Said the Blue Baboon to the Bumble Bee,
"I think you wings are lovely—
Will you not lend them to me one hour,
So I can fly up to that great big tower
To see the Busy Bat about a lovely hat
He said he'd give to me?
Oh, please, Bumble Bee!"

Evening service, 7:00 p. m.
Last Sunday the Rally Day attendance was 263. The day was beautiful, but the attendance was in large measure due to the work of Mrs. Albert Anderson, Sunday school superintendent, and other officers and teachers.
The evening service was well attended. There is a fine spirit, and the new year starts in a very encouraging manner.
A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend any or all the services of this church.

Sunday school at the regular hour and we take up the story of Jeremiah, who is called not as Isaiah was, to be a prophet to the people of Israel. That time has passed. Isaiah was not heeded. Things are in a mess now, so this latter prophet is a prophet unto the nations. God gave Jeremiah the words to be used and the people turned against him, as his message disturbed their peaceful self-satisfaction.
Let no man think he will be welcomed or rewarded when he speaks the plain truth without fear or favor, as did Jeremiah. Jeremiahs are scarce but we don't often need one. When we do, one appears. The witnesses of God are often strange characters. Elijah, wind-blown and sunburned; Amos, the tree trimmer; and here Jeremiah, bold as a lion but always scared.

Again—The People Speak

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

An event of unusual import to those who would tinker with the United States Constitution has occurred recently in Pennsylvania—the state wherein our National Charter of Liberties was conceived and written.
There, for the first time since recent efforts to remodel our Federal Constitution along the lines of the newer political philosophy gained national prominence, the people themselves were given opportunity to say what they thought of that sort of thing. Emphatically they rejected the idea.
Dominated by the vote from rural districts and the smaller cities they decided that this was no time to risk the possible writing into fundamental law of various unproven theories now being urged throughout America as a substitute for crystallized experience.

The people of Pennsylvania, of course, voted only on the question of revising their own state constitution. But fundamentally—and despite whatever political spokesmen on either side may claim—some of the principles involved were comparable to those brought into prominence by the nation-wide efforts of certain groups to remodel our Federal Constitution into a form more readily influenced by passing fears and passions.
In the response may be read a heartening message of encouragement to all who oppose efforts to scrap certain essential elements of our American system of government in favor of new and untried theories. It is:
That the great body of the people—men and women who constitute the backbone of America—are not at this time in sympathy with a policy of sudden changes. They realize that while it was the Declaration of Independence that proclaimed personal Liberty, it is the Federal Constitution that assures it. They do not intend to surrender that guarantee.
Again—the People speak.
