Sermon: "The Story of the Two Unequal Sons."

Christianity is essentially a simple religion. "I thank thee, O Father, because thou hast revealed these things unto babes." And yet, there are those who as "the blind lead the blind," because of whom it is said: "Thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent." Matt. 11, 25. But the Spirit of God is ever ready to enlighten those who draw near with a true heart intent to hear. "If any man will do His will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself." John 7, 17.

Traffic Accidents Will Mar Holiday Pleasures

Traffic accidents will mar the holiday pleasure of one Illinois family out of every 65 taking motor trips during the Independence Day weekend, Charles M. Hays, president of the Chicago Motor Club warned today.

One family in every 500 will suffer a traffic fatality or serious injury as the heaviest holiday traffic in history produces a toll of 30 deaths and 1140 serious injuries on Illinois highways July 2 to 6, Mr. Hays predicted.

Mr. Hays said that holiday drivers might reduce this highway toll if they would adopt and apply the following four-point program of safe holiday driving practices:

1 Schedule trips so as to avoid fatigue, night driving, or the necessity for fast driving. Two-thirds of all fatal accidents occur at night. Excessive fatigue combined with excessive speeds are almost equally fatal.

2 To increase the margin of driving error, especially distance allowances in passing or following cars, and control of speeds at intersections, railroad crossings, bridge approaches, and other hazardous points.

3 To condition the car for holiday driving, double checking all safety equipment, including brakes, windshield wipers, lights and tires.

4 Avoid overcrowded main highways and arterial streets, particularly at the beginning and close of the holiday period.

It was decided to have a speaker on "Health" at the July meeting and all organizations are invited to attend this meeting, to learn more about the new Health Plan for the county, which is being discussed pro and con. This project will come up in the future to be voted on and it is hoped to learn more about the subject before a vote is taken.

Plan For School Unit 8 Badly Defeated By Voters

A proposal to set up community unit school district No. 8 in the Homer-Longview-Broadlands area was defeated decisively in both urban and rural areas in a special election Saturday.

The total vote was 342 against the proposal, 78 for it. Homer sent the measure down to defeat, 72 to 3. The combined rural areas voted it down, 270 to 75.

Broadlands voted 19 for, 99 against; Liberty, 15 for, 55 against; Longview, 41 for, 116 against.

Unit 8 is the third 12-grade community unit to be turned down in the county this year. Others were Rantoul-Ludlow-Thomasboro-Gifford Unit 3, and Urbana Unit 5.

Four 12 grade units have been set up in the county. St. Joseph-Royal-Ogden voters have not yet been polled on Unit 6.

The Saturday defeat marks the end of county school survey committee jurisdiction over the Homer-Longview-Broadlands area. If a unit district is ever to be formed in this area, it must come from the general public through petitions to the county superintendent. All high school and grade school districts will remain as they are at present unless such action should take place.

The proposed Unit 8 district would have taken in 88 square miles and a population of 2,500.

Micaiah, A Prophet of Israel
Lesson for July 4, 1948

WE BEGIN a new series of studies this quarter—a series of lessons based on less known Bible characters that have much to offer us. Such a character is found in Micaiah, a boy whom we learn in I Kings 22:1-40.

Dr. Newton

Ahab, king of Israel, planned an expedition to recover the city of Ramoth in Gilead, which the Syrians had taken. He invited Jehoshaphat, king of Judah, to join him. Ahab relied upon his court prophets to predict victory; but Micaiah, the prophet of God, whom Ahab had shut up in prison, when he was summoned, at the insistence of Jehoshaphat, told Ahab the truth—the unpleasant truth—which subsequent events verified.

BRAVE ENOUGH TO TELL THE TRUTH

THE first blessing in the study of this obscure Bible character, Micaiah, is to discover a man who was brave enough to tell the truth when he knew it was unpopular.

It is always the best policy to tell the truth, though there be many in today's world who deny this principle. It is not enough to say that we will tell the truth because it pays. That is true, but it is a by-product of doing what is right. One must tell the truth because it is right to tell the truth. Men swear with their hand upon the Holy Bible that what they testify is the truth and nothing but the truth. But, alas, such men often tell anything but the truth. They have been carefully coached to evade the truth.

Micaiah told the truth, because he was speaking for God. It hurt him, but it must needs be the truth which he spoke to Ahab.

TRUTH DISREGARDED

AHAB scorned the words of Micaiah, and ordered him thrown back to prison. But scarcely had the prophet of God been thrust again into prison, until Ahab was bleeding to death in his chariot.

