DEVOTIONAL READING: Romans 10:8-15.

World Mission of Church
Lesson for February 29, 1948

JOHN WESLEY said, "The world is my parish." Many another Christian has entertained this great concept, and that is precisely what Jesus wants us to understand concerning the sweep and scope of his Kingdom.

Sunday's lesson brings us to consider three great passages — Acts 16:9, 10; Romans 10:8-15; Ephesians 3:8-12. Read these carefully, and you will feel the winds of God lifting up the flaps of the tent of your small habitation until you will catch glimpses of the far horizon.

CHURCH AROUND THE WORLD
"GO YE into all the world and preach the gospel to the whole creation," said Jesus, Mark 16:15. There is no backyard definition of the mission of the church in these great words of Jesus. Just as Paul was summoned to cross over into Europe with the Gospel, so are we commanded to make Christ known to all lands. He loves everybody.

"Jesus loves the little children,
All the children of the world;
Yellow, brown, or black, or white,
They are precious in his sight,
Jesus loves the little children of the world."

REACHING THE WORLD
JUST as Paul went from one land to another, so may every Christian boy and girl do. Each church can reach out hands of blessing to all the world.

How? Through our gifts. Our gifts for missions, joined with the gifts of all the other members of our local church, joined with the gifts of many other churches, go out in multiplied blessing through the missionaries to make Christ known around the world.

How? Through our prayers. As we pray for the redemption of the world, we fortify the missionaries — teachers, doctors, preachers—in all the parts of the world.

How? Through our sympathetic understanding of the conditions under which people live in other lands. Just now we are giving clothes and food to help the stricken peoples of the war-ravaged lands. These gifts of material things bear their message of our Christian concern for all who suffer. Thus we are extending the reach of our individual lives and the reach of our churches to the ends of the earth.

PUBLISHING SALVATION
"HOW beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth glad tidings, that publisheth peace . . . that publisheth salvation," Isaiah 52:7.

The world mission of the church is here pictured in the exquisite language of the ancient prophet, with which words we may link the declaration of the great apostle, "For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved," Romans 8:13.

Publishing salvation is the chief task of the church of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the objects of this universal message are the souls of all men. There is universal need, and here is the adequate and available answer.

See how this conception of the world mission of the church brings into focus the one hope for civilization. The only voice that carries across the barriers of this troubled world is the voice of salvation through Jesus Christ. Let that word be sounded in any spot on this earth, and some waiting heart will be lifted up.

THE UNSEARCHABLE RICHES
AND what are we to say about the message we have to publish? Paul puts it well in Ephesians 3:8-12, when he declares:

"Unto me, who am less than the least of all the saints, is this grace given, that I should preach among the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ. . . ."

In another place we read about the "unspeakable gift of God," II Corinthians 9:15. The message, then, is one of unsearchable riches, an unspeakable gift.

In this message is healing for the peoles of the earth. If the true mission of the church is understood and voiced in all of the ways by which the Gospel may today be given to the world, we shall see the fulfillment of the dreams of the prophets, and the angels about the throne of God will shout for joy.

As Paul changed his course in the long ago, heeding the Macedonian call, so may we today find ourselves turning about in our response to the Holy Spirit's leading; but let us not be afraid so long as we are sincerely seeking to publish glad tidings to all men.

Sinking of the Maine

Sunday, Feb. 15, marked the 50th anniversary of the blowing up of the U. S. battleship Maine, while lying at anchor in Havana Harbor, in which 266 American officers and men lost their lives.

Relations between the United States and Spain had been strained for sometime, because of the inhuman treatment of the Cuban people by the Spanish army, which had been sent to put down a revolt begun by the Cubans in 1895.

Thousands of Cubans of both sexes and all ages suffered and died in Spanish concentration camps, and indignation ran high in the United States. This feeling was greatly intensified by the destruction of the Maine, and war became inevitable.

On April 11, 1898, President McKinley sent a message to Congress, saying that in the name of humanity, and in behalf of endangered American interests, the war against the Cubans must stop. On April 19, Congress passed a joint resolution declaring that Cuba should be free, and demanding that Spain relinquish control over the island; also directing the President to use the Army and Navy to accomplish this result. On the 25th, Congress formally declared that a state of war had existed since April 21.

Several European nations were inclined to intervene on the side of Spain, but Great Britain declared that in the event of such interference she would stand by the United States. The war was thus confined to the United States and Spain.

Dewey destroyed the Spanish warships in Manila Bay on May 1; Sampson and Schley destroyed the main Spanish fleet off Santiago, Cuba, on July 3. On July 17 the city of Santiago and all troops in the vicinity surrendered to Shafter's army after a short but brilliant campaign against larger and well-entrenched Spanish forces. This virtually ended the war.

By a treaty of peace, Spain relinquished Cuba, and ceded Puerto Rico and the Philippines to the United States, which paid $20,000,000 for the latter.

Thus the United States became a world power—for better or for worse—the beginning of which can be traced to the sinking of the battleship Maine, 50 years ago.

According to information given by Business Week, pickle packers have packed more pickles than in any previous packing period, yet it appears possible that the present pickle pack may be expended before producers can pick and pickle the 1948 planting. That's what the magazine said.

