Mrs. Charles Hood Bowls Line of 254

Mrs. Charles Hood hung up a record for other bowlers to shoot at, at the local alley, Thursday night of last week. She bowled eight strikes in a row and wound up with a 254 line. This is an all-time high for women in the local alley, and we don't expect any other woman to equal it in the near future.

Thus far, only two men have bowled higher lines than Mrs. Hood's. Chet Whitfield bowled a 257 line, and Bob Boyd bowled a 267 line, some time ago.

It's A Date

O. E. S. Will Observe Areme and Friends' Night

The Broadlands chapter of the O. E. S. will hold Areme and Friends' Night on Saturday, April 10, at 7:30. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jahr of Mecca Chapter, Mahomet, will serve in the East, and Mrs. Neva Frick will be the guest of honor. All past and present Star points from Broadlands and other chapters attending will also be honored.

The Order of the Eastern Star of Illinois, with a membership of 150,000, has voted to establish an Endowment Trust Fund for permanent maintenance of their two homes located in Rockford and Macon.

This fund is to be raised by general pledge or gift; memorial gifts and bequests, donations and contributions as stipulated by wills.

Because this is strictly a charitable trust fund, all contributions will be entitled to tax exemption.

It is the desire of Mrs. Clara W. Francis, Worthy Grand Matron of Illinois, that all members of the Order participate in this worth while project.

All donations will be handled through a committee appointed in each of the Order's 805 chapters. Any amount of money is acceptable. The goal is one million dollars. Wm. T. Morgan of Chicago is state chairman of this project.

Mrs. Neva Frick and Raymond McClelland are members of the Special Endowment Committee in Broadlands chapter.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Luedke are co-chairmen of the refreshment committee for Areme and Friends' Night.

Mrs. Lena Nonman Is Hostess To Ladies Aid

The Ladies Aid society of the Immanuel Lutheran church met Thursday afternoon of last week at the church basement, with Mrs. Lena Nonman as hostess.

Rev. P. E. Kerkhoff led the devotions, and Mrs. Edna Struck, president, conducted the business meeting.

Mrs. Lois Beatty was a guest. Members present were Mesdames Lena Biesterfeld, Elsie Cress, Johannah Goldenstein, Josephine Kerkhoff, Lola Kincanon, Bertha Kracht, Hannah, Johannah and Wilma Luth, Lydia, and Vera Messman, Alvena Sy, Eugenia Mohr, Helen and Leota Poggendorf, Elsie Rahn, Josephine, Katherine and Laura Schweineke, Lena, Tena and Mabel Seider, Louise, Edna, Mary and Enola Struck, Emma and Lena Wienke, Irene Wiese, Lena Nonman, and Miss Rose Rothermel.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Seeds of Danville visited Mrs. Emma Zantow and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Seeds on Saturday.

Mrs. Darwin Dobbs and sons left Tuesday for their home at Clovis, New Mexico, after a month's visit with her mother, Mrs. Dophia Warner. Mrs. Warner accompanied them to Chicago.

Longview FHA Entertains With Program and Exhibits

The Longview chapter of the Future Homemakers of America entertained parents of the members Friday, March 19, in the Longview high school gym.

The program was built around the club motto, "Toward New Horizons," and featured a special radio broadcast for which Dorothy McIntyre served as commentator. After the welcome by Miss McIntyre, Frances Smith took over the mike, furnished through the courtesy of Dicks Bros. of Broadlands, and as the Roving Reporter interviewed the persons in charge of the various exhibits, Betty Gerike described the foods exhibit and told of some of the class activities; Wilma Laley explained the house the girls had constructed; the FHA activities were described by Waneta Frick and Evelyn Toppe.

The Sewing exhibit included all necessary sewing tools, including a machine, its attachments, and what they could do. Marjorie Erb was in charge of this exhibit. Frances Dohme was the narrator for the Grooming and Manners exhibit.

The high note of the evening was the dress revue described by commentator Dorothy McIntyre, and took place in the "Keen Teen Fashion Shoppe." The girls styled clothes chosen or made by themselves for Easter, casual and sportswear, younger high school wear, and future college needs.

Stylists included Jeanette Barker, Rita Bergfield, Mary Bratton, Doris Davis, Geraldine Dewitt, Marion Dohme, Mary Donley, Delores Hedrick, Patricia Hood, Doris McCormick, Ruth Partenheimer, Carmen Smith, Frances Smith, Helen Ward, Patricia Warnes and Barbara Hedrick.

Refreshments were prepared and served by members of Home Economics II class.

Committee members responsible for the planning and execution of the program included Rita Bergfield, Marion Dohme, Betty Gerike, Patricia Hood and Frances Smith.

Mrs. Minnie Anderson Hostess to G. T. Club

The G. T. Club met on Thursday afternoon of last week at the home of Mrs. Minnie Anderson, with nineteen members present.

Mrs. Lorraine Mohr had charge of the business meeting. Mrs. Edna Henson was initiated.

Following the business meeting the afternoon was spent in playing "500," Mrs. Jessie Bergfield holding high score.

