Broadlands Chapter, OES, Observes Guest Night

Broadlands Chapter, O. E. S., entertained at a Worthy Matrons' and Worthy Patrons' Guest night Saturday, May 8, 8 o'clock. Mrs. Esther Forein, worthy matron of Beulah chapter, Ridgefarm, was guest of honor. Mrs. Marjorie Gardner and Raymond Krukewitt, worthy matron and patron of Homer chapter, served in the East.

Other guest officers were Mrs. Mary Elbs, Villa Grove, associate matron; Paul Innis, Ridgefarm, associate patron; Ruth Colaw, Paxton, secretary; Lois Great-house, Hindsboro, treasurer; June Armstrong, Tuscola, conductress; Dorothea Fenwick, Newman, associate conductress; Juanita Laird, Milford, chaplain and soloist; Nadine Walsh, Hoopstone, marshal; Thelma Kent, Milford, organist; Margaret McGee, Sidell, Adah; Bertha Tharp, Farmer City, Ruth; Catharine Tucker, Hume, Esther; Nellie Lafenhagen, Philo, Martha; Mayme Davies, Bement, Electa; Amy Miller, Danville, Warder; Manford Roller, of Newman, sentinel; Fred Mohr, Homer, color bearer.

Mrs. Laird sang "Margie," to Mrs. Marjorie Gardner, and "Only A Rose," to Mrs. Esther Forein. Preceding the meeting Mrs. Thelma Kent played several selections in keeping with Mothers' Day, and Mrs. Laird sang "My Mom."

During Good of the Order a short Mothers' Day ceremony was held honoring all Eastern Star mothers. The five representative mothers escorted, introduced, and presented with a carnation were: Mrs. Olive Benefiel, Mrs. Hattie Dicks, Mrs. Leanna Miller, Mrs. Amelia Mohr and Mrs. Jennie Porterfield. As the guest Electa, Mayme Davies, and the Broadlands Electa, Frances Dague, knelt at the altar, the worthy matron led the group in a moment of silent prayer remembering all mothers everywhere. A cradle full of spring flowers was presented to Mrs. Frances Dague for her baby daughter.

The color scheme of red and white was carried throughout the decorations. Red May baskets filled with red tulips were hung on the white background of the star point chairs. Large letters spelling the word mother, and covered with red tulips hung from the white backdrop in the East. Mrs. Edna Henson was chairman of the decorating committee. Each guest officer was presented with a red and white corsage made by Mrs. Gladys McClelland and her committee. Refreshments of cake, coffee, red and white mints were served from a table centered with a low flower bowl full of red tulips, with white candles on either side. Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Dicks were co-chairmen of this committee.

Mrs. Juanita Laird sang "Mother" and "Tomorrow Is A Lovely Day" at the close of the meeting. Paul Innis read an original Mothers' Day poem.

SCRIPTURE: Malachi.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Luke 2:13-15, 17.

Malachi Demands Sincere Religion
Lesson for May 16, 1948

GET ready for some straight talk in next Sunday's lesson. Malachi reveals the dark picture of unrequited love, polluted offerings, impious priests, unfaithful husbands. You wonder if Sam Jones has come back to life. He begins by crying, "The burden of the word of the Lord to Israel by Malachi." We shall miss the entire meaning of this lesson if we fail to read every word of the Book of Malachi. We cannot claim any of the promises of a better day, as indicated in the latter section of Malachi unless and until we deal with such hypocrisy as may infest our lives today, even as the priests and people were consumed with iniquity when Malachi prophesied unto them.

GIVING OUR BEST TO GOD

"A SON honoureth his father, and a servant his master; if then I be a father, where is mine honour? and if I be a master, where is my fear?" Malachi 1:6.

How can God bring good out of evil, when his people hold back their best from him? Let us bring it closer home, and ask, How can our earthly parents do their best for us, when we give them half-hearted allegiance?

