A Famous Slave Case

The French people claim with pride that their country was the first in Europe to have human slavery declared by a court to be unlawful.

Denmark was the first European nation to declare by legislative act that all human beings on its soil were free. That was in 1792, and the law took effect ten years later. But the legal case of John Boucaux, who was set free by a French court in the time of Louis XV, came a half-century earlier.

Boucaux had been brought to France from Martinique, in the West Indies, by a Monsieur de Verdelin, whom the negro served as a cook. Remarking finally that he was in a free country, Boucaux demanded wages. His master's reply was to have him put in the prison of the Chatalet at Paris. Boucaux was liberated after three days, there being no law to fit his case, and he thereupon sued his master for ten years' arrears of wages.

Since he came from a French colony the suit had to be heard by the judges of the Admiralty court who were compelled to detain him nearly three months while they considered what their decision should be. It was a victory for Jean Boucaux, who was declared to have been "free from the moment he stepped on French soil and to be a free man from now on."

The Unknown Scout

The recent celebration of the 25th anniversary of the Boy Scout movement in America makes it timely to again relate the incident which caused the introduction of scouting into this country. This, briefly, is the story:

A little more than a quarter of a century ago, William D. Boyce a Chicago publisher, on a European trip, lost his way in a London fog. A young English lad observing the stranger's embarrassment, approached him, and briskly saluting said: "May I be of service to you?"

Mr. Boyce inquired the way to his destination, and the lad accompanied him there, whereupon the publisher offered his young guide a shilling for his service, but the boy said: "I am a Scout, and Scouts do not accept tips for courtesies."

Mr. Boyce was interested and impressed. He asked about the Scouts. His young friend took him to the office of Sir Robert Baden-Powell, founder of the movement, and as a result when Mr. Boyce later sailed for home he brought a trunk full of literature pertaining to scouting. Then he started the Boy Scout movement in America, with the aid of others who recognized the value of such training as it affords.

A medal awarded to "The Unknown Scout," who befriended Mr. Boyce and thus caused the spread of scouting to America, was presented to the International Scout Bureau in London, where it will be kept as a permanent memorial. It is inscribed as follows:

"To the Unknown Scout, whose faithfulness in the performance of the daily good turn brought the Scout movement to the United States of America."

Perhaps never has a simple act of kindness brought forth greater or more beneficial results than that performed by this unknown London Boy Scout.

Not So Dumb

In a small town in the South there was a lad who had the reputation of not being very bright. People there had fun with him several times a day by placing a dime and a nickel on the open palm of his hand and telling him to take his pick of the two. In each case the lad would pick the nickel and the crowd would laugh and guffaw.

A kind hearted woman asked him one day, "Don't you know the difference between a dime and a nickel? Don't you know the dime is worth more?"

Sure, I know it, he answered, but they wouldn't try me out on it any more if I ever took the dime.—Ex.

A PRICELESS ICE-BOX

WHEN Secretary Seward bought Alaska from Russia, scoffers called it his "$7,000,000 ice box." Today there are more than a hundred salmon canneries scattered along its rugged coast, and the value of this delectable fish caught and canned there each year is from three to five times as much as Alaska's purchase price.

But it is not with Secretary Seward's wisdom that we are concerned today, but with the wisdom of serving this "Alaskan gold" as often as possible. Not only is it one of the cheapest of all foods, but one of the most nourishing. In fact, it is called "Alaskan gold" not because of the wealth it brings, but because it is one of the richest foods in health-giving qualities. Take vitamin D, "the sunshine vitamin." Canned salmon is full of it. The element that helps to prevent goiter is iodine. Canned salmon contains plenty of that, too.

Take Your Choice

There are three varieties of red salmon and two lighter colored salmons. One variety of red is called Chinook, or King; a second Red, Blueback or Sockeye; and a third Medium Red, or Coho. The two varieties of lighter colored salmon are known as Pink, or Chum. All five are flavorful and rich in food value, but the pink salmons which cost a little less are the best buy for cooked dishes and the red find favor for festive dishes like salads.

