Pat Madigan, 58, Dies at Champaign

Pat Madigan, 58, passed away at his home in Champaign, on Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. Funeral rites will be held this Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, at the St. Mary's Church at Champaign. Interment will be in the Bongard cemetery.

Mrs. Daisy Gore Hostess to Methodist Ladies Aid

Mrs. Daisy Gore entertained the Ladies Aid of the M. E. Church at her home on Thursday afternoon of last week. Mrs. Maude Anderson and Mrs. Allie Bruhn were assistant hostesses.

Mrs. Anna Laverick led the devotions and Mrs. Daisy Gore had charge of the business session. Plans were made for an oyster soup and chili supper to be held on Washington's birthday.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Members present were Mesdames Eva Brewer, Pearl Dewitt, Mary Dicks, Maude Moore, Gladys McClelland, Rose Smith, Mary Fitzgerald, Leanna Miller, Nora Griffin, Mabel Haines, Ruth Thode, Anna Laverick, Edna Telling, Letta Eckerty, Eva Walker, Nellie Astell, Helen Ward, Maude Anderson, Allie Bruhn, Daisy Gore, and the Misses Mildred and Gladys Neal. Visitors were Mrs. Hattie Dicks, Mrs. Olive Pigg, Margaret Gore, Jane Anderson, Geraldine Dewitt.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Eva Brewer.

Longview Man Injured When Trucks Crash

Sidney, Jan. 10.—Arthur Anderson of Longview, is in the Burnham City Hospital suffering from injuries received in a head-on collision south of Sidney about noon Friday. Everett Toppe of Sidney, driver of the other truck, and Lawrence Swaney, a passenger, were uninjured.

Toppe, who drives for the Champaign County Live Stock Association, was traveling south and Anderson was enroute to Sidney from Longview at the time of the accident.

At Burnham Hospital it was reported that the sight of Anderson's left eye was endangered by severe cuts. Anderson had previously lost the sight of his right eye.

Fails to Make Turn From New Villa Grove Slab; Is in Hospital

Francis Mattingly, Chrisman, has been in a serious condition at Jarman hospital in Tuscola, from injuries received on the night of Jan. 8th, at the junction of Route 36 and the new pavement that runs north to Villa Grove. Mattingly, alone and unacquainted with the roads was driving south from Villa Grove and approached the junction which is the end of the new pavement at such a rate of speed that he could not stop. His car ran through the fence and into a field.—Tuscola Review.

FIELDS STARRED IN "MISSISSIPPI" COMEDY LEAD

A picture of melody, mirth and romance woven about a love story of the Old South comes to the Broadlands Theater Friday and Saturday night when Paramount's "Mississippi" arrives with Bing Crosby, W. C. Fields and Joan Bennett in the starring cast.

In "Mississippi," Crosby sings for the first time an old favorite, a special arrangement of "Swanee." A chorus of forty negro voices and elaborate settings make this production number one of the high spots of the show.

The story of the picture, adapted from a play by Booth Tarkington, is that of a young Yankee who loses one Dixie sweetheart because he won't duel for her, and almost loses another because he's been doing too much dueling. Crosby, in the leading role, spends the intervening time between these two romances on the river steamer of Fields, a noisy, blustering braggart who builds him up as the gun-fighting terror of the river, "The Singing Killer."

Songs, comedy and romance are so deftly mixed by Edward Sutherland's direction that Mississippi is unflagging entertainment from beginning to end.

Crosby's new song hits include "Soon," and "Down by the River." Queenie Smith stage star who makes her debut in Mississippi, and the Five Cabin Kids, a juvenile Negro chorus assist Crosby in musical numbers.

Clifford Thomas and Gertrude Miller Wed

Charles Clifford Thomas of Broadlands, and Miss Gertrude Mae Miller of near Homer, were married at 12:30 o'clock last Tuesday at Terre Haute, Ind. Wilbur Thomas and Miss Zola Peterson were the attendants.

On their return they were given a wedding supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Clem. The bride is a daughter of Will Miller of near Homer. The groom will work for Ed Maxwell and they will go to housekeeping in the Maxwell tenant house in Broadlands.

Wanda Rayl Given Party on Eighth Birthday

Mrs. P. O. Rayl entertained the members of the third grade and the primary class of the Sunday School on Tuesday after school, in honor of her daughter Wanda, it being her 8th birthday. Several games were played after which refreshments of fruit salad and cake were served. Wanda received several lovely gifts.

Those present were Lorene and Alberta Hardyman, Bob and Betty Jackson, Joan and Maryrose Donley, Jeanne and Pattie Campbell, Joan Baker, Lloyd Cummings, Harold Elliott, Montelle Maxwell, Wanda Rayl.

The Old Age Pension Law

No Illinois resident need employ someone to represent him in making application for assistance under the Old Age Pension law, Governor Henry Horner emphasized when informed that the State Department of Public Welfare had received reports of persons soliciting applications for assistance from pension eligibles.

