He who would take God by storm, draw aside every veil, and look with the eye of reason into every mystery, will not see God or receive true and certain knowledge of the eternal. But he who meekly trains his eye of faith to follow the light of God's revelation shall see and know.

The races will again be managed by Art Zuiker, who has been associated with this speedway since 1939. Elaborate plans are now being made for the grand opening of this racing plant which is recognized as one of the finest in the state.

Work was started at the plant last week, reconditioning the racing strip, painting the stands, and adding many improvements and accommodations for the thousands that are expected to attend the May 30th show.

Entries have been mailed to every top notch pilot and a stellar field of cars are expected to compete in the big nine event card. Service men will be admitted to the races this season at reduced prices.

What A Friend I Had In Mother

(Tune—What A Friend We Have In Jesus.)

What a friend I had in Mother,
What a load for me she'd bear—
There could never be another,
Who could so much trouble share,
Oh, the tears I'd often bring her,
I would find a comfort there—
All because she was my mother,
She would always know and care.

Now she's gone, Oh how I need her,
Need her hands to show the way—
None but Mother's hand could lead me,
None but she could show the way,
Precious Savior, keep my mother—
Safe within your fond embrace,
Tell her that I've found no other—
No one else can take her place.

(The above song was written by Ben Rayl, and sung by the male quartet at the Mother's Day dinner at the U. B. Church on Sunday, May 10.)

Women's Guild of St. John's Church Meets

The Women's Guild of St. John's Church entertained the women of St. Paul's Church, Sidney, at their meeting held in the church on Thursday of last week. The occasion was the denominational day of prayer for missions.

The program for the afternoon on the theme, "Faith, which worketh through love," dealt particularly with our relations with the Latin American countries. Mrs. Howard Mohr presided, and Rev. Frey spoke. Miss Loreen Gasser, Mrs. Clarence Kilian, and Mrs. Edward Nohren also assisted with the program. A duet was sung by Mrs. Emil Schumacher and Mrs. Henry Wiese, and Mrs. Robert Frey sang a solo. Mrs. Louis Frick and Miss Edna Schumacher played.

After the program hour the two societies had their separate business meetings. Mrs. Alvin Zenke served a delicious lunch at tables in the church basement. She was assisted by Mrs. Karl Partenheimer and Mrs. Louis Frick.

There was a good attendance from both churches and several visitors.

Buy Your Winter's Fuel This Summer

We've all been advised not to hoard—and that's necessary advice indeed. But there is one basic commodity which the government wants us to hoard now—coal.

High officials are urging individuals to purchase next winter's coal stocks before the summer ends and preferably immediately. This, of course, isn't hoarding at all. It is, instead, a definite contribution to the war effort.

The reason for it is simple. If everyone waits until cold weather arrives before ordering coal, the drain on the mines and on the agencies which must transport the fuel, will be tremendous. Worst of all, that drain will come at a time—early and middle fall—when crop movements are at their peak. And in addition, war freight of all kinds will be substantially heavier in the fall than now.

The point is to get every possible ton of coal into the hands of the ultimate consumer at the earliest possible time. So, buy your winter's coal today. Then you'll be doing your part to clear the transportation lines for war traffic. And you'll also make certain that you won't be out of fuel when you need it.

For 35 years Harry Brown of Broadus, Mont., had been cross-eyed. Recently a horse kicked him in the face breaking his nose. Shortly after his eyes straightened.

Local Music Contestants Receive Rewards

At the Champaign county music contest held Friday afternoon and evening of last week at the St. Joseph Community high school, Broadlands' grade school was well represented. Carmen Smith sang "Little Pink Rose," winning second place in the girls' vocal solos. Byron Struck played "Mars Polka," trumpet solo, winning first place in the instrumental group. He tied for second place in the same contest last year.

In the evening, Oliver Boyd singing "Mother Machree," won second place in the boys' vocal solos. The grade school chorus won an A rating, in competition with nine other choruses.

Free Movies This Summer

The first of a series of free movie shows to be given at Broadlands during the summer months will be presented the last Saturday night in May, the weather permitting.

The movie programs will cost about $300 and business houses will contribute about $250 of the amount. This makes it necessary for the soliciting committee to raise an additional $50 by soliciting contributions from citizens other than business men.

A list of those contributing to the picture fund will be published in The News until the $50 is subscribed. Who will be the first to donate a dollar or more?

Oscar Witt, Ben Rayl, Oscar Gallion and Charles Smith, with Mrs. Oscar Witt accompanying.

At 2 o'clock Rev. D. D. Mumaw gave the Mother's Day address, after which the male quartet sang "What A Friend I Had In Mother," which was written by Ben Rayl. The song as written by Mr. Rayl appears elsewhere in this issue.