And what a variety of dishes one can make with this fish—casseroles, creamed dishes, cutlets, hash, loafs, molds, omelets, puddings, puffs, ramekins, rarebits, rolls, salads, sandwiches, even shortcakes and soufflés. If you are a good cook, you doubtless have many good salmon recipes already, but here are a couple that are out of the common run.

Tested Recipes

Salmon, Pea and Macaroni Casserole: Put the macaroni to cook in boiling salted water. You will need two cups of cooked macaroni. Flake the contents of one tall can salmon, removing bones. Drain one cup canned peas, grate one cup cheese and cut four slices bacon in halves. Make white sauce by cooking one tablespoon minced onion in three tablespoons butter a few minutes, adding two and a half tablespoons flour, then adding two cups milk slowly and stirring until smooth. Add two tablespoons chili sauce and season with salt and pepper. By this time the macaroni should be done. Drain it and fill the casserole in this order: half the macaroni, half the salmon, half the peas and half the white sauce. Repeat. Cover with cheese and lay bacon on top. Bake in a hot—400 degree—oven for about thirty minutes. Serves eight.

Salmon Hash: Break three-fourths cup salmon (about the contents of one small flat can) finely with a fork, removing any bones or skin but not discarding any of the liquor. Add three-fourths cup finely chopped cold boiled potato and one tablespoon heavy cream and season with salt and pepper. Spread out in a hot skillet in which about two tablespoons butter have been melted. Cover and cook gently until a nice brown on the bottom. Fold over like an omelet and remove to hot platter. Garnish with parsley. Serves two liberally.

THEIR NAME IS LEGION

Vast Variety of Foods Now Come In Tin Cans

HAVE you ever stopped to consider the vast variety of foods that are now available in tin cans? The kinds of canned food, including the different varieties of the same product, now number about three hundred and include fruits, vegetables, meats, fish and shell fish, specialties and ready-to-serve entrées.

All these foods are prepared for you by strictly modern scientific methods. Their selection for canning is carefully made, canning plants are located in the parts of the country that are the best production areas, and the foods are harvested at their prime.

Canning Is Cooking

The foods are put into new cans, then sealed air-tight, and the right amount of heat, applied for the proper length of time, makes them keep. No further cooking of the foods is necessary. They are ready for use as soon as opened, and are perfect foundations for making interesting and unusual dishes.

Moreover, the entire contents of every can is food. There are no trimmings to throw away, and no time is required to clean or cull them. Little or no fuel is needed to prepare them for the table, and, stored at home, canned foods will keep as long as the can is unopened.

Finally the food value of products in cans is as high as that of similar fresh foods cooked in the home, according to scientists who have studied nutrition. The liquid in the can is food, too. And vitamins are retained in canned foods as much as in similar foods cooked at home.

Vegetables and Fruits

The vegetables that can be obtained in cans include artichokes, asparagus, beans, beets, Brussels sprouts, carrots, cauliflower, celery, corn, hominy, kale, lentils, mixed vegetables, mushrooms, mustard greens, okra, onions, parsnips, peas, peppers, pimientos, potatoes, pumpkin, rice, sauerkraut, spinach, squash, tomatoes, turnips, turnip greens and whole wheat.

The fruits include apples, apricots, blackberries, blueberries, cherries, coconut, cranberries, currants, figs, gooseberries, grapes, grapefruit, loganberries, peaches, pears, pineapples, plums, prunes, quince, raisins, raspberries and rhubarb.

And it must be remembered that the above enumerations do not include the many forms and combinations in which a number of these foods come in cans.

Fish and Meats

The fish found in cans include anchovies, caviar, clams, cod fish, crabs, haddock, herrings, lobsters, mackerel, oysters, roe, salmon, sardines, shad, shrimp, tuna and turtle, several of them in various forms.

