Illinois Republican State Candidates

Richard Yates Rowe

Vernon L. Nickell

William G. Stratton

Richard Yates Rowe of Jacksonville, Republican candidate for State Treasurer, was named for two Illinois Governors, his great uncle, Richard Yates, Civil War Governor of Illinois, and his uncle, Richard Yates, Jr., who was elected Governor in 1900. He is a World War I veteran, business executive and an expert on state finance. He was formerly Secretary of State and is secretary of the Illinois Budgetary Commission. Mr. Rowe resides with his wife and their two sons and daughter in Jacksonville. Both sons have served in the armed forces.

Vernon L. Nickell of Champaign, Republican candidate for reelection as Superintendent of Public Instruction, has been an educator for 32 years. He knows the true value of an education for Nickell worked on the farm to defray the costs of his schooling. A rich background of experience in teaching, and serving as village and city principal and superintendent exceptionally qualifies him for reelection. He has won the confidence of local school officials, parents, and educators. Born in Bellflower, Ill., Nickell resides with his wife and two daughters at Champaign.

William G. Stratton of Morris, Republican candidate for Congressman-at-Large, a veteran of World War II, will be especially qualified to speak for almost a million Illinois veterans, both by his service in the Pacific and his previous experience in Congress. He served as Congressman-at-Large in 1941-42. In 1942 Stratton was elected State Treasurer. In 1940 he received the largest vote ever given an Illinois candidate for either House of Congress. Mr. Stratton resides with his wife and two daughters, Sandra Jane, 9; and Dianna Joy, 6, in Morris.

Home Bureau Meets With Mrs. Irene Wiese

The October meeting of the Broadlands Home Bureau was held at the home of Mrs. Irene Wiese. Mrs. Pearl Wiese was assistant hostess.

Sixteen members answered roll call. Two guests, Mrs. Lola Kincanon and Mrs. Cecile Griffith, became new members.

Mrs. Irene Wiese gave a report on 4-H work.

It was voted at the business meeting to start the meetings at 1:30 p. m. during the winter months. Each member is requested to bring an apron to the meeting next month.

Mrs. Ora Wiese gave an interesting report on the Country Woman.

Mrs. Freida Kilian gave the minor topic on "Facts to make it more comfortable at a meeting."

The major topic was given by Mrs. Painter, assistant home adviser. Her lesson was on "Selection of small equipment."

Edith Woolverton, recreation chairman, had charge of a contest which was enjoyed by all. She also led the group singing.

Mrs. Freida Kilian gave a demonstration on "How to use bur-lap sacks."

The hostesses served lovely refreshments.

The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Maude Anderson.

Men's Fellowship

The Men's Fellowship will meet Friday night, Oct. 25, at 7:00, in the Longview Church. Mr. Ralph Allen a Lieutenant Colonel in World War II will be the speaker.

Just as we go to press we are informed that Connie Porterfield lost part of his right hand in a corn picker. We also have been informed that Philip Limp got his arm hurt in a corn picker.

Mrs. Jean Felkner Is Given Shower

A miscellaneous shower was given for Mrs. Jean Miller Felkner last Friday evening in the home of Mrs. Thomas Felkner, southwest of Broadlands. Mrs. Dale Felkner assisted the hostess.

A contest was enjoyed, following which the guests wrote recipes for the bride's cook book. Mrs. Felkner received many lovely gifts.

The dining table was decorated with a pink and white three-tiered wedding cake and candles. The bride and groom cut the cake, which was served with the refreshments, consisting of chicken sandwiches, jello salad, olives, ice cream, coffee and mints.

Those assisting with the serving were Mrs. Helen Dalzell, Misses Marianna Parteneimer, Shirley Stuebe and Mary Felkner.

Hoodlums at Work

How much longer will the citizens of Broadlands tolerate their young hoodlums? They have broken ten panes out of the windows of the community building and can get in any time of the day or night. Of course they are not satisfied by merely getting in to play basketball and other games. They also write their initials and a lot of vulgarity on the walls of the rest rooms. And that isn't all. They do a number of unprintable things while in the building.

Last Tuesday morning when local business men opened their places of business they found such lines as this soaped on their doors and windows: "P. S. I love you. Go to hell." And of course they had to write many unprintable words on all store windows.

Just whose fault is it that these boys and girls run the streets all day and part of the night? The answer is simple. It's their parents' fault.

Longview Hi News

Agriculture I and II went to Neil Mathews, to judge Poland China hogs last Thursday.

