Small Town Industry

Many students of the trend of industry believe that as a result of ever-increasing congestion in the great centers of population, the next few years will witness an increasing movement of factories to less crowded sections.

This movement is, in fact, already going on, and many large manufacturing plants are now located in comparatively small towns. As a complement of this it is also believed that farmers will gradually come to live more and more in organized communities, when good roads shall make it possible to go to and from their farms with greater facility.

Under such a combination of conditions, agriculture and industry would be brought into closer contact, to the benefit of both. In fact, as Henry Ford suggests, with the growing use of machinery and electricity on the farm, less labor will be required, and a part of the farmer's time may be employed in industrial pursuits.

Something of this sort may be the ultimate solution of the farmer's problems, through increasing his earning capacity and consequently his standard of

HARSHBARGER

The election of Arthur Cutts Willard as president of the University of Illinois met the approval of leading educators and public spirited men of the state and nation, as well as the faculty and student bodies of the University, judged from the telegrams and expressions of approval made public.

New President For

Willard was named unanimously by the Board of Trustees of the University at its annual meeting in Chicago on March 13, to succeed Harry W. Chase. President Willard will assume office July 1.

The new executive is 55 years old and has been a member of the University faculty since 1913. He has been serving this year as dean of the University's College of Engineering. He was head of the department of Engineering availed of by the banks. for years. His particular field is heating and ventilating and he is known throughout the world for his work in that line.

Ford Says Roosevelt Protects The People

Detroit, Mich.-Following his announcement of restoration of the $5-a-day minimum in his plants, Henry Ford said that 'President Roosevelt is stopping BANK LOANS AND a good many harmful things that otherwise would be put over on the people." Predicting industrial and commercial conditions will continue to improve thruout 1934, Mr. Ford warned against get-rich schemes, whether they come from the so-called labor leaders, and continued:

"I believe the bankers cannot put anything more over on the American people, at least not in this generation. In the last year III the American people have learned so much about the bankers that they are no longer afraid of them. In the present condition of the country, a good many harmful things would be put over on the people if the President did not stop them. Most of those things come in collision with President Roosevelt. He stops them."

Motorists Must Have New License Plates

Days of grace in which motorists may continue to use old Illinois license plates have expired, Secretary of State Edward J Hughes has announced.

Recalcitrant motorists will be stopped and served with six-day warning slips demanding compliance with the law. Names and addresses of the delinquents will be taken and if a later check by the police indicates that notices have been ignored, warrants will be issued for the offenders, it was announced.

Millionth Child Immuned Against Diphtheria

Announcing that the millionth child in Illinois has been immuned against diphtheria with toxoid supplied by the state department of public health and that a serious epidemic of diphtheria is now practically impossible in many communities because of the high degree of protection, Dr. Frank J. BANKING RETURNS The State University TOWARD NORMAL

Reconstruction Finance Corporation Loan Repayments Show Banks Lead Procession in Recovery Movement

Indicating a rapid return on the part of the banks to a normal self-sustaining basis, 54 per cent of the loans which they made from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to tide them over the difficulties of the past two years have been repaid by them, it is shown in a recent official report.

The R. F. C. report, issued on March 6, says that the Corporation since it began operations in February, 1932, had made aggregate cash advances to railroads, agricultural and home loan agencies, insurance companies and various other institutions in the amount of $4,786,410,000. Of this sum banks and trust companies, to the number of 6.783, received actual cash advances of $1,520,540,000, but have already paid back $820,260,000, or 54 per cent. These figures are exclusive of $376,390,000 in loans authorized but withdrawn or not

Non-banking borrowers received R. F. C. advances in the amount of $3,265, 870,000, and made repayments of $377, 830,000, or less than 12 per cent. Among other classes of financial institutions reported as making high ratios of repayments are building and loan associations which had received $114,020,-000 and have repaid $53,880,000, or over 47 per cent, and insurance companies, whose borrowings totalled $88,590,000 and repayments $34,340,000, or nearly 39 per cent. None of the major nongovernmental financial groups showed so high a ratio of repayments as the banks and trust companies as a group.

BUSINESS RECOVERY

Official Describes Efforts of Reserve Banks to Bring Out Deserving Borrowers— Present Situation Typical

Apropos of the part that an expansion of business loans by banks occupies in the early stages of the business recovery which is now gaining headway, a Federal Reserve Bank official recently gave an interesting review of the experiences of his institution in this connection. In 1932 the Federal Reserve Banks were empowered by law to make direct loans to individuals in unusual circumstances when they had been unable to obtain loans from a commercial bank, he pointed out.

From the middle of 1932 to the end of 1933 there were 1,286 applicants for loans at the New York Federal Reserve Bank under this law. The great majority of these applications proved on examination to be for funds for capital purposes, which are properly supplied as an investment in the business, or else were mortgage loans or others unclassifiable as commercial.

Only Fourteen Qualify

Only 250, or less than 20 per cent, were of the type which merited detailed investigation. The amount involved was $9,525,000. After further study of these, the Federal Reserve Bank was forced to turn down the applications of 236, finally offering credit in the sum of $1,417,000 to 14 prospective borrowers. Of this amount, only $806,000 was actually loaned, more than one-half of which was still outstanding many months later. Two of the borrowers went into receivership.

"Since it was the special endeavor of the Federal Reserve Bank to make every possible loan under the emergency provisions of the amendment, and since their best efforts resulted in the extension of so small a sum as to have no effect on the total volume of commercial loans, it is a reasonable assumption that eligible borrowers entitled to bank credit are being provided for by the commercial banks," says the American Bankers Association Journal in commenting on this episode.

It is characteristic, as shown by studies of past business cycles, for changes in the volume of commercial bank credit to follow behind either contraction or expansion of business activity, says a financial writer in the New York Times. This was manifest recently in England's recent recovery where there was a lag between increased business and increased commercial loans.

County Key Bankers

Describing the activities of the Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Association, the Director, D. H. Otis, says: "With 2,500 agriculturally minded bankers, designated as county key bankers, there is enlisted a tremendous force for the improvement of agriculture. These key bankers bring organized assistance to progressive bankers, who are led to see the possibility of agricultural work in their communities. Banker - farmer tours are emphasized as a means of acquainting bankers, farmers and other business men with first-hand knowledge of how agricultural improvement methods are working out in practice. These give an opportunity for the key bankers to contact country bankers
