To the People of this Community:

ARE YOU REALLY AT WAR?

What does being at war mean to you? Less gasoline for your auto? Less sugar in your coffee? Higher prices for your food and clothes? Separation from your husband?

Sure, it has meant all those things, some serious and some really trivial for a period when your actual safety is at stake.

But has the war meant BLOOD, SWEAT AND TEARS to you? In many instances YES. The first stage of invasion has already pushed our casualties over the 100,000 mark.

The gold stars which decorate thousands of our homes today are a challenge to the vast majority of us to do our best in the Third War Loan. No good American wants to see one more gold star added to the firmament of glory. We educate our youth for life, not for death. If they die, they die so that we might live. Every extra War Bond you buy today will back the invasion so that the war will be shortened and so that there will be less blood, sweat and tears for you and your friends.

Letters To The Editor

Somewhere in England, August 31, 1943.

Dear Joe—Well, Joe, I am finally getting around to writing to you. I am receiving the News over here regularly. I began to wonder for awhile whether it would ever get here, however I was gone from my regiment for six weeks and never received it, but when I returned all the papers were waiting for me. I certainly enjoy the letters from the other fellows. I must say we are scattered throughout the world, aren't we?

I, like the rest of the boys, am seeing a lot of sights, Joe. I have been in London (censored). I have seen such places as Buckingham Palace, Westminster Abbey and Cathedral, No. 10 Downing Street, Scotland Yard, the Parliament buildings, and many other places of historical value and interest. The country itself is beautiful, especially (censored). So far we have had good weather, though in winter I hear it is rather damp and foggy a lot of the time. The people seem very strange, comparing them to home folks. We are supposed to have a lot in common, which we have, but also there are a lot of differences.

I like it fine over here, but of course I will be glad to come back across that little pond if I have to come back in a canoe. I would like to write more, Joe, but the time has slipped up on me and I have to quit.

Yours truly,
Ralph Schumacher.

Millions of Volunteers Settle Down to Hard Grind for 3rd War Loan

Washington, D. C., Sept. 15—With the first burst of enthusiasm spent, the "third" army of more than 4,500,000 volunteers settled down today for a steady siege and a day-by-day advance to reach its quota of fifteen billion dollars in the Third War Loan Drive.

Reports from all sections of the nation in the first week of the drive indicated that the battle to "Back the Attack with War Bonds" is progressing "according to plan," but that every possible effort must be exhausted if the goal of at least an extra $100 War Bond for every income earner is to be reached.

First meager reports indicate that in some cities and in some sections on this important battle front the immediate objective has been obtained and the quota met. In other sections a long hard pull will be necessary in the house-to-house and bench-to-bench canvass which has been undertaken in order to reach every man, woman and child in the United States.

This Third War Loan Drive is a challenge to the American people without parallel in history, for they are being asked to "lend" the largest sum of money ever raised in the life of any nation. It is a challenge to their will to sacrifice to "back the attack" of their husbands, sons, brothers and fathers who are sacrificing everything, even life, so that the people back home may continue to enjoy the freedom and liberty of the American way of life.

Reports from many of the urban sections of the nation indicate that workers are answering the challenge to send their dollars to war to "back the attack." "Fur coat" money, "automobile money," "new appliance money," "new home money" is going into War Bonds for the duration, into the assembly lines for tanks and planes, to settle today's job and guarantee a victorious America of tomorrow when every War Bond dollar will pay $4 for $3.

"Labor-management committees are working hand in hand; returned war heroes, film stars, bankers, housewives, professional men, workers, clerks and salesmen—men and women in every walk of life are demonstrating that War Bonds bring unity to American life and that the nation is bonded in a common purpose in this great financing task," Ted R. Gamble, national director of the War Finance Division of the Treasury, said here today.

"The people of the nation are demonstrating that Americans on the home front can and will match the performance of the invading armies in 'backing the attack' when they are called upon to do a job," Mr. Gamble said.

"Never before in history have a people in civilian life been asked to do a job comparable to the task which must be done in this Third War Loan," Mr. Gamble observed, "but we have a sustaining faith in the ability of the American people to make every sacrifice, to meet every test with which they are faced, in the voluntary, democratic way so that our boys in the trenches and on the battle lines may have the tools with which to fight our common enemies."

The Crain Boys Are Home on Furloughs

Tech. Sgt. and Mrs. Ted Crain of Camp Springs, Maryland, arrived Sunday for a five days visit with relatives.

Seaman John B. Crain arrived from Jacksonville, Fla., Tuesday evening for a 15-day furlough with relatives. He informs us that he is a graduate of the Navy Cooks' and Bakers' school.

