The new officers were installed as follows:

W. M.—C. T. Henson.
S. W.—Henry K. Mohr.
J. W.—Lyman Mohr.
Treasurer—Geo. H. Cook.
Secretary—Carl B. Dicks.
Chaplain—J. F. Darnall.
S. D.—Roy Davis.
J. D.—Harold O. Anderson.
S. S.—Harry Nohren.
J. S.—Edward Nohren.
Marshal—O. P. Witt.
Tyler—John Nohren.

Miss Gaile Potter Graduate State Teachers' College

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Potter attended the commencement exercises of the Illinois State Teachers' College at Charleston, on June 13, their daughter, Miss Gaile being one of the graduates. Miss Gaile will teach at the Lawnsdale school the coming term.

Honestly now, what's your hurry? Have you ever been confronted by an officer of the law who asked you, "Where is the fire? or, What's your hurry?"

Some countries handle speeders entirely different from the way America does. In Jugoslavia officials don't ask questions. If an officer finds a speeder, he maneuvers the driver over to the curb and politely lets the air out of all four tires. No ticket is issued. Pumping the air back into four tires leaves a lasting impression with any driver.

Too many times people will pass us fifty feet from a stop light which shows red, only to have to wait until they get the signal to go ahead. How silly, and how dangerous!

It's smart to be careful.

Too Much Juice (Electric) Electrocutes Two Cows

Peoria, June 18—Farmer John Goetz read a lot about those new fangled electric wire fences and how they gave old Bossy a mild shock when she got too frisky. So he rigged up a hand made contrivance on his farm. When he went to see how his cows were making out he found two of his prize animals lying prostrate on the ground. They had been electrocuted.

Fithian Boy Drowned In Gravel Pit Saturday

Ogden—Raymond Miller, 18, of Fithian, was drowned about noon Saturday in a gravel pit on the Frank Marron farm six miles northwest of here.

Miller, with four companions, had been baling hay for Fred McKinney and planned to take a swim before dinner. He was first in the water and immediately after diving began calling for help.

The body remained in the water for almost an hour before it was recovered. A pulmotor was used after the body had been removed from the water but efforts to revive the youth proved futile.

The body was removed to Jeanes funeral home at Fithian. Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Tuesday from the Fithian M. E. Church with Rev. J. E. Willey officiating. Burial was in Homer G. A. R. cemetery.

The deceased is survived by his father, William Miller, and his step-mother; a brother, Edward; and three sisters, Mrs. Blanche Strode, Danville; Mrs. Gertrude Thomas, of Ypsilanti, Mich.; and Ruth Miller at home.

Clifford Eckerty Is Called Beyond

Clifford Eckerty, 57, of the Eckerty Cafe, passed away at 10:15 p. m. Sunday, at his home here. He had been in poor health for the past five years, and in a critical condition for several days. His death was due to diabetes.

Funeral services were held in the Methodist Church of Broadlands, Tuesday afternoon, June 21, at 2:00 o'clock, with Rev. W. Earl Ballew, the pastor, officiating, who was assisted by Rev. H. Ray Funk, now pastor of the Methodist Church at Sadorus, but formerly pastor of the Methodist Church at Hume, when Mr. Eckerty and family lived there.

Music was furnished by Mrs. Eva Lucas of Metcalf, and Miss Helen McAnully of Hume, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Virginia Stroh, of Hume.

Flower bearers were Mary Margaret Weeks, Martha Louise Kellams, Mesdames Ida Messman, Faye Warnes, Marie Bar-racks, Cecil Lindsay, Hilda Edwards, Emma Thomas, Bertha Cook, Wilma Eckerty, Helen Eckerty, Iva Lou Eckerty.

Casket bearers were Charley DeWitt, Ernest Eckerty, Earl Eckerty, Kenneth Eckerty, Or-ris Denbo, Harold Eckerty.

A large concourse of sorrowing relatives and friends attended the last sad rites, many from Hume and other surrounding communities being present. The many beautiful floral offerings attested the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

Interment was in the Fairfield Memorial cemetery, southeast of Broadlands, with Dicks Bros., local morticians in charge.

Relatives from a distance attending the funeral were Dwight Weeks and family and Mrs. Hilda Edwards, Paoli, Ind.; Ott Kellams and family, Mrs. Harry Ashley, Orleans, Ind.; Ralph Thomas and family, Joe Thomas and family, Indianapolis, Ind.; Jake Eckerty, Ernest Eckerty, Wickliffe, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Lindsay, of Springfield; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Eagler, Maroa; Mr. and Mrs. Orris Denbo, Chrisman; Mr. and Mrs. Orville Denbo, Indianapolis; J. O. Eagler, Maroa; Mr. and Mrs. Ben Eagler, Warsaw, Ind.

