Illinois State Capitol News

With 1,704,000 acres of winter wheat sown for the 1948 harvest, Illinois has the largest acreage of this crop in seven years, according to a report issued by the state and federal departments of agriculture. The current acreage is 22% larger than that sown in the fall of 1946. The condition of the wheat, as of December 1, was 92% of normal. With average conditions through the coming months, a production of 30,700,000 bushels is expected.

Illinois reached second place among popcorn-producing states in 1947, being topped only by Iowa, according to state and federal departments of agriculture. In 1946 Illinois stood in third place.

The Illinois 1947 popcorn crop is estimated at 17,640,000 pounds, worth approximately $882,000. The crop matured ahead of frost, and is of good quality. About half the acreage was planted under contract, the prevailing contract price being $3.50 per 100 pounds of ear corn. The open market price is now about $6.50 per 100 pounds.

The first state produced color film of the Illinois state fair is now available for release to schools, clubs and other organizations. It is a 16mm sound film running 30 minutes.

Many of the most stirring features of the 1947 fair have been caught by this picture, which covers the stock judging contest, the Veterans' day parade, auto races, night shows, and radio broadcasts.

Any school, club, or organization in the state may obtain this film free upon request to the Division of Reports, Statehouse, Springfield.

Gov. Dwight H. Green has announced that Illinois will send an exhibit of historical and artistic material to the centennial celebration of Liberia, which will be held this year in Monrovia, the Liberian capital.

Liberia is a Negro republic, area about two-thirds that of Illinois, located on the west coast of Africa. It developed from a colony founded in 1822 by an American missionary, and has always had the protective friendship of the United States.

A rare bronze bust of Abraham Lincoln will be one of the features of the Illinois exhibit. The Lincoln bust will be displayed before a large mural now being painted by Cecil Nelson, a Negro student of art at the University of Illinois.

The exhibit will also contain facsimiles of some of the prized documents of the Illinois State Historical library. Among these will be a copy of the Emancipation Proclamation of 1863, and a facsimile of the Gettysburg address.

Newman Man Loses A Finger In Freak Accident

Elmer Roberts of Newman suffered the loss of the second finger on his left hand recently, while trying to separate the bumpers on his car and a car owned by Earl Scott. Mr. Roberts had been pushing the Scott car when the bumpers became locked. In lifting on one bumper and pushing down on the other, his hand slipped and the finger was cut off just below the knuckle.

WEAR WHITE

Winter's heightened perils for pedestrians, arising from the season's poor visibility and mobility both afoot and in cars, are forcefully brought to school children's attention in this poster message to "wear white after dark" being distributed for December display in 44,000 elementary school classrooms throughout the Indiana and Illinois territory of the Chicago Motor Club. Supplementary lesson sheets, especially designed for each age group, explain the traffic hazards peculiar to winter and how to cope with them. The posters are reproductions of prize winning drawings of high school students in a national safety poster contest conducted annually by the Chicago Motor Club and motoring organizations affiliated through the American Automobile Association.

"Save the Teeth" Campaign To Be Launched in State

A new kind of "save the teeth" campaign is about to be launched in Illinois. It will be based on the facts that the dental health of school children is getting worse, and that new methods of preventing tooth decay have been discovered.

A program of applying sodium fluoride to the teeth, the use of a new dentifrice containing di-basic ammonium and urea, and the reduction of sugar and sweets in the diet of children was agreed on at a recent Springfield conference attended by representatives of all the dental societies and dental colleges in Illinois, and the state department of public health.

Rites Are Held For Marvin E. Cooper

Funeral services for the late Marvin E. Cooper, 30, were held at the local Methodist church, Friday afternoon, Jan. 2, with Rev. W. H. Loyd, pastor, officiating, who was assisted by Rev. Barstead of Tuscola. Mesdames Raymond McClelland and Forrest Dicks sang "Good Night, Good Morning," and "No Night There," with Mrs. George Cook accompanying.

Following this service, Broadlands lodge No. 791, A. F. & A. M., gave its ritualistic ceremonies, with J. A. Wilson acting as worshipful master and H. L. Archer as chaplain.

Casket bearers were Gib Steinberg, Howard Elden, Meredosa; John Spelbring, James Neal, Tuscola; Homer Robinson, Lee Williams, Lincoln.