Rubber Outlook Bad

We have not yet begun to realize the seriousness of the rubber situation, although there have been warnings enough. Some of our people are beginning to cut down on their automobile mileage, but there is still much unnecessary use of cars for pleasure and non-essential purposes.

If this waste of rubber and useless wear on tires affected the individual car owner alone, we might say: Go to it; use up your present equipment, and when it is gone you can walk.

But the problem is something more important than one of personal convenience. At the rate with which available transportation is now being frittered away, another year will see increasing difficulties in getting men to and from their work in war industries; it will see deliveries of food and other supplies curtailed to an extent not now envisioned; it will see actual hardships instead of mere inconveniences.

Careful official estimates have just revealed that the United States will need about 2,500,000 tons of rubber in the next three years for war purposes alone, including that which must be furnished to other nations fighting on our side. This does not include a single ton for private automobiles.

New rubber now on hand is hardly more than 700,000 tons, including all owned by the government and industry. Former sources of 98 per cent of our crude rubber are now either destroyed or in the hands of the Japanese. The principal source of additional rubber lies in reclaiming the used rubber lying around the country, which can be gathered for further use only by a great effort on the part of all the people.

No one knows how much of this used rubber can be made available, but the most optimistic estimates place it at less than 1,000,000 tons. This would mean a shortage of some 800,000 tons for war purposes alone in the next three years, still leaving none for civilian use. With good management it may be possible to produce this 800,000 tons by synthetic processes in three years but hardly more than that.

It will require nearly a year and a half to get synthetic rubber into production on a large scale, and the output during 1942 and 1943 is not expected to reach a total of more than about 300,000 tons.

These are things worth thinking about before planning joy rides or other unnecessary automobile trips. When the present cars and tires are worn out, there is little likelihood of obtaining replacements before 1945—even if we win the war, which is as yet by no means certain.

Great U. S. Sub Fleet

The recent decision to build from 150 to 200 U. S. submarines in addition to those already in service or under construction, is bad news for it means that Nippon's big merchant fleet, so necessary to her very existence, is going to be ripped to pieces.

Already our submarines in the Pacific have inflicted heavy losses on Japanese shipping, but this is only the beginning of a campaign which will play an important part in sealing the doom of our enemy in the Far East.

Some months ago the number of U. S. submarines in service was officially placed at 111, but a considerable number have been built since then, when 73 were reported under construction. These, with the 150 or more now to be added, would give us a grand total of more than 330 undersea craft. Naval men do not believe that Japan has more than 100 submarines at present, some of which are very small.

The new American submarines will average nearly twice the size of those of Germany and Japan, with consequently greater cruising range and more space for torpedoes, according to the best information available.

Up to May 1, only one American submarine had been lost through enemy action, and only four lost from all causes. Recently four U. S. submarine commanders were awarded the Navy Cross for sinking six vessels totalling 45,000 tons in Japanese waters. One of our undersea boats performed the unusual feat of sinking an enemy submarine. It was recently reported that more than 50 Japanese ships had been sunk by our submarines.

Japan's merchant fleet is indispensable for supplying her far-flung expeditionary forces and for bringing food and other materials for her people at home. Her food supply depends very largely on her great number of fishing vessels, and her oil and most of her raw materials must be transported in ships. Thus it may be seen that in spite of her strong navy, which is also widely dispersed, Japan would be particularly vulnerable to attacks by the great fleet of submarines we will be able to send against her within the next few months.

So, while we may expect further reverses in the Far East, it seems apparent that it is only a matter of time when Japan will be forced to pay in full for her aggression and treachery.

Rep. Pete Jarman of Alabama, has introduced a bill in Congress providing a fine not to exceed $500, imprisonment up to one year, or both, for theft of tires or tubes during the rationing period. Should this bill become a federal law the FBI will have additional duties to perform—and, boy, do they know how.

Don't sell your business or resign your job nor dispose of your home as soon as you are notified to appear at your draft board for induction. This advice is being stressed by the War Department which advises that a selectee should wait until he is formally inducted into the service before such steps are taken. It was pointed out that many selectees are found not suitable for war service when undergoing their final physical examination at the induction center and are returned home—jobless, homeless or out of business.

Electron Microscope
 At U. of I. Magnifies
 Objects 25,000 Times

One of science's newest machines for extending human vision—the electron super-microscope—has been installed at the University of Illinois. This amazing instrument is capable of magnifying an object to 25,000 times its actual measurements, and produces photographs sharp enough to extend the magnification through enlargement to 100,000 times.

A penny enlarged this much would be more than a mile in diameter. The machine is being used by research workers in the fields of chemistry, soils, metallurgy, biology, bacteriology and medicine. It will magnify objects 20 to 50 times more than any optical microscope.