William Clifford Eckerty, son of Fred and Catherine Klar Eckerty, was born at Wickliffe, Ind., Feb. 1, 1881, and departed this life at his home in Broadlands, Ill., June 19, 1938, being of the age of 57 years, 4 months and 18 days.

On March 18, 1906, he was married to Miss Lettie Thomas, at Paoli, Indiana. To this union one son, Fredrick, was born.

Twenty-eight years of his life were spent near Hume, Ill., on a farm. Four years ago he moved from Hume to Broadlands, which has since been the home of the family.

Mr. Eckerty was for years a member of the Hume Methodist Episcopal Church, and continued in active and devoted membership as long as his health permitted.

His passing leaves surviving him: the widow, Mrs. Lettie Eckerty; the son, Fredrick; one sister, Mrs. Phoebe Mavity, of Longview; three brothers, Jake, of Wickliffe, Ind.; Charles of Newman; and Floyd, of Long-view. Also one grandson, Billie Eckerty, of Broadlands; several nieces and nephews, and a host of friends.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Lesson for June 26

SHARING SERVICE WITH THE LIVING CHRIST

LESSON TEXT—Mark 16:1-8, 14-16, 19, 20. GOLDEN TEXT—And they went forth, and preached everywhere, the Lord working with them. Mark 16:20. PRIMARY TOPIC—At Work With Jesus. JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Our Living Lord. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Making a New World With Christ. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Making a New World With Christ.

Easter again? No, the calendar does not say so, nor have we forgotten that we observed Easter ten weeks ago, but quite properly we study the resurrection story again today. Not only does it come in the sequence of our lessons as our final study in the Gospel of Mark, but the fact is that every Sunday is a reminder of Easter. The reason why we worship on the first day of the week is that it is the resurrection day. What life it would put into our Sunday worship if the glory of the risen Lord would shine forth (as it should) each Lord's Day in all of our service and worship.

It is difficult to think or write about the living Christ without using superlatives. Our lesson for today brings before us the most important truth that the world has ever heard—"He is risen"; it speaks of the worst thing in the world—"unbelief"; and it presents the world's greatest commission—"Go . . . and preach."

I. The Transcendent Truth (vv. 1-8).

"Ye seek Jesus, the Nazarene, who hath been crucified; He is risen, He is not here" (v. 6).

The world anxiously awaits news, and, hoping almost against hope, it longs for good news. This is the good news—the Gospel—the all-important tidings that the Son of God who had taken upon Himself not only the form of man, but the sins of mankind as well, who had tasted the bitter death of Calvary's cross, could not be holden of death, but breaking its bands asunder had risen from the dead.

This truth becomes the chief burden of the messages of the disciples as they soon went everywhere proclaiming the Gospel. See the sermons recorded in the Book of Acts (2:24, 32; 3:14, 15; 4:10, 23; 10:40; 13:30). It was such preaching that was at the foundation of the Christian church. It may be that we should emphasize it more.

II. The Impassable Barrier (v. 14).

"He upbraided them with their unbelief and hardness of heart, because they believed not." Many are the sins that men commit, but at the root of them all we find the heart of all sin—unbelief.

The tragic consequence of unbelief is that it shuts the door, throws up a barrier to God's blessing that is virtually impassable until God himself gives grace to believe. The astonishing thing is that the hardness of heart and lack of faith here were on the part of those who had been the disciples of Jesus, to whom He had made known the fact that He was to die and to arise on the third day, and to whom there had now come the word of eye-witnesses that they had seen the Lord.

While we marvel at their shortsighted unbelief, shall we not ask ourselves what hindrances we have placed in God's way in our own lives?

III. The Supreme Commission (vv. 15, 16, 19, 20).

"Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to the whole creation" (v. 15). "And they went . . . and preached, the Lord working with them and confirming the word" (v. 20).

The great commission of Christ is still the "marching orders of the church," but how slowly we have marched. The writer of these notes was recently startled by statistics revealing anew the fact that "Christian" America is rapidly returning to the status of a mission field. It is said that last year 60,000 churches in America had no converts, and 9,000 churches were closed during the year. There are 10,000 villages reported to be without church services, and 30,000 communities without a resident pastor.

The command of Christ is that we should go to these pagan communities in our own land with the gospel, and surely it is our double shame that there are still lands where Christ has never been preached, yes, tribes that do not even have a word in their language for the blessed name—Jesus!

If we will go He will indeed work with us (v. 20) and accompany the message and ministry with divine authority and power. Who will go?

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK.—France is beginning to think she has ejected Clemenceau in Premier Daladier, and she still has Marshal Philippe Petain, one of the few survivors of the great generals of the World War.