Refreshments, in keeping with Easter, consisted of chicken salad on shredded lettuce, an Easter egg made of angel food cake with whipped cream, topped with an apricot, coffee and mints.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
International Uniform Sunday School Lessons
By LOUIE D. NEWTON, D. D.

SCRIPTURE: Ezekiel 1-4; 33:1-9.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalms 137: 1-6.

Prophet Among Exiles

Lesson for April 4, 1948

THIS quarter we study the Captivity and Return of the Jews, using the Books of Ezekiel, Daniel, Ezra, Nehemiah, Esther, Haggai, Zechariah and Malachi. Sunday's lesson is found in Ezekiel 1-4 and 33:1-9.

Dr. Newton

It would be well for us to read again the history of this most interesting man, Ezekiel—how he came to be among the captives by the river Chebar. He is one of the most attractive personalities in the Old Testament—a man of surpassing culture and charm—and yet enabled to "sit where they sat."

A MESSENGER OF GOD

EZEKIEL could never have adapted himself to the role of ministering to the captive slaves apart from the knowledge that he was the messenger of God—the messenger of God's hope to broken, beaten souls.

God spoke to his people through Ezekiel. He speaks to his people today through chosen messengers—parents, teachers, the Bible, the Holy Spirit. God may be speaking to you today.

HEAR YE THE WORD

EZEKIEL'S approach to the Jews in captivity was by the authority of God's direct message to them through him. Ezekiel was faithful to God's appointment and mission. He knew that what he had to say to the Jews meant their hope of release and return.

He studied their plight. He studied their mood. And then he spoke to them. But not only did he speak to them, telling them what God wanted them to know, but he moved among them. He loved them.

He had God's message, and he went in God's mood of compassion. We cannot help people until we understand them and love them.

GOD'S WATCHMAN

EZEKIEL reminded the people that he had been sent from God as a watchman, and he told them what terrible responsibility was upon him in warning them to repent and return unto God. Read Ezekiel 33:1-9.

If the watchman faithfully warns the people, and they refuse to heed the warning, their blood will not be on his hands; but if he fail to warn the people, their blood will be on his hands. Here is a lesson for every teacher and preacher and parent today.

And in this same 33rd chapter, Ezekiel goes on to declare God's attitude toward all sinners. "Say unto them, As I live, saith the Lord God, I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked; but that the wicked turn from his way and live—turn ye, turn ye from your evil ways; for why will ye die?"

A WATCHMAN UNTO EXILES

"SON of man, I have made thee a watchman unto the house of Israel," Ezekiel 3:17.

This was the explicit commission of God to Ezekiel. And grandly did Ezekiel accept and execute to the limit of his ability that commission.

The Jews were far from their beloved home. They were driven by hard masters. They could not sing the song of the Lord in a strange land. They had hanged their harps on the willow trees.

With a sensitive soul, Ezekiel comes to them with the word of hope. He reminds them of the goodness and mercy of Jehovah to their fathers, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. He lifts their drooping spirits with clear and ringing words of promise. He pleads with them to confess their sins and claim the pardoning mercy of a loving God.

He used numerous means of gaining their attention—symbols of their former communion with God. Patiently he traced the dealings of God with them and their fathers before them.

They listened, and all who heeded the pleas of the faithful watchman were saved and restored to faith in the goodness and mercy of God.

We, too, are watchmen among exiles. Let us learn the high art of Ezekiel in our ministry as watchman.

The churches will fail if the lessons of Sunday are forgotten on Monday and are laid aside for special observance on only one day of the week.—Wayne Morse, U. S. senator from Oregon.

Educators and UMT

Universal Military Training is being opposed by the American Council on Education, or at least by a majority of its membership, which includes numerous university and college presidents of the country. It is questionable, however, whether the Council majority speaks with greater authority on national defense than our military leaders.

In spite of the fact that the pay of members of the regular armed forces is on a very high level, it has been found impossible to keep these forces up to authorized strength through voluntary enlistments. Although universal military training as now planned does not mean that young men are to be drafted for actual service in time of peace, it would doubtless encourage many trainees to voluntarily enter upon a military career when their initial period of training was over.

Others would go into the National Guard in their home communities, and all would gain experience which would fit them for valuable civil defense duties at any time. Whatever their future activities might be, their period of training would be of benefit, physically and otherwise.

The Council on Education says the educators "are united in their support of national security, but emphatic in their belief that it can be attained without universal military training." But how can it be attained without trained men?

It may be noted that all leading educators are not opposed to Universal Military Training. Here is a partial list of the most prominent universities and colleges whose presidents believe universal training necessary for the safety of the nation:

Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Columbia, Johns Hopkins, Amherst, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Southern California, Washington State, Pennsylvania, Georgia, Pittsburgh, New York University, Oregon State. And there are many more who agree with them.

The American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Disabled American Veterans, and all other important veterans' organizations are solidly behind the plan for universal training, as are all the leaders of the armed services, who have the responsibility for national defense.

