Eli Morgan Killed When Truck Skids

Eli Morgan, of Homer, father of Mrs. Lloyd Donley, was killed shortly after one o'clock last Monday afternoon, about a mile north of Sidell, when a truck he was driving left the road as he turned out to pass an automobile and overturned into the ditch, pinning him underneath. The soft shoulder along the pavement caused the accident.

Mr. Morgan was well known here having lived in the Donley home part of the time in recent years. He was 65 years of age. He had been making his home with a daughter, Mrs. Ted Freeman, on a farm near Homer.

Mr. Morgan had driven to the Newman cheese and butter factory with a load of milk and was on the return trip when the accident occurred.

Dicks Bros., local undertakers were called following the accident and the body was brought to Broadlands and placed in their funeral parlor over the Kenneth Dicks Hardware store. Later the body was taken to the home of a daughter near Homer.

Surviving are the widow and the following children: Mrs. Lloyd Donley, Broadlands; Mrs. Ted Freeman, Homer; Mrs. Roy Gardner, Peoria; Mrs. Earl Rutledge, Danville; Clarence Morgan, Sumner; and Harvey Morgan, Georgetown.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon from the M. E. church at Homer. Interment was in the Homer cemetery, under the direction of Dicks Bros.

Longview High School News

DECEMMA MARTINE, REPORTER.

Alaric Heidorn was absent from school Wednesday.

Uni. High will play here with Long View, Friday night, Jan. 6.

Mr. Braeuninger, a member of the High School faculty, was married at St. Charles, Mo., on Dec. 28, to Doris Achepol. They are now living in Long View.

Longview boys brought home the trophy from the holiday tournament which was held at Monticello, Dec. 26-29. The game between Monticello and Longview Tuesday night ended in a victory for the latter team with a score of 25-35; that between Tolono and Longview on Friday night ended in a 24-21 victory for the same team.

Judge Thode Performs First Wedding Ceremony

Judge B. H. Thode performed his first wedding ceremony during the Christmas holidays. The contracting parties were from Sidell and appeared at the Thode home at about the eleventh hour one night. The judge wasn't feeling very good that night and the performing of a wedding ceremony was simply out of the question. So he suggested the couple go to a minister who resides nearby. But they didn't want to do this and insisted that the judge tie the knot. He finally agreed to proceed, but informed the young lady that he couldn't see to write after night and that it would be up to her to fill out the necessary papers. This she did with dispatch and pleasure. The ceremony was performed and the happy young couple went on their way rejoicing. Uncle Barney says the bride was an "awful sweet little thing."

Measles Epidemic Highly Probable

The behavior of measles in the past offers strong reasons for anticipating an epidemic wave of this disease in Illinois during the late winter and early spring. Usually measles climbs to epidemic peaks of high altitude one year and drops to almost negligible proportions the next. Occasionally the peaks do not rise so high but carry over for two years of relatively high prevalence. Likewise the low incidence period sometimes stretches out for two instead of one year.

For these reasons it seems highly probable that the late winter or spring will bring widespread prevalence. Both 1932 and 1933 were marked by a relatively low incidence and a mortality sharply below any past experience.

This prospect emphasizes the importance of control methods. Two points are particularly pertinent with respect to controlling measles. One is that fatal termination occurs most frequently among children under three years of age. The other is that lack of adequate medical care, no matter what the patient's age, greatly favors a serious illness.

The use of parent's blood or blood serum from recovered patients is rapidly gaining in favor as a means of protecting children against measles. The disease can be prevented entirely or attenuated in this way. Large doses of either whole blood or immune serum given to a child within three days after exposure will prevent an attack.

S. D. Astell is Fatally Injured

Struck down by a car while enroute to a hospital to visit his wife, Wednesday evening, S. D. Astell, 711 West Springfield Avenue, Champaign, about 65, died at 10:45 a. m. Thursday, Dec. 28, at Burnham City Hospital from a head injury.

The accident occurred between Healey Street and Springfield Avenue on Neil Street. Mr. Astell, it was reported, had just stepped down from the curbing when hit. The car was driven by Dan Iverson, Chicago, who is temporarily residing at 408 East Springfield Avenue.