Seaman James Crain of Jacksonville, Fla., arrived Sunday for a 21-day furlough with relatives. He informs us that he saw action in the South Pacific, Guadalcanal, Solomons, Aleutians and Kiska, that his ship was the first to bombard the Gilbert and Marshall Islands as well as Kiska. This is his first visit with home folks in 18 months.

The supper served by the W. S. of C. S. of the Methodist church Wednesday evening was a grand success. The ladies served about 250 people and made a clear profit of $121.34.

Win Premiums at Tuscola Horse Show

John M. Smith, Broadlands, won prizes as follows at Tuscola's bond sale and horse show, Sunday:

Three-gaited class: 2d prize. Single driving class: 2d prize.

Mr. Smith's horse, Parade of Beauty, was shown by Tip Arwine of Fairland.

Floyd Helm's mare, Black Beauty, ridden and driven by O. P. Witt, Broadlands, won first prize in single driving class, and first prize in pleasure class shown under saddle. This mare also won championship over all blue ribbon winners of the show. She was raised, broke and trained by O. P. Witt, her former owner.

B. H. Thode Honored On His 84th Birthday

Justice B. H. Thode was guest of honor at a supper given Tuesday evening at his home, the occasion being his 84th birthday anniversary. Mr. Thode received a number of presents.

Those present to enjoy the evening besides the honored guest were Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Thode, Jr., Miss Mary Louise and Carol of Sidney; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Thode, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Gore, Alfred Thode, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Smith.

Allerton Mother and Dad's Club Sponsors Reception

The "Mother and Dad's Club" of the Allerton community sponsored a reception for the school teachers and ministers Monday evening at the high school. Besides the new Methodist minister of Allerton, Reverend J. H. Odom, and Mrs. Odom, Reverend and Mrs. Pike Reynolds and Reverend and Mrs. P. E. Kerkhoff, Broadlands, were guests. Mrs. Reynolds is on the Allerton high school faculty, and Reverend Kerkhoff has children in school there.

There were about 100 present. Supper was served cafeteria style.

During the business meeting, which concluded the program, the following committee was appointed to nominate the officers of the club for the ensuing year: E. A. Cavanaugh, Mrs. D. H. Brown, Mrs. Paul Leird, Mrs. W. H. Smith and F. A. Dicks.

W. C. T. U. Meets With Mrs. Hattie Dicks

The local unit of the W. C. T. U. met with Mrs. Hattie Dicks last Tuesday afternoon.

Vice president Mrs. Maude Anderson had charge of the business meeting. Mrs. Anna Laverick led the devotions, discussing the Life of Moses. The Pledge to the Flag followed. Roll call was responded to with Bible characters. A paper on Temperance and Missions, was read by Mrs. Faustine Smith.

The present officers were re-elected for the ensuing year, following which the meeting was adjourned and a social hour followed. Refreshments of gingerbread and coffee were served.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Eva Walker.

Mrs. Arch Walker Receives Letter From Her Son, Dean

The following is a letter, in part, which Mrs. Arch Walker received from her son, Dean, of MPO 1005, Paulson, Manitoba, Canada:

"The job is still the same but I'm doing it in different surroundings. At the other school, we were training pilots; here we are training bombardiers and gunners.

You're right about the weather's being cool—the temperature is down around 65 and there's a brisk wind blowing. Yesterday, we had a cold drizzle all day long."

Rothermel-Lenhart Reunion at Decatur

The ninth annual Rothermel-Lenhart reunion was held Sunday, Sept. 12, in the large pavilion at Nelson's Park, Decatur. There were 70 relatives and friends present.

After the noon meal, which was enjoyed by all, the meeting was called to order by the president, John Mohr of Allerton. The minutes of the 1942 reunion were read by Helen Glosser of Decatur. Then followed the election of officers for the 1944 reunion to be held the third Sunday in August at Nelson's Park, Decatur, with Walter Rothermel of Broadlands, president; Otto Lenhart, of Warrensburg, vice president; Frances Waller, Maroa, secretary-treasurer. The following program committee was selected: Mrs. Laura Schweineke, Newman, John Mohr, Allerton, Nora Klemme and Anna Bloechle of Springfield, Marie Lenhart and Elsie Gall of Maroa.

The oldest member present was Mrs. Anna Lenhart, 80, of Decatur; and the youngest was Gerhardt Mohr, age 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Mohr of Allerton. There were seven marriages, three births, and two deaths reported. There are ten men and one lady serving in the armed forces for their country.

Mrs. George Rothermel and Mrs. Ernst Mohr who were on the program committee had the Gene Trimble orchestra to entertain.

W. S. C. S. Meets at Home Mrs. Anderson

The Woman's Society of Christian Service met on Thursday afternoon of last week at the home of Mrs. Maude Anderson, with Mrs. Margaret Anderson as assistant hostess.