Agriculture II went to Skidmore's Purebred Duroc Sale on Wednesday afternoon, to be sure they were back in time for football practice.

In Home Economics II, the girls have been making salads and showing how they can be used as an appetizer, main course or an accompaniment to the main dish.

In Home Economics I, the girls have been testing different kinds of textiles to determine what they had been made from: such as inorganic, organic, or synthetic.

A German band led by Professor Raymond Von Rahn played at the Farm Bureau meeting last Friday night. Those in the band were: Neil Mathews, Bob Rothermel, Donald Turner, Russell Block, Maurice Buddemeier and Kenneth Parteneimer.

Longview's football team, experiencing its first game under the lights, went down Thursday before a more capable Fisher six. Score for the rain-soaked, mud-plastered boys was 66-12. Ashby and McQueen were scorers for the Longview team.

Republican Candidates Here Saturday Night

Voters, come and hear Republican state and county candidates at the community building in Broadlands at 8:00 p. m., Saturday, Oct. 26.

Three local churches, the St. John's, U. B. and Methodist are sponsoring a World Community Day program at the Methodist church on Friday, Nov. 1, at 8 p. m. Everybody welcome.

Lutheran Walther League Convention

Over twenty members of the Broadlands Im. Lutheran Walther League, including the Rev. and Mrs. Kerkhoff, attended the twenty-third Annual Walther League Convention of the Central Illinois District, held at Danville, Oct. 19 and 20, with the Hotel Wolford as headquarters. Interesting discussions and business meetings were held both Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

A Fellowship banquet was held in the state armory on Saturday evening with about six hundred in attendance. The Rev. George C. Albers, of Decatur, was the toastmaster, and the principal speaker of the evening was Wm. Zeiter, La Grange, president of the International Walther League.

A special Youth Service was held on Sunday morning in the city auditorium, with the Rev. W. H. Eifert, pastor of Our Redeemer Lutheran Church of Indianapolis, Ind., delivering the sermon.

Immediately following this service, the District Choral Union gave a beautiful forty-five minute concert under the direction of Prof. Fred L. Precht, able conductor of the Lutheran Holy Chorus. Choirs from the different congregations of the district were united into one large group of about one-hundred voices to form this Union. This was the first attempt at a Choral Union Concert of this kind, and its results were very inspiring.

The Convention was brought to a successful close Sunday evening with the installation of the new officers.

Shower Given For Mrs. Marjorie Lewis

Mrs. Marjorie Messman Lewis, a recent bride, was honored with a miscellaneous shower at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Messman on Wednesday afternoon. Hostesses were Mesdames Emma Thomas, Iva Hales, Eva Walker, Juanita Eckerty, Hazel Hales, Cora Chafin, and Esther Dewitt. There were about 65 present.

The house was prettily decorated with fall flowers and pink and white crepe paper. Mrs. Lewis received many beautiful and useful gifts.

A contest was held following which the guests wrote recipes for the bride's cook book.

Refreshments consisting of chicken sandwiches, olives, pickles, cup cakes and coffee were served.

Attend Donation Day Exercises at Springfield

The following attended the Donation Day exercises of Concordia Theological Seminary at Springfield last week: Rev. and Mrs. P. E. Kerkhoff, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Struck, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Rothermel, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rothermel; Mesdames John Rothermel, Louie Wienke, Walter Seider, Hans Biesterfeld, Lena Seider, Arthur Struck, Fred Cress, Hannah Luth, Walter Poggendorf, Lou Schweineke, Jack Koehn; and Miss Rose Rothermel.

Parks-Nohren Vows Read In Urbana Church

In a pretty double ring ceremony at 6 p. m., Monday in the University Place Christian church Urbana, Miss Wanda Nohren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nohren, Longview, became the bride of Robert Parks, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Parks, Longview.

Rev. K. V. Hanley, St. Francisville, uncle of the bridegroom, read the vows in the presence of more than 200 guests. He was assisted by Rev. Ruben J. Bierbaum, pastor of St. Peter's Evangelical and Reformed church.

Preceding the appointed hour V. C. Shaul played nuptial airs on the organ, and accompanied Forrest Dicks, who sang, "I Love You Truly," and "Always." The church was decorated with baskets of white pompon chrysanthemums, palms, ferns, and tapers in candelabra.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her cousin, Miss Margaret Mohr. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Don Nance and Mrs. L. H. Clausen. The bride's brother, Wayne Nohren, served as best man and ushers were Don Nance and L. H. Clausen.