It was he who said, "They shall not pass"—on February 5, 1916, to be exact. He was the savior of Verdun, and, in this connection, a deft historian might discover that rope-skipping saved France.

He was born Henri Philippe Benoni Omer Joseph Petain, the son of a baker in Couchy a la Tour.

Man Mountain Dean, the wrestler, running for the legislature in Georgia, is after only one seat, but he will need three or four if he is elected.

His career seems to have been mostly his wife's idea. Born Frank Leavitt, in New York, known as the "Hell's Kitchen Hillbilly," he did a hitch in the army and thereafter engaged in some desultory wrestling and mauling as a Soldier Leavitt.

He started grappling again, in Boston in 1933, with fame still eluding his half-nelson, when a German promoter took him on a tour of the Rhineland.

GEORGE E. Q. JOHNSON, the slight, self-effacing, bespectacled man who sent Al Capone to Alcatraz, is devoting his life to social betterment.

It was as United States attorney that he deftly enmeshed Capone in a silken spider-web of evidence, laboriously gathered and spun.

He broke the gangs in Chicago. His story of how he snared Capone, told before the senate judiciary committee, with its tales of trapdoors and secret panels, was Grade A melodrama, but he didn't make it sound that way.

SEEN and HEARD around the NATIONAL CAPITAL By Carter Field

WASHINGTON.—A considerable bloc of railroad officials do not want any more government help in the form of loans.

They are strongly in favor of permitting such railroads as cannot now pay their bond interest to go through the wringer.

There are plenty of reasons for the present difficulty of the railroads, but most of them are not susceptible to much change.

It is only on heavy products that the railroads at present can depend for revenue. A very small increase in rates on light products will drive shippers to trucks.

It might not be difficult to obtain senate approval for a St. Lawrence river development, including all the features of the Tennessee valley development.

The sticking point in the whole beautiful picture is navigation and nothing else. Incidentally navigation has been the driving force behind the whole movement ever since its inception.

Never was any senator closer to the White House at the time Major Berry took his oath before Vice President Garner.

But all that has been changed. The split began, apparently, about the time Senator Berry discovered that David E. Lilienthal, of the TVA was not as friendly as had appeared.

nal, but, much worse, he not only was deprived of the money he had expected, but he was maligned in a public hearing by the TVA congressional investigating committee.

But the senator was shocked beyond measure when Lilienthal virtually joined A. E. Morgan in attacking Berry, thus taking this case, unless A. E. Morgan springs something now unanticipated to clinch this particular point against Lilienthal, virtually out of the controversy.

Some of these letters caused me great concern, however, because they indicate that in spite of my warning against unscientific methods of weight reduction, many women still cling to the idea that there is some magic in the various pills, powders, capsules, soaps, salts and mechanical devices that are sold at fancy prices and hold out alluring promises of speedy reducing without dieting or exercise.

It is bad enough that most of these fail to reduce. For they may delay the day when the victim of overweight will undertake a sound and scientific program of weight reduction that will effectively take off weight—thus improving appearance, benefiting health and increasing the chances of longevity.

Drugging is particularly to be condemned, and no one should attempt to reduce by this method except under the advice and watchful eye of a physician.

There is always the possibility that one may omit calcium-bearing foods and thus impair the teeth, or leave out foods rich in iron and copper and interfere with the formation of the hemoglobin or red pigment in the blood. One of the most common and most serious errors is to omit all bread, potatoes and cereals, in the belief that carbohydrates are "fattening foods."

Counting Calories the Easy Way to Reduce. The one safe, sure and scientific method of getting rid of surplus weight and at the same time maintaining top health—is to consume a diet that is balanced in every respect, but to count your calories at every meal, making certain that you consume fewer calories each day than your body requires for its normal energy expenditure.

If you are approximately thirty and your weight is normal, you should send for my Calorie Chart and Reducing Bulletin and use it to help maintain your present weight!

C. Houston Goudiss Offers More Advice About Reducing

Describes the Perils of Unscientific Methods for Losing Weight

By C. HOUSTON GOUDISS 6 East 39th Street, New York City.

MY RECENT discussion of reducing in these columns brought many letters, indicating that the modern woman is, fortunately, weight conscious.

Guard Against Unscientific Reducing Methods. Some of these letters caused me great concern, however, because they indicate that in spite of my warning against unscientific methods of weight reduction, many women still cling to the idea that there is some magic in the various pills, powders, capsules, soaps, salts and mechanical devices that are sold at fancy prices and hold out alluring promises of speedy reducing without dieting or exercise.

It is bad enough that most of these fail to reduce. For they may delay the day when the victim of overweight will undertake a sound and scientific program of weight reduction that will effectively take off weight—thus improving appearance, benefiting health and increasing the chances of longevity.