These persons are representing that they can expedite applications and secure for the applicants preferred attention, Governor Horner said he had been told by A. L. Bowen, department director.

No one has been authorized to solicit applications from eligibles for old age assistance. Those who are eligible for this assistance are warned to have nothing to do with any person who claims he can expedite applications or secure preference.

Official boards will be set up in each county of the state, under the terms of the act, and applications must be made to these bodies. It will not be necessary for any person to employ an intermediary. As soon as the county board has been appointed as provided in the law, those who believe that they are eligible for old age pensions may make their application direct to the board and to no other person and such application will be received and considered without any expense to the applicant.

See Farm Outlook Clouded As Result of AAA Decision

Greater conservatism as to spending and making future long-term commitments was the immediate reaction of many thinking farmers to the adverse Supreme Court's decision on the AAA, reports the Illinois Agricultural Association.

Farmers reason that with the return of the old order of unlimited production, farm prices within a year or two at the most are bound to drift steadily downward to lower levels, the Association's statement said.

"Only another catastrophe, such as the drouth, can save agriculture and the country, eventually, from crop surpluses and ruinous price levels without a new and effective program. The immediate outlook, it is conceded, is favorable because the AAA and the 1934 drouth combined to eliminate most of the surpluses of former years. It will take a year or more to build up supplies of livestock, but a combination of greatly expanded crop acreage and favorable weather in 1936 can undo all the progress made under the AAA since 1933 toward restoring farm buying power and business recovery."

Attend Layman's Rally

Mrs. Mary Dicks, Mrs. Leanna Miller and Mrs. Nellie Astell attended the Annual Rally of the Layman's Association of the Illinois Methodist Conference, on Friday evening of last week in the First Methodist Church in Urbana. Six hundred attended the banquet at 6:15, after which there were greetings, gospel singing led by G. Haven Stephens of Danville, and several addresses. At 7:45 all retired to the auditorium where eight hundred listened to the advice of Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf of Chicago, and singing by the united choirs of the Champaign and Urbana churches.

It's Easy

"The Five Cabin Kids," radio favorites, who appear in the cast of Paramount's "Mississippi," which will be shown at the Broadlands Theater, Friday and Saturday night of this week, were taught to sing by their stepmother, Mrs. Beatrice Hall, who says she has a method all her own.

Questioned by Director Edward Sutherland who directed Bing Crosby, W. C. Fields and Joan Bennett in "Mississippi," Mrs. Hall said it was easy.

"Just a bunch of switches and a piano," she explained.

The five little Negroes are Ruth, eleven; Helen, 10; James, nine, who sings bass; Winifred, six; and Fred, only four.

Coming Attractions

The following Fox and Paramount pictures will be shown at the Broadlands Theater, on Friday and Saturday night of each week in the order listed.

Under The Pampas Moon.
Men Without Names.
Ladies Love Danger.
McFadden's Flats.

Driving at Night

Automobile trouble is especially annoying when driving at night, and it should be borne in mind that stopping to change tires or correct engine trouble also involves special dangers. If such a stop becomes necessary, drive off the pavement or road surface if circumstances permit. It is up to you to prevent a rear-end collision with approaching vehicles, even if this demands personally signalling all approaching cars. It is a matter of life or death to other drivers who may not understand that your car is standing still. Keep your lights on both front and rear, and as you work with your car to repair the damage be sure to avoid obstructing head or tail lights.

If it is necessary to leave the car on the roadside, be sure it is adequately lighted. This precaution will help to protect your own property and to save other motorists' lives.

Jefferson's Ten Rules

Ten rules of conduct given below are attributed to Thomas Jefferson. Whether they were actually formulated by the Sage of Monticello or not, they contain much good advice in a few words.

1. Never put off till tomorrow what you can do today.
2. Never trouble another for what you can do yourself.
3. Never spend money before you have earned it.
4. Never buy what you don't want because it is cheap.
5. Pride costs more than hunger, thirst and cold.
6. We seldom repent of eating too little.
7. Nothing is troublesome that we do willingly.
8. How much pain the evils have cost us that never have happened.
9. Take things always by the smooth handle.
10. When angry, count ten before you speak; if very angry, count one hundred.

Kentucky's Cave Man

The recent discovery of a prehistoric man, perfectly preserved, in the depths of Mammoth Cave in Kentucky, may prove to be one of the most important anthropological finds ever brot to light, according to the Louisville Courier-Journal, which says that not only the body, but the clothing and tools of the man were preserved in the cool, dry air of the great cave.

This ancient man, who lived perhaps several thousand years ago, was evidently a miner, who was crushed to death by a falling boulder under which his body was found, and is believed to have been engaged in chipping gypsum crystals off the wall of the cave when disaster overtook him. His clothing was woven from fibers which appear to be the inner bark of a tree.

Scientists have been sent by the government to investigate the find and make further explorations, in the hope that the "mummy" may disclose hitherto unknown facts concerning primitive man on the North American continent.

