Obituary of John Edwin Astell

John Edwin Astell was born near Jacksonville, in Morgan County on March 24, 1861. He was the third of eight children born to William and Mary Russell Astell. These children in order of birth were Sarah, William, John, Nanny, James, Emma, Ida and George Henry. All are now deceased except George Henry, who lives near West Lebanon, Ind.

The family moved from Morgan to Champaign County and settled on the Broadlands tract of land in 1876.

John Edwin Astell and Maria Jane Blair were united in marriage October 14, 1891. To this union two sons were born, Louis Alexander of Urbana and William Max of Homer.

For the first 14 years the family lived in Champaign County. Then they lived in Douglas County from 1906 to 1916. They then returned to Champaign County and settled near Homer where husband and wife have lived up to the present time.

For more than five years the deceased has been in failing health. During the past two years he has been confined almost entirely to the house.

On Thursday, Oct. 8, he was fatally stricken and departed from this life Tuesday morning, October 13, at the age of 75 years, 6 months, and 19 days.

Home Coming and Dads' Day at U. of I.

Urbana-Champaign, Oct. 17—Homecoming and Dads' Day visitors at the University of Illinois will see the fall season's first presentation of the Illini Theatre Guild, Fulton Cursler and Aubrey Kennedy's "Behold This Dreamer." The play will be given four nights, Oct. 24 and 25 and Nov. 14 and 15 in the beautiful Lincoln theater on the university campus.

Wesley Swanson, who has been in charge of Guild productions since 1922, will direct the production. The lead parts of Clara and Charley will be played by Miss Betty Crist of La Grange and Klusman Parks of Joliet.

Illini Theatre Guild productions are known for originality in setting and presentation. Sets are made by the students themselves under the direction of Mr. Swanson and of Richard Moody, technical director. The stage is specially equipped for the best use of lighting effects and of the most modern techniques in stage furnishing.

"Behold This Dreamer" is no stranger to the Lincoln Hall Theater. The production was given there several years ago with James Luneberg playing the lead. It was well received, and requests for another playing of it have been answered by Mr. Swanson.

County Farm Folks Spurn Age Pensions

Mrs. Lyda K. Busey, county old age pension investigator, had the surprise of her life Thursday morning, when she went to the county home to fill out applications for pensions, and found the inmates uninterested.

Mrs. Busey returned to headquarters without any applications, and commented that she had never seen such a happy, contented set of old folks in her life. "All were fearful they would be made to leave the home," she said. "They have plenty of company, plenty to eat and wear, and a comfortable place to stay. That seems to be about all any have a right to ask for in the sunset of life."

Mrs. Busey returned convinced that Champaign county does not have a poor farm, but a real home for its aged and infirm. She could see no justification in trying to talk any of them into seeking pensions so they could go into private homes. Should any accept a pension, it would mean he or she would have to go into a private home—leave a home that suits—and take a chance of strangers being kind to them for the little money they would receive for it.—News Gazette.

Elmer Sy and family moved to Broadlands the first of the week occupying the Maxwell property in the northeast part of town.

Vote

The greatest possession of a free people is the ballot—the right to vote. It is a defender of our liberties and a weapon against injustice.

Yet that invaluable heritage is not prized by millions of otherwise good citizens. Proof of this statement can be found in undeniable statistics. In most elections, less than half of the persons who are entitled to vote do so. It is exceptional when an election brings to the voting booths more than fifty percent of enfranchised citizens.

One result is that public officials are elected by minorities—the vote of the majority is silent. Another, and worse result, is a flagging of interest by the people in a thing which vitally affects us all—our government.

This year, there are great issues before us. No matter where we may stand, it is our duty as well as our privilege to mark an X opposite names of our choice on the ballot. Only by doing that, can we have popular government.

In Germany the right to vote has been virtually abrogated—at the last election citizens had a choice of endorsing Hitler or of leaving the ballot blank, there being no opponent. This is true of Italy, of Russia, of Greece, and of a dozen other powers. And here in America, where we still have that right which preserves our freedom, half of us don't trouble to exercise it.