Dangerous Drugs. Drugging is particularly to be condemned, and no one should attempt to reduce by this method except under the advice and watchful eye of a physician.

Readers of this newspaper are invited to write to C. Houston Goudiss, at 6 East 39th Street, New York City, for his scientific Reducing Bulletin, which shows how to reduce by the safe and sane method of counting calories.

The bulletin is complete with a chart showing the caloric value of all the commonly used foods and contains sample menus that you can use as a guide to comfortable and beautiful weight reduction.

appearance and in the enthusiasm with which you greet your daily tasks.

The Film Stars' Method. This simple and scientific method of controlling the weight is the one used by film stars in Hollywood. It is essential that they keep slim and practically every important film player has a clause in her contract calling for a cancellation if she permits her weight to increase beyond a certain point.

Counting Calories Is Fun. In Hollywood they make a game of counting calories. You, too, will find it amusing, as well as beneficial to health and looks.

If Your Weight Is Normal Keep It That Way. It has been determined that the ideal weight—that is the weight that best promotes health and longevity—after thirty, is the normal weight for one's height at the age of thirty.

If you are over thirty and overweight, you should not lose another day before sending for the bulletin so that you can begin at once to regain your normal weight by the safe, simple, scientific and comfortable method of counting calories.

As the pounds disappear you will feel as though you had stepped out of a prison of fat into a new world of physical freedom.

Chicago's Great Port

In a series of educational events culminating in Navigation Day, Sunday, July 10, U. S. governmental and private agencies will direct attention to the fact that Chicago is the world's greatest inland port, whose shipping averages 20 million tons a year. Comparatively few Chicagoans themselves realize that vessels come direct to the city's docks from foreign countries, including Norway, Holland and Great Britain.

Navigation Day will be marked by a full program of varied activities on the city's magnificent lake front and harbor, with national hook-up radio broadcasts from principal shore points and from vessels in port. As the city's billion dollar waterfront landmarks are covered in the broadcast, the powerful beam of the Palmolive Beacon, through the cooperation of the Department of Commerce, will travel from point to point and be focused on each.

The two billion candle-power Palmolive Beacon, by the way, is the largest aviation beacon in the world and under favorable atmospheric conditions is visible to an airplane pilot flying at a height of 3,000 feet for a distance of 250 miles. If the beam followed the curve of the earth's surface, it would travel around the world.

With 28 miles of shoreline for a stage and the great beacon as the spotlight, Chicago enters upon its second hundred years with a show of shows.

Cornmeal Cakes

Illinois pioneer women became expert at baking a variety of cornmeal cakes, research workers of the Federal Writers' Project learned in compiling a comprehensive guide book to the state. Corn was used by most families as the principal ingredient of bread until land was improved for the growing of wheat. Some recipes found appetizing during those days are listed in A Guide for Emigrants, compiled in 1831 by John Mason Peck.

The "pone" according to this work, consisted of a large mass of meal which had been mixed either with milk or water and baked in an oven. Small loaves of bread similarly prepared in a skillet were known as "dodgers." "Hoe-cakes," said to have been originated by Virginians, were made by spreading a thin mixture of cornmeal over a hot iron plate, or on a board placed in front of the fire.

Illinois Pioneers Immortalized

The Illinois pioneer family is immortalized in a great bronze monument at Elmwood, Peoria County. It is the work of the late Lorado Taft, the renowned sculptor, whose parents were early settlers there, research workers of the Federal Writers' Project have learned. The statutory group called "The Pioneers" was dedicated to their memory, May 27, 1928.

Ten feet tall, on a four-ton granite base, the heroic size figures depict the ruggedness of early Illinois settlers who, according to the inscription, bridged the streams, subdued the soil, founded a state. A man, musket in hand, is represented embracing his wife and child; and a dog, alert for approaching danger, crouches at his feet.

Sidelights

Charles Harris opened a roadside hamburger stand near Peoria, but stayed in business only four hours. At the end of that time a motor truck crashed into the place and completely demolished it.

Highway police found George Shaffer of New Castle, Ind., in the wreckage of his car holding a dead rat in his hand. Shaffer said the rat had crawled up his trousers leg and caused him to lose control of the car.

John Michael Horan of Milwaukee believes he has worked for a single company longer than any other man. He has been with the Milwaukee railroad continuously for 83 years, and now at the age of 100 is still active as superintendent of boiler inspection.

Although he sticks to his horse and buggy, Frank Dyer, White-water, Wis., has his turnout equipped with modern accessories, including radio, spotlight, side lights, tail light and other electrical gadgets, for which juice is supplied by a storage battery.