Military Heads Agree

Following a weekend conference at Key West with the Joint Chiefs of Staff, representing the Army, Navy and Air Force, Secretary of Defense James V. Forrestal announced recently that a general agreement had been reached on the principal duties and responsibilities of the three branches of the armed services.

During the war and since, considerable friction has existed over various phases of the military setup, and rivalries among the ground, sea and air branches have often hampered effective teamwork. These rivalries became especially bitter in the Pacific area, where combined operations were necessary to a greater extent than ever before.

There was much opposition on the part of the Navy to the "merger" idea which was finally adopted last year. The Navy particularly objected to that part of the original merger plan that would have virtually deprived it of its own air arm, but which a compromise permitted it to retain. It is to be hoped that this accord may continue and lead to a genuine spirit of cooperation among the three branches of the services, which has not always existed in the past.

Sidelights

Human labor means so little in today's production, we wonder why any of us ever grow tired. But here are the facts: In 1850, the work done mechanically accounted for only 7% of the total; that done by human hands, 14%; that done by animals, 79%. Today, 90% of the work is done mechanically, while animal power has dropped from 75% to 6%, and human labor amounts to a measly 4% of the total.

Real estate sales having slowed down a bit, it seems that a certain agent approached a lady, who was known to have some extra cash, with a proposal to sell her a home. "Why do I need a home," she replied. "I was born in a hospital, educated in a college, courted in an automobile, and married in a church. I spend my mornings on the golf course, my afternoons at the bridge table, and my evenings at the movies. And when I die, I will be buried from the undertaker's. All I need is a garage."

Speaking of veterans, the last dependent of a World War II veteran is expected to be living in the year 2100. The last surviving veteran is expected to be alive until 2030—82 years from now. Records of the Veterans Administration show that the last dependent of the Revolutionary War wasn't paid off until 1906. The Mexican War has been ended nearly 100 years and yet there are 45 dependents still collecting from the government. For the Civil War there are still 83 veterans and 17,895 dependents collecting pensions.

Smile Awhile

A generous tipper at a hotel found a new waiter serving his breakfast one morning and said: "Where's my regular waiter, that boy called Mose?"
New Waiter: "Boss, Mose ain't serving you any more. I won you in a crap game last night."

My 80 year old father-in-law is as unconscious of his age as a 20 year old. One cold day he came in wet and muddy from his knees down. I wanted to cross the creek to see about the cow, he explained. I used to jump it clear and easy, but now every dang time I try I land in the middle. Guess I just ain't noticed it getting wider.

During his stay in Texas a man from Kentucky called at a farmer's house. The farm was hilly and as he passed through the fields of tall corn he noticed that the ground between the hills was bare. Why is the land between the hills bare? he asked. Back in Kentucky we plant pumpkins between the hills.

Shucks, said the farmer, we can't do that down here. I tried it once but this Texas ground is so rich that the vines wore the pumpkins out dragging them around!

What was the last position you held before you entered the Army? the personnel officer asked of the applicant for a position. Well, sir, I was a doer.

A doer? repeated the puzzled personnel officer, what's that?

Why, explained the applicant, where I worked when the Boss wanted something done he'd tell his secretary; the secretary would tell the head clerk; the head clerk would tell the bookkeeper, and the bookkeeper would tell me. There wasn't anybody for me to tell, so I was the doer.

Household Hints

Keep a pad and pencil in your kitchen to jot down supplies you need to buy.

Place a piece of dried orange rind in the cookie jar to give the cookies a delicious new orange flavor.

A market basket makes a convenient place to store all of your cleaning supplies—soap, brushes, polishes and cleaning cloths.

White foods, such as mashed potatoes, rice or macaroni may be "dressed-up" with paprika, chopped parsley, or chives.

If you will roll out your pie crust on a piece of waxed paper you can easily transfer it to the pie pan without the dough breaking up.

When you are cleaning house take a paper bag with you to empty ash trays and dispose of other small trash. This will save time and energy.

Outing - flannel cases slipped over the broom will make it into a good dust mop. The cases can be fastened on with a drawstring and easily removed for washing.

To keep from forgetting relatives and friends birthdays and anniversaries, go through your calendar and encircle every date with red which you wish to remember.

When you are choosing bathroom fixtures, select a bathtub with a flat bottom or a shower with a skid-proof floor to prevent accidents. A grab-bar on the wall over the tub or in the shower is a protection.

To remove the shine from trousers, skirts and sleeves, sponge with water containing a little ammonia; then press with plenty of steam. To give the material a new look, rub lightly with fine sandpaper.

Get large enough wires
enough circuits, plenty of outlets

An Adequate Wiring plan costs little more than an ordinary wiring budget, yet assures you of getting the most from the electrical appliances you have, and the many more you will buy to make living more enjoyable. To be penny wise, is to be dollar foolish, when you pinch down electrical wiring plans. Today, electricity is a vital part of everyday living. Tomorrow, it will be even greater. Prepare now. Put Adequate Wiring near the top of your "must" list in all your building or remodeling plans.