The meats include bacon, beef, chicken, frankfurters, ham, hash, liver, mutton, pig's feet, potted meats, sausage, squab, tongue, tripe, turkey and veal, and here again the forms are varied.

Specialties and Soups

The canned specialties include Boston brown bread, catsup, cider, cheese, chili con carne, chili sauce, chow chow, clam cakes and juice, whipping cream, fiskeballe, fruit cake, grapefruit juice, jams, Japanese crabmeat, jellies, lobster paste, malt syrup, marmalades, milk, condensed and evaporated, mince, molasses, olives, orange juice, pickles, pineapple juice, popcorn, fig and plum puddings, relish, sandwich spreads, sauerkraut juice, smoked boneless herrings, spaghetti, spiced and pickled fruits, whole squab, syrup, tamales and tomato juice, paste and sauce.

The soups are asparagus, beef, bouillon, celery, chicken, clam broth, clam chowder, consommé, creamed soups, Julienne, Madriene, minestrone, mulligatawny, mushroom, mutton broth, noodle, okra, onion, oxtail, oyster, pea, pepper pot, purées, soup stock, strained vegetable, tomato, green and mock turtle, vegetable and vermicelli.

Ready-Made Entrées

These include beef à la mode, chicken à la king, chicken curry, chop suey, Hungarian goulash, lobster Newburgh, a whole rice dinner and Irish stew. Of course millions of cans of vacuum packed coffee and of beer in kegged cans are also consumed, but these do not classify under the foregoing headings.

Not every grocer carries all of the varieties of canned foods, but he can and will obtain any special item in the above enumeration that you want.

Texas Exposition 150 Per Cent Over Original Size Plan

Chrysler Contract Puts Dallas World's Fair on Top in Motor Exhibits

DALLAS, Texas—The Texas Centennial Exposition today turned the home stretch toward its June 6 opening, two and one-half times larger than its sponsors originally anticipated.

From $10,000,000 value, estimated when the project was begun, the first World's Fair of the Southwest, has grown into a $25,000,000 affair, the steel framework of its construction jobs stretching down mile after mile of parallel courses.

New Building Ordered

With the signing of the Chrysler Motor Corporation for a huge display space the Exposition boasts the largest motor exhibit ever shown at a World's Fair.

Originally the $400,000 Hall of Transportation was intended to house exhibits of both transportation and petroleum industries.

So large was the space taken by Chrysler, however, that Exposition officials were forced to hurriedly realign their plans and build a separate Hall of Petroleum.

Ford, with its own building, General Motors, with a huge, air-conditioned auditorium where changing shows of radio and stage stars will be presented in one-week engagements throughout the June 6-Nov. 29 Exposition period, and Chrysler with an elaborate participation in the making, will give Dallas a record-breaking representation of the motor industry.

Livestock Also Featured

Further, the big fair will boast the largest livestock show ever assembled.

Other exhibits keep the pace, with the city display space at a premium and officials assured of an exhibit "sell-out" long before the opening day.

City of Dallas, the State of Texas and the Federal government are keeping step with their important Exposition building programs.

W. A. Webb, general manager of the Exposition who holds an international reputation for his railroad construction work, has announced every building will be completed by the June 6 opening date.

The spirit of the Old West will be recreated at every turn.

In a city as metropolitan as any in the nation, the frontier days will live again.

Ten-Gallon Hats Epidemic

Ten-gallon hats are blooming on every corner. Service stations are garbing their attendants in the cowpuncher's regalia. Department stores once clothing their elevator girls in cowgirl uniforms similar to those of Exposition Rangerettes. Other stores are donating the big hats to their employees with instructions to wear them on all occasions.

Even the Exposition police will be in full Old West attire.

The Texas Rangers will have a camp on the Exposition Race Track, with a replica of an old Ranger bunkhouse as their headquarters.