Diana Sims, born a few days ago, is Chicago's first "alimony baby." By the terms of a divorce granted last December, her mother will receive $20 a month from the father for support of the child, the amount to be increased at five-year intervals until a maximum of $40 is reached.

A revival of an old Western custom in modern form is reported from Arkansas, where state police have arrested 16 persons charged with cattle rustling. The thieves are said to have gone about locating the animals in the daytime, returning at night to load them in trucks and deliver them to the stockyards early next morning.

Elect McLAUGHLIN Supreme Judge

Democratic Ticket

MONDAY, JUNE 27

A Judge for a Judge's Job!

Judge Joseph L. McLaughlin's ability, character, and physical fitness are unquestioned. Together with his unblemished record as a lawyer and as a jurist, his JUDICIAL EXPERIENCE particularly qualifies him to serve you as Supreme Judge.

Charles Evans Hughes—

Republican Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court, said in a public address May 12, 1938:

"I question if there is any greater need at this time than continued respect for the judicial tradition of independence and impartiality.

"The prime necessity in making the judicial machinery work to the best advantage is the able and industrious judge, qualified by training, experience and temperament for his office."

McLAUGHLIN'S RECORD ASSURES JUSTICE FOR ALL PEOPLE

Judge McLaughlin is a self made man. Truly he is a man of the people. That's why rich and poor, regardless of race, class or color, can depend on justice from Judge McLaughlin. Begotten in ACTUAL EXPERIENCE is his sympathetic knowledge of the problems of the everyday man.

U. S. Supreme Judge Warns:

"It is in vain," wrote U. S. Judge Samuel F. Miller in 1876, "to contend with judges who have been at the bar, the advocates for years of railroad companies and all forms of associated capital, when they are called upon to decide cases where such interests are in contest. All their training, all their feelings, are from the start in favor of those who need no such influence."

Justice Miller was a Republican appointed to the Supreme Court by Lincoln in 1862. He served for 28 years. The truth which he spoke is one reason why labor, farmer, and business and professional people of this Third District say:

For SUPREME JUDGE Elect Judge Joseph L.

Therba—The Unruly

By CLEWLEY CLIFFORD
 © Wheeler Syndicate Inc.
 WNU Service.

Therba Tash was the despair of all the traffic men in the district. They made their regular visits and gave her instruction; sent all their bulletins of the latest rules and changes and tried to impress their importance upon her; but they knew it was of no use.

"Now, Mr. Bently" — Therba beamed over her glasses — "wouldn't it be downright silly for them to have to stop to look at those numbers up when I know 'em forward and back and it don't bother me a mite to tell 'em what time it is? I got the best watch ever; never gains nor loses. Had it 15 years, too."

"But, Miss Tash, it's ridiculous for a person to call for R. A. T. and get a telephone connection."
 "Not if you know R. A. Trent as we do here in this town; that's just exactly what he is, a 'rat'! I s'pose it would be like a cross word puzzle for a stranger, but I know 'em all and what they want."
 After he went out, Therba got to thinking about the rules and decided that they were made for operators who couldn't tell right from wrong, but that a wise operator was one who knew when to break them.

SHORT SHORT STORY

Complete in This Issue

The office gave service until 12, but after 10 most nights she was able to put the night bell on and nap on the couch behind the switchboard, until she could go home in the rattly old car waiting at the back door. One night, after things had quieted down and she had settled herself for a nap, the bell rang. It was a toll line calling.

"Hullo, there, what you want?" she yawned.
 The operator in the next town was speaking. "Say, we're having great excitement here. Some kind of disturbance here at a political meeting. Some young boys got into a rough house."
 "That so? What of it?" Therba was sleepy.

"Well, Sheriff Bean from your town was here, and he's on their trail, and says he'll make an example of them if he catches them."
 A young boy came in, all out of breath.
 "Get me 244 Barton, please, soon's you can."

Therba knew this must be one of the disturbers of the peace. She thought, "Only a boy. Didn't mean a bit of harm." She looked at the tousled head showing through the glass door of the booth.
 While she was ringing, she was startled by a loud voice just outside. Sheriff Bean! There was no time for the boy to get out of the booth. "The sheriff's coming an' you don't want to see him," shut that door and get down on the floor and keep quiet," she warned the boy. It was quite evident that he didn't wish to meet the sheriff.

"Good evening, sheriff."
 "Hello, Therba. Get me Ant Blake over in Dixmont. Want him to be on the lookout for some dangerous characters."
 "Been raising the devil over to the meeting tonight. They're a bad lot an' I'm goin' to give 'em the limit when I get some of them." He roared as he stamped up and down the office. Therba's heart skipped a beat every time he went near the booth. "The old hyena!" she thought. She was determined now to outwit this vicious old man.