Mrs. Anderson had charge of the devotions, choosing for her scripture text, Deut. 10: 11-22. She also read an interesting article entitled, "Making A Better Nation."

Mrs. Myrle Block read a paper prepared by Mrs. Addie Freeman, on "Social Change and Social Needs of Latin America," which was very interesting.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Eva Brewer.

Refreshments consisted of chicken sandwiches, wafers and coffee.

Members present were Mesdames Lettie Eckerty, Frances Smith, Nora Griffin, Gladys McClelland, Helen Ward, Ida Messman, Eva Brewer, Myrle Block, Ruby Reynolds, Gladys Walker, Maude Anderson and Miss Mildred Neal.

October meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Gladys McClelland.

THE SIN OF MOSES AND AARON

LESSON TEXT—Numbers 20:1-13, 27, 28.
GOLDEN TEXT—Be ye angry, and sin not.—Ephesians 4:26.

Sin is a serious matter, and even though men in our day may not call it by its real name, it is as much here as it was in the days of Moses—and it is just as awfully sinful as ever.

Sin is universal; it appears not only among the people, but also among their leaders. God's dealing with it is on the basis of "greater privilege, greater responsibility." No leader, especially in God's cause, can expect special consideration of his weakness. He must meet God and answer for his sin.

I. The Unbelief of the People (vv. 1-5).

It is well to bear in mind that the people of Israel who were now at Kadesh-Barnea, on the borderland of Canaan, had been here once before—40 years before. Here they had rebelled against God in unbelief because of the report of the spies concerning the land. Because of their unwillingness to take God at His word, they had been sent to wander 40 years in the wilderness until the complainers had died. Read that graphic and instructive story in Numbers 13 and 14.

Now they were back at Kadesh—and a new generation shows that the spirit of unbelief and distrust has a hold on humanity, and makes son like father.

They had run short of water. The spring which had served their fathers on the previous visit to Kadesh had run dry.

One would have supposed that all the mighty dealings of God in their deliverances over and over again, would have indicated the need of faith; but they had only a wailing criticism of God and His leaders.

II. The Answer—God's Power (vv. 6-8).

Moses and Aaron, now old men but still God's chosen leaders, took their sorrow to Him (v. 6). It was the right place to go, for power becometh unto the Lord (Ps. 62:11).

Instead of punishing the people for their unbelief, God calls upon His servant Moses to show them that He (God) is able. At a word from Moses, the rock would bring forth water before their eyes.

Is not that the perfect answer to all man's questioning and lack of faith—the revelation of the omnipotence of God?

But God's purpose is defeated (at least in a measure) by the

III. Unbelief of the Leaders (vv. 9-11).

Instead of taking their place as the servants and subordinates of God, Moses and Aaron claimed that they would provide water (v. 10). Instead of showing God's power by speaking to the rock, and His mercy in providing for the people, they uttered a rebuke; and then, by smiting the rock, took to themselves the honor that really belonged to God.

When called upon to act for God, they acted for themselves, and in their own name. They used for their own glory the power delegated to them by God. Let us beware that we do not fall into the same error.

Let us also note that if the punishment seems severe, we should recall that they had broken a type of Christ. Christ was the Rock. He was to be smitten at Calvary, that the water of life might flow forth. But He died once for sin (I Cor. 10:4) and is not to be smitten again. We need now only speak to Him in faith and receive life.

In Exodus 17:5, 6, Moses smote the rock, presenting the first half of the type foreshadowing the work of Christ; now he was to speak to it, fulfilling the type, and in unbelief he destroyed God's picture or type of redemption. It was a grievous sin.

IV. The Answer—Judgment (vv. 12, 13, 27, 28).

Moses and Aaron were not to be permitted to enter the promised land, because of their failure. No doubt it was true that their departure to be with the Lord was in a sense "far better" for them; and yet it cannot be denied that there was disappointment in not seeing the conclusion of their long and arduous labors.

The lesson is clear. We may serve God long and faithfully, but that is not any excuse for "letting down" in our closing years. We dare not presume, as though our intimate touch with God and place of leadership gave us an "inside track," a right to take it easy, spiritually or morally.

Sin is always sin; and it is especially grievous in one who has the privilege of high position and of power with God.

God buried His workmen; but His work went on. For Aaron there was his son Eleazar (v. 28). For Moses there was a Joshua, "full of the spirit of wisdom" (Deut. 34:9). It is always so. None of us is indispensable.

Fuss Over Russia

From all the words and ink that are being spilled over relations between Russia and her Allies, a gullible public might imagine that Stalin was on the verge of making a separate peace with Hitler. Much loose talk being indulged in by some of our news commentators of both the press and radio is unwarranted and only tends to give comfort to Hitler and his satellites.

