OF SPEECH

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:16; Proverbs 26:23-28; Matt. 26:69-75.
MEMORY SELECTION—Wherefore putting away lying, speak every man truth with his neighbor.—Ephesians 4:25.

God is truth, and therefore any kind of lie is evidence of godlessness. Satan is the father of lies (John 8:44) and the father of all liars.

I. The Prohibition of Lying (Exod. 20:16).

This "thou shalt not" of God has to do primarily with perjury; that is, the telling of an untruth in court. This is one of the worst forms of lying, because it may result in the one against whom it is practiced losing his liberty, his life or his property, or the destruction of his good reputation.

It is obvious, however, that the commandment covers all forms of lying, whether in business, in social contacts, in the home, or in the church. We might do well to consider what the Bible has to say about whisperers, talebearers, backbiters and others (see Lev. 19:16; II Cor. 12:20).

II. The Purpose of Lying (Prov. 26:23-26).

Sometimes as one hears the continuous stream of lies which flow from the lips of some men, one is apt to feel that it is just a bad habit of careless talking which has become a part of the life.

There is, however, a real purpose behind the lies of men, and that is to deceive in order to get gain or advantage, or to cover up hatred.

How much of all this there is in the world today—yes, and in the church. Those who profess to be the followers of Christ use the devices of the devil in their relations with fellow members of the church. Christian workers who wish to appear greater than they are, or to look greater than others, use deceit and lying. With what results?

III. The Punishment of Lying (Prov. 26:28-29; Matt. 26:75).

One lie leads to, in fact calls for, another, and soon the liar has dug a pit so big that he stumbles and falls into it. He is like one who starts a great stone rolling, and lo, it rolls back on him and crushes him. Yes, in due time he is shown up before the entire congregation (v. 26).

Then, too, the lie does harm to others. No matter what its nature—a half truth, or a truth used to deceive, or an outright falsehood—it bears awful fruit in the life of the one toward whom it is directed, or whose name is involved (v. 28). Once started, it is often impossible to stop. One cannot ever catch up with a lie.

But there is also a horrible and bitter fruitage of lies in the life and the heart of the liar. Lies do "come home to roost," and they make the heart and life of anyone who has a vestige of decency and honor left, miserably unhappy. Consider Peter (Matt. 26:75).

It is of the utmost importance that we stress before children and young people the awful results of lying, as well as its sinfulness. Lying and deceit are so commonly accepted in our day that many regard it as all right—if you don't get caught. But the fact is, you always do get caught by God—yes, and by your own lie.

IV. The Practice of Lying (Matt. 26:69-74).

Sadly enough, the constant lying of the world seems to have infected the minds and hearts of Christians. Instead of being cleansed from this worldly defilement they carry its awful tendencies into the church.

The great lie within the church, and one of Satan's prize exhibits, is the falsehood of modern religious liberalism (so-called), which is essentially a denial of real New Testament Christianity. Jesus said (v. 42) that if God is our Father we will accept him as the Christ. The one who speaks sweet words about the example, the manhood, the leadership of the Master, and who denies him his place as God, is clearly in mind here as the follower of the father of lies.

Someone has suggested that the great spiritual problem of our day is not the conflict between the church and the world; nor is it to determine how the church can best serve in the world, but rather what to do about the world which has gotten into the church. How did worldliness get into the church? The members brought it there after they had gone out and warmed themselves at the world's fire, and fellowshiped with the world in ungodly living.

The denials made by Peter seem almost unbelievable in the life of one who had been in immediate fellowship with the Lord and who had seen his glory. We have here a revelation of the fact that "the heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked; who can know it?" (Jer. 17:9).

Labor and the Reds

When anyone not connected with the labor movement makes the statement that Communists are seeking to control the labor unions in the United States, the charge is often classed as coming from those who are unfriendly to labor. In some instances this may be the case, but many of the most sincere and patriotic labor leaders in the country are saying the same thing, and are striving to eliminate the Red influence from their organizations.