OUR BEST IN WORSHIP

PASSAGES in the first, second and third chapters of Malachi reveal the lack of sincerity on the part of the priests in the worship which they offered and which they taught the people to offer. Here we see that unclean hands can never bring an acceptable offering unto the Lord. He looketh on the heart. He knows what is in man.

Using the house of God to make a show before men was one of the shameful evils of the priests in the days of Malachi. It did not fool God then, nor will it fool him today. Unless our worship is an expression of something fine and sincere, he will not accept it.

THE DAY OF RECKONING

"BEHOLD, I will send my messenger, and he shall prepare the way before me; and the Lord, whom ye seek, shall suddenly come to his temple, even the messenger of the covenant, whom ye delight in. . . . But who shall abide the day of his coming?"

One would think that such words of warning would have brought the priests and the people to their senses in humble contrition before God; but they continued to disregard the words of God's messenger.

"For, behold, the day cometh, that shall burn as an oven; and all the proud, yea, and all that do wickedly, shall be stubble; and the day that cometh shall burn them up, saith the Lord of hosts, that it shall leave them neither root nor branch."

Thus did God warn. And the day of reckoning did come—a day in which priests and people went down beneath the chariot wheels of the invaders. And once again the warnings of God, though despised, were fulfilled to the last word in the terrible punishment upon those who forgot him.

THE PROMISE TO THE FAITHFUL

BUT God does not forget those who truly love him, and thus the Book of Malachi closes with the words of promise to the faithful. "But unto you that fear my name shall the Sun of righteousness arise with healing in his wings; and ye shall go forth, and grow up as calves of the stall," Malachi 4:2.

The remnants of those who remained true to God in the midst of a wicked generation were used to perpetuate his witness in the earth. The dark days of persecution could not put out the light of his presence and peace.

Let us pause as we study this Book of Malachi and search our own souls, lest we be guilty of the hypocrisy which destroyed the people in the long ago. With every strand of strength which he grants us, let us do with our might what our hands find to do, and the peace that passeth all understanding will be our portion.

"And all flesh shall see the salvation of the Lord."

Americans in Berlin

Tension over transportation and other matters has become so great in Berlin and elsewhere in Germany that many families of American military and civilian personnel are expected to be sent home for safety, according to late reports.

General Lucius Clay, the top U. S. commander, said a few days ago that no pressure was being put on these families to leave, but because of the strained relations with Russia, he thought that "anyone who feels isolated and nervous over here ought to go home." He added:

A week ago less than 100 American dependents had asked to be sent home, out of about 2,500 then in Berlin. The Army newspaper, Stars and Stripes, said in Frankfurt that about one-half of the Air Force's 2,800 families in Germany had asked for return passage to the United States.

General Clay is in a most difficult position, as he apparently does not want to unduly alarm American families in Germany, yet on the other hand he has the responsibility of protecting them in case violence should break out.

Continued Russian interference with railroad and air traffic in the narrow corridor leading to zones in Berlin is doubtless making the supplying of food and other necessities to these zones increasingly difficult.

Although no actual scarcity of food has been reported so far, the restrictive transportation "regulations" imposed by Soviet officials, under orders from Moscow, are intended to make life as miserable as possible for all except the Russians in Berlin.

Defense Plan Muddle

After months of study and debate, during which numerous plans for national defense have been proposed, Congress appears to be as far from agreement on this important matter as ever. This unfortunate situation has come about largely because the top military leaders themselves have been unable to get together on a definite program.

When the so-called "unification of the armed forces under a single cabinet officer was adopted, advocates of the plan confidently asserted that it would promote greater harmony and cooperation among the Army, Navy and Air Force. But it has not worked out that way.

Congress some time ago fixed the authorized peace-time strength of the three branches of the service, with the number of men allowed to each as follows: Army, 669,000; Navy, 552,000; Air Force, 401,000.

But owing to difficulty in obtaining recruits, the actual strength of the armed forces, according to the latest available figures is Army, 550,000; Navy, 392,000; Air Force, 360,000.

Most of the army is engaged in occupation duties in Europe, Japan and Korea, and the greater part of our wartime fleet and airplanes have been laid up. Thus we are almost totally unprepared to meet a sudden emergency if one should develop.