It is true that Stalin does not see eye to eye with President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill on all matters. It is also true that Stalin is concerned, first of all, with the future of Russia, as he should be. While Stalin's peace aims may be very different from ours, there is no reason to believe that Russia will not continue as a faithful ally until Germany is defeated.

The point we are trying to emphasize is that attempts to make an issue of Russia's attitude and policies at this time can serve no good purpose.

Russia has insisted on the kind of second front she thinks we ought to open up in Western Europe. But Stalin has made no threats of making a separate peace with Germany or doing anything else to which we might rightfully make objection.

In his radio speech recently, Prime Minister Churchill admitted that we had no reason to complain about Russia's position, and he gave the highest praise to that country for its heroic stand against Germany.

There is no doubt that Russia will expect to have the important part in post-war affairs to which she is entitled, but there is no present indication that her demands will be unreasonable, in view of the tremendous contribution she is making to the Allied cause.

There will be many difficult problems to solve after the war is ended, and no one nation can have its own way in solving them. They will not be solved by the irresponsible critics who talk so glibly about a separate peace between Russia and Germany, with nothing tangible upon which to base such an idea.

Forego Holiday

Labor Day saw millions of workers foregoing their annual holiday to remain at their tasks, as they did last year. In one industrial community 1,000 union men observed the day by giving a pint of blood each to the Red Cross. Many others put forth special efforts in behalf of the war program.

Happily for the workers and the nation, no labor strife of consequence exists at present, and more men and women are at work than ever before in our history. There is reason to believe that all but an insignificant minority have become increasingly conscious of their responsibility to their country and to our armed forces who are fighting the battle for freedom throughout the world.

On the whole, American labor has done a magnificent job during the war, and production has reached a volume never before approached by this or any other nation. This production is reflected in the victories being achieved, not only by our own forces, but also by those of our allies, who have been receiving ever greater quantities of war supplies from this "arsenal of democracy."

Our workers have contributed splendidly by investments in War Bonds through payroll plans and otherwise, to the benefit of the nation and themselves.

For all these loyal efforts the great body of American labor is entitled to the highest praise.

Sidelights

Chicago or Guadalcanal, it's all the same to Corp. Raymond Russell, a marine, who has served on both "fronts." Russell received a leg wound in the Southwest Pacific and was sent to his Chicago home to recuperate. Things were going well with him and he was fully recovered—when he was struck by a car as he crossed one of the Windy City's main streets, his left leg again being injured. "It's safer in Guadalcanal," was the corporal's only comment.