Mr. Cooper was born Aug. 10, 1917, and died Tuesday night, Dec. 30, 1947, following an automobile collision that night in which two other people were killed. Burial was in the Davis cemetery at Pesotum, with Dicks Bros. in charge.

Among the many from a distance attending the services were Mrs. John Peters, Mr. and Mrs. Barton Chamberlain, Meredosa; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Manny, Mrs. Homer Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Gail Sanders, Harry Reed, Lincoln; Mrs. John Spelbring, Mrs. James Neal, Tuscola; Dr. G. Haven Stephens, Robert Pettigrew, Danville.

Find 3 Died Accidentally at Tuscola, December 30

Tuscola, Jan. 5—A Douglas county coroner's jury decided on Wednesday night that Marvin Cooper, 30, of Broadlands, and Mr. and Mrs. George A. Grine, students at Illinois State Normal university, were killed accidentally Dec. 30, in a collision between two automobiles on Route 36 west of Tuscola.

Ray Adams and Bill Farron, both of Taylorville, who were riding in a truck when the crash occurred, testified that Cooper's car passed the truck but was unable to get back in the proper lane before colliding with the Grine automobile.

Honored at Luncheon

Miss Jane Anderson returned to her studies at the U. of I. on Monday. She was one of fourteen seniors honored recently at the Colonial Tearoom, to a luncheon given by the Champaign-Urbana alumnae of Delta Gamma Sorority.

Miss Jane spent most of her Christmas vacation in Burlington, Wis., where she enjoyed ice-skating and attended the annual Christmas dinner-dance given by the Boots and Saddle club at the Club House on Brown's Lake.