Robert J. Watt, international representative of the American Federation of Labor for the last 10 years, who has made 30 trips to Europe and five tours of South America in the interest of the Federation and labor generally, gave a warning concerning Communists recently in an address before the Massachusetts State Federation, in which he said in part:

"The Communists and their fellow-traveling stooges don't want (labor-management) stability. They must have unrest and turmoil if they are to gain recruits. They want to keep people stirred up with a new emotional crisis as soon as the previous one begins to lose its propaganda value. They try to push labor unions into one political demonstration after another.

"They spawn 'front' organizations in profusion. They have paper outfits with impressive letterheads by the score, ready to throw into any campaign at a moment's notice. Even in labor organizations they use stooges... to weave the spider's web entangling those who let themselves be involved by the Communists.

"I sincerely believe real difficulty can be expected in reaching stability, because of the struggle by the Communists for as large a domination of the labor movement as they can attain. The spread of strikes this year was not due entirely to the usual economic causes. Some of them were purely political demonstrations for the purpose of weakening American prestige at a time which coincided with the needs of those devoted to the class struggle."

It should be borne in mind that the foregoing are the words of one of the foremost labor statesmen in the world, and that they were addressed to his fellow members of the AFL in a convention open to the press and public.

In reporting the address, Mr. Watt was described by Frederick W. Carr of the Christian Science Monitor as one who "has probably had a larger opportunity to study international labor relations than any other man in the American labor movement."

Views similar to those of Mr. Watt have been expressed by other AFL leaders, including President William Green, Secretary-Treasurer George Meany and others, who have openly charged that certain CIO unions are dominated or largely influenced by Communists who have managed to work themselves into key positions.

President Philip Murray of the CIO is by no means a Communist and it is known that he is having factual trouble because of activities of extreme left-wingers in the organization. Recently it was reported that 15 unions of furniture workers would switch to the AFL in protest against Communism in the CIO.

In the growing warfare between the AFL and the CIO, the issue of Communism seems likely to become one of paramount importance.

Great Lakes Traffic

The partial tie-up of shipping on the Great Lakes by a strike of CIO maritime workers, which began a week ago, has again brought to attention the great importance of water-borne traffic on these inland seas. For the nature of the cargoes carried is such that they cannot be moved by rail under present congested conditions.

Even if rail facilities were available, the transportation cost would be prohibitive under the prevailing system. A complete stoppage of lake traffic would soon cause a more serious disruption of industry and trade than any yet experienced.

About 90% of all iron ore used in the country comes from the region around the western end of Lake Superior, and it is transported to the steel mills by lake vessels. Besides, a large portion of the wheat sent abroad is shipped by water from Duluth and in reverse traffic much of the coal used in the northwest goes by water.

Among other bulky items of freight handled by lake vessels are limestone, sand, oil and newsprint, in addition to an endless flow of manufactured products of all kinds. About 400 commercial ships of considerable size are used in Great Lakes transportation.

In this connection it may be mentioned that the Sault Ste. Marie canal, forming the link between Lake Superior and Lake Huron, carries more tonnage than the Panama and Suez canals combined, although it is closed by ice about four months each year.

About 80 million tons of iron ore alone pass through this canal annually on an average, but shipments are already far behind schedule for this year, and an effective maritime strike, if long continued, would paralyze steel production in northern and eastern states.

That, in turn, would have a disastrous effect on industrial production generally, which has not yet fully recovered from the strikes of a few months ago.

Sidelights

"Hope springs eternal . . .," yes, some of us never reach that age at which we are willing to say: "Them days are gone forever." And so it was with Mrs. Mary Wilson, 98-year-old bride of Mattoon, Ill., who, after her marriage to the youthful 75-year-old Luther Wilson, told photographers: "Come back next time for a picture of the kids."

We are told of a young man who was having a little difficulty in filling out a life insurance application. He wanted to be truthful and yet in the space where it asks the cause of the death of one's father, if said parent is dead, he hesitated as he did not want to admit that he had been hanged. Finally, he wrote: "Met death at a public function, during which the platform on which he was standing gave way beneath him."