So—vote on Nov. 3. Vote for Roosevelt, Landon, Lemke or Thomas—whichever you believe is the best man for President. Do the same for other offices. It is your inalienable right to vote for whomever you please. And only by voting on the men and issues of the time, can that right be preserved.

Father of Rural Mail

Rural free delivery of mail is now so generally established throughout the country that the farm boy and girl of today take it for granted, and few of them know that its first beginnings were only 38 years ago.

Perry Sanford Heath, a newspaper man who died in 1928 at the age of 60, was the father of rural free delivery. Through his activity in behalf of McKinley's election in 1896, Heath became first assistant postmaster general in 1897. With only $30,000 of an unexpended appropriation for experimental purposes to begin with, he established a few free rural routes. The farmers liked the idea and through Heath's persistence Congress was induced to appropriate more and more funds for the extension of the service.

As a direct result of his vision and zeal, the system of rural free delivery, which now serves more than 30,000,000 persons, has become one of the greatest benefits which the government confers upon the public.

Every rural mail box in the land is a modest monument to Perry Heath.

New Polio Theory

A new theory concerning poliomyelitis, commonly known as infantile paralysis, has been advanced by Dr. Edward C. Rosenow, head of the experimental bacteriology division of the Mayo Foundation at Rochester, Minn., who declares that this dreaded disease is not contagious.

He believes that each victim contracts the disease independently from some source of infection containing a streptococcus germ, such as he has found in the pollen of goldenrod and ragweed, as well as elsewhere.

His theory is partially confirmed by the well-known fact that usually only one of a family of children is stricken. In the rare cases in which more than one of a family is attacked, the circumstance may be explained by the probability that each came into contact with a similar source of the germ about the same time.

The fact that Dr. Rosenow is one of the most famous bacteriologists in the world gives weight to his theory. It was he who first isolated the germ believed to be the cause of infantile paralysis.

Cats and Rats

What does a cat do when it sees a rat? Sounds like a foolish question, doesn't it? And ordinarily it would be, but Zing Yang Kuo, a noted Chinese psychologist, says it all depends on the cat's bringing up.

After innumerable experiments with 59 kittens in his laboratory, he finds that sometimes cats and rats become affectionate playmates. This occurs when the cats and rats are placed together practically from birth. Even without this contact, only 45 per cent of his kittens attempted to kill rats unless they had seen their mothers do it, while after seeing a rat killed nearly all followed the mother's example.

So, Prof. Kuo says, "our studies show that kittens can be made to kill a rat, to love it, to fear it, or to play with it."

All of which is interesting, even though the practical benefit of this knowledge of cat psychology is not apparent to the layman.

It is as hard to keep a good man down as it is to keep a bad one in jail.

Some folks who never do anything else on time buy all their stuff that way.

The reason women live longer than men is because paint is a great preservative.

All who have reached extreme old age, it seems, have either used lots of tobacco and whiskey, or none.

McCormick-Deering Disk Harrows

WHEN you buy a McCormick-Deering Disk Harrow you are getting a lot more than an ordinary disk harrow. The reason—because McCormick-Deering uses only crimped-center, heat-treated disks. The crimped center serves as a strong reinforcement or shock absorber for the disk at the center—the point of greatest strain. The crimp, being flat, permits the use of spacing spools with flat ends that are carefully ground. This provides an extremely close fit between the spacing spools and the disks, preventing looseness and breakage after a few seasons of use.

The next time you are passing our store stop in and let us show you how this one feature means years of satisfactory service. We can furnish you with whatever type of disk harrow you need—tractor or horse-drawn—from our complete line.

More than 1,000 purebred rams were sold at this year's annual ram sale at Salt Lake City. The top price of $1,000 was paid by James Lairlow of Muldoon, Ida., for a 2-year-old Suffolk ram which won first prize at the Royal Canadian show last year. A yearling Hampshire brought $750.

The horse and buggy age is still a reality in a community near Governor Landon's birthplace, West Middlesex, Pa. The inhabitants are of Dutch descent and belong to the Amish sect, whose beliefs and stern discipline do not permit the enjoyment of such luxuries as automobiles.