Men not only take their own lives in their hands when they disregard the truth, but, like stubborn Ahab, they bring grief to countless others. Had Ahab heeded the words of truth which Micaiah proclaimed, Ahab might have lived. Indeed, had Ahab heeded the words of truth, he might have recovered Ramoth, and more beside.

Truth may appear forever on the scaffold, wrong forever on the throne, but time always proves a hard taskmaster to the man who regards wrong instead of truth.

THE SOURCE OF TRUTH

GOD is the source of truth—all truth. If we miss this, we miss the lesson of the lesson. Note the words of the golden text, "As the Lord liveth, what the Lord saith unto me, that will I speak," said Micaiah.

Let us remember that it was God speaking through his prophet. Ahab could not have doubted that Micaiah was speaking what God had told him to speak. But Ahab did not want to hear the truth. He wanted to hear pleasing words that would encourage him in his evil plan.

God speaks the first and last word on every subject, because God is truth. "I am the truth," said Jesus. And he went on to say, "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."

THE PENALTY OF DISOBEYING THE TRUTH

HORRIBLE, indeed, was the penalty which Ahab suffered for disregarding the truth. The way of the transgressor is hard—always hard. The wages of sin is death. Be sure your sins will find you out.

Take down your cherished book of history. What do they say to you? That the straight line of truth is the only safe way in which to walk. It is applicable for the individual, for the family, for the community, for the nation, for civilization.

Thus every great prayer must be "Thy will be done." God's will is the way of truth. Micaiah declared it. Every true prophet must declare it. It is the only way to peace and joy in this world.

On Believing

All over the world now there is a reaction from the superficial talk that it does not make much difference what a man believes. We have learned our lesson. What a man believes makes a world of difference not only in what he does, but what happens to him.

Truman's Big Swing

President Truman's big swing through the Middle and Far West has been a strenuous one, both physically and oratorically, but whether it has been a success politically remains to be seen. Because of the attempt to make the tour appear "non-political," it got off to a rather bad start.

Democratic leaders were largely ignored in making the arrangements for the trip, and they were not permitted to ride on the train across their home states. His major speeches were made under non-political auspices.

His Chicago speech was made at a celebration in observance of the 100th anniversary of the migration of Swedish settlers; at Omaha he addressed a reunion of the 35th Division, of which he was an officer in World War I; at the University of California his speech was made in acceptance of a degree. These were not suitable occasions for local Democrats to get into the limelight, and they felt slighted.

However, Mr. Truman became more vigorous in his speeches and the crowds became more enthusiastic as he traveled through the Far West. His broadsides fired at Congress got plenty of attention. He called it "the worst Congress in our history," and said he was going to "keep pouring it on them."

He said the issue was between "The people," whom he said he represents, and "the special interests," and on this theme he shot the works. He told one crowd: You are looking at the next President right now.

There is no defeatism in Mr. Truman's manner or utterances, and he appears supremely confident of reelection. The net result of this trip may be the gaining of a good many votes. The last Gallup poll showed that he is favored by 39 per cent of the voters, as against 36 per cent in April.

Congress and the Republican convention may give him some fresh ammunition, and he may be expected to "pour it on."

Communism In Colleges

The Saturday Evening Post recently featured an editorial, signed by Frederick Nelson, on the extent to which this country is being softened up by communist influences. One paragraph deals with the dangers in current American education, and says:

"Another point against the survival of our democratic system is the state of mind of an important section of America's intelligentsia.

"Young people are taught that the achievements of successful men are due solely to social conditions; that there is no 'law of supply and demand,' only the greed of rapacious businessmen; and that the function of taxation is not to raise money for public purposes, but to hamper the successful for the delight of the unsuccessful. College textbooks which reflect this defeatism were not written by Communists, but by depression-bred radicals. Nevertheless, their effect in weakening the influence of a capitalist economy has been tremendous."

Some of the textbooks to which young minds are exposed would shock millions of American citizens if they could read them. By direction and indirection, communism, socialism and the other isms are praised to the skies. The Soviet Union always gets an admiring hand—and the cruelties, injustices and plain viciousness which are the hall-marks of any police state are glossed over. Nationalization of industry is urged for this country, despite the obvious fact that the destruction of free enterprise always results in the destruction of personal and all other liberties. Enormous care is taken in picking out defects in the capitalist system, and in making the inexperienced student believe they are typical. Comparatively few educators have become dupes of the communists. Not all textbooks reflect a totalitarian attitude. But enough do to seriously distort the outlook of the young on the world they live in. The seed is planted—and it is from such small starts that the tree of dictatorship is created.