The pretty bride was a charming picture in her white taffeta wedding gown. Seed pearls decorated the fitted bodice, and the full skirt fell into a long train. A crown of seed pearls and orange blossoms held her fingertip veil in place. She carried a bouquet of white rose streamers falling from an orchid center.

The attendants were in blue gowns and carried colonial bouquets of pale orchid and white asters with rose centers. The maid of honor wore a blue veil, and the bridesmaids had blue plume head-dresses.

Following the ceremony, the newlyweds greeted their guests in the church parlor, where a three-tiered wedding cake decorated in pink and white, centered the refreshment table. Mrs. Lavada Murray cut the cake and Miss Marcelle Nohren poured.

The couple left later on a week's wedding trip. For going away Mrs. Parks wore a brown checked suit with brown accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet. When they return they will make their home at 201 South Busey avenue, Urbana.

Mrs. Parks graduated from the Longview high school and the Illinois Commercial College. She is employed by the Illinois National Farm Loan association.

Mr. Parks graduated from the Longview high school and attended the Illinois Commercial College. He served in the army air force for three years, and spent 10 months in a prison camp in Berlin. Since his discharge in May 1945, he has been employed by the Champaign Production Credit association, of which he is now assistant secretary-treasurer.

PAUL'S WIDENING FIELD OF SERVICE

LESSON TEXT—Acts 13:1-5, 13, 14, 44-46, 48, 49; 14:26, 27.
MEMORY SELECTION—But when it pleased God . . . to reveal his Son in me, that I might preach him among the heathen.—Galatians 1:15, 16.

God uses men to accomplish his high and holy purpose of preaching the gospel in all the world. They must, however, be men who have been called by the Holy Spirit, prepared and sent out by him. They must be willing to labor and to sacrifice without limit for his glory.

Paul was such a man, and as we study the widening sphere of his service and influence, we catch a vision of what missions should mean in the church.

I. A Missionary Call (Acts 13:1-4).
Much discussed among earnest Christians is the question of what constitutes a missionary call.

The need must be brought home to the individual believer's heart by the Holy Spirit, and he must give a conviction that one is to go out to meet that need.

Note that the call came through a live, active and well-equipped church in Antioch, a city of Syria. It was a cosmopolitan church—read the names of those who served there. They were of many nationalities and of various occupations and social positions. In the midst of that group were two exceptionally able preachers, Barnabas and Paul. They all loved the Lord and served him.

To such a church the Holy Spirit can speak, be heard and obeyed. Notice that they gave of their best, at the direction of the Spirit, not withholding it for themselves (cf. II Sam. 24:24). Good wants our best.

Sent forth by the Holy Spirit these men went promptly and willingly. Why should the Lord have to plead, and prod, and wait for his people to obey him?

II. A Missionary Conquest (Acts 13:4, 5, 13, 14, 44-46, 48, 49).

To trace this first missionary journey it is well to look at the map illustrating the Acts and epistles at the back of most Bibles.

It will appear at once that it was not an easy itinerary these men undertook. It involved travel by sea, through difficult country, and often among hostile and hateful peoples.

God does not call his servants to an air-conditioned arm-chair evangelism. His Word must go out where it has never been heard, and that means pioneering among the most backward of peoples, the neediest of this earth. It means working in rescue missions, in thankless and difficult pastorates; yes, anywhere the Divine Executive, the Holy Spirit, may direct.

Paul met both popularity and persecution, and that not far apart. After the experience of acceptance and rejection on the island of Cyprus (Acts 13:7, 8), Barnabas and Paul went to Antioch in Pisidia (a different city than Antioch in Syria; see map). Here they were invited to preach in the synagogue and Paul was blessed in the presentation of a powerful gospel message. Read it in Acts 13:16-41. It met with such a response that the people "besought that these words might be preached to them the next Sabbath" (v. 42). So great was the popularity of Paul's message that the whole city came the next Sabbath "to hear the Word of God." What a wonderful sight that must have been.

But wait—there is something else here beside popularity, and its name is jealousy (v. 45). It caused the Jews to blaspheme as they contradicted Paul's preaching.

Jealousy always makes a fool out of the one who yields to it. Yet this green-eyed monster is permitted to go right on hindering the work of God. The result in this case was that Paul turned from the Jews to the Gentiles with the gospel, to their great joy and delight. This is a great turning point in the history of the church.