A shrewd firm of New York brokers recently devised a new means of hoarding as a hedge against inflation. As gold can no longer be hoarded they have induced their clients to invest in platinum, cast in three-ounce bars, to be stored in safety vaults. In a few weeks the price jumped from $43 to $62 an ounce.

Voters Here Are Some Things To Think About

An American deal for Americans.

This Campaign is A Holy Crusade for Liberty.

Land a Job with Landon.

Good Government depends on thoughtful voters and Competent Officials.

It is the duty of every American to keep Old Glory waving over the Land of The Free and the Home of the Brave.

Before we are Republicans or Democrats We Must Be Americans.

There is only one kind of Americanism.

The New Deal is not an American deal.

There is only one Constitution and one Flag which means freedom to all---That is the American Constitution and the American Flag.

Save the American principles which you have enjoyed for your children by voting Republican November 3rd.

There is only one America---Let's preserve it.

Do You Know Illinois?

By Edward J. Hughes
Secretary of State

Q. How many ways has the name Chicago been spelled?
A. There are 72 different ways of spelling Chicago. It is said that in the early days no two government officials writing from Chicago spelled it the same way.

Q. What was the first daily newspaper printed in Chicago?
A. Chicago's first daily was called the "Chicago Daily American." Wm. Stuart was the editor and owner.

Q. When was the first edition of this paper printed?
A. The first edition was printed April 9, 1839.

Q. How was Joseph Smith, the leader of the Mormons killed?
A. While confined in prison at Carthage, Illinois, he was attacked by a mob and murdered.

Q. When did Chief Sau-ga-nash die?
A. Chief Sau-ga-nash, (Billy Caldwell) died at Council Bluffs, Sept. 28, 1814.

Q. What did LaSalle and Hennepin call the Illinois River?
A. Seignali and Seignalay.

Q. What early explorers called Lake Michigan, "Lake St. Joseph?"
A. Claude Allouez. In 1676 he reached this lake on the eve of the feast of St. Joseph.

Q. What were the political privileges of the early settlers of Illinois?
A. Under the ordinance of 1787 the political privileges of the citizens were few. They could not exercise elective franchise unless they were freeholders of 50 acres. Nor could they aspire to a seat in the territorial legislature unless they owned 200 acres or more.

Q. What tax collection method was used in Illinois after its admission into the union?
A. A list of resident tax payers was given to the sheriff, who called at each residence and demanded payment. Collection was forced by distress and sale.

Q. Could property sold to the state for taxes be redeemed?

100 Ton Pile of Coal on Fire at Tuscola

A slow burning fire at the bottom of a 100 ton pile of coal which is stored at the jail and court house heating plant at Tuscola is causing a lot of trouble for jail officials. Men are at work with wheelbarrows taking the coal out of the coal room and piling it in the yard and if the outcome is the same as it was two years ago, when a similar fire occurred, it is probable that all of the huge pile will have to be moved before the fire is extinguished.

The fire started at the bottom of the pile due it is said to spontaneous combustion caused by the great weight on the lower part of the 15 feet pile. Water played on the pile for days had no effect on the smouldering mass two years ago so little attempt was made to quell it in that manner this year.—Tuscola Review.

Congressional Candidate Dollar-a-Week Man When 'Depression' Was 'Panic'

Prosperity is ready to return through natural channels when sound governmental policies remove present obstacles "just as it has time and again in the past" according to William H. Wheat, Republican candidate for representative in Congress from the 19th district.

"Why back there during the Cleveland panic things were so bad that I felt myself lucky to get a dollar-a-week job in a clothing store, with business so dull the boss used to push over neatly piled counters of suits just to keep us busy replacing them," Mr. Wheat said the other day.

Factories went bankrupt on every hand, and citizens believed conditions would never improve.

During those days I was among the boys whose job it was to solicit turnips, cabbage, and meat scraps for the city soup kitchen, recalled the Rantoul congressional candidate.

Yes, we used to think prosperity would never return, but it did, and in a big way, too. Once our government has provided honorable security for those unfortunate victims of this latest depression and restored confidence among progressive American workers and business men, we'll shift into high again, the veteran farmer-banker optimistically declared.
