke the record up to that time.

Huge though the big plant is, that houses this mammoth display of live stock and crops, officials of the show will be taxed to find stall room for the many thousands of farm animals, the finest the world produces, that will be on view.

Thirteen states, the District of Columbia, Canada, and Scotland will contribute the judging talent who will place the ribbons in the competitions for the 29 different breeds of live stock that will be represented at the International Live Stock Show.

Unusual entertainment programs have been planned for the brilliant evening and matinee Horse Show programs of the Exposition.

Special low round trip fares will be offered by the railroads and the bus lines to Chicago during the first week of December for this event.

The Ubiquitous Oyster

RRRRRR! No, we're not growing. We're just celebrating the approach of the first month with an "r" in it when the idea of oysters pops into everybody's mind. Scientists assure us that you don't really need to wait for a month with an "r" in it, even for fresh oysters, but people along our sea coasts have got into that habit, and the oysters really don't care. In every part of our country, however, and at any season, canned oysters are good whenever they are opened, and you can make mighty good things with them, too.

Two Appetizing Entrées

Oyster Entrée: Drain the oysters from a 5-ounce can, and arrange in four buttered, flat, shallow earthen ramekins or scallop shells. Mix one cup bread crumbs with two tablespoons butter, one tablespoon minced parsley, one-half teaspoon salt, a few grains of pepper, one-fourth teaspoon thyme and one-half teaspoon lemon juice, and add four tablespoons liquor from the can of oysters to moisten. Cover oysters with this, and place under the broiler flame till the crumbs are well browned. Serves four.

Oyster and Bacon Roast: Drain oysters from a 5-ounce can, and arrange in shallow, buttered, earthen scallop dishes. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and paprika. Lay thinly sliced bacon on top, sprinkle with Parmesan cheese, and set in hot oven till bacon is crisp. Serves four.*
