Thomas Rookard Called Beyond

Thomas Rookard died at an Urbana hospital, last Monday afternoon, where he had been a patient for several days. A complication of diseases caused his demise.

Mr. Rookard was a carpenter and in his younger days was an expert in his line of work.

Funeral rites were held at the local M. E. Church, last Wednesday afternoon, with Rev. Edward Hardy, pastor of the church officiating. Music was furnished by a mixed quartet composed of Mrs. Lillie Bowman, Mrs. Mary Dicks, O. P. Witt and C. A. Smith, with Mrs. Zermah Witt presiding at the piano.

The casket bearers were T. W. Bergfield, A. E. Reed, W. F. Smith, C. T. Henson, O. E. Gore and Carl B. Dicks.

Burial was in the Pleasant Ridge cemetery, southeast of Broadlands, under the direction of Dicks Bros., local morticians.

Thomas Rookard was born in Somerset, Ohio, April 25, 1862, and passed away April 23, 1934, at the age of 71 years, 11 months and 28 days. He was united in marriage to Nora Duckworth, Dec. 18, 1888. For the past 37 years he had resided in this community. He leaves to mourn his departure, his wife, four sisters and two brothers. Three children, his father and mother, preceded him in death.

Will of Scott Burgett Entered For Probate

The will of the late Scott Burgett, of Newman, who died in Los Angeles Calif., March 28, has been admitted for probate by Judge Harley C. Helm in the county court.

The will was executed May 25, 1933, and was witnessed by Eli Murphey and Martha E. Shephard. It directs that all of the property of the deceased shall be turned over to two sons Jay T. and Chas. C. Burgett who shall administer and hold said property until such time as it may be beneficially liquidated. At such a time the balance and remainder of said estate after all obligations have been met shall be equally divided between the five children, who besides the two mentioned above are Paul H. Burgett, Mrs. Bessie Coley and Mrs. Eva Ellison. An additional bequest of $200 is made to Ida Saterlee who was housekeeper for Mr. Burgett.

The sons, Jay T. and Charles C., are to serve as executors of the will each to serve without bond and in the event of the death of either the instrument names Attorney George E. Nichols to act as joint trustee and executor, the latter also to serve without bond.

The will authorizes and directs the trustees to cooperate with the stockholders of the Newman National bank and if necessary urges them to use the entire assets of the estate to assist in the liquidation of the bank.

A transfer of 3800 acres of land and a number of vacant lots in Newman was made by Mr. Burgett to George Roller on Feb. 20, the latter to hold the property for the Burgett creditors. This transfer has greatly reduced the size of the estate but it is understood that there still remains a considerable amount of personal property, mostly in the form of notes.—Tuscola Review.

Two unknowns—a boy and a girl—who like Cinderella, sprang from obscurity to fame in a twinkling, appear in the same film story, "Above the Clouds," which will be shown at the local opera house Friday and Saturday nights, April 27 and 28.

Richard Cromwell, the "Cinderella Boy" and Dorothy Wilson, the "Cinderella Girl" will be seen in two of the leading roles with Robert Armstrong.

The two Cinderellas are sweethearts in this Columbia feature picture. Richard Cromwell plays "Dick," assistant cameraman to "Scoop," a peer in his profession. He takes all the chances and gives most of the ideas which make the newsreel hawk a big shot. Dorothy Wilson plays "Connie," the little stenographer who sees through Scoop Adam's bluffing and finally succeeds in convincing Dick of her point of view.

Auto Recovery Affects Ten Million Workers

New York—Accrediting the automobile industry with leading general business on its drive back to health, a survey by Dun & Bradstreet just issued states:

"The recovery of the industry has affected the economic condition of 10,000,000 workers and 20 or more leading industries." Classifying motor cars, like food and clothing, as a necessary product for the American people, the report says: "No sooner did the decided upturn in business appear, with its spread of national purchasing power, than the industry revived abruptly from the worst slump in its history. With 1934 production estimated at 3,500,000 to 4,000,000 an increase of 72 to 97 percent over the 1933 total, profits this year are expected to give a semblance to those in the late twenties. This will be achieved despite higher costs of labor and material and the enormous outlays necessitated by changed models as operating expenditures have been brought to a degree of control."