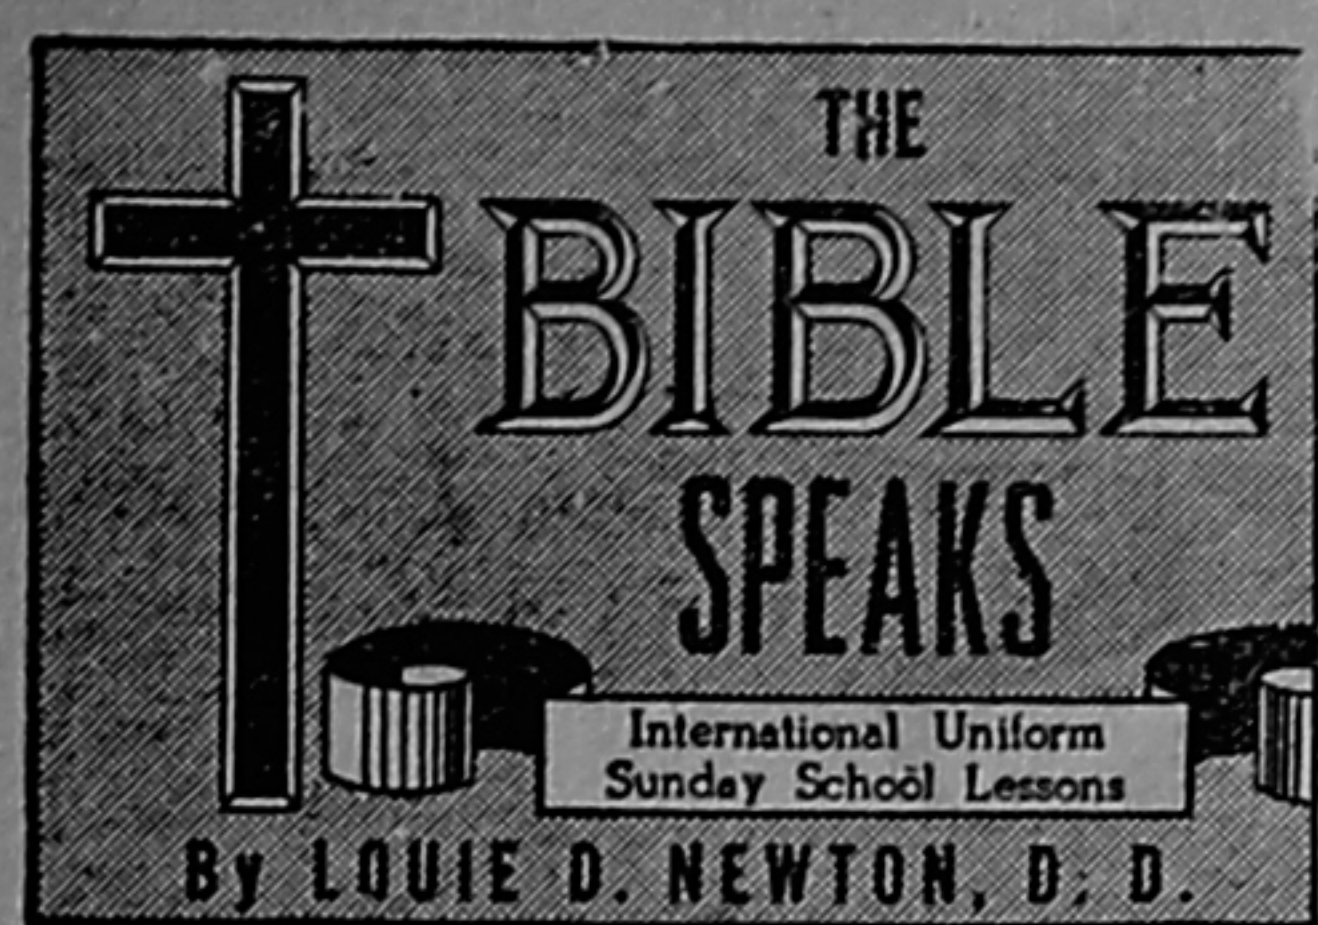

She was a guest of Capt. Jack Bennett, M. D., X-ray specialist of an army base hospital in South Dakota, who was visiting his parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Bennett.

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

SCRIPTURE: Isaiah 40:28-31; Matthew 6:9; John 14:8-14; Acts 17:22-31.

DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalm 33.

What We Know of God

Lesson for January 11, 1948

THE Scripture for Sunday's lesson is Isaiah 40:28-31, Matthew 6:9, John 14:8-14, and Acts 17:22-31, with Psalm 33 as the devotional reading.

Dr. Newton

"Hast thou not known? Hast thou not heard, that the everlasting God, the Lord, the Creator of the ends of the earth, fainteth not, neither is weary? There is no searching of his understanding. He giveth power to the faint, and to them that have no might he increaseth strength. . . . They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint."

That is the passage from Isaiah. What a promise! In this hour when men are bending beneath the burden of a war-weary world, how it gives lift to one's soul to contemplate the words of this great and blessed promise.

God Our Maker

"HE GIVES to all men life and breath and everything," Acts 17:25. One of our daily prayers should be to thank God that he has let us open our eyes to the beauty of another dawn. We must not take it for granted. It is the goodness and mercy of God that permits us to open our eyes, to breathe, to have food, to think. He gives us life and breath and everything.

He causes the sun to shine and the tides to ebb and flow. He causes the rain to fall and the winds to bear their blessings. He holds the earth in its course. God is the maker of every good thing.

And He Is Our Father

NOT only is God the Creator and Sustainer of the physical universe; but he is also our Father. He knows us each by name. He cares for the sparrows, simply because they are sparrows. He cares for us because we are his children, made in his image, capable of fellowship with him. The end of man, as the Catechism clearly teaches, is to enjoy God and glorify him forever.

Read again the passage that describes Paul's visit to Athens, and how he observed that the people, though quite intelligent, were worshipping many different gods. Paul summoned them to worship the one true and living God.

When we acknowledge God as Maker and Father, we are then enabled to serve him in conscious assurance of his love and care for us as his adopted children.

Show Us the Father

READ again John 14:8-14, and join with Philip in the prayer, "Show us the Father." Jesus answered Philip, saying, "He that hath seen me hath seen the Father." We come to know God as Father through Jesus Christ, and only through Jesus Christ.

Jesus goes on to say to Philip, "If ye shall ask anything in my name, I will do it." The greatest need of our day and generation is a fresh understanding of God—his nature and his will. We can know him through Jesus Christ. And we come to know him through faith in the Lord Jesus Christ.

Enoch walked with God. Abraham was the friend of God. David was a man after God's own heart. And Jesus came to perfectly reveal the Father. The determining factor in knowing God as Father is our willingness to believe in the Lord Jesus Christ.

Belief in God Today

THE Bible is a Book for today—any day, every day. It reveals the purpose of creation, both of the universe and man himself. It reveals the loving concern of God for every soul. It portrays his forbearance and his mercy and his exceeding kindness, even to sinful men and women who reject his love.