He was removed to the hospital in an ambulance. The extent of his injuries was not revealed. Mrs. Astell had been taken there Wednesday morning suffering from a dislocated and fractured elbow. She received the injury in a fall down the stairs at her home. She left the hospital Thursday morning.

Mr. Astell had made his home in Champaign for the past 15 years. Most of his life was spent on a farm near Broadlands.

His first wife died a number of years ago and he was married to Mary Johnson in 1927. Besides Mrs. Astell, he leaves one daughter, Mrs. Lucy Cohen of Chicago; one sister, Mrs. Lillie Rush, Boswell, Ind.; and a niece, Mrs. T. E. Kenney, 709 West Springfield avenue.—News Gazette.

Funeral services were held last Sunday afternoon at the First Methodist Church in Champaign, and burial at Fairfield Memorial cemetery southeast of Broadlands.

Allerton Bank Insures Deposits

Every penny deposited in the State Bank of Allerton is, and will continue to be, as safe as it would be in Uncle Sam's big vaults at Washington, a telegram from the Federal Insurance Deposit Corporation, filed at Washington, revealed Tuesday.

Signed by Walter Cummings, chairman of the corporation, the message said the government's certificate, vouching for all deposits accepted by the bank the same way as bank notes are redeemable in gold, was in the mail.

Upon this governmental recognition the State Bank of Allerton can challenge the world to find a safer place to deposit than the Allerton institution, for there is no more secure place, since the deposits are protected by America's gold dollars in the United States' reserve banks and federal treasury.

Adding to the elation, the public, not only folks of Allerton, but Broadlands and Sidell folks as well, emphasized the fact that Allerton must have had a safe and sane bank to the highest degree to receive federal recognition the first day that any institution, no matter what its reserve might have been, could have been adopted into the family of guaranteed banks.

The institution has a capital of $50,000; is under the presidency of W. H. Morris. Ora C. Hays is cashier, and Miss Mary D. Hansen, assistant cashier.

To Discuss Retail Outlook For 1934

Retailers of Eastern Illinois will assemble at Urbana on the evening of Thursday, January 11 to hear two of the outstanding retail authorities of the Middle West discuss the retail outlook for 1934. The speakers will be Norman E. Duehring, Commercial Agent in charge of the St. Louis office of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce of the United States Department of Commerce, and Sidney Carter, who is in charge of the Merchants' Service Bureau of Rice Stix Dry Goods Co. St. Louis.

The former will discuss "Some Retail Problems of 1934," and the latter will talk about "Winning and Holding Customers in 1934."

The speakers have sent word that they are more anxious to discuss retail problems with retailers who are actually interested than to have a large, diversified audience. There will be plenty of opportunity for discussion, according to the Committee on Retail Instruction of the Urbana Association of Commerce, which is sponsoring the session. This committee extends an invitation to any business man interested to attend the meeting, which will be held at the Urbana Lincoln Hotel.

Orville Reed Slain Near Hays, Kansas

Former Broadlands Resident Murdered in Cafe Where He Worked at Night.

Hays, Kan., Dec. 29.—Officers were proceeding with difficulty in a search for clues to the slaying of Orville M. (Bud) Reed, 31, night man at the Blue Lantern cafe east of Hays, whose body was found by the Hays night marshal at the resort about 2 o'clock this morning. Reed had been dead for some time when his body was discovered, officers state. One .38 calibre bullet had gone through his neck and another through his abdomen.

Mystery surrounds the motive of the slaying, as the cash register and stock at the cafe had not been molested. At the same time officers said they were finding it difficult to get anyone who might have been at the cafe near the time of the shooting, to talk. Several Hays men were rounded up, taken to the jail and questioned, but information obtained from them was meager, officers state.

It is understood, those investigating the slaying said today, that there was a crowd at the cafe, including persons from LaCrosse, at midnight and for that reason Ellis county officials went to LaCrosse to question persons who were reported present.

The night marshal of Hays who discovered the body, had gone to the Blue Lantern at 2 o'clock seeking some trace of a stolen automobile. When he arrived he found the lights on and the radio going, but apparently there was no one about. Investigation disclosed Reed's body.