It is one thing to describe and explain communism, fascism, socialism and all other types of government. It is a very different thing to so warp the truth as to make these systems seem superior to the American system that has given our nation unparalleled economic benefits and social freedom at the same time.

A teacher was giving his class a lecture on charity. Willie, he said, if I saw a boy beating a donkey and stopped him, what virtue would I be showing?

Willie (promptly): Brotherly love.

A youngster had reached the age when he liked to show off his knowledge of big words.

I'll bet you, he said to the neighborhood toughie, that you don't know what 'expectorate' means.

Aw, sure, I do, said the other lad. It's the slang word for 'spit.'

A clergyman at a dinner had listened to a talkative young man who had much to say on Darwin and his "Origin of Species."

I can't see, he argued, what difference it would make to me if my grandfather was an ape.

No, I can't see that it would, commented the clergyman. But it must have made a great difference to your grandmother.

A fellow was telling a friend about a movie he witnessed the night before. "The heroine came out from behind a bunch of ribbons, he related, and the hero appeared alongside a pile of fruit. The villain sneaked in behind some straw and hit the hero on the head. He disappeared in the straw."

What kind of movie was that? queried the friend.

I know it sounds odd, shrugged the first fellow, but that's the way it looked to me. The woman in front of me kept her hat on.

Two men bearing identical names, one a clergyman and the other a businessman, lived in the same city.

The clergyman died at about the time the businessman took a trip to Southern California. Upon reaching the Pacific Coast the businessman sent his wife a telegram informing her of his safe journey. Unfortunately the message was delivered to the widow of the clergyman. Imagine the surprise of the good woman when she read: Arrived safely—heat terrific.

Sidelights

In a hospital for the insane, an inmate was observed pushing a wheelbarrow around the grounds upside down. A visitor noting this queer sight, inquired: "Why don't you push that right side up?" "Oh no," came the reply, "If I do they'll put bricks in it."

Several years ago, in a small town, one of two churches installed an organ. It seemed that the two ministers were not as friendly as they might have been. The rector of the progressive church was telling the other somewhat proudly, about the new instrument. "Well" snorted the other, with a gesture of deprecation, "So you have an organ. All you need now is a monkey." "And all your church needs now," retorted the other, "is an organ."

What would you have done to the old mule if you had been in Mrs. Gladys Martin's place. Mrs. Martin, who lives near Moultrie, Ga., arrived at a Moultrie bank with a peck of troubles. Her mule, in some manner, had gotten hold of three $20 bills and one $10 bill and before the critter could be stopped, had devoured one of the $20 bills and chewed up the others so badly that they couldn't be spent. The bank arranged to send the mutilated currency to the U. S. Treasury for redemption but she's still out $20.

A friend tells an old fishing story that is new to us. It seems that when this fisherman reached his favorite fishing hole, he found a stranger there ahead of him. The stranger proved to be new at the game, in fact, this was his first time to wet a line. Time passed with not a bite. Finally, the greenhorn hooked one and began reeling it in. As he brought it near the boat, it proved to be a whopper. He kept on reeling and finally—with some miracle having saved his line—had the 3½ pound bass up to the tip of his pole. "What do I do now," asked the new fisherman as he thrilled with excitement. "Looks to me," replied the old-timer, "as though there is nothing left for you to do but climb the pole and get him."

RUHM'S PHOSPHATE

How Fine Is "85% Thru 300 Mesh?"

This is a term used to describe the fineness of a phosphate rock ground down to a point where 85% will wash through a copper screen woven so fine there are 300 openings to the inch, 90,000 openings to the square inch. This is so fine that the unaided eye is hardly able to distinguish the weave. This is so fine that to pass through this screen there must be approximately 27,000,000 particles of phosphate rock in one cubic inch of Ruhm's Phosphate Rock. This is finer than flour, finer than cement, finer by far than any other phosphate rock sold on a commercial basis.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Pampered Farmers

If the folks in our town were less tolerant, they'd be really burned up over that nationally circulated article on "pampered farmers," describing them as living off the fat of the land.

From where I sit the farmer is anything but "pampered." If he's better off today than twenty years ago it's because he's worked hard to improve the quality and quantity of his production.

Take Bert Childers, for example. Bert is up at four in the morning, to get the milking finished—and ploughing or harvesting, depending on the season, until sundown. In the evening he finally relaxes with the missus over a moderate glass of beer.

And the farmer today's not only temperate in his habits, like Bert's evening glass of beer... but tolerant in his opinions. So he'll probably say of that article, "somebody got the facts wrong," and just let it go at that.