Best of all, the Bible tells us the sweetest story ever told—the story of how God gave his only begotten Son that whosoever believeth on him should not perish, but have everlasting life.

Religion, the Christian religion, is the most practical proposition in the world. Every man is constantly in reach of God, if only he will believe on the Lord Jesus Christ. God is yonder in the loneliest watchtower of the timberlands. He is yonder on the storm-tossed ship at sea. He is everywhere, waiting to own and bless any and all who will come to him through Jesus Christ.

Science in 1947

Science has made great advances in many departments during 1947, particularly in the atomic field, and in chemistry, medicine and aeronautics. Among the most important listed by Science Service in its review of the year are the following:

New developments in atom-smashing, made possible by the new 4,000-ton machine, called the synchro-cyclotron, of the Radiation Laboratory at the University of California.

The pilotless plane that crossed the Atlantic untouched by human hands at the controls.

New and higher-speed jet planes and jet bombers.

Promising use of streptomycin in the treatment of tuberculosis. Development of new plastics of medical and industrial importance.

Artificial rain-making through sprinkling of dry ice on clouds.

Perfection of a camera that makes a finished photo-print in one operation.

Of interest to anthropologists meeting in New York last summer was the reconstructed skull of the 10,000-year-old Tepeyan Man, discovered in Mexico in February.

During the year the development of radio-active materials for treatment of various diseases has made great progress, but in many instances the use of these substances is only in the experimental stage.

Red Fronts Named

Attorney General Tom Clark recently submitted to the Federal Loyalty Review Board a list of 91 organizations and their subsidiaries which he classified as Communist, Fascist or subversive. The list was then transmitted to the heads of various Federal agencies which have been checking on the loyalty of their employees, under an executive order of President Truman issued several weeks ago.

Names of 47 of these organizations had been previously submitted by the Department of Justice to government agencies for loyalty-check purposes, and were not included in the recent press dispatches. The supplemental list which has been made public contained the following:

- The Communist Party.
- Civil Rights Congress.
- American Youth for Democracy.
- Southern Negro Youth Congress.
- Hollywood Writers Mobilization for Defense.
- International Workers Order.
- National Council of American-Soviet Friendship.
- Revolutionary Workers League.
- Socialist Workers Party.
- American Committee for European Workers' Relief.
- Proletarian Party.
- Workers Party, including Socialist Youth League.
- Veterans of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade.
- National Committee to Win the Peace.
- Council of African Affairs.
- Labor Research Association.
- Committee to Aid the Fighting South.

The following schools, which desecrate the names they bear, were listed as adjuncts of the Communist Party:

Abraham Lincoln School, Chicago.

George Washington Carver School, New York City.

Jefferson School of Social Science, New York.

Samuel Adams School, Boston.

Tom Paine School of Social Science, Philadelphia.

Walt Whitman School of Social Science, Newark, N. J.

Ohio School of Social Sciences.

Philadelphia School of Social Science and Art.

Seattle Labor School.

The foregoing list includes only about one-fourth of the organizations named by Attorney General Clark as Communist or having Communist leadership, but it will give an idea of how the Reds use fraudulent names to cover up their real purposes.

Sidelights

A friend tells us that from his observations when two lovers kiss and make up, she gets the kiss—he gets the make-up.

Statistics show that people can drink just as well sitting down as they can standing up. But few people, it is shown, can stand up as well after they have been drinking sitting down as they can sit after drinking standing up.

With fourteen divorces to her credit, Mrs. Betty M. Dunlavy was in court at Brooks, Oregon, suing for her 15th. In answer to the judge's inquiry, she stated that her age was 40—and added: "But they do say that life begins at 40!" In our opinion Mrs. Dunlavy has led a fairly complete life already.

A. S. Beasley, of near Elberton, Ga., has finally discovered what became of the wooden egg he missed last summer from a hen's nest. Walking in his bottom lands, he came across the skeleton of a large snake. In the middle of the writhed frame was the wooden egg. The contorted remains showed that the thief had suffered a most painful death—without enjoying a seven cent meal.

We've always been interested in the inscriptions on old tombstones and one appearing on a headstone in a New England cemetery appears to be right in line with the advertising methods used by some in those old days. On one recently brought to light, appears: "Sacred to the memory of James H. Random, who died Aug. 6, 1800. Erected by his widow who mourns as one who can be comforted . . . Aged 24 and possessing every qualification of a good wife . . . Lives at No. 4 Church street in this village."