We have always heard it said that the possession of money in large quantities does not produce happiness. This has just been hearsay and therefore we have paid little attention to it, but it must be true. Recently C. A. Locke, a Pittsburgh lawyer, donated his life-savings of $300,000 to various charitable institutions and then relaxed comfortably. Explaining the reason for his generosity, Mr. Locke stated: "It just wasn't bringing me any happiness."

We have always contended that nothing should be left undone to teach the school children of the nation the true meaning of patriotism along with a complete understanding of the history of the country. It seems that a teacher in a certain school believed in the same thing and in one of her talks pointed to the flag of the United States and asked her brightest first grade pupil what flag it was. "My country's flag," was the prompt reply. "And what is the name of your country?" asked the teacher. The prompt answer was: "'Tis of thee."

Household Hints

To prevent mold or rot, spread out oranges or lemons—do not pile them together.

When through sewing, use Junior's magnet to pick up the stray pins.

Pared apples will not darken if dipped in lemon, orange, grapefruit or pineapple juice.

Never put a dress away immediately after wearing. Air it to get the wrinkles out.

If you have a weakness for buttons, but despise making buttonholes, use the buttons to make attractive lapel ornaments or to trim pockets.

To make mends in sweaters or jersey dresses invisible, use a rocket hook to make chain stitches to duplicate the appearance of the knitted fabric.

To get curtain tiebacks fastened straight, pull window shades down to desired length and fasten the tiebacks in line with the bottom of the shades.

Good portions of worn chenille bedspreads can live a new life when they are made into robes, brunch coats, jackets and even dressing table draperies.

Never buy more than a six months' supply of spices. Keeping the quality depends on the retention of natural oils, so spices should be stored in air-tight containers.

Proper care of aluminum pans is important. Dark stains on aluminum can be removed with vinegar water if they have not been allowed to stand too long. The pan should be filled with equal parts of vinegar and water and brought to a boil.

Univ. of Illinois
Cooperates in
So. Ill. Project

Attraction of new industries to Southern Illinois and development of the agricultural and natural resources of this area of the state are being undertaken by Southern Illinois leaders and a committee of authorities from the University of Illinois.

Prof. A. G. Anderson of the College of Commerce and Business Organization is chairman. He states that immediate steps are necessary primarily because of the decline of the coal industry in the southern section of the state.

Increasing unemployment there threatens to become a serious problem unless there are new demands for labor, he said. Southern Illinois State Normal university, the Illinois State Post-War Planning commission, and the State Geological, Natural History, and Water surveys all are participating.

One of the first moves to attract industry is to gather information about the labor supply, educational conditions, recreational areas, agriculture, and natural resources such as coal, oil, forests, and water. Final compilation of information, and publication, will be handled by the Bureau of Economic Business Research at the University of Illinois.

Superior Food Is Yours by Following Rules for Quality Canning

Ask ten women why they put up fruits, vegetables, jams, preserves, etc., and you may get ten different answers but they all add up to economy and flavor.

At present, high living costs are forcing many persons, particularly members of the so-called white-collar class, to accept merchandise of inferior quality or do without, but almost everybody can have vegetables of superior quality and flavor for there can always be gardens, and fortunately, glass jars for home canning are pre-war quality at pre-war prices.

Canned foods should be seasoned, flavored, or sweetened to suit the taste of one's family. If you like corn and beans, corn and tomatoes, tomatoes and okra, cooked together, can them together — but keep in mind that a mixture must be processed the time needed for the vegetable requiring the longest time.

Own a Canning Book

"But," warns Gladys Kimbrough, Home Service Director for Ball Brothers Company, manufacturer of home canning jars, "whatever you do by way of seasoning, be sure to follow the rules when canning. Every homemaker should own a good canning and preserving book."

Buy whatever new jars, caps, lids, and rubbers needed. Use regular home canning jars and beware of any which haven't the name of a reliable manufacturer on them. Examine every jar, cap, and lid before it is used and use according to the manufacturer's instructions.