War on Auto Deaths

New Year's resolutions are often the subject of jest, but here is one, suggested by John D. Collins, sales manager of the Tide Water Oil Company, which if made and kept would aid greatly in the war on auto deaths now being waged throughout the land:

"I will keep my car in proper condition for winter driving by having all nuts and bolts tightened, hinges oiled, tires repaired or renewed, brakes adjusted or relined, oil changed to winter grade, windshield wiper fixed, steering gear inspected, and anti-freeze installed and kept at proper strength. I will also drive at moderate speeds, because too much speed eats up my oil and gasoline and leads to danger. I will be extra courteous to other drivers during the winter, because discourtesy and thoughtless driving cause most accidents, and the hazards are greater at this season."

Strict adherence to the resolution Mr. Collins suggests not only would save thousands of lives and prevent many injuries, but would make for real economy in car operation, and add to the comfort of winter driving.

By observing these and other common sense precautions ten thousand deaths and countless injuries could be averted during 1936. Automobile deaths constitute a never ending tragedy. Let's resolve to do something about it.

Foreign Travel "At Home"

Tourist travel to America's island paradise, Hawaii, has increased more than one hundred per cent in the past two years. This is gratifying not only from the viewpoint that many Americans have forsaken Europe to see the United States and its possessions, but also because of increasing curiosity on the part of foreign travelers to see America. Current turmoil in Europe has practically banned that part of the globe so far as people bent on vacationing are concerned, so America benefits.

It is acknowledged by all who have been there that Hawaii is one of the few places on earth where the actuality more than justifies the descriptions. It has the subtle charm of a foreign country. It has all the glamour and color of the South Seas. And with all that it is America with all American conveniences, customs and transportation service.

A famous American world traveler recently wrote: "For decades we practically inundated Europe and its worn-out old countries with our thousands of tourists and their millions of freely spent dollars, all of which earned us nothing but the thinly veiled contempt of nationalities who too often, and frequently with outright frankness, robbed us with everything we purchased."

Americans are discovering that America and its possessions are actually worth seeing first. Where before the American family expensively traveled to England, France or Italy, it is now as often as not investigating Alaska, Panama, Samoa, and, more important than all from the viewpoint of charm and rest and climate, Hawaii."

A Truck Load of Livestock Disappears

What appears to be an unusual theft of livestock belonging to Edward Canady is reported from the Indianapolis stock yards, say the Homer Enterprise. Wednesday night a mixed truck load of cattle and hogs were delivered and unloaded at the Indianapolis yards, and later disappeared from the pens. Details are not available, but there will be no loss to Mr. Canady as the shipment was fully insured.

Sidelights

What a woman needs is thus described in the Ladies' Home Journal: Until the age of 14, good parents; from 14 to 40, good looks; from 40 to 60, personality; from 60 on—cash.

For anyone who has trouble trying to imagine what a billion dollars is like, this may help. That amount in one-dollar bills laid end to end would reach around the earth at the equator nearly four times.

Girls should not cross their legs, according to Dr. Beatrice Phillips of Michigan, but her advice has nothing to do with morals or manners. She says that the habit of sitting cross-legged, if persisted in, is likely to cause curvature of the spine.

While driving near Two Harbors, Minn., Allen Brown had a most unusual bit of luck. His car struck and killed an animal which proved to be a beautiful bobcat, weighing 78 pounds, and for whose pelt he was offered $25 by a taxidermist.

A fellow who listens to radio advertisement ballyhoo tells this one: "I bought a carburetor guaranteed to save 50 per cent on gas, a timer to save 30 per cent, and a spark plug to save another 30 per cent. After going 10 miles my gasoline tank overflowed."

Another time-honored belief goes by the board if a declaration by Dr. Wilkinson, a noted Australian orthodontist, may be given credence. He says the old idea that a heavy jaw and prominent chin denotes strength of character is not necessarily true, but it does indicate that the individual did not suck his thumb when he was a baby.

Sweden has so many Andersons and Petersons that the postal service has great difficulty in delivering their mail, and suggests that persons with those names be encouraged to change them. Young women are generally willing to change their names, but in Sweden they are as likely as not to change from Anderson to Peterson, or vice versa, which would not help the situation.

What's New

According to an English naturalist, butterflies carry perfume.

Philadelphia police may be able to "see" voices through an electrical device recently invented.

Sinus infection, asthma, hay fever, and tonsilitis are all caused by persistent head colds, according to Dr. Poole, of Washington, D. C.

The first air-conditioned automobiles and plans for air-conditioning busses to compete with cooled railroad coaches were recently announced.

The warm ocean current Soviet scientists recently discovered in the Arctic region north of Europe and Asia has now been found to penetrate almost to Alaska.

Automatic ticket machines have been installed in London subway stations that not only present a ticket, but also the correct change when a larger coin is inserted.

"EXTRA GIRL"

When Texas Centennial Exposition officials began to select the Rangerettes, hostesses for the Exposition, they planned to have one who was born in each of the 48 states. Then along came Mabel Rooks, shown above, and she passed the strict requirements. Officials found later she had been born in the District of Columbia, so they increased the corps to 50, giving themselves a little leeway in the matter of states.