According to a leading Detroit sales executive the ideal salesman is best described as follows: "He has the curiosity of a cat, the tenacity of a bulldog, the friendliness of a little child, the patience of a self-sacrificing wife, the enthusiasm of a Sinatra fan, the assurance of a Harvard man, the good humor of a comedian, the simplicity of a jackass, and the tireless energy of a bill collector." Maybe he should know something about the product he is selling although this was not included in the description given of him.

With the shortage of newsprint in England making it necessary that publishers cut to a minimum the size of their newspapers, the reporters are frequently reprimanded for the length of their articles. One cub reporter after being repeatedly warned, turned in the following: "A shooting affair occurred last night. Sir Dwight Hopless, a guest at Lady Penmore's ball, complained of feeling ill, took a highball, his hat, his coat, his departure, a taxi, a pistol from his pocket, and finally his life. Nice chap. Regrets and all that sort of thing."

J. B. Mosley, turkey grower of Madray Springs, Ga., was stuck with 750 birds. The demand dropped off so sharply that he knew, in order not to take a terrific loss, something different in marketing of turkeys must be done. His heavy thinking gave birth to an idea. Why not try a pioneer stunt? He advertised an all day turkey shooting match. Huntsmen came in droves and as a result Mosley disposed of all his turkeys, while sharpshooters from the surrounding country had a most enjoyable field day. There's more ways to kill a cat, etc.

"We believe that the time has now come for the mobilization of the Christian women of the whole world in a determined crusade for the prevention of war," says the Woman's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Church in a recent resolution. "We recommend that all Methodist women pledge themselves to a concerted effort to combat the talk of war, to halt the menacing cynicism, fear and suspicion evident in our press and increasingly prevalent among our people. As a means of counteracting these disintegrating forces we suggest: emphasis upon the accomplishments of the United Nations, as opposed to criticism of its progress; faith in the power of good will and cooperation instead of force in the settlement of international problems; study and exposure of propaganda whether in the press or in political action; cooperation with all efforts to comply with the pronouncements of the United Nations against false reporting and inciting a new war."

Save Drowning Fish
Thousands of fish drown in the northern states each winter when heavy ice prevents oxygen from getting to the water, Gib Swanson points out in Capper's Farmer. To avoid such loss last winter, the Wisconsin conservation department dusted lampblack on the ice-covered lakes from the air. It worked; the lampblack absorbed the sun's rays and melted the ice. Other black substances like soot have been used effectively in removing snow from airport runways and from highways.

SHORT STORY
The Dog and His Master
By FERN AUBLE

THE dog stood motionless, soft brown eyes riveted on the small figure lying face down. Sobs racked the thin young shoulders as the boy's clenched fist pounded the hard earth.

Slowly, the dog moved toward the boy until he stood over him. Tentatively then, he nuzzled the youngster gently.

Thad Lacey lay motionless for a moment and then, slowly, almost fearfully, he rolled his head to one side and stared up at the dog standing over him. For a space, time stood still as boy and dog took each other's measure. Then, the dog lowered his head and with a flick of his tongue on the boy's tear-stained cheek, lay down on the ground beside him, his nose buried between his forepaws.

Thad raised himself on one elbow and stretched out a grubby brown hand.

"Aw, gee," he breathed softly. "Gee, where'd you come from, boy?"

Thad's fingers gently fondled the silky ears. "You're just about the most handsomest dog I ever seen." Only a hint of the storm of tears lingered.

Then in a floodtide of remembrance, his eyes filled once more and he rubbed his knuckles into them angrily. His voice roughened as he said, "Spot wasn't nearly as pretty as you, but I loved him anyway. Old man Benton needn't have shot him. Spot never hurt his old sheep. Spot never hurt nuthin' less it was rabbits or 'possums or varmints of some such kind."

3-Minute Fiction

A TWIG snapped in the underbrush. Thad jumped to his feet and the dog rose quickly, a low, warning note deep in his throat.

The man's quick eye noted the tear-streaked face and then dropped to the clenched hands. "Hi, sonny," he said in a friendly voice. "Don't think I've seen you around here before, have I?"

"Guess not, Mister. Dad and me just moved here a couple of months ago. And Spot," he added forlornly. "Spot? He your dog?" The man's voice was pleasantly interested.