Now the preachers turn homeward to Antioch in Syria, and there they had

III. A Missionary Conference (Acts 14:26, 27).

Nothing stimulates missionary giving, and praying, and going in a local church like a live missionary conference, where those who have been on the field come back and tell what the Lord has done as they went out to serve him.

It is good to know that what the Lord led men out to do has been fulfilled. That completes the circle of divine guidance and blessing, and strongly encourages us to go again—and others to go for the first time—to do missionary work for God.

The church which does not have such an annual missionary conference misses a blessing and an opportunity for enlarged vision and service. No pastor or church can afford to miss such an open door for the working of the Holy Spirit of God.

Columbus Day

Columbus Day, Oct. 12, now observed in most states, this year marked the 454th anniversary of the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus, which opened a new world to settlement and exploitation.

The story of Columbus is one of the most romantic, as well as one of the most tragic, in all history. Born in Genoa about the year 1436, the date being uncertain, he was the son of a wool comber. He received some instruction in science and navigation at the University of Pavia, and went to sea at the age of 14.

During the next few years he visited most of the ports of the then known world. About 1470 he began to meditate on the possibility of reaching Asia by sailing westward, having become convinced of the spherical shape of the earth. Desiring to lead an expedition of exploration he appealed in vain to the rulers of Genoa, Portugal and England, and finally to Ferdinand and Isabella of Spain.

After many heartbreaking rebuffs and delays Queen Isabella at last was instrumental in financing the voyage, with three small ships—the Santa Maria, 50 men; Pinta, 30 men; and Nina, 24 men—which sailed from Palos on Aug. 3, 1492. During the voyage fears of the sailors nearly caused mutiny at times, but Columbus kept them in hand and on Oct. 12, 1492, was rewarded by the sight of land, which proved to be an island, probably one of the Bahama group.

Attempts at colonization and other voyages followed, but dissatisfaction with the rule of Columbus resulted in his being sent back to Spain in chains. Although he was permitted to make his fourth and last voyage after that, he was never restored to his rights, and he died a broken and forsaken man, on May 20, 1506, at Valladolid, Spain.

Medical Supply Hit

While American housewives were worrying about where the next lamb chops were coming from, United States Public Health officials had another—and much deeper—concern about the current meat shortage, says Drew Pearson, the columnist.

The meat supply indirectly controls two medicines on which the lives of thousands are dependent—insulin and adrenalin. Insulin, used in the treatment of diabetics, is derived solely from the pancreatic glands of slaughtered animals, while adrenalin, the heart stimulant, is obtained from the suprarenal glands.

The Public Health Service and the Civilian Production Administration do not fear a serious shortage of these critical drugs in the near future, but should the meat shortage continue into the winter, the problem of producing enough insulin and adrenalin could become very serious.

Rowe Calls For End of Waste In Washington

Springfield, Oct.—Richard Yates Rowe, Republican candidate for state treasurer, charged that the United States today stands on the precipice of national bankruptcy and called for the end of the carnival of waste in Washington, D. C.

Stating that national solvency is one of the vital issues of this campaign, Rowe quoted staggering figures on the national debt and the per capita tax to back up his charge.

In 1935, Rowe said, our per capita tax in the United States was $20. On Sept. 19, 1946, our per capita tax was $308.

In 1935 our federal payroll was one and one-fourth billions. On September 19, 1946, our federal payroll was eight billions—or almost seven times greater than in 1935.

Rowe, who is recognized as an outstanding authority on finance, then quoted these startling figures on our national debt:

Our federal debt, he said, is 263 billion dollars. The national debt of all the other countries of the world is only 219 billions. We, with 7% of the total world population—with 140 million people—have a per capita debt 19 times greater than the rest of the world. We owe 60% of the world debt, while the other 93% owes only 40%.

It is time to drive the wasters and squanderers and looters out of Washington, Rowe said.

Sidelights

The following is a definition of golf: A game in which a ball one and a half inches in diameter is placed on another ball 8,000 miles in diameter. The object is to hit the small ball but not the large one.

The tables were turned on Jim Folsom as he visited Hollywood recently following attendance at the American Legion convention in San Francisco. Leaving Alabama with the avowed purpose of kissing every feminine star in the movie capital, Alabama's next governor became unusually shy and it was necessary for petite June Haver to climb a step-ladder in order to plant a kiss on Big Jim's cheek. The six-foot, eight-inch Cullmanite, however, had himself a whale of a time in Hollywood where he proved a bigger attraction than the stars themselves.