Expo's Manager

William A. Webb, above, of Dallas, was named general manager of the Texas Centennial Exposition, which opens in Dallas June 6, because of his long experience in handling rush construction jobs.

A veteran railroad, one of Mr. Webb's greatest accomplishments was rebuilding and remodeling the great South Australia government-operated railroad, a $70,000,000 project. He was recommended for the task, which he finished in 1931, by the U. S. Department of State.

First of the 400

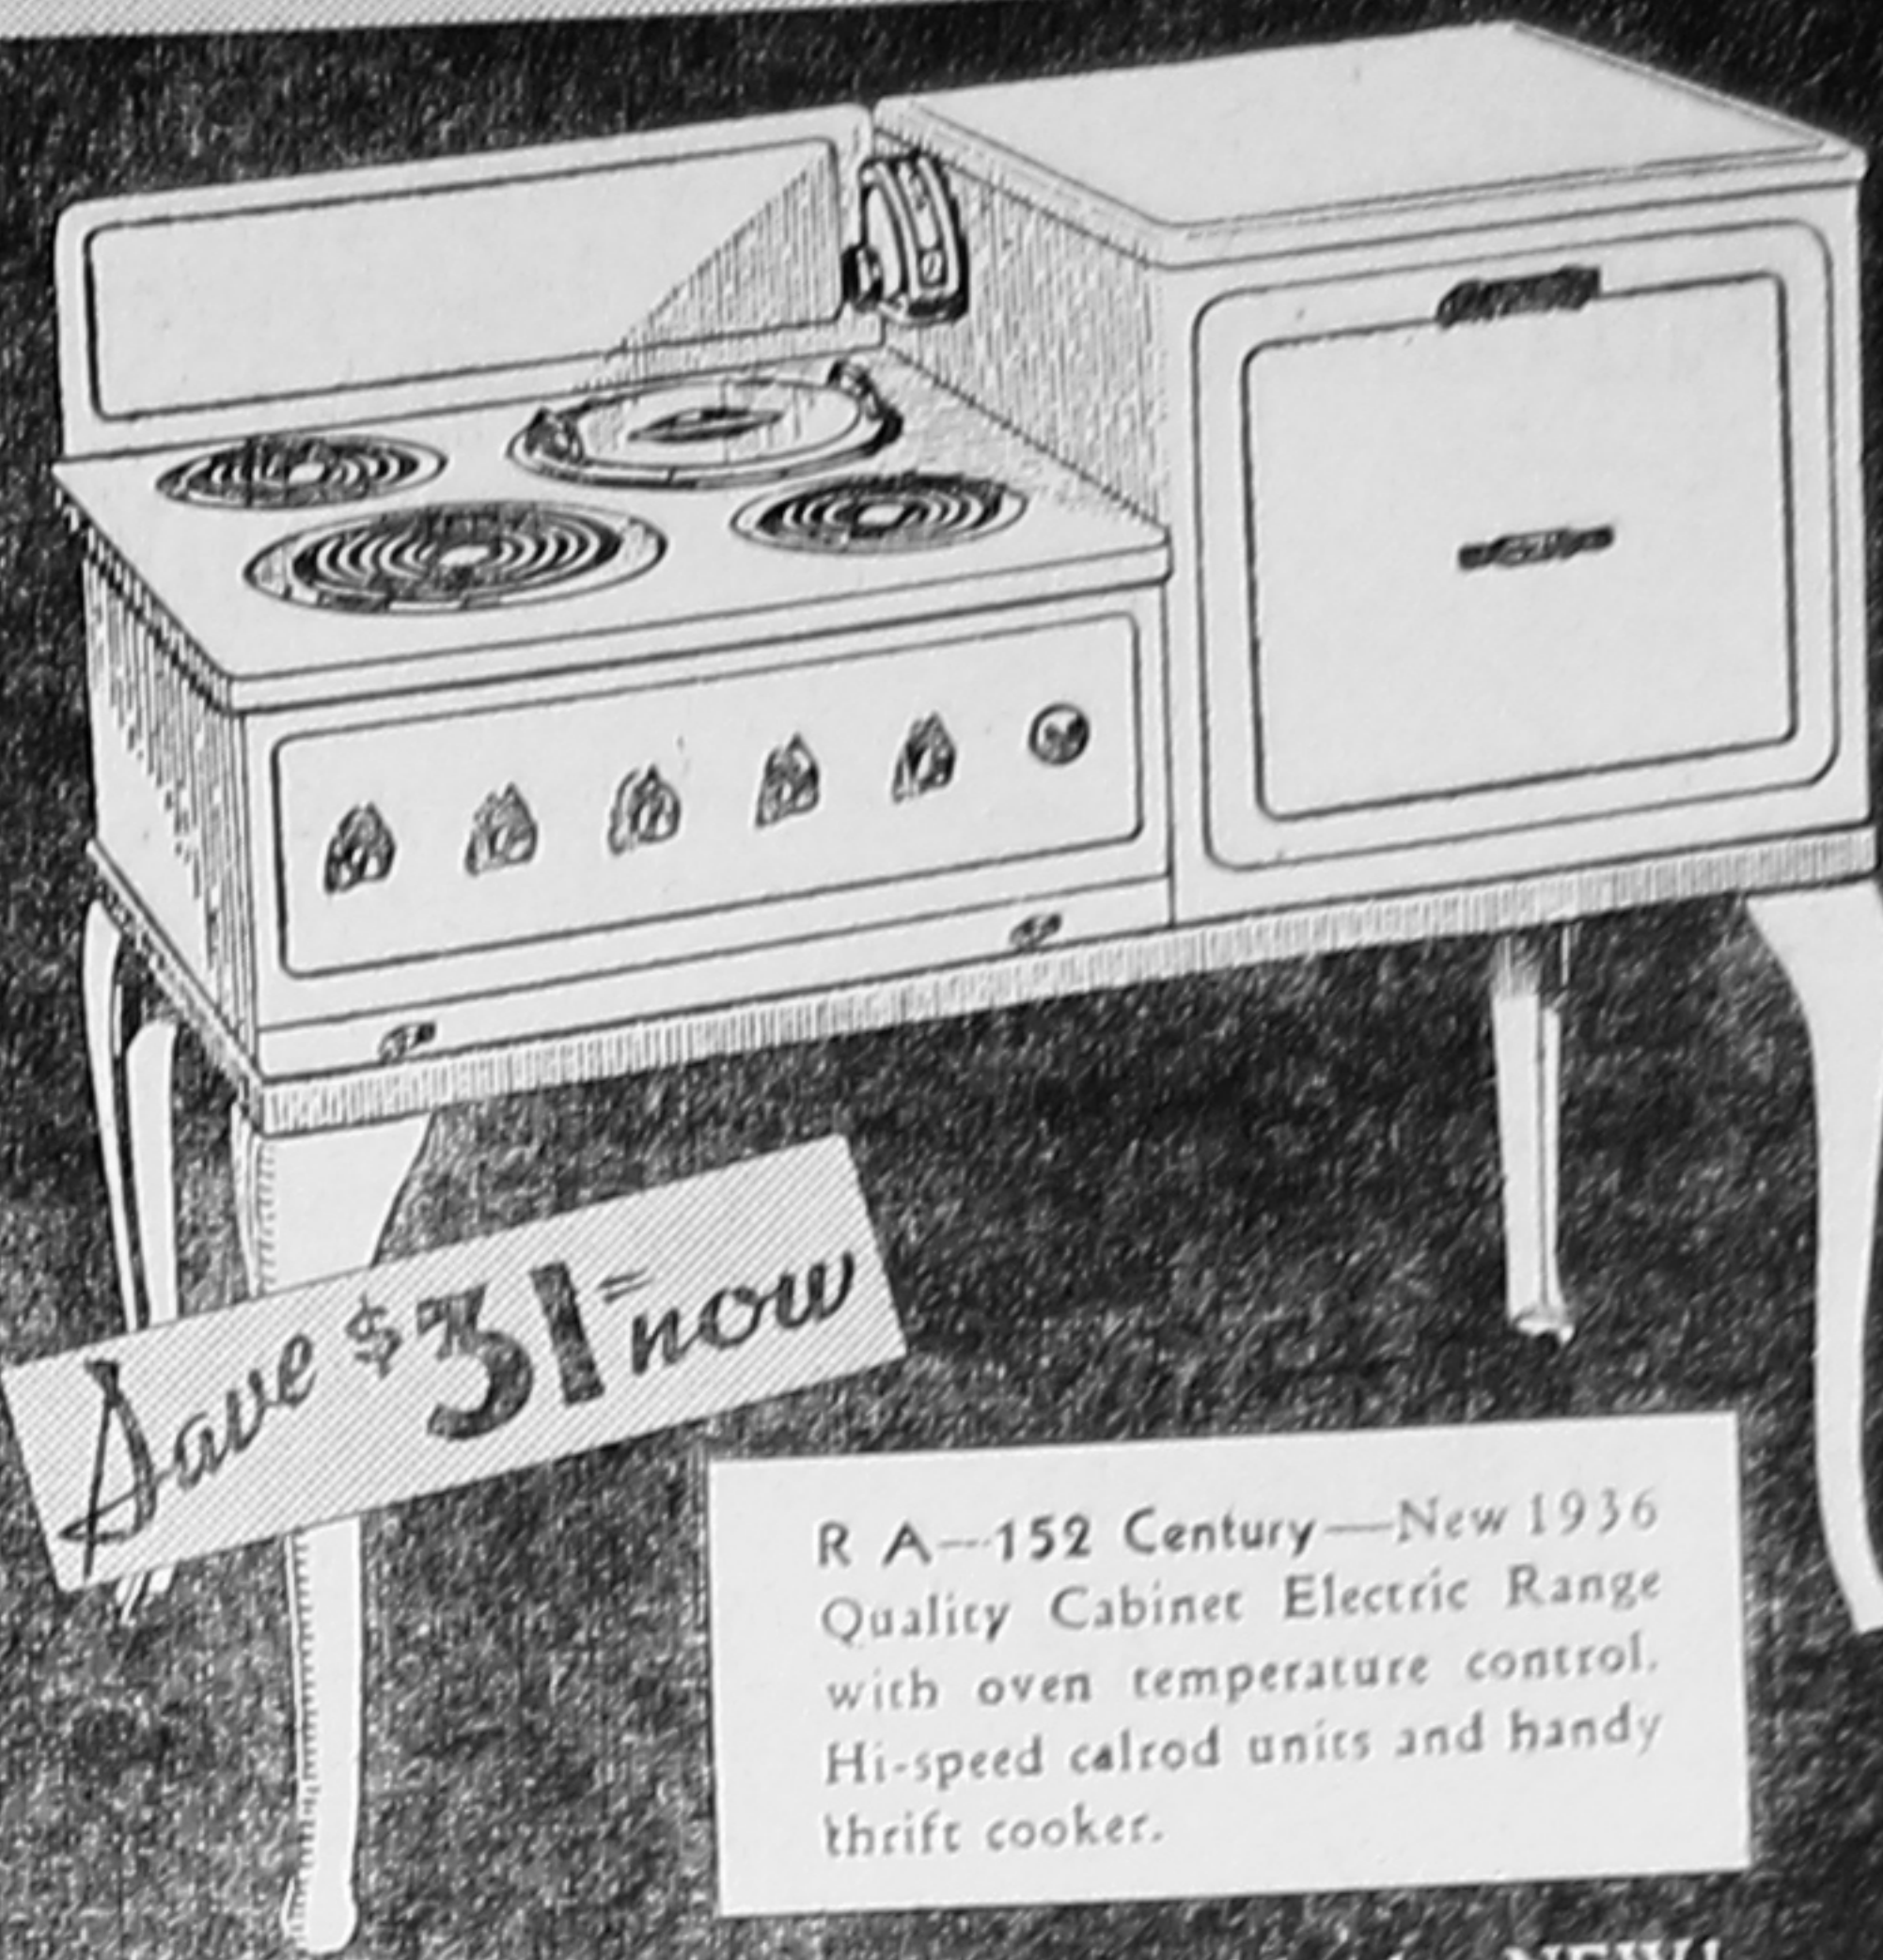

From more than 400 Texas girls, Miss Carolyn Durham, whose home is in Dallas, was chosen acting chief of the Rangerettes, official hostesses of the Texas Centennial Exposition which opens June 6. She will assist in choosing and training the 25 other girls of the Southwest who will wear the cowgirl hostess costumes from June until December.

Increased Air Service

Dallas, Texas.—Passenger service of American Airlines into Dallas during the Texas Centennial Exposition will be augmented in anticipation of increased traffic, officials of this company announce. Orders for 15 bi-motored Douglas planes, each capable of carrying 32 passengers, for delivery by March 1, next year, have been placed. These ships will be used on the New York-Los Angeles run via Dallas, it is announced.