Thad's head came up and he made no effort to hide the heartache in his eyes as he said with a shaking, indrawn breath, "Uh-huh. He was my dog. Old man Benton shot him yesterday. Said Spot was runnin' his sheep." Chin not quite under control, he continued, "Spot never run nuthin' but varmints. I trained him myself an' I know." He stared defiantly at the man who gazed back at him with troubled eyes.

"That's too bad, son. I'm sorry you lost your dog. Mr. Benton was probably too hasty, but there've been a number of sheep killed around here lately and the farmers are pretty touchy."

"I know, but Spot didn't hurt his old sheep none. Not ever."

Slowly the dog moved toward the boy until he stood over him.

THE man was silent for a moment, watching the boy fondle the hound. I've never seen Bucky with such an idiotically happy look about him, he thought.

Suddenly, he made his decision and looking hard at the boy said, "Look here, son. You've lost your dog through a mistaken notion on the part of Mr. Benton. It looks like you and Bucky there understand each other pretty well.

"You take Bucky for your own dog. A boy needs a dog and all dogs need a boy for their master. You and Bucky belong together."

He stopped, smiling at the light in Thad's gray eyes and before he could repent of his offer, turned on his heel and started rapidly across the field.

Thad looked after him wordlessly. He sprang to his feet and raced after the man, Bucky loping at his heels.

"Hey, mister!" Thad's voice reached the man as he walked with downbeat head. He stopped and turned slowly.

"Hey, what's your name, mister? I never seen you before neither."

There was a note of apology in the man's voice. "My name's Lawrence Benton." Not waiting for a reply, he turned and strode on.

Need for Unity

The United Nations is a young organization. It was formed about two years ago and now comprises 55 nations. During the past year, it is said, the different divisions have held a total of 1,911 meetings. The chief avowed purposes are to bring peace to the world and to prevent starvation as an aftermath of the war. Great sums of money have been used to provide food for people that are considered destitute.

At first it was thought that 1946 would be the critical year. Now, we are approaching the winter of 1947. Some reports say there will be more hunger this winter than last. From various countries in Europe the reports show no improvement.

Certain Objectives

It would seem there is enough power and strength in 55 nations to help this muddled world get somewhere. And surely enough money has been spent to help those hungry nations to begin feeding themselves. The answer is not hard to find. The United Nations has not demonstrated real unity of purpose. Even the leaders among the 55 nations have worked at cross purposes. Each nation has been intent upon achieving certain objectives of its own. This is as true of the "Big Four" as it is of the smaller nations.

It is my hope that in some way the United Nations may find unity of purpose and intention. The most I can get out of this present situation, however, is an important lesson for our own country.

No Cross Purposes

In America we have found a good measure of unity, historically speaking. Though we are made up of states and other kinds of groups, we have shown appreciation for the same fundamentals of democratic living.

What is true of the United Nations as a whole is true of nations individually. If we are going to continue to be a prosperous and healthy republic, we too must have unity of purpose. Workers, managers, industrialists, farmers, educators — we must all keep our purposes controlled in the direction of full unity.

If one group wants to destroy the capitalist, and another wants to destroy labor unions, these are at cross purposes. If one group wants to eliminate private ownership of property, and another group wants to preserve Constitutional government, these also are working at cross purposes. If we have everybody working at cross purposes, then conditions in our country will grow worse rather than better.

Three Goals

It is imperative that the entire nation be united on fundamentals. It is necessary that all groups work for certain goals. Right now, I would like to suggest three goals we can all achieve together. First, economy in government spending so rigid the public can see that money is being saved. Second, a program of maximum productivity that can attract the enthusiasm of capital, management, labor, and agriculture. Third, a rededication of all our groups to preserve individual freedom for the entire nation.

With this kind of unity right now, in 1947, no one need fear for the future prosperity and well-being of our nation.

Did you get hurt when you were on the football eleven? No, it was while the eleven were on me.

Teacher — Sammy, name the four seasons.

Sammy — Salt, mustard, vinegar and pepper.

She — Do you love me for myself alone?

He — Yes, and when we're married I don't want any of the family thrown in.

Doctor — The best thing for you to do is to give up drinking and smoking, get up early every morning and go to bed early every night.

Patient — Somehow, doctor, I don't deserve the best. What's second best?