Radio Mail Lists

Many radio fans are wondering what has caused such a great increase in their circular mail, according to a business men's magazine, which goes on to explain the matter.

Some announcers make lists of radio listeners who write in to their stations with requests for certain pieces to be played, or send for booklets, souvenirs or advertising matter. These lists are then sold to dealers in radio equipment and parts, who are thus able to get in touch with these prospective customers.

As radio owners are generally of a class able to buy liberally, these lists are resold to dealers in all manner of merchandise as likely customers for their wares also. So the radio fan's name goes on and on. Finally graces many a "sucker list."

Unightly Signs

In spite of the widely advertised "code of ethics" adopted some time ago by the billboard promoters, their habit of defacing the landscape and encroaching upon residential sections has by no means been abandoned.

Public sentiment has been so aroused in opposition to the billboard nuisance that a national committee for the restriction of outdoor advertising is making a vigorous campaign against the unsightly signboards, which glare at one on every hand.

Among the organizations cooperating with this committee are the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the Garden Clubs of America, the National Conference of State Parks, the American Society of Landscape Architects, historical societies, automobile associations, nature societies and others interested in the preservation of outdoor beauty.

Appeals are being made to advertisers direct, it being pointed out that an offensive advertising sign makes ill-will for the advertiser and tends to hurt rather than help his business.

Vanity Breeds Suckers

Some time ago a score or more of Washington's social aspirants were induced to pay $100 each in order to be included in a "blue book" to contain the names of the capital's elite. For $200 additional the photograph of the subscriber was also to be inserted in the magic volume.

The promoter of this scheme for glorifying the socially ambitious was 65-year-old Joseph Rheinstrom, who lived in style at a leading hotel and called on his prospective customers in a luxurious limousine after making appointments by telephone.

Police investigated his activities, found that he had no connection with any social register, and put him in jail, charged with fraud. His dupes are naturally much embarrassed and are trying to keep their part in the affair quiet.

This is another illustration of the ease with which swindlers trap their victims through appeals to that vanity described by Browning as "an itch for the praise of fools."

Knowing and Doing

It is mighty fine to know a lot, but it is even better to be able to do things. Many persons who have at their command a considerable assortment of information are unable to put it to very much practical use.

This was neatly illustrated in a sort of "confession" article by a teacher, in the Journal of the National Educational Association. She said:

"I can solve a quadratic equation, but I cannot keep my bank account straight.

I can name the Kings of England since the War of Roses, but I do not know the qualifications of the candidates in the coming election.

I know the economic theories of Malthus and Adam Smith, but I cannot live within my income.

I can explain the principles of hydraulics, but I cannot fix a leak in the kitchen faucet.

I have studied the psychology of James and Titchener, but I cannot control my temper.

I can conjugate Latin verbs, but I cannot write legibly."

While this picture may be somewhat overdrawn, it serves to illustrate the futility of much that passes for education, when its acquisition is not accompanied by training which leads to its useful employment in every day life.

A New Anesthetic

Baltimore surgeons were delighted a few days ago with the results obtained through the use of a new anesthetic called evipan. It is administered by means of a hypodermic needle.

According to the report, a patient about to undergo a serious operation was given an injection of evipan introduced into a vein in the bend of his elbow. He was entirely unconscious in 20 seconds. Six minutes after the operation was completed he regained consciousness and got off the operating table by himself. After drinking a glass of water he called for "a good big breakfast."

The new anesthetic seems highly desirable to use, because of its speedy effects and the fact that it does not cause nausea when the patient revives, as ether usually does.