Recently there has been a growing sentiment in Congress for a greatly strengthened Air Force as a first line of defense. The Army and Navy contend that they, too, must be increased if a larger Air Force is authorized.

As it has been impossible to keep the present authorized forces up to strength by recruiting volunteers, it is obvious that a new draft law must be passed if enlarged forces are to be obtained.

Personal prejudices and political considerations in a campaign year have likewise contributed to the general confusion, with the unhappy result that the whole defense program has been thrown into an apparently hopeless muddle.

Household Hints

Nylon curtains have advantages over ordinary materials. They dry easily and shed dust more readily.

For a delicious and unusual cake frosting melt chocolate covered mints in a double boiler and spread on the cake.

Baking with the skins on saves practically all food values and is an excellent way to serve vegetables.

A different way to serve beets is to slice them thin and top with a mixture of French dressing and mustard.

To keep the frames of pictures protected, see that they are waxed frequently. Several thin layers will do the trick.

When vacuum bottle containers are not in use, leave them open. Fresh air keeps them fresh, but if they are closed mold or stale odors may develop.

To extract juice from an onion slice a piece from the bottom of the onion, then twist the onion on a lemon squeezer. Do not remove skin.

You will obtain more satisfactory results when making jelly if you make it in small quantities—not more than six or eight cups at one time.

Adhesive tape is better to use in the bottom of salt and pepper shakers than a cork. It is easy to remove, doesn't get into the shaker and is very effective.

When hanging pictures on a plastered wall, stick some adhesive tape on the wall then put the nail through this, to prevent cracking the plaster.

If pockets in junior's or dad's work clothes tear at the top corners, stitch them when new at the corners and straight down to the first cross row of stitching.

The first "Mr. and Mrs. Club" in China—an institution now popular in churches throughout the United States—was recently organized in the Tieng Ang Dong Methodist Church in Tientsin, by Dr. and Mrs. Harold N. Brewster, missionaries. "This is a revolutionary idea in China," comments Mrs. Brewster. "The Chinese seat the women on one side of the church, and the men on the other; wives trot behind their husbands when or if they are ever together on the street."

A discouraged voter, when asked for his opinion of the two candidates for the election, responded: "Well, when I look at the two of them I am thankful that only one can get elected!"

The old cowhand went to the city and registered at the hotel for the first time in his life. The clerk asked him if he wanted a room with running water.

Heck, no! yelled Old Pardner, "What do you think I am—a dern trout?"

The motoring visitor from Scandinavia had just driven across Nevada, delighted with the trip and the time he had made.

How were the roads, Hans? Vell, dis guy Lincoln vas a great highway engineer. But dat Frenchman, De Tour, he vas no road builder at all.

Two safe-breakers were settling themselves in the dark of the bank vault for the evening's work. The first one took off his shoes and twirled the dial of the safe with his toes.

Hey, exclaimed his pal. Let's quit the funny business!

Replied the toe twiddler: It won't take me much longer, and we'll drive them finger-print experts nuts!

Gone are the days when I bury dead stock, I now phone Circo, then look at the clock. They always come quick as a flash. Pick up the carcass and pay me cash.

We come for all, large or small; cattle—horses—hogs—sheep.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Jeb Had the Folks in Stitches!

At the Friday Night Social, Jeb Crowell had the audience in stitches—doing a take-off on the blustering character who belittles everybody and everything that isn't from his own home town.

Well, we can laugh at that sort of character because from where I sit, Americans are just the opposite. We like to boast a bit perhaps, about the paint job on the new barn, or the missus' style of cooking—but we aren't intolerant of people who don't think or act exactly the same way we do.

In our town, for instance: Some folks like band concerts, others don't—some families serve beer with dinner, others, buttermilk—and as for politics, there's plenty of healthy disagreement.

But when it comes to denying folks the right to think or act as they choose... no, we're like you—we don't believe in it, whether it goes for serving beer, or speaking one's mind on public affairs.