There are a number of laws remaining on the statute books of the various states that would cause plenty of trouble if enforced, but we presume the one that would upset things considerably is the law enacted in Massachusetts in 1636, and never repealed, which decrees that any person from Rhode Island caught in Massachusetts shall be subject to the death penalty.

We are told that this really happened. A young lady, aged five, had a birthday and received a wrist watch and a small bottle of perfume. All day long she talked about her gifts. That evening her parents were to have company at dinner and her mother told her not to mention her gifts. The end of the meal drew near and she had hardly made a sound but could restrain herself no longer and burst out: "If anyone hears anything or smells anything, that's me!"

Many people have experienced meeting someone on the sidewalk and in attempting to pass each turned to the same side and then reversed the situation. The other day a friend saw a man and a young lady meet in such a situation. He turned to his left and she to her right, and they couldn't pass. Then he turned to his right and she to her left, and again they were stymied. Finally the man stopped in his tracks, allowing the young lady to choose the side on which she desired to pass. As she passed, the man tipped his hat and said: "Goodbye, it's nice to have known you."

Where did Doctor Alger make his fortune?
On the stork market.

Two farmers were discussing modern education. What do you think about it, Si? asked one.

Well, don't rightly know, Si responded, but I'm kinda leery. They're teaching my boy to spell 'taters' with a 'P.'

Visitor—You don't mean to tell me that you have lived in this out-of-the-way place for more than thirty years?

Brushville Citizen—Yep I have. Visitor—But, really, I cannot see what you can find to keep you busy.

Citizen—Neither can I—that's why I like it.

A speaker was lecturing on Forest Preservation: "I don't suppose," said he, "that there is a person in the house who has done a single thing to conserve our timber resources."

Silence ruled for several seconds and then a meek voice from the rear timidly retorted: "I once shot a woodpecker."

A gentle Quaker heard a strange noise in his house at night. He found a burglar busily at work. In plain sight of the visitor he walked quietly with his gun to the door and said:

Friend, I would do thee no harm for the world and all that is in it, but thou standest where I am about to shoot.

The burglar didn't linger.

A little girl returned home to her parents after taking her musical exam. They asked her how she got on. Very well, I think, she answered.

What was the examiner like?

Quite a nice man—and so religious.

Religious! How could you tell? In the middle of one of my pieces he put his head in his hands and said, very reverently, "Holy Moses!"

George Washington could very competently hold his own in the art of repartee. One day as he sat at the table after dinner, he complained that the fire burning on the hearth behind him was much too large and too hot.

But, sir, observed a guest, it behooves a general to stand fire.

"But it does not become a general to receive it from the rear," came the instant reply.

In a school in one of the poorer districts of a big city, a questionnaire was sent home with a new pupil, requesting information regarding the home environment, number of brothers and sisters, father's occupation and so on.

The next day the child returned with a scrap of paper on which was the following:

'We have 18 children. My husband can also do plumbing and carpentry work.'

COOKING

You'll be at your best
with an All-Electric Kitchen

Cook electrically for better results in day-by-day meal preparation. Turn a switch to the heat you want, and that's exactly the heat you get. Or put food in the oven, set the automatic timer, and the range does the rest. Electrical cooking is economical too, since much of the time you cook on "low" and "simmer" heat.

And for greater convenience, better service and more economy, make your kitchen all-electric. Add refrigerator and water heater. Live electrically, and enjoy the difference.

New type refrigerators boast more space, greater temperature control, give greater protection to perishables. Water heaters have units of greater heating capacity, are completely insulated . . . maintain a tank of hot water for a few cents a day. Get your all-electric kitchen or start one today.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Where Does Your Money Go?

Read the other day where country folks and farmers spend more money, proportionately, on their homes than city dwellers do.

Doesn't seem hard to believe when you think it over. Take the folks in our town, for instance: They're home-loving people—who'd rather spend an evening by the fire with a mellow glass of beer than go out in search of entertainment or diversion.

So it's only natural they put more into what means most to them and to their children: their homes. They may not have too much to spend—but it goes for those permanent, abiding comforts that make home a nicer place to be.

And from where I sit, that budget calls for some of the niceties of home life too—like cider and popcorn for the kids from time to time, and a friendly glass of beer for Mom and Dad . . . things that belong with what we mean when we say "Home."

Illinois State Capitol News

Motor vehicle accidents on the highways of Illinois killed 144 persons during January, according to a report by Walter A Rosenfield, director of public works and buildings. This is three per cent less than the 148 fatalities recorded during January, 1947.

During January 15,027 cases of communicable diseases were reported to the Illinois department of public health. Much of the current increase is due to measles. The 1,792 cases of measles reported for the week ending Jan. 31, brought the month's total to 5,838.

The American Legion, which has more than 225,000 members in Illinois, is preparing to celebrate the 29th anniversary of the organization, which was formed in Paris, France, in March, 1919. Gov. Dwight H. Green proclaimed the period from Mar. 12 through Mar. 17 as American Legion week.

The rate of mortality from diabetes has been rising steadily in Illinois during the past twenty years, according to statistics. The disease caused 1,581 deaths in 1926. During the first ten months of last year it was responsible for 2,284 deaths. Diabetes now ranks eighth as a cause of mortality in Illinois.

Overeating and insufficient exercise are the chief causes of diabetes in older people, Dr. Cross said.

"Diabetes is controllable," Dr. Cross added, "but the control depends on the individual."