The secret of why Nylon hose top every woman's shopping list is explained by the New York Times Magazine: "Consider the American woman in her native habitat. Three-quarters of her is carefully covered up with cosmetics, hat, veil, scarf, dress, gloves, jacket, shoes. But her legs, from her knees down—one-quarter of her length—are entirely visible. Indeed in many cases, after the woman is properly made up, girdled, clothed and hatted, the legs are the only part of her that indicates what she really looks like." So there you are.

In golf, it's "keep your head down." But when chasing rabbits, it should be "watch where you are going." Granville Hazel, 50-year-old farmer of the Missouri Ozarks, took time out from shucking corn to chase a young rabbit after one of his fellow workers jokingly asked him why he didn't catch himself a meal. Hazel started out in chase and was gaining on the bunny. The closer he got to the rabbit, the lower went his head. Just as his outstretched fingers grasped the frightened bunny, his head struck a tree that somehow got into his path. The coroner said that he died from a blow on the head.

YOU CAN DO something ABOUT IT . . .

Millions of Americans are always asking: "Why doesn't somebody do something about it?"

They are referring, of course, to such things as food and other shortages, soaring costs of living, lack of housing for veterans, and all of the other discomforts and annoyances that they thought would be over once the war had been won.

The answer to this question of "doing something about it" will be written at the polls on November 5 if you—and enough other good Americans—vote Republican. That is the one sure way you can do something to get this country back to real Americanism.

Be sure you vote Republican on November 5, and get your relatives and friends to do likewise.

Tin Sources
Although the United States ordinarily bought nearly half of the world's total output of tin, its own yield was almost negligible. It readily satisfied its wants by imports. British Malaya, the Netherlands Indies and Bolivia were the chief sources of supply. Much of the Netherlands Indies ore was smelted in the Netherlands. Most of Bolivia's prewar ore was sent to England for mixture with richer ores and refinement in British smelters. Two smelters were set up in the United States during the First World War, but were abandoned because of the high cost of operations.

"And bring me some white bread."

But, exclaimed the girl, aren't you the gentleman who always has brown?

Putty smears on window panes may be removed with household ammonia.

Try to prepare only the amount of food needed by your family each day. If there are left-overs, use them promptly.

For warmed over vegetables to look and taste more like freshly cooked ones, place the left-overs in a colander over a pan of boiling water to reheat.

Many homes have been destroyed by fire as a result of carelessly dumping ash trays and matches into waste baskets before the fire is thoroughly out.

To have lovely flowers for Christmas, October is the time to plant bulbs in pots. They should be planted in dishes of moist pebbles and placed for two weeks in a dark closet. As roots develop, they can be brought into the light, and placed in a cool sunny window.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

On Playing
the Fiddle Badly

A favorite recreation in our town is getting together in one or another's home and making music. There's somebody at the piano; a guitar; a fiddle player; and Molly Birtles even has a harp!

What comes out isn't the best music in the whole world. In fact, a lot of it is downright bad. But nobody even thinks to question or to criticize.

Because the spirit of harmony is there—harmony between folks who like each other's company, who enjoy the simple, homey atmosphere —with nothing more exciting than old songs, and a glass of moderate beer or cider.

From where I sit, it's a heap more important to be a poor fiddle player, than not to play at all. More important to be a part of the American scene—with its community music, home entertainment, friendly glass of beer—than to hold out for professional perfection. (Besides, I like to play the fiddle—even badly!)

Budget Balance Seen As Key To Stability

For the fiscal year ending next June, the Federal government expects to spend $41,500,000,000—more than four times total expenditures in the pre-war year 1938-39.

Treasury receipts for the current fiscal year are estimated at nearly $2,000,000,000 less than expenditures.

Thus in the first full peace-time fiscal year, with national income holding close to the war-time peaks, the government is still operating in the red.

As a result, business men and economists are urging more strongly than ever the achievement of a balanced budget to aid the return of the nation to economic stability.

The unbalanced budget is regarded by economists as one of the main sources of the inflationary rise in prices.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States, representing business views in the nation's capital, calls the 1946-47 budget "disappointingly high" and urges cuts in Federal spending as the key to financial stability.

Uncle Sam Says

All of us are discoverers in some fashion. During the war millions of my nieces and nephews made one of the most important discoveries concerning their future happiness... that it is easy to save effectively. Merely by setting aside a portion of their current income each pay day for United States Savings Bonds, great numbers of you are building backlogs for emergencies as well as long-range objectives such as a new home, education for your children, and travel.