Better Breakfasts

IT'S not new foods that make better breakfasts, but new ideas as to how to put the old ones together, with the possible addition of a few minor ingredients. Take eggs and bacon, for instance. Everybody knows about them. But there's a way in which these two good old standbys can be transmuted into a dish fit for a God.

This idea may appeal to young brides to whom nothing is too much trouble to make for their own particular private idol. So here's a breakfast menu for brides in which the miracle with eggs and bacon is accomplished. She'll find that it isn't so much trouble, after all, and that the recipe makes enough to serve four.

Steamed Apricots
Cooked Cereal with Cream
Manhattan Scrambled Eggs with Bacon
Toast Jam Coffee

To make the miracle dish, melt two tablespoons butter in skillet, add two tablespoons minced pimiento and two tablespoons minced green pepper, and cook gently for a few minutes. Add two tablespoons grated cheese and two tablespoons chilli sauce, and stir a few minutes longer. Beat six eggs slightly, and add one-fourth cup evaporated milk and a little salt and pepper. Add to skillet and scramble until just soft. Serve with crisp bacon.*

Texas Smiles Go with the Texas Seal

Texas Wild Flowers

Dallas, Texas.—More than 500 species of wild flowers are to be found in Texas according to scientists. Many of these will be displayed in the Horticultural Hall of the Texas Centennial Exposition next year.

Races for Texas Fair

Dallas, Texas.—Beginning September 28, a horse racing meet will be held on the World's Fair track of the Texas Centennial Exposition under auspices of the State Fair of Texas.

She Tells Them How to Park

Dallas, site of the Texas Centennial Exposition next year, has installed parking meters on its main downtown streets. For a nickel in the slot, motorists may leave their car beside the meter for periods from 20 minutes to one hour, according to the time marked on each meter. An additional nickel extends the period. Clarice Mollenkamp, of the Exposition Rangerettes, is shown above as she tours the streets, the Exposition's ambassador of good-will, to explain to out-of-town motorists just how the meters work.

