Letters To The Editor

Baltimore, Md., 30 June, 1946.

Dear Joe—I thought I would drop you a few lines to let you know how I am getting along.

I have been through several different states since I entered the service February 20, 1946. I have seen a lot of interesting scenery in these states as I passed through, but I don't believe any of them can compare with Illinois.

I took my basic training at Shreveport Field, Texas, in the Army Air Forces. When I finished I was shipped out here to Baltimore, Md., for a Counter Intelligence course. I thought that my basic was easy but I didn't enjoy the hot climate of Texas any too well.

I am leading a pretty easy life here. I am going to school eight hours a day and have the rest of the time off. It seems rather funny to be going to school again after being out for four years, but this is interesting work and I enjoy it. I am to have from nine to eleven weeks of schooling here then a short leave to visit home. After that I will go overseas.

Mother has been sending me the Broadlands News and I really enjoy reading all the news of the folks back home.

Leland Heidorn has been transferred here to Md. also and is in the same barracks as I am. He came in about two weeks after I did. We ran into each other at Fort Sheridan, Ill., then Shepard Field, Texas. He was shipped to San Antonio, Texas for his basic. We were both quite surprised when we ran into each other here in the same barracks and enjoy talking over old times together.

I thought that I would be getting into a cooler climate up here but it gets pretty hot. We also get quite a bit of rain which cools off things a little bit once in a while.

This camp is very close to the Chesapeake Bay and I have seen many big steam ships out there in the harbor.

I like it much better in this camp because there is really a swell bunch of fellows here. The men in this school are carefully selected before they are allowed to take up the course.

Well Joe I guess I will sign off. I hope that everyone is getting along fine back there and I'm expecting to see everyone the last of August or first of September. So long.

Just one of the home boys,
John F. Butler.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D. Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for July 14

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

JESUS AND SUPREME LOYALTY TO GOD

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:3-6; Joshua 4:16, 22-24; Luke 14:25-27. MEMORY SELECTION—No man can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will love to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon.—Matthew 6:24.

The first three commandments bring man into the presence of God, where he is taught how to worship God in spirit and in truth.

"The first commandment (Exod. 20:3) bids us worship God exclusively; the second (vv. 4-6) bids us worship him spiritually. The first commandment forbids us to worship false gods; the second forbids us to worship the true God under false forms" (Farrar).

We shall lose much of the value of our lesson if we confine the application of it to Israel. We miss the point if we think only of the gods of wood and stone which the heathen worship and fail to apply the truth to any and all idol worship of our day.

The loyalty to God of which our lesson text teaches may be summarized in four words. It is a loyalty of

I. Purpose (Exod. 20:3). Jehovah means, "I will be what I will be," or "I am that I am," (Exod. 3:14). His very name declares God to be the self-existent, eternal one. How infinitely gracious then is the use of the word "thy" in Exodus 10:2! He—the great I AM—is my God, a personal God. It must be our constant purpose to worship him only.

There are many things concerning which we do not speak dogmatically. There are even Christian doctrines about which spiritual and earnest men may honestly differ, but regarding God we say with absolute assurance and complete exclusiveness—there is but one true God. If he is what he claims to be, if God is not to be declared to be a liar, then it is beyond the realm of possibility that there could be any other God.

Hear it, men and women of America who in an enlightened land and age bow down in heathenish worship "before the god of gold, the god of self, the god of wine, the god of success, the god of fame, the goddess of pleasure, the god of licentiousness." The one true God says, "I am Jehovah. . . Thou shalt have no other gods before me."

II. Performance (Exod. 20:4-6). What is in the heart must show in the life. The second commandment calls for the undivided devotion and worship of man. It expressly forbids idolatry in any form. The injunction is twofold. (1) Men are forbidden to make any material likeness which to them represents a being to be worshiped. It matters not whether it be an image of what men believe God to be like, or the image of an angelic being, a heavenly body, in fact, "anything that is in the heaven above," or on the earth, such as a man or animal; or under the water, such as a fish. (2) If such objects have been made either by ourselves or others we may not bow down to them, nor render any service to them. Let us all examine our religious ceremonies and practices in the light of God's commandment.

Observe that obedience to this command brings rich blessing to "thousands" (v. 6), whereas disobedience is a curse not only to the man who disobeys, but also to his descendants.