A possibility, officers say, is that the party at the cafe became unruly, and Reed put some of those present out, who later returned and killed him.

This was not the first disturbance at the cafe it was stated by officers, but it is the first murder there. The place is owned by John Dollings.

Reed, who is survived by his widow and a small child came to Hays from Oakley, where, it is stated, he had a good reputation and where he was a member of Masonic bodies. He was considered a good employe by those for whom he had worked here. He had been at the Blue Lantern about five months.—Hays (Kan.) Daily News.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Reed, of Broadlands, parents of the deceased, attended the funeral rites which were held Sunday at Oakley, Kan. Burial at Monument, Kan.

Mr. and Mrs. Reed are heart broken over the terrible tragedy and have the sympathy of the entire community.

Mr. Reed received word Tuesday from officials at Hays, Kan., stating the murderers had been captured. They are high school boys, 18 and 19 years old, and reside in Hays. One of the boys lived just across the street from the cafe where Orville was slain.

Mr. Reed says the supposition is that when Orville refused to hand over the cafe's receipts, the boys killed him in order to keep from being caught.

Two bullets were taken from his body, a steel ball having lodged in his brain and a lead ball in his side.

Tire Inflation

Tests recently made indicate that by keeping automobile tires inflated at the standard gauge recommended by the manufacturers from 25 to 30 per cent more mileage may be obtained.

Soft tires not only wear out quicker, but they damage the highway by their suction, which picks up the road surface.

Jamming on brakes unnecessarily is also a cause of tire waste, as the treads are thereby ground into the road. A survey for road-builders in the state of New York is said to have shown that on main-traveled roads the surface would assay about 8 per cent rubber after a few years of use.

Frequent testing of tire pressure takes little time, and proper inflation saves both tires and roadways.

Selling to Farmers

Business men of the country spend 850 million dollars a year for advertising to reach city dwellers, but only 30 million in reaching the farmers, according to Samuel R. McKelvie, formerly of the Federal Farm Board.

He added that this disproportion in advertising efforts was all the more striking when it is considered that the farmers of the country have a normal purchasing power of ten billion dollars annually.

He might have gone further by stating that no class of prospective customers are more responsive to honest advertising than the farmers and farmers' wives. Generally they take fewer newspapers and other periodicals than city dwellers and consequently read those they do take more thoroughly.

Merchants would do well to give more consideration to newspapers which reach the rural population.

Oratorical Training

A rather unusual yet apparently most effective method of training debaters is reported from an Ohio college, which has made an enviable record in contests with other colleges and universities.

After the young orators have marshalled their facts and prepared their speeches, a dozen or so of them are placed in a room and caused to cut loose all at once, each seeking to concentrate on his own "spiel" and drown out the rest. Hecklers are introduced to further annoy the speakers; all sorts of disturbing noises are brought into play; in short, everything that can be thought of except physical violence is resorted to in an effort to distract the embryo Websters.

Those who are able to proceed with their speeches in spite of these disturbances are given preference in selecting the debating team. Then, it is said, they are able to appear in the forum of debate without any danger of stage fright or lack of poise.

This plan sounds logical, and the college authorities say it really works.

Running Into Trains

Don Quixote's tilting at windmills was hardly less foolish and much less disastrous than the habit of present day motorists who assault railroad trains.

Figures covering accidents at railroad crossings during a period of six months show that in 27 per cent of the cases the automobiles ran into trains, instead of trains running into automobiles.

One railroad company reports that in a single year 500 of its crossing gates lowered to protect the public were run into and smashed by motorists. Another company checked the performance of 3,589 drivers while crossing its tracks. By actual observation it was found that of this number 2,907 failed to look either to the right or left before crossing; 602 looked in one direction only, while 80 drivers looked both ways.

With such evidence of recklessness on the part of motorists before us, it is not difficult to understand why some 30,000 persons are killed and 800,000 injured in automobile accidents every year.

A Friend of Boyhood

How the Boy Scout movement was first brought to America is recalled in an article concerning the late William D. Boyce, formerly a well known Chicago publisher, who was the original incorporator of the movement in the United States.