It's Not Too Cold in Dallas

It may be snowing in the East, freezing in the Midwest and a blizzard may be coming out of the Northwest, but in Dallas, where the Texas Centennial Exposition will be held next year from June to December it wasn't too cold for Mary Ellen Logan to try the waters of White Rock Lake. With her is Carolyn Durham, chief of the Exposition's Rangerettes, a corps of 50 hostesses.

Speedboat, sailboat and outdoor motor races will be held on White Rock, just outside of Dallas, next July and August as part of the Exposition's elaborate sports program.

The Marriage Problem

By MARGARET ANGLIN
Celebrated Shakespearean Actress

Future Marriages Will Be Influenced by the Growing Power of Women

MARRIAGE as an institution has been about for a very long while and when one is asked to speculate on how long it will continue to remain about, or rather to put it specifically, what it will be like in 100 years, one must first of all stop and reflect on how long it has been.

Anything which has been, as this has been, has strong claim to continued longevity, if behind it there is pure reason.

I am of the belief that one hundred years from now marriage will be something of what marriage has been.

To put a span on when it will change is not as easy as to lay down a chalk mark and say, "This is where the hundred yards end. Now run."

It has had, of course, its utilitarian usages. It has been used to inherit wealth, to make kings, to join estates, to reconcile warring factions and families. It has also been used to make millions of people happy, to make millions of hearth fires glow, to make millions of men war and trade and go down to the sea in ships, and keep mills spinning, and mines busy.

The affection, ties and pride of parenthood, in its best sense, seem to me the surest argument in favor of matrimony. I cannot conceive, except in isolated cases—and that largely where the instinct of motherhood or fatherhood is subnormal or completely absent—I cannot conceive a new world where the boy or girl should have merely a half interest in love or love's protection.

Which parent would lay claim to the child and which claim would be sustained? Or would it be a communal affair where no individual sentiment, paternal or maternal, should obtain? Some imagination, more far-reaching than mine, would have to picture convincingly a world devoid of that sentiment and its demands which I do not believe will ever be unless blood ceases to flow in veins.

For the most part, one can only surmise, but for the lesser part, one can lay down a most poignant impression that marriage will be in some way influenced by growing power on the part of the woman, power born of power, power born of intellectual right to power, that will have no mean part in the sociologic scheme.

Women have always had power of every kind but till now have exercised it only sporadically. Now, woman is spreading her knowledge of how to be a woman with all her power.

It is my personal belief that with that growing power of woman she will demand increasing protection—for her progeny.

I do not believe man will ever relinquish his pride of race and so—For the sake of argument, dismiss the idea of marriage being a sacrament, dismiss the idea that it was ordained, that it was predestined, that it was born on the Euphrates. In its initial and indispensable essence, it is two people bound together as an institution. In any institution things may go wrong, frequently do as a matter of fact, but if the institution is solid, breakage can be repaired or ignored as trivial. Panoply of church or sanction of state cannot, never did and never will change the fact that marriage is something two people agree upon. That I believe will go on.

I think, without even knowing what the actual word marriage means, that always two people will find each other, keep each other, and always, while there are men and women, that no matter what the texture or quality or quantity of the word we call "marriage," marriage will be.

Cars Shined With Boot Blacking
Regardless of how police departments operate elsewhere in the United States, the Honolulu department has a rigid rule that each and every car in its motor patrol be spick and span regardless of weather conditions. Local officers have a system of their own for keeping cars shined at all times. The boys who hang around the squad room to polish shoes also polish cars in their spare time. When an officer buys a shoe shine a car shine is thrown in as an inducement. One price covers both jobs, and no reduction is given for either job taken singly.

Pigeon, Clock Mathematics
Roosting pigeons interfere with the accuracy of the town clock of Greenville, Ohio. The job of regulating the four faces of the county courthouse clock to keep them within five minutes of each other is complicated by the pigeons which roost on the hands. The caretaker has it reduced to something of an algebraic equation, figuring the weight of the pigeons, multiplying by the number roosting daily and nightly and then subtracting the clock's average accuracy. The unknown quantity is whether the pigeons are riding up-dial or down-dial.—Montreal Herald.

A man who is clever enough to be boss in his own home is also wise enough not to brag about it.

Technically, the husband is the head of the family, but in most households the technicality is overruled.

For Dinner... $1.50 to Spend!

Do you remember when you were called upon to do mental arithmetic in school, and had to do the sums rapidly in your head? That's something like being confronted with the necessity of producing a good dinner for six people when you are down to your last dollar and a half.

Or perhaps, because the problem is so confusing it's more like the experience of Lewis Carroll's Alice with the Red and White Queens when she found her way through the Looking Glass: "Can you do Addition?" the White Queen asked. "What's one and one and one and one and one and one and one and one and one and one?"