"They don't answer over there now."
 "Must be there," he said impatiently, walking toward the booth again.
 "Oh, come here quick!" she shouted in an excited tone. He came back and she added: "Er—er—why, I thought that last call must be one of those dangerous characters, but it wasn't, after all."
 "The devil!" the man blazed as he made for the door.

Pulling the curtain down, she got the boy behind the board just in time. The sheriff returned and this time she had no difficulty in getting his connection for him.
 Therba questioned the boy.
 "It's this way, Miss Tash. There's a rough gang out there been cutting up, but tonight some of us boys got to fooling — honest, we didn't do much, but my mother—" the boy sobbed—"why, it'll break her heart if I'm arrested. That's why I wanted to let her know about it."

Therba made up her mind. "Now, son, you lie down here and rest, and at 12 o'clock I'll take my flivver and take you some place. Where'd you aim to go?"
 He wished to go to his aunt's in Hanover.

"Righto, and I'll telephone your mother so she'll know what's up. This will soon be over. Don't you worry none." She thought, "I'll get back just about time to go to work in the morning."
 "There you go, Therba, breaking more rules. You're just a natural law-breaker," she muttered.

IF I'D cooked the bacon in the first place everything would have been all right. I went away down to Market street to get the special kind of imported bacon that Eddie likes. Sort of a surprise for his late supper. He likes it with lamb kidneys.

SHORT SHORT STORY

 But when I got home Alice called up, and it seems there's something on her mind and only a "reading" can straighten it out. And Annie, too; she tells me there's something she wants to know, and won't I go to the medium's with them? I don't believe in that stuff myself, but I like Annie and Alice and, if it will help her peace of mind, well, I figure I can go to the medium's and get back home before Eddie (this being his night at the lodge) and do everybody a favor.

So I says to her, "Sure, I'll go; let's get an early start."
 But Annie had to put all her kids to bed—six of 'em. And Annie's husband didn't like the idea of her going to a medium.
 I guess he knew what it was she wanted to know.

When we got there we had to stand on the stairs until somebody came out and made room for us to go in. And I didn't enjoy that very much, as I was wearing my new satin slippers, the ones with the spiked heels. I don't like spiked heel, anyway, and I would never have bought them if I'd known how long I was going to have to stand on those stairs.

It wasn't raining when we started for the medium's, just sort of drizzling, and I thought it would clear off, so I wore my new spring coat. Annie and Alice hadn't seen it before.

Before the medium was ready to read us, Alice was looking at the clock, and Annie was telling one of the attendants that she had left her six children to come, but the attendant didn't seem to mind, and there was nothing to do but wait.

And then our turn came, and we were the last three.
 Annie first and then me and then Alice. We would have saved a little time, if she'd put me last, because I wouldn't have waited. I don't believe in that stuff, although she told me the truth.

She said everybody thought Annie was a millionaire, and that pleased Annie, 'cause she had her diamond engagement ring up where it would show. She said I should have been a lawyer and that I was going to New York. She told Alice that no one could ever take the place of someone who had gone, and Alice cried and got her money's worth.

Then we got out and it was raining terrible. Annie wanted to take a taxi. I guess she felt like a millionaire after what the medium said. Alice didn't want a taxi, and I had to smooth matters over by saying there was a street car coming. We took it, and when we got to the end of the line, Alice had to take another car, and Annie and I had a long walk in the rain.

Annie said her husband might not let her in, so I had better go to her house and explain about standing on the stairs so long.

I felt sorry for Annie having such a cross husband and for Alice who had lost her husband. I was glad I had such a good husband who understood me.

So I went to Annie's to see that everything was all right there and then I started home alone. I just realized it was awful late, after midnight. I wasn't afraid. That is not afraid of anything in front of me, but I kept looking behind. You couldn't hear a step, it was raining so hard. And how the wind blew! I didn't mind. I knew I would find my Eddie when I got home and I wanted to be sympathized with. I was cold and wet.

When I got there I rang the bell. And Eddie opened the door. "Oh, darling," I said, "I'm ruined," showing him my rain-soaked slippers and listening for sympathy.

"Serves you right," he said, "running around a night like this."
 "But, Eddie, dear," I said, trying to explain.
 "I don't care where you've been," he yelled, "and I don't even want to know. But this partying out is a game I can play, too."

I couldn't say anything; I was so cold and wet and tired. I walked into the kitchen and I smelled the imported bacon. I knew Eddie had cooked his own supper and I just sat down in a chair and cried.

I had tried to please Alice by going to the medium's, and to please Annie by going to her house, and to please Eddie by going to Market street for the imported bacon, and everything was gone wrong.

I don't know how long I was crying when I decided I better take off the wet clothes. Then I felt the spiked heel slippers being slipped off my feet; first the right and then the left. Then Eddie took off my rainsoaked hat and put his arms around me.