While visiting London about 30 years ago, Mr. Boyce became confused in a fog and lost his way. Meeting a boy on the street, he asked to be directed to his hotel, and the boy personally escorted him there. When Boyce offered him a tip, it was refused with thanks, the lad saying, "I am a Boy Scout."

This so aroused Boyce's interest that he inquired about the organization and conferred with leaders of the movement in London, with the result that he determined to promote a similar organization in America, which he did. Thus five million American boys have had the benefit of scout training largely as a result of the "good turn" of an unknown Boy Scout.

Similar movements had been originated by Daniel Carter Beard and Ernest Thompson Seton in the United States, all finally being merged in the Boy Scouts of America, which Wm. D. Boyce materially aided in financing for several years.

He was a true friend of boyhood, and his memory will be cherished by the great organization in whose development he took such a conspicuous part.

A Sensible Judge

One of the distressing results of sending men to prison indiscriminately for all sorts of offenses is that it often works a terrible hardship on those dependent upon them. Judge Nova of Brooklyn is one who recognizes this, and in certain cases adopts practical means to protect innocent victims of the law's operation.

When Frank Bruno, who earns $50 a week, was brought before him recently and pleaded guilty to having two wives, one with two children and the other with one, the judge said:

"I would gladly send you to Sing Sing, but your two wives and their children would be the sufferers. You will pay the wife with two children $20 a week and the wife with one child $15."

Thus five persons, who would have been deprived of support through sending Bruno to the penitentiary, were provided for, while the culprit will be constantly reminded of his offense and is not likely to repeat it.

That seems to be justice tempered with common sense.

Fake Prize Schemes

A rather ancient scheme for separating the unwary from their money is being worked again, both in the United States and Canada, according to a leading business men's magazine.

The plan is to insert an advertisement containing a perfectly simple puzzle which anyone can easily solve, and offer prizes for correct solutions. A favorite prize is a "building lot."

Of course, anyone who sends in a solution of the puzzle wins a lot, but he is informed that he will be expected to remit a small sum—in one case $7.75—for the deed and other incidental expenses connected with the transfer of the property. The "lot" is very small and the $7.75 fees alone would net the seller nearly $200 an acre for some worthless land.

So, if the "winner" swallows that bait he is out just $7.75 for the privilege of working the puzzle, while his name is passed along to other swindlers as that of an easy mark.

There are many perfectly legitimate prize offers advertised in various periodicals, but those which require a payment of cash before the prize is delivered are generally fraudulent and should be shunned.

Radio Navigation

While radio has been employed as an aid to navigation of both ships and aircraft for several years, by means of radio beacons of various types, the use of this mysterious force is destined to play an ever increasing part in directing these crafts safely along their courses.

An engineer recently detailed a method whereby what may be described as an electric track may be laid for both ships and aircraft to follow.

This "track" consists of a cable carrying a high frequency current, which induces a similar frequency in a coil carried by steamer or airplane. When the craft is on its course, which is directly over the cable, the helmsman hears a buzzing signal which dies out if he gets off the "track."

These cables may be laid down in the middle of a harbor channel for the guidance of ships, or strung on poles like a telegraph line from city to city for the direction of airplanes and dirigibles. Dangers from rain, snow or fog, the terrors of the navigator by sea or air, would thus be practically eliminated.

As a large percentage of accidents to both ships and airplanes are due to these dangers, the great value of the device described may be readily appreciated.

Doing Their Part

THE twenty-seventh annual convention of the National Canners Association, the Canning Machinery and Supplies Association and the National Food Brokers Association will be held in Chicago during the third week in January this year instead of during the fourth week as heretofore.

An important piece of advance information is that the directory of the Canning Machinery and Supplies Association voted in favor of resuming the annual exhibit of their products which was omitted last year, and circularized their membership on the subject. This means that there will be a lot of sales of machinery at this Convention, and that more men will be put to work.

POPCORN THAT POPS!

THESE are crisp, crackling days when the sound of corn popping is a sure sign of the season and pleasant to our ears. But it is not so pleasant if some of the kernels decline to pop, and emit only a dejected fizz. That means that there was too much water in them, and that you will find hard, unpopped kernels or "old maids" in your popper that will have to be sorted out.