Not a single detail has been overlooked by the Exposition chiefs in their efforts to make the Southwest's World's Fair the most colorful in history.

Rodeo Boss

Col. W. I. Johnson, of San Antonio, will take his world championship rodeo to the Texas Centennial Exposition at Dallas for engagements in June and September. The first will start June 6, opening day of the $25,000,000 World's Fair. Col. Johnson's rodeo is the one which has played in New York City's Madison Square Garden for the last five years.

The teacher asked Willie if his father said grace at breakfast, and received the reply: No, he said go easy on the bacon; its 45 cents a pound.

exas Centennial Exposition officials originally intended to have 48 Rangerettes on hostess duty when the $25,000,000 World's Fair opens in Dallas June 6. When they found one of those selected came from Washington, D. C., they included Mexico to make an even 50. Now, not to overlook Canada, they have appointed Grace Louise Bailey, daughter of a Dallas publisher and born in Ojibwa, Ontario, near Windsor, making a total of 51.

COMING LEISURE

NOT long ago a young graduate of two years declared that now her college days were over, life held little for her, as she did not need to work, and she was tired of play. "I am bored with society in particular and with life in general," she added with a sigh.

Here she was, talented, with a wealth of leisure time on her hands and had made of it only an idling time, instead of a growing time. "One's leisure is time to invest," I told her, "it is not time to spend. Time spent is gone, time invested is saved." Leisure is not "unoccupied time"—the dictionary notwithstanding! What an irretrievable mistake for countless generations to have been brought up on.

Too long have we been training our children to think and plan their lives in terms of dollars rather than time investment. Money spent can always be re-earned. Time spent can never be returned. Time should be budgeted like money now is budgeted. Children should be taught to expect the largest possible dividends from each day of 24 hours. They should anticipate education from their study time; skill from their play or leisure time; health from their sleeping time.

Parents lose an opportunity for giving their children an early life lesson on successful living when they fail to keep on training them in their play time, as we hear so often "run away and play." Play time in childhood becomes leisure in adulthood.

Leisure in America is coming; leisure that in the past has been a gift to the rich only will soon be part of an average man's day. In order to spread the work of the world to more heads and hands, some folk will be forced to work less hours so that others may work at all, for everyone who has to live ought to have a chance to work. Work is a blessed privilege, so is leisure. Only the man who appreciates work can fully appreciate leisure, and I am beginning to think, can appreciate life to its fullest.

The true test of an educated person is that he can enjoy himself when alone and not have to pay another to amuse him. Life holds no boredom for the man who can recreate his soul in his leisure time. Life's enrichments come to us not through the use of our money, but through the use of our time. Since the American goal has been riches rather than enrichment, what are we going to do with this coming leisure?

Crop and Feed Loans Available for Farmers

Mr. Charles Steinberg, Field Supervisor of the Crop and Feed Loan Section of the Farm Credit Administration, St. Louis, was in Champaign County the first of the week, checking applications for seed and feed loans. These loans are offered any farmer in need of money who cannot obtain credit elsewhere, for the purpose of producing a cash crop or a crop to be fed to livestock. The funds may be used for seed, fuel and oil for tractors, feed for work stock, or other lesser expenses incidental to producing a crop. The loans are secured by a first lien on crops in the case of a cash crop, or a first lien on livestock in the case of a feed crop. The interest rate is 5½% and the loans are payable as the crop or livestock is moved to market.

Owing to the fact that the loan will be offered for only a limited time, it is suggested that farmers anticipate their needs and make immediate application if assistance is desired.

Miss Marjory Buckles, Committee Clerk, at the Farm Bureau Office in Champaign, Ill., will be glad to assist in making applications for these loans.

Farmers residing in other counties may receive particular information about the loans by applying at the Farm Bureau office in the county of their residence.

Mr. Steinberg has supervised this territory for the past several years and reports that the repayments of the loans made in former years have been very satisfactory.