Father was not greatly pleased by the school report brought to him by his hopeful. How is it, he demanded, that you stand so much lower in your studies for January than for December?

Why, Dad, the boy replied in an injured tone, don't you know that everything is marked down after the holidays?

After the visitor had talked all evening about the size and fierceness of the mosquitos, the old Southerner was becoming much annoyed.

Just look at 'em swarm, the guest complained. Why don't you screen this porch?

That, suh, the old man replied, would be unsportsmanlike. We use mouse-traps.

Five-year-old Willie had been taught that Sunday is not a day for play. One Sunday morning his mother found him sailing his toy boat in the bathtub.

Willie, she said, don't you know it's wicked to sail boats on Sunday?

Don't get excited, Mother, he replied calmly. This isn't a pleasure trip. This is a missionary boat going to Africa.

Two knights of the road were walking along the railroad tracks and found a bottle of white mule. One took a drink and passed it to the other. And so forth until the bottle was empty.

After a while one puffed out his chest saying: "Bill, tomorrow I am going to buy all the railroads, all the automobiles, all the steamships-everything."

What do you think of that?

Bill looked at his companion despairingly and replied: "Impossible, you can't do it."

Why not?

I won't sell.

Thad's Feet Hurt

After a long, hard day's work on the farm, Thad's idea of how to spend an evening is to take off his shoes, and relax with a mellow glass of beer.

But his missus has other ideas. After being in the house all day, she's all for walking to the village, if it's only for a soda. Likes to see people, catch the latest gossip. But Thad says, no, his feet hurt! Begun to cause unpleasantness in Thad's home.

Then Bill Webster comes up with an idea. If Thad takes the missus to Andy's Garden Tavern, Thad can relax with his glass of beer, and the missus can also chat with all the neighbors there. Each gets his (or her) own way.

Worked, too! In fact, now the missus likes an occasional temperate glass of beer herself. And Thad finds it's pleasanter to enjoy his beer with good companions, rather than alone. In fact, his feet stopped hurting too!

European Sketch

A Midwestern acquaintance of mine recently gave to a group of businessmen what he called a report of "a roller skate trip over a very large subject." Sterling Morton, Chicago banker and industrialist, was reporting on a seven-weeks' trip to Europe. His remarks seemed to me worthy of a larger audience. This recent trip, according to Mr. Morton, was no V.I.P. excursion. (The Very Important People sometimes arrive at conclusions that have been planned by their hosts in advance.) Actually, Mr. Morton rented a small French car and drove it 2,500 miles, talking to everybody along the way. Because he speaks French fluently, our Midwesterner was taken for a Frenchman when outside France, for an Englishman when in France—but hardly for an American at any time.

Peacetime Damage

In France, Mr. Morton reported the cost of living up ten times over 1937, with wages having increased six times. "How an elevator operator, for instance, can live on 8,000 francs a month is a mystery. Or how a laborer can be content on the official ration of two fifths of a pound of bread a day. Things are very much out of balance." However, Mr. Morton sees France on the road to recovery, in a physical way. BUT: "France is cursed with government employees. There always were droves of them—now there are herds! One former Maqui suggested the way to improve conditions was to machine gun half the 'fonctionnaires'! Even Senator Byrd doesn't go that far! . . . French production figures are highly encouraging. If governmental expenses could be cut down, the printing of money stopped, confidence and prosperity would soon return."

Help Them Produce

Of the British: "One can have nothing but admiration for . . . what they went through so steadfastly. That they should be afflicted, in peace, with a government which has done, psychologically, financially and commercially, probably as much damage, is a cruel tragedy. Only the miracles of socialistic planning, applied to a fertile island underlaid with coal and surrounded by seas teeming with fish, could bring about a situation in which the people are cold and hungry." On loans and gifts: "I think it would be pouring money down a rat hole to make any more loans to governments, yet I feel that we should, for our own sakes, help those who are willing to help themselves. My idea would be to make loans direct to private producers on very easy terms and for productive purposes only. . . . We can't stop Communism by giving corrupt or inefficient or minority governments the means of remaining in office. "We can stop it by building up the productive capacity of the threatened nations. . . . I doubt that Europe's economy will be healthy until Germany again is producing and consuming. . . . Britain, France, Italy, yes, Germany, too—help them to produce again. That is the way to bring stability and peace."