III. Promise (Josh. 24:16, 22-24). Before the aged leader of Israel came to the close of his life he called leaders of the people, whom he had led in the taking of the Promised Land, and urged them to continue in the way of faith and loyalty to God.

They promised readily, but he made clear to them that God was not interested in lip service. They were to prove their promise by putting away all strange gods. This they agreed to do. Wherein they failed, they suffered defeat, and wherein they kept their promise, God blessed them. We may learn from their experience.

IV. Practice (Luke 14:25-27). It is not always necessary to choose between our natural affections for those near to us and our loyalty to Christ, but if the time comes for that decision, Christ must come first without question and without hesitation (cf. Matt. 10:37).

The word "hate" (v. 26) does not carry with it any thought of malice or personal dislike. We know from other scriptures that we are to honor our father and our mother (Exod. 20:12). The one who fails his own is declared to be worse than an infidel (I Tim. 5:8).

The point is that no personal loyalty or responsibility is to stand in the way of our devotion to Christ. Our own lives must be counted as a glad sacrifice to him as we take up our cross—in the crucifixion of self-will and devotion to his will (see Gal. 2:20; 6:14).

G. O. P. 1948 Prospect

It now appears that Governor Earl Warren of California must be considered as a prospective contender for the Republican nomination for President in 1948, as the result of his winning the nomination by both Republicans and Democrats for a second term as governor of his home state in the recent primary election.

California law permits a candidate to run on more than one ticket, and Governor Warren obtained a majority of the votes cast by both parties, the first man in the state to accomplish this feat.

In the last national Republican convention in 1944, Warren was temporary chairman and delivered the keynote address. He was proposed as a candidate for the vice-presidential nomination, but declined to enter the contest.

California has gone Democratic in the last four Presidential elections, but Warren was elected governor in 1942 by a heavy majority over a Democratic opponent. With both the Republican and Democratic nominations this year, his reelection will be virtually unanimous.

Stassen's 1948 aspirations got a set-back when a senatorial candidate whom he supported was badly beaten in Nebraska.

In case Governor Dewey of New York should be defeated for reelection this year, or win by a very slender margin, he would be eliminated as a Republican candidate for President in 1948, and in that event Governor Warren would appear to be the G. O. P.'s best prospect.

Buzzard Country

They are a pattern of wings against a summer sky, a huddle of black on a fence post, a group of grotesque forms gathered in a field—they are the turkey buzzards or vultures.

Although they are scattered over the state from north to south, buzzards are peculiarly a part of southern and eastern Illinois where the ridges are high and rocky, the ravines deep and ferny. In the sky they spend their days from spring until late autumn, tirelessly sailing on motionless, magnificent wings in great circles above the hills. Always their eyes scour the land below, often many hundreds of feet away, for the buzzards, like the hawks, have telescopic eyes. They pick out objects too far away for human eyes to distinguish, and as the bird circles in a series of rapid drops toward the ground, the eyes change focus so that when the buzzard at last lands on the ground with a small bounce and a hop, its eyes are near-sighted and can attend to the business at hand. In the life of a buzzard, this can only mean one thing—there is something dead here to be cleaned up with neatness and thoroughness. By the time the bird has finished, there is only a pile of well-cleaned bones that soon are polished by ants and other insects, and left to weather in the sun.

This is the whole duty of vultures. Unsavory though it may be to human thoughts, it is nevertheless one of the necessary functions of this particular group of birds, the scavengers. Without them, the countryside might contain the unburied bodies of too many of the departed wild creatures.—The Living Museum.

Sidelights

The bride's father was the wedding's only casualty. Dana G. Horning, 59, of Watertown, N. Y., was standing on a line of tin cans attached to the car of the bridal couple and when it started off, down went Horning for the count. He wound up in the hospital with a broken wrist.

We must admit that this old bachelor scribe could hardly be considered an authority on the subject, but a friend of ours expresses this philosophy: "If a woman would try to look as attractive in the early morning as she does the rest of the day, her husband probably would not try to hold his newspaper between her and him while eating breakfast."

A few days ago a young man appeared before Judge A. Hedding in a Milwaukee district court on a speeding charge. Before His Honor had secured any evidence, a bailiff was seen to whisper into the judge's ear. "Weren't you one of the Marines who planted the first American flag at Mt. Suribachi on Iwo Jima?" asked Judge Hedding. "That's right," answered John Bradley, 22, of Appleton, Wis., a former fifth division Marine. "I'm glad to meet you," Hedding said. "Case dismissed."