Be sure pressure cooker and water-bath canners are in perfect order. Use strictly fresh produce and use it the day it is mature enough to cook for immediate serving. Discard tough, withered, rusty, wormy vegetables. Wash all produce before breaking or cutting and wash only enough for one canner load at a time.

Don't Lose Time

Waste no time between steps in gathering, sorting, washing, preparing, and canning.

Cover prepared vegetables with boiling water and boil five minutes (some vegetables, for example beets and sweet potatoes, require longer). Pour hot vegetables into clean hot jars. Don't cram them down. There must be room for water to circulate between the pieces and there should be from 1/2 to 1 inch space between the vegetables and the top of the jar.

Cover vegetables, after placing in jars, with water in which they were boiled or use fresh boiling water.

Use clean salt, add it before or after the jars are filled, or leave it out. It is put in for seasoning only.

If air bubbles form, run a knife down between side of jar and food.

Put the jars in a hot canner as soon as they are filled. Letting them stand around on the kitchen table invites spoilage.

Process all vegetables except tomatoes, which are really a fruit, in a steam pressure cooker for the time given in the recipe you are following. We recommend the use of a pressure cooker because, when in good working order and used according to instructions, it is by far the quickest and best way to can all low-acid vegetables such as beans, beets, peas, corn, etc.

Boiling for a long time in a water-bath canner is the next best way and is the one commonly used in the North Central and Eastern states. Water-bath processed vegetables (does not mean tomatoes—they are acid and should be done in water bath) should never under any circumstances be tasted until after they have been boiled 15 minutes. The same is true of those processed in a steam pressure cooker when there is the slightest question as to whether the cooker was in good operating condition or was operated correctly. The purpose of boil-before-tasting is to destroy any toxin which may have developed. The toxin won't be there to destroy if fresh produce has been carefully washed, prepared, packed, and properly processed.

Love's young dream had come to Mary, and she was telling Jane all about it.

And then, she finished, with a soft light in her blue eyes. "he said he would lay the earth at my feet."

But the light in Jane's grey eyes were on the hard side.

Sounds all right, she commented, "but it's not very practical. You have the earth at your feet already; what you want is a roof over your head."

Subversion

However successful America's system of free enterprise has been, faith in planned economy has spread rapidly over this nation's political thinking in the last 25 years. It is strange that the world's most prosperous and influential people should forget how its power was built, and think about imitating a plan that fails every time it is tried, but that's the picture.

How did planned economy get into the picture in the United States? This is the country with no peasant class! It is here that laborers drive their own motor cars. This is the land where farmers live like lords in older countries. It must have been a strange set of circumstances that turned the eyes of a favored people to look with envy at under-fed and over-worked races beyond the seas.

They Only Heard

The facts were not all known. If farmers and craftsmen of America could see how men of similar skills elsewhere must live, they would thank God for giving their forefathers wisdom to safeguard in our Constitution the right of ownership. Americans who lean toward socialism have seen very little of it and heard only one side. Planned economy invaded America thus:

After Liberty Bell had been silent 150 years, the Statue of Liberty grew green with tarnish and people began taking freedom for granted. Carefree descendants of men who endured Valley Forge ceased to appreciate their costly birthright; simply had no idea how it would seem to be without freedom. Sly digs at America and her people were swallowed down by an open-minded generation.

Poisonous Teaching

Protected by the free - speech clause in our Constitution, soap-box orators started braying against invested capital. Crafty minds coined such slurs as "entrenched greed" and "economic royalists" to stir up envy and make success in business seem dishonorable. Wordy wars against "coupon clippers" frightened investors, large and small, and choked the flow of capital into business.

It is not possible in any country to provide abundant lives for the masses by raiding the rich, but the idea was hatched and spread around in America. Armies of idle people were trained to rely on government instead of on themselves. Even in schools supported by the state, boys and girls learned to question the value of individual opportunity, a cardinal liberty.