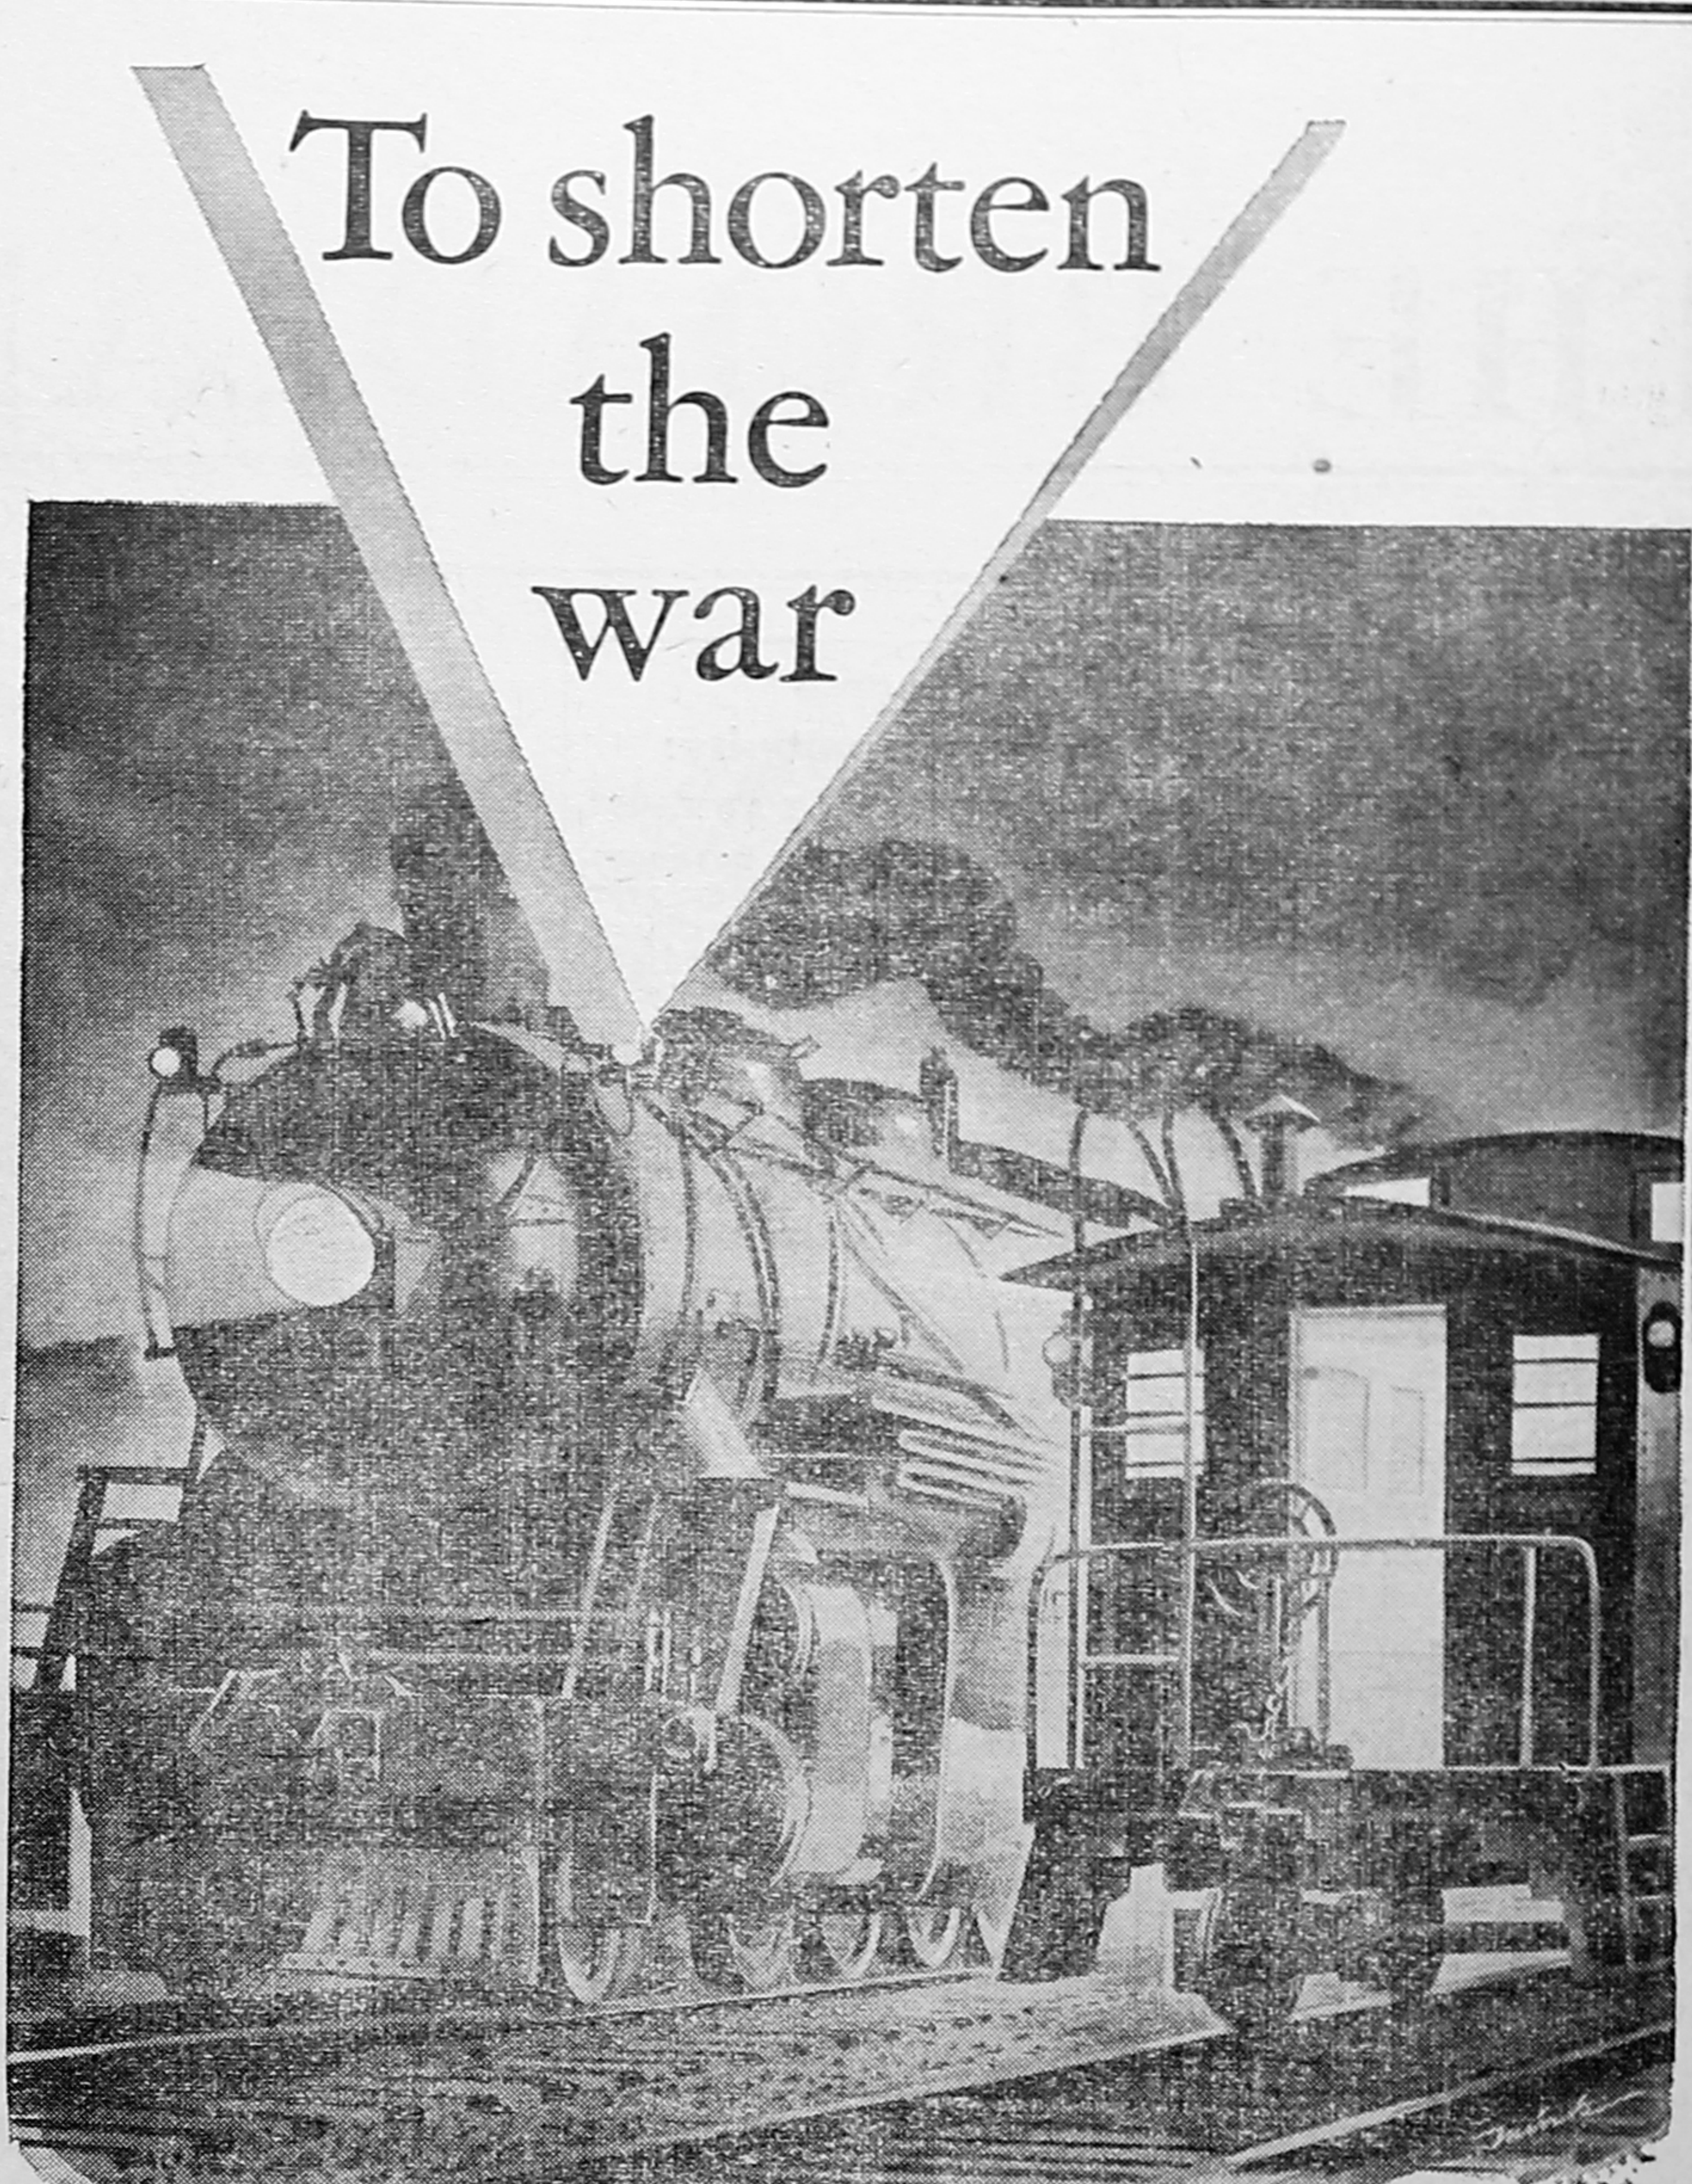

Meyer Horwich, a 50-year-old Chicagoan, may not be a carpenter, but as far as getting results he has few, if any equals. His technique of razing a garage may be a bit unusual but when the entire structure is down on the ground where it is desired what more could be asked? Horwich wanted to dismantle his garage and he began at the bottom. Presently the roof and the sides and the rafters fell in on him. When rescued from the wreckage, he admitted he needed a few lessons in the art of tearing down a building even though the garage was leveled as planned.

Ignorance is bliss, we have often heard, and if this is true Antonio and Donato Malango, owners of a small truck farm on Staten Island, New York, should be very happy persons. The two brothers were hauled into court on F. B. I. charges that they failed to register for the Selective Service. When the law was explained to them, they asked the reason for such a law. It was then explained that the law was designed so that the war would work as little hardship on the people as possible. "What war?" was the question the two thrifty farmers asked. The two were released when they promised to register, after the history of the past two years was reviewed for their benefit.

For many years we have been taught that there are 48 states in the Union, but it appears we will have to learn the names of 49 states if a group of residents in Sicily succeed in perfecting present plans. American Army officers report that the "State of Sicily" is practically ready to send lobbyists to Washington to fight for their admittance to the Union, many of the people believing that the appearance of the United States doughboys in their midst automatically made them American citizens and many are now talking about their rights and privileges as American citizens, the officers report. Hawaii seems to have some competition now as to which area becomes the 49th in our sisterhood of states.