Maj. Gen. Keller E. Rockey, during a press conference in Tientsin, China, a short time ago, told correspondents the story of how a repatriation ship had baby trouble. Gen. Rockey said that one ship had been set aside to send home expectant mothers among Japanese repatriates, but before the women could be unloaded from the train and helped across 200 yards separating the tracks from the ship, three babies were born. Things happen fast—sometimes—in the Orient.

We were told the story of a young doctor who was employed by the Veterans Administration and stationed at one of its "nut" hospitals. In one ward there was a former G. I. who imagined himself a big league baseball pitcher. Throughout the day he would take his stand as if on the pitcher's mound, wind up and go through the motions of throwing one over the plate. The young doctor, as he made his rounds, would stop and watch the actions of the poor fellow. Finally, one of the older physicians asked the young medic why he always viewed these baseball proceedings. "Well," was the reply, "if things continue with me as they are now I'll be in there catching for this guy and I want to get on to his curves."

Household Hints

A lump of glossy starch rubbed over the grease spot on wallpaper will absorb the grease.

Stocking feet can be made more durable by rubbing candle wax or paraffin on heel and toe.

To keep macaroni or spaghetti from boiling over, add a tablespoon of cooking oil or shortening to the water.

Yellowed piano keys can be cleaned with a cloth dipped in cologne. Be careful not to touch the black keys.

To lengthen a hemless dress, get ¼-inch colored braid and sew in slightly overlapping rows to the narrow bottom seam.

Dachshund Popularity In Sensational Gain

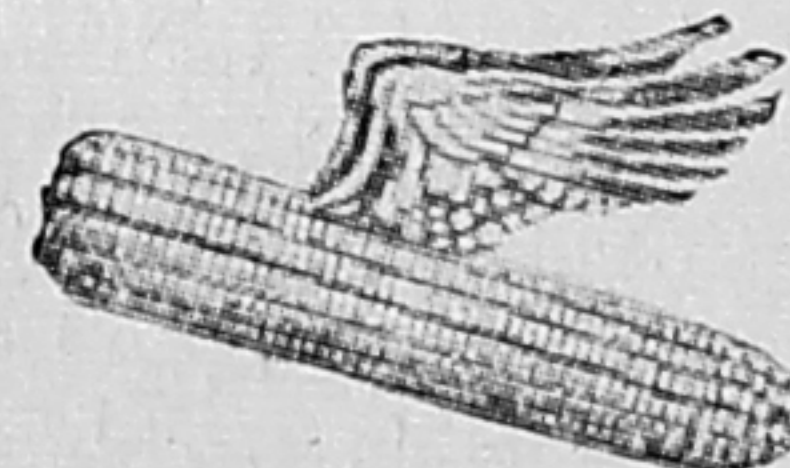

The lowly Dachshund is now up among the ten dog breeds which lead in the number of purchased registrations in this country, according to the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York City, which states that a lot of the credit for this achievement is due to the efforts of the Dachshund Club of America which this year celebrates the golden jubilee of its affiliation with the American Kennel Club. Figures compiled by Joseph E. Balmer, Xenia, Ohio, show a sensational gain of Dachshund registrations in 1943 over the year 1926 of 5,789%. For the same years the Cocker Spaniel, the leader in registrations, showed a gain of 1,814% and Beagles a gain of 288%.

Illinois State Capitol News

The three top-ranking Illinois farm crops—corn, soybeans and oats—are now showing average or better than average condition, according to the state and federal departments of agriculture. Corn is farthest advanced in the northwest half of the state, while a considerable amount of late corn is reported in the southeast quarter of Illinois, where wet weather delayed planting.

Harvesting of winter wheat and oats came on a few days earlier than usual in southern Illinois, with good yield of oats reported. Ripening of oats in central and northern areas is advancing rapidly.

Mt. Vernon and Savanna have been selected as locations for two of the downstate tuberculosis sanitariums authorized by the Illinois General Assembly at its last regular session. Because of unsettled conditions in the building industry, construction of only two downstate sanitariums is being initiated at present.

Mt. Vernon is situated approximately in the center of the 33 southernmost counties of Illinois. There is now no tuberculosis sanitarium within sixty miles of the city. Savanna lies at the center of an arc with a 60-mile radius which includes eight northwestern counties without sanitarium facilities.