"I don't know," said Alice. "I lost count."

"She can't do Addition," the Red Queen interrupted. "Can you do Subtraction? Take nine from eight."

"Nine from eight I can't, you know," Alice replied very readily, "but—"

"She can't do Subtraction," said the White Queen. "Can you do Division? Divide a loaf by a knife — what's the answer to that?"

- Tomato Soup 14¢
- Cold Cuts 50¢
- Potato Salad 29¢
- Buttered Summer Squash 12¢
- Cracked Wheat Bread and Butter 12¢
- Cherry Tapioca 25¢
- Iced Tea with Lemon 8¢

And that adds up exactly to a dollar and a half whether you do it in your head or write it carefully down on a slate.

Here Are the Recipes

Of course you already know how to make most of these things, but here's the way to extend a can of tomato soup so that it will serve six people, and the recipe for the dessert.

Tomato Soup: Combine one can tomato soup, two cups water, half a chicken bouillon cube, salt and pepper, and bring to boiling. Add a pinch of soda. Pour this very slowly into one-fourth cup scalded cream, and serve at once.

Cherry Tapioca: For this recipe you use half of the fruit and all the syrup from a No. 2 can red pitted cherries. The remaining cherries can be used in a salad the next day.

Add one cup water to one cup cherry syrup, bring to boiling, add four tablespoons minute tapioca, place in double boiler and cook fifteen minutes, stirring often. Add two tablespoons sugar and a few grains salt and pour the mixture slowly into two beaten eggs. Return to double boiler and cook one minute longer. Add half the cherries from the can, turn into glass dishes and chill. Serve with top milk or thin cream.

A Dietitian Knew the Answer

Yes, the problem is decidedly more like Alice's, and that is the reason why we asked a dietitian to suggest a good dinner that could be served for approximately a dollar and a half. Here's what she suggested, together with the approximate cost of the various dishes. Of course they wouldn't cost exactly the same in every city and town in the country, but they'd come pretty close.

ROMANCE in Tin Cans

Is there anything you can think of that might seem at first blush more uninteresting than a can-making factory turning out millions of empty, tin-coated steel containers at a phenomenal rate of speed? But visit one of these with a can manufacturer who has a real love of his craft, and you will get an entirely different viewpoint. These silvery containers rolling in ceaseless files along metal guides throughout the factory will then glow with romance.

"Where do they all go?" you may ask, since it is obvious that they are not turning out cans at a rate sometimes as high as 320 a minute to keep them all there. "You can't tell to a certainty," he will reply, "where anyone of them will end up. You can't tell whether they'll turn up in your own home, in the restaurant in the Capitol at Washington, in a Park Avenue palace in New York, or in a dingy dump in Painted Post, Arizona. They all use canned foods, you know."

These reports from the United States Department of Commerce show that those cans you just saw may go anywhere. Here's an inquiry for canned foods from Addis Ababa in Ethiopia. And here's one from Gibraltar.

"Or, if you're looking for picturesque outlets for canned foods, places of which poets have sung and romancers written, how about the following list of inquiries—

Santa Cruz de Tenerife, Canary Islands; Batavia, Java; Alexandria, Egypt; Singapore, Straits Settlements; Medan, Sumatra; Cairo, Egypt and Jerusalem.

"These cans may end their usefulness in any one of scores of great cities in Europe. Here are inquiries for American canned foods from Amsterdam, Holland; Glasgow, Scotland; Brussels, Belgium; Prague, Czechoslovakia; Copenhagen, Denmark; Vienna, Austria; Antwerp, Belgium; Rotterdam, Holland; Bordeaux, Brest and Marseille, France; Cologne, Germany; Dublin, Irish Free State; Gotenberg, Sweden; The Hague, Holland; Havre and Lyons, France; Milan, Turin and Trieste, Italy; Nantes, Paris and Rouen, France; Stockholm, Sweden; Zurich, Switzerland and Bristol, London and Liverpool in England.

Almost Anywhere on Earth

"Or, if you want to swing to quarters of the globe outside of Europe, here are inquiries from Curaçao, Dutch West Indies; Montreal, Canada; Rosario, Argentina; Ancon and Panama City in the Canal Zone; Bridgeton, Barbados; Kingston, Jamaica; Bahia, Brazil; Buenos Aires, Argentina; Caracas, Venezuela; Havana, Cuba; La Paz, Bolivia; Lima, Peru; Port of Spain, Trinidad; Rio de Janeiro, Brazil; San Juan, Puerto Rico; Santiago, Cuba; Toronto, Canada; Accra, Gold Coast; Amoy, China; Bangkok, Siam; Calcutta, India; Capetown, South Africa; Casablanca, Morocco; Istanbul, Turkey; Manila, Philippine Islands; Nairobi, Kenya, Africa; Saigon, Indo-China; Hong Kong and Shanghai, China; Tunis, Tunisia and Wellington, New Zealand. Now do those cans you just saw still look to you like stupid, uninteresting cylinders, or have they a life of adventure and romance before them?"