The following few lines written by a soldier on Bataan one evening at dusk, a few hours before he was killed, might impress us with the importance of our job on the home front:

"And if our lines should sag and break
Because of things you failed to make;
That extra tank, that ship that plane
For which we waited all in vain;
Will you then come to take the blame?
For we, not you, must pay the cost
O' battles you, not we, have lost."

To shorten
war

Freight trains...C&EI is keeping 'em rolling—turning 'em faster, running 'em oftener, making 'em longer—to speed production...to quicken delivery of munitions and supplies...to shorten the war. For every extra train, extra car, and extra ton of freight moved in vital war services brings the day of victory closer.

Shippers are giving their wholehearted support. Our hats are off to them. They're loading and unloading freight cars promptly. They're packing and loading freight with extra care to insure safe transit. They're supplying shipping documents without waste of time.

The general public is helping, too. Folks know that the needs of the armed services must come first, that troop movements must go through regardless, that civilians serving in essential war capacities must be accommodated—which often leaves but little room for pleasure travel.

So, they're cutting their own travel to an absolute minimum—to free equipment for more urgent needs. This is practical patriotism. This is the spirit that will help shorten the war and get the boys home sooner.

Treasurer's Office
Urbana, Champaign County,
State of Illinois,
September 7, 1943.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned treasurer and ex-officio collector of Champaign county, and state of Illinois, will apply to the county court of Champaign county, at the September term thereof, to be holden on the last Monday in September, at the office of the county clerk of said county (it being the usual place for holding said court) for judgment against the said described lands, town lots and real estate for such taxes, special assessments, interests and costs thereon, respectively, and also an order to sell the said lands, town lots and real estate for the satisfaction thereof, and notice is hereby given that on the first Monday of the October term, to-wit: On Monday the 4th day of October, A. D., 1943, all the said lands, town lots and real estate and tracts of land for the sale of which an order shall have been made by the said county court, will be exposed to public sale at the place of holding such court in said county, for the amount of said taxes, special assessments, interests and costs, accrued thereon, respectively.

Signed:
Willard G. Goodman,
Treasurer and Ex-officio
Collector, Champaign
County, Illinois.

I, J. F. Darnall, business manager of the Broadlands News, a weekly newspaper published at Broadlands, County of Champaign, State of Illinois, do hereby certify that the foregoing lists of lands, town lots and real estate were published in said newspaper on Thursday, September 16, 1943, and that said lists have been examined and found correct and that the same were published in all the papers for that number and date and duly distributed according to law.