With it scientists can see and photograph large molecules, viruses, and other things so small that until now they were completely invisible under previously used microscopes. The machine installed at Illinois is the first of its kind commercially produced. It has been installed in the University's analytical chemistry laboratory, conceded to be the best equipped in the world, and includes some of the finest optical microscopic and spectrographic equipment, five multiple x-ray diffraction units each capable of handling four specimens at a time, and other important equipment.

How

TO FLY
 A KITE

PLAY SAFE AND STILL HAVE FUN

- Build your Kite without metal ribs or wire—for safety and to conserve metal for Uncle Sam.
- Make your Kite light by using dry string and other materials.
- Balance a good Kite with a cloth tail—they're best.
- Fly your Kite away from trees and electric wires—it's safer. Electric wires are dangerous for both you and your Kite. Kites tangled in power lines can put those lines out of order and may hold up important defense work.
- Play safe, be a good soldier and pass the word along to other Kite-flyers.

Reddy Kilowatt says:

"Flying a Kite is lots of fun when you're out in the open fields where there's good wind and no autos or electric wires in the way."

GRADING OF CREAM TO BENEFIT ALL U. S.

American butter, already rated as the finest in the world, is to have its quality lifted still further. The new federal food act, supported by cream-grading laws in many states and by all elements of the dairy industry from farmer to manufacturer, makes this a certainty.

The new law has given impetus to the grading of cream similar to grades on which most other farm crops are sold. The supporting state statutes are intended to benefit the farmer who complies with their provisions and to penalize the farmer who is producing unfit cream because he will not go to the trouble of taking necessary sanitary precautions which would insure a better quality product.

Cream-grading laws usually provide that if a farmer's cream grades No. 1, it will command a higher price because it can be made into first-grade butter. If cream were not so graded, the farmer who produced top quality cream would get no more than his careless neighbor who produced an inferior grade. The same laws prevent No. 2 cream from being mixed with No. 1, because when this is done, the quality of the butter made from it is all pulled down and everyone concerned suffers a loss. One can of poor cream can spoil a good many cans of top quality if they are all mixed together.

If the cream is grading under No. 1, it is certain that the farmer submitting it is not observing all the principles of sanitation, quick cooling and frequent marketing. A change in his production or delivery practices will soon furnish the remedy. The farmer's income will be steadied and he who exercises careful production and handling will then reap the rewards of his special attention and industry.

Illinois State Capitol News

The open season for large mouth and small mouth black bass will open May 15 in the southern zone of Illinois. It will open June 1 in the central zone and June 15 in the northern third of the state. The southern zone includes Madison, Bond, Fayette, Effingham, Jasper and Crawford counties and all counties south thereof.

The open season on bass will run till March 31, 1943. Only hook and line fishing for bass is permitted; the daily limit is ten; the legal minimum length for bass is ten inches.

Illinois stands in the very front rank of states manufacturing munitions of war. The cost of war plants built or building in Illinois since June, 1940, is more than three-quarters of a billion dollars.

Sheet aluminum, seamless tubing, armor plate, airplane engines, torpedoes, war metals, marine equipment, aviation gasoline and explosives are coming out of Illinois plants in steadily increasing volume. The larger part of this war production is in the Chicago area. Three large plants are being built in the Springfield district.

A Week of the War

The War Department announced that the planes which recently raided Japan were United States army bombers. The attack was made in clear weather, in the middle of the day, and at low altitudes. The selected targets were accurately attacked with demolition and incendiary bombs, the Department said. Japanese broadcasts admitted that between 3,000 and 4,000 casualties and fires which raged for 48 hours were caused by the raid.

The Navy Department said 21 Japanese warships were sunk or damaged in the Coral Sea with relatively slight losses to United States forces. United States losses will be reported when the information is without value to the enemy, the Navy said, but all Tokyo claims of damages inflicted were declared without foundation. The Navy reported 85 Japanese warships and 96 noncombatant vessels had been sunk or damaged from Pearl Harbor to May 11.

Resistance of United States and Filipino troops on Corregidor was finally overcome. The Navy reported the torpedoing of 10 more merchant vessels off the Atlantic Coast.

The War Department said the Chicago Ordnance District is about to produce more tanks and tractors monthly than it produced in the entire World War 1 period. The Maritime Commission reported United States shipyards delivered 36 merchant vessels in April. Fifty-one vessels, double the January number, were launched during the month.

EVENING GLITTER
Here's that "glitter" so smart for formal evening dresses for gala occasions, high points of the holiday season. Often the bodice, or bodice and peplum, are a mass of gleaming sequins, while the skirt is in plain fabric. Or the entire dress may be sprinkled over with sequins, as in this New York creation made of gold taffeta.
Here the glitter follows a delicate spider-web design, spreads all over the bouffant skirt and tight fitting, low-cut bodice.