Evipan is a German invention, and will be manufactured by a New York chemical company. Extensive tests will be made, however, before it is placed on the market. If it proves as efficacious as the Baltimore report indicates it to be, it will be a great boon to millions of sufferers.

Jefferson's Epitaph

The anniversary of the birth of Thomas Jefferson on April 13, revived many historical anecdotes of the third president of the United States, and serves to remind his countrymen of his brilliant service to the struggling young nation.

Jefferson's dominating trait was his love of liberty, and it was as a champion of human freedom that he desired to be known to posterity. This was illustrated by his epitaph, written by himself for inscription upon his tomb:

"Here is buried Thomas Jefferson, author of the Declaration of Independence; and of the statutes of Virginia for religious freedom; and father of the University of Virginia."

No reference is made to his services as governor of Virginia, member of Congress, minister to France, secretary of state, vice-president and twice president of the United States. In his own estimation his services in the cause of liberty stood above all these.

Freedom of government, freedom of education were the paramount objectives of his life, as epitomized in his epitaph. Born an aristocrat, Thomas Jefferson became the ardent defender of the masses and the greatest exponent of human liberty the world has ever known.

Flappers of the future will need parachutes when they feel the urge to walk back.

The price of electricity is always going down. Electric rates are so arranged that whenever you do use more electricity, you share costs which result. The more electricity you use, the cheaper it becomes. After the first few kilowatt hours at the first step (for lighting and an appliance or two) you buy second step. As you use electricity for more and more household tasks, your rate declines to the third step—still lower, and then to the very low fourth step. Electricity, the cheapest thing you buy, becomes cheaper as rapidly as you give it more work to do.

Crime and Punishment

A thoughtful contribution to the controversy over capital punishment is furnished by Harry Elmer Barnes, sociology professor of Smith and Amherst colleges, who avers that the taking of human life as a punishment for crime is a relic of barbarism. Tracing the origin of the death penalty, Prof. Barnes declares that it arose through an effort to placate the pagan gods. Later, death was inflicted through motives of revenge. More recently, capital punishment has been defended on the ground that it has a deterrent effect upon other potential murderers. All theories are dismissed by Professor Barnes as equally abhorrent. Taking what may be called the advanced view of the causes underlying human behavior, he says:

"The human animal has his conduct absolutely determined by the combined influences of heredity and social surroundings. There is not the slightest iota of choice allowed to any individual from birth to the grave. Conduct can be altered only by altering the organism or by the introduction of new or different social influences and forms of stimulation.

Without specifically recommending a detailed plan for dealing with the problem, Prof. Barnes declares that if crime is to be eliminated there must be measures adopted to prevent the birth of defective persons, so far as possible. When defectives are born in spite of restrictions imposed, an improvement of the social environment and special education are recommended. He apparently favors the painless extermination of hopeless types of humanity who menace their fellowmen.

Whatever we may think of Prof. Barnes' views as a whole we must agree with one of his conclusions, which is that punishment for crime should be determined by permanent boards of experts, instead of being left to juries composed for the most part of ignorant and irresponsible citizens.

THE OLIVER ROW CROP

A 4-Row Cultivator that works close, keeps level, covers big acreage and does not pack the soil

So much is done automatically, so much more is made simple that clean, close cultivating becomes a very easy job with the Row Crop. Big acreage can be covered with this 4-row job!

The Row Crop method of steering that brakes—brakes that steer—makes it simple for the operator to follow his rows closely at all times.

The tractor, itself, is high above, and far away from the crops. The Tip-toe Wheels instead of packing actually help cultivate the soil. All shovels are out in front of the operator. There are none behind that he has to watch.

The guide wheels and the 12-inch vertical "float" allow each gang to adjust itself to the contour of the ground . . . independently. All shovels on each gang are level at all times—there is no hinge action in the gang.

You want to see this tractor—a wide variety of sweeps and shovels fit it for every cultivating job. Complete tools and power for all farm work make it a most adaptable, most universal, most economical power farm unit.