"My poor little half-drowned kitten," he said, "and, gee, wasn't I glad I went to the medium's."

We are pleased in this edition to bring before our readers The First National Bank, as among our strong financial institutions. The President, officers and board of directors are men that are boosters for our community and are always back of every progressive project.

Few of us realize the importance of a small town and the small independent merchants. Government until recently had more or less forgotten "Little Business."

The writer believes that our rural communities are in a great measure dependent on the small towns and small independent merchants. The firms listed in this Review are leaders in their own communities, and are well-known to the people of this and surrounding communities. To our many readers in the communities represented, we can recommend the merchants and individuals listed, and we urge you to spend your money where you make it—At HOME.

Bonnell & Son---Sidney

We gladly advise our readers to get in touch with Bonnell and Son in Sidney and take advantage of their service. This firm is one of the institutions that has materially aided in the development of this section, and has especially been instrumental in aiding the progress of diversified farming of the community. They furnish the farmers with the most advantageous market for cream, poultry and eggs and therefore operate an institution that is of great commercial value to the public. Their prices are far more favorable than would be secured by the people if they had to ship elsewhere for it is a well known fact that this house pays the top market at all times. In addition to produce they also handle a full line of Wayne feeds. We are pleased to compliment Bonnell & Son and give them, in this review the prominent position that their progressive and reliable policies have merited.

Anders' Funeral Home --- Sidney

The passing of a loved one leaves relatives and intimates with taut nerves. It is indeed a time for sympathy and only the funeral director equipped with tact and heartfelt sympathy may serve with satisfaction to the bereaved. We are mighty proud to say in this edition that E. J. Anders of Sidney has the necessary qualifications. He has conducted many services in this section and in every instance it was a well liked and remembered service. For those who find home inadequate in space for the burial service they offer a splendidly equipped chapel where we may bid our loved ones a last farewell. He is prepared for every emergency. Night or day he may be reached quickly by calling 7-R4 in Sidney. Deft and tactful he takes from the shoulders of those in distress the last of responsibilities for a loved one. He is a respected citizen of Sidney, and we congratulate him for his modern service and equipment.

Burrus Coal & Ice Co.

There is a great deal more to the coal and ice business than the average man understands. These are essentials that require at their head men of experience, who are familiar with the necessity for adequate distribution. It is such houses as the Burrus Coal & Ice Company of Villa Grove that add to the convenience of the coal and ice users and provide good coal of the highest quality at the most reasonable prices. The story of the success of this firm is one that a great many business men would find profitable reading. This firm began their career with the firm belief that success could be obtained by furnishing coal and ice of good quality, upon a reasonable margin of profit. With this method in mind they proceeded upon their career on the solid foundation of good values and reasonable prices. They handle a complete line of coolerator air conditioned ice refrigerators. Stop in and let them explain the advantages of using an air conditioned ice refrigerator.

Illinois Theatre --- Newman

The Illinois Theatre of Newman is very attractively furnished, tastefully decorated and very comfortable in every way, pleasing to the eye, restful to the tired nerves and jaded senses and here amid attractive surroundings you are entranced by the world's actors of Cinemaland who play the productions of the most renowned playwrights of the continents. You see romance fiction and travel and all the various phases of human life are here depicted not only for the entertainment of the public, but for the education and intellectual uplift of the race as well. In this day of the high cost of living the management of this theatre has never lowered the standard of the productions offered but insists the best is none too good for the people of this part of the country. A few minutes drive to Newman for an interesting and educational photoplay will make one more fit for another day's work. See and hear your favorite actor and actresses at the Illinois Theatre.

State Bank of Allerton Enjoys Rural Patronage

Today when financing has become one of the most intricate phases of business, banking has developed a breadth of service that enables it to be of general use to the business man or farmer. Character is an attribute of banks as well as individuals. Your connection with a financial institution such as the State Bank of Allerton is highly esteemed in the community. This Bank is known for its conservative business methods. The State Bank of Allerton enjoys the respect and confidence of the community it serves and their readiness to accommodate the people of this vicinity has increased the power and prestige of this bank among the people of this section of the state. They are members of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. We are pleased in this edition to bring before our readers the State Bank of Allerton as among our strong financial institutions.

Walz Packing Company---Custom Butchering & Packing

The Walz Packing Co., of Homer is building a reputation by their policy of favoring the livestock producer with top prices. Being a local institution with the interests of home at heart they should receive the consideration of the producers. Fair and straightforward in their dealing, it is not strange that we hear of so many producers selling to people. The public is fortunate in being able to secure strictly fresh meats from this concern. They are packers of fresh pork, beef and veal, sausage, ham and bacon. It goes without saying that this efficiently managed concern with its modern and sanitary method of production should meet with the approval of the people. Their reputation for wholesome meats, quality values and custom butchering is unsurpassed. They do custom butchering and curing for farmers during the summer as well as winter. The demand for their products is increasing daily and their name is well known throughout this section.