That is the reason why you should always get your popcorn in cans. Put up in that fashion, it is first shelled and then dried to the point where it contains exactly enough water to turn into steam, when heated, and promptly turn each kernel inside out with a resultant pop. Having taken this precaution, you can make all sorts of goodies with it to pop into your mouth without fear of hard unpopped kernels, or to hang on your Christmas tree to which the snowy flakes form a most decorative addition.

So here are some recipes guaranteed to be successful if you use the proper kind of popcorn:

Fruit Popcorn Balls

Lemon Popcorn Balls: To make these you will need two and a half quarts of popped corn, or about half the contents of a 19-ounce can. Put the corn in a large pan so there will be plenty of room to stir it while pouring over the syrup. Boil one cup sugar, one-half cup canned light corn syrup and one-half cup water to 260 degrees or a hard ball. Add one tablespoon butter, one teaspoon vinegar, one teaspoon lemon extract and a few grains of salt, and pour over the corn, mixing well. Butter hands and then form the corn into balls, using as little pressure as possible, to prevent crushing the corn and making balls hard and compact. This makes about sixteen medium balls.

Honey-Raisin Popcorn Balls: To make these you will need three quarts of the contents of a 10-ounce can. Wash one cup of raisins, and steam them for ten minutes. Combine three-fourths cup canned honey and one and one-fourth cups canned light corn syrup, and boil to 250 degrees, or a medium hard ball. Add one tablespoon butter, one teaspoon vinegar, one-half teaspoon salt and the raisins, pour over the corn and mix well. Butter hands and form into small balls, using as little pressure as possible. This will make about twenty-four medium sized balls.

Molasses Mixtures

Molasses Popcorn Balls: To make these you need three quarts of popped corn, or three-fourths of the contents of a 19-ounce can. Boil one cup canned molasses and one cup canned corn syrup to 250 degrees, or a medium hard ball. Add one tablespoon vinegar, three tablespoons butter and a few grains of salt, and continue boiling to 260 degrees, or a hard ball. Add one-half teaspoon lemon extract, and pour over corn. Butter hands and form into balls, using as little pressure as possible. This makes from sixteen to eighteen medium sized balls.

Popcorn Brittle: To make this you need one and a half quarts of popped corn, or one-third of a 10-ounce can. Boil one cup brown sugar, one-half cup canned molasses and one-fourth cup water to 270 degrees, or a hard ball. Add one-half tablespoon vinegar, one tablespoon butter and one-fourth teaspoon salt. Also add two cups shelled peanuts which have been browned in the oven. Pour over the corn and mix well, then press into small oblong pans about three by five or four by five inches. Press very lightly so as not to break the corn. This makes from six to ten cakes, depending on the size of the pans.

And Here's a Surprise

Popcorn Surprise Balls: Combine two cups sugar, two tablespoons light corn syrup and one cup water in a sauce pan and mix well. Wipe down sides with a wet cloth, and cook without stirring to 240 degrees, or a soft ball. Pour out, without scraping down side of pan, onto a cold, wet slab or platter, and cool to lukewarm. Then beat with spatula, from edges to center, until creamy. Flavor and color this fondant as desired, and then knead with hands until smooth and creamy. Cover with damp cloth for half an hour. Form into balls and roll in popcorn, covering completely. Press corn very lightly into the fondant in order not to break the kernels.

Smile Awhile

Boy caller—Are you fond of indoor sports?
Girl—Yes, if they know when to go home.

Mack—They say a fish never stops growing.
Fall—Well, it hasn't anything on a fish story, has it?

He—You must think I'm as big a fool as I look.
She—I think that if you aren't you have a great deal to be thankful for.

Smiff—My wife is very tender-hearted. She won't whip cream.
Bjones—That's nothing. My wife won't beat rugs, and tears come to her eyes when she has to skin those helpless onions.

There's one good thing I can say about the Prodigal Son, remarked Uncle Eli Podger.

What's that?
He had the good sense to walk home, instead of telegraphin' for money.

Hubby—I wish I could get hold of some of the fine biscuits like mother used to make for me.

Wifey—And I wish I could get hold of some of the fine clothes like father used to buy for me.