Government Control

War came, and it was two years old before victory was even reasonably certain. Government rightly seized the nation's resources and manufacturing plants, and (presto) a lion's share of America's bread winners were in war work drawing the highest pay they ever heard of; Uncle Sam going in debt 150 million dollars a day. Things to buy became scarce, and loose money rattled in every pocket.

Quite naturally people gave government the credit when, after four years of government management, they had more money than they could spend. Actually the facts are not related. When a public debt, that approximates the country's worth, keeps growing, people are not prosperous even if their wallets do bulge with "lettuce" because there are not enough things to buy.

Mighty Fittin'—Those Old-Time Tomato Preserves

"How dear to my heart are the scenes of my childhood!" Memories of old oaken buckets belong to a vanishing generation but almost everybody has fond recollections of the favorite foods of his childhood. Every year a good many people write Gladys Kimbrough, Home Service Director for Ball Brothers Company, manufacturer of fruit jars, requesting a recipe for pickles or preserves "like my mother or grandmother used to make."

An Old Favorite

A recipe popular a half century ago appeared in an early edition of the Ball Blue Book. It reads: "To every pound of small yellow tomatoes allow one pound of sugar. Put the tomatoes and sugar together and to every seven pounds of sugar allow the juice of three lemons. Let stand together all night and in the morning drain off the sirup and boil. (The recipe doesn't tell how long, but 10 minutes should do.) Put in the tomatoes and simmer for twenty minutes after they boil. Remove the tomatoes and allow the sirup to boil until thick. Just before taking from the fire, add the lemon juice. Put the fruit in the jars and cover with boiling sirup. Seal immediately."

If a more modern recipe we wanted, you might try:

- 2 1/2 pounds (peeled) small tomatoes
- 2 1/2 pounds sugar
- 2 cups water
- 1/4 ounce whole ginger
- 1 1/2 lemon (sliced thin)
- 1/2 ounce of stick cinnamon

Boil together water, sugar, lemon and spices for fifteen minutes; add tomatoes, a few at a time, and cook gently until the tomatoes become bright and clear. Then pour into shallow pans, cover and let stand over night. Pack the cold tomatoes into hot jars and strain the sirup over them. Process twenty minutes at simmering.

If you are wondering where you are going to get the sugar, as who isn't, here is your recipe:

Recipe for Less Sugar

- 2 pounds tomatoes
- 2 cups sugar
- 2 cups corn sirup, light or dark
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 lemon
- 1 small orange
- 1 stick cinnamon
- 2 pieces ginger root
- 6 whole cloves
- 1/2 cup raisins

Use small, firm, red, yellow or green tomatoes. Scald one minute. Dip into cold water. Skin but do not core. Combine sugar, sirup, water, lemon, orange (sliced thin) and spices, and simmer 30 minutes. Remove spices. Add tomatoes and boil gently until they are bright and clear. Add raisins. Cover and let stand over night. Pack cold tomatoes into hot fruit jars. Boil sirup until thick as honey and pour over tomatoes. Process 15 minutes at simmering.

Illinois State Capitol News

Governor Dwight H. Green has authorized the state department of aeronautics to go ahead with more than $645,000 of construction work on airports in six Illinois cities. The projects are part of a plan for a statewide system of aviation facilities.

The state department of conservation has released nearly eleven million fish in Illinois rivers and streams this season as a part of one of the most extensive stocking programs it has ever conducted. The work is only one-third completed.

Pole and line fishing at Horse-shoe Lake, the state's well-known goose preserve near Cairo, will be permitted all fall and winter. The state department of conservation says that since the federal government has prohibited goose shooting this fall, the lake, ordinarily closed during the hunting season, will be open to fishermen.

Gov. Dwight H. Green, addressing the newly appointed Governor's Committee on Housing at its first meeting, declared that housing is the most difficult problem now confronting the people of Illinois.

Reviewing the situation, the Governor pointed out that ten years of depression and five years of war have brought about a shortage of 230,000 housing units in the state. A recent survey shows 184,000 veterans and their families in need of new housing. He called on the committee to study the whole housing situation in Illinois and to report recommendations to the General Assembly at its next session.