Longview State Bank---Community Asset

As a factor in the upbuilding of Longview and vicinity the Longview State Bank has played an honorable and prominent part. It is a bank of superlative integrity and one that can always be counted upon to carry its share of the load in the progress of this section. The policy of this Bank is one of accommodation and convenience to the client. Liberal without being careless and conservative without being hidebound, the interests of the client are always considered and this policy has drawn to this institution a clientele made up of genuine friends. Business men and farmers as well as the most humble individuals find in the Longview State Bank a genuine friend and sympathetic advisor. Its soundness has never been questioned and its officers are men of the highest standing and of unassailable repute. They have always adhered to sound banking principles and their magnificent patronage is a tribute to the interest they have manifested. The writer, mindful of the importance of this splendid institution to the progress of our community, wishes Mr. Keefe, the president, and the officers continued success.

Clears Question of Half Year's License Fees

In order to clear up any misunderstanding on the question of the half year motor vehicle license fees, the Secretary of State, Edward J. Hughes in response to numerous inquiries and applications for fifty per cent reduction, explained that only the motorists who purchase cars after June 30, 1938, may procure their 1938 plates at half the annual cost. "Many motorists are under the impression that if they do not operate their cars during the first half of 1938, that they may apply after July 1, and procure a half year fee. This is not true. An individual who had a car licensed in 1937 cannot procure a half year fee even if he applies in October of 1938." "Attempts to evade the law in order to procure the semi-annual fee, by 'wash sales' and other such practices, will not be permitted."

Dr. Jones

Dr. Frank M. Jones of Sidell is well known to farmers and stock raisers of Vermillion and Champaign Counties. The stock raiser and farmer of today are quick to avail themselves of the advantages in veterinary surgery. Science in the veterinary world has made discoveries equally as revolutionary and far-reaching as those in other branches or research. Dr. Jones believes also in preventative medicines. He has serums which will protect your cattle, hogs, sheep, poultry, horses and pets against the ravishing diseases peculiar to each. Prevention means profit to intelligent farmers. Dr. Jones is an amiable person and his friends among the folks from this section are legion. He has earned the warm personal regard of the writer and we heartily recommend him to our friends.

Joe's Cafe

Joe's Cafe, one of Newman's leading places of entertainment is popular with the people of this section. It is a rendezvous for those who wish to get away from business worries and to enjoy a few hours of relaxation. You can enjoy a well cooked meal with a glass of beer or mixed drink. The atmosphere at Joe's is always congenial. One can always feel safe in asking his friends to meet him there. It has gained a name that has spread far and wide where the local and traveling public can go for an evening's entertainment. The next time you are entertaining friends do not hesitate to take them to Joe's Cafe. Joe's Cafe deserves due credit for the high standards maintained in the operation of this establishment.

The first baseball game was promoted by Colonel Doubleday, who laid out the first regular diamond and drew up playing rules in 1839. The first American radio broadcasting was transmitted from Station KDKA at Pittsburgh, Pa. The first program consisted of election returns on Nov. 2, 1920. Dry ice is proving useful in fighting forest fires.

Historic Hoaxes

By Elmo Scott Watson

John Wilkes Booth Mummy

IF, AT some county fair or in a "museum," you were told you could see the "mummified body of John Wilkes Booth" upon payment of a certain fee, it is to be hoped that you took advantage of the opportunity. For if you had, you would have gazed upon one of the greatest hoaxes in American history. Around the turn of the century a house painter in Enid, Okla., known as John St. Helen (his real name was David E. George) convinced Finis L. Bates, a Tennessee lawyer, that he was in reality John Wilkes Booth. He asserted that he had escaped from the burning barn in Maryland a few days after the assassination of Lincoln, and now, struck with remorse over his deed, had to confess to ease his soul. Bates tried to interest the United States government in his discovery, so he could collect the $100,000 reward offered for the slayer of Lincoln—this, despite the fact that that reward had long since been paid to the captors of Booth. But the federal authorities weren't interested. In 1903 St. Helen (or George) committed suicide and the Tennessee lawyer claimed the body. In 1908 Bates published a book, "Escape and Suicide of John Wilkes Booth," to bolster up his claim. For a time the mummified body of his "Booth" was exhibited in Memphis, Tenn., and in 1929 it was said to have been sold "to parties in the West." Where it is now is unknown but wherever it may be, this is true: it is NOT the body of the man who killed Abraham Lincoln!