J. F. Darnall,
Business Manager of the Broadlands News.

Do You Know Illinois?
By Edward J. Hughes
Secretary of State

Q. On what date following the Chicago fire was the city put under martial law?

A. October 11, 1871.

Q. Who was the mayor of Chicago in 1871?

A. R. B. Mason.

Q. To whom did Mayor Mason entrust the establishment of martial law?

A. General Philip Sheridan.

Q. How many regular infantry and State troop companies were put on patrol duty?

A. Ten companies of regular infantry and seven of State troops.

Q. Whom did Sheridan place in charge of volunteer troops?

A. Colonel Francis T. Sherman.

Q. How many companies were there in the volunteer regiment?

A. Eighteen.

Q. By what name was the regiment known?

A. The First Chicago Volunteers.

Q. Who was the Governor of Illinois in 1871?

A. John M. Palmer.

Q. What was Governor Palmer's attitude concerning the military occupation of Chicago following the great fire?

A. He considered it an invasion of state rights, illegal and unnecessary, and that the mayor had abdicated his authority to Gen. Sheridan.

Q. How long did the first military control last?

A. Until 6 p. m. October 23. It was subsequently resumed on request of prominent citizens and four companies remained until the first of the next year.

Household Hints
Pour melted paraffin over left-over paint to keep it from drying out.

Make pot holders out of worn-out heavy bath towels. Use a pattern to cut round holders. Stitch the edges on the machine.

Clean table oilcloth well and then rub it occasionally with liquid wax to produce long life of the cloth.

Clean window shades with wallpaper cleaner. Lay shades flat, start at the top and clean downward in one direction.

Cheese contains high quality protein, calcium for bones and teeth, and riboflavin of the vitamin B, family.

Clean greasy skillets the easy way: Fill almost full with water to which has been added one teaspoon of soda. Boil briskly.

Wax the window sills after they have been painted. Such a finish will clean easily and rain spatters will not spot the surface.

Many stoves "rust out" before they "wear out." Look for leaks around the stove flue, repair the leaks, then remove rust with oil and steel wool.

WHERE TO CONSERVE

- Indoor and outdoor advertising
- Promotional and display sign lighting
- Decorative and ornamental lighting
- Decorative flood lighting
- Show window lighting
- Lighting of marquees
- Lighting of outdoor business establishments
- Non essential interior and show case lighting
- Moderation of air-conditioning
- Careful use of all lights and appliances to avoid any wasted uses of electricity.

Electricity itself cannot be saved or stored away. But any reduction you can safely make in your use of it, will reduce the amount of fuel burned to make it. That will mean fewer freight cars to haul it and fewer man hours to handle it. More cars and more men will be available for the war effort.

Each little bit you save, multiplied by thousands of other Americans, will be an important contribution to the Voluntary Conservation Program.

Sally's Scribblings

A rainy day, as a rule, is the signal for long faces, dismal scowls and indigo moods. But usually on the farm is found the exception to this rule. So often there a rainy day is turned into a gala day. It comes as a lessening of a tension set up by a tension of rushing from daylight until long after dark; of making sure that crops are all in the ground by a certain date, and cultivated and "laid by" by a certain date. No matter how weary he may become, nothing but an act of God can keep a good farmer from the field until all this is accomplished. And the rule holds good with the farmer's wife as she goes about her gardening, chicken raising and canning.

Then comes the rain. If this happens at a time to put an end to a threatened drought, father comes to the house with a broad smile and much to say of a "million dollar rain." If there is no real need for it, he still manages to keep cheerful, and says "O well, it will be good for the pastures." Then he goes to his desk to catch up on neglected accounts, or to his favorite chair and a detective story he has been longing to read. Junior rushes through the kitchen, grabs a handful of cookies and goes to the basement where he is soon engrossed in working on his airplane model. The twins like nothing better than a day in the attic with their books and toys. Thus left to herself, mother plans an easy one-dish dinner so that she too may have leisure to do some well-liked things she has had to neglect.

So, as the rain beats down on the old farm house, it shuts in a scene of peace, happiness and leisure, that is becoming all too scarce in this busy, rushing, hurry-scurry world.

Need Three Weeks For The Corn Crop

With a general need of "three more weeks of favorable weather to mature the corn properly," J. E. Johnson, local farm manager, in his weekly crop report said Monday that there had been numerous reports of frost, noticeable only in the low areas where moisture was high.

"No damage other than to grape leaves was observed," he said. "Weekend showers, beneficial to those preparing wheat land, otherwise of doubtful value, have failed to reach the drouth section which starts 30 miles south of Champaign."

"Corn is maturing rapidly with the majority of fields in the dent stage. However, hybrid seed executives predict a lower yield per acre," he stated.

Remarking that soybeans present an interesting picture with some fields entirely yellow and within a stone's throw, fields that are completely green, he said that danger from frost still was present.

Predicting a crop maturity reached later than in 1942, he said there would be a later seasonal harvesting, when days are shorter and conditions generally unfavorable.—News Gazette.
