Allerton Club Holds Its Achievement Day Program

The Allerton Sing and Sew 4-H Club held its local achievement day program June 20 at the Allerton high school gymnasium. About 70 women and 4-H girls attended the potluck luncheon at 12:30, followed by the 4-H style show and the Home Bureau meeting.

Mrs. Robert Neussell of Camargo, acted as announcer for the style show, giving a history of the club's work for the year and the officers as follows: President, Mary Morris; vice-president, Betty Compton; secretary-treasurer, Phyllis McBride; song leader, Barbara Johnson; reporter, Jean Chandler; program chairman, Lenore Van Fossen; recreation, DeLores Smith.

Mrs. C. M. Johnson acted as leader and Mrs. Fred Anderson as assistant leader. All the feed sacks used were furnished by Mrs. Fred Anderson.

The clothes were styled in groups.

Six girls modeled their aprons as they set a table using a cover and napkins made from a feed sack by Barbara Johnson.

Halters and shorts were modeled having each girl carrying a tennis racket, baseball and bat, etc., to represent all different sports.

Skirts and halters made from feed sacks were cleverly modeled by having the girls skip the rope on the stage.

Skirts and blouses are appropriate for school, so each girl came on carrying either books, dinner bucket, or book satchels and then sang "School Days." The dresses were modeled with matching accessories.

Margaret Ellen Morris acted as accompanist and dance numbers were given by Brenda Nonman and Alicia Crain of Broadlands. Miss Alice Wienke of Allerton sang a vocal selection.

Eleven members of the total thirteen have met all the requirements for achievement members.

The style show was followed by an interesting lesson, "The Value of Fruits In Our Menu," given by Mrs. Ruth Warters, Mrs. Nellie Allen, of Allerton; and Mrs. Cecil Westfield of Blue Island.

Small Schools Face Loss of State Funds

Springfield—More than 2,500 elementary school districts in Illinois face the possibility of being cut off from state dollars to support their schools.

They are country schools with less than 10 pupils, which the last state legislature decided should receive no financial assistance after July 1, 1949, without special permission.

The chance of being cut off from the state's pocketbook is expected to spur school consolidations which have been underway for the last two years.

The law ending state aid to small schools carries two exempting clauses. Schools can continue to get state aid if:

1. Road conditions, natural barriers or distance involved make it not feasible and practicable to transport pupils to a recognized school in some other district.

2. School districts have made definite arrangements for receiving a sufficient number of pupils from other school districts to bring attendance up to the figure required for state aid.

High schools with fewer than 36 students also will get cut off after 1953.

Home Bureau Unit Hostess to 4-H Clubs and Mothers

The Broadlands Home Bureau unit held their July meeting Tuesday afternoon at the community building, with members of the Broadlands and Longview 4-H clubs and their mothers as guests.

Group singing was led by Mrs. Ida Messman, with Mrs. Ora Wiese presiding at the piano.

The major lesson, "Entertaining Teen-agers," was given by Mrs. Lola Hicks and Mrs. Mary Partenheimer.

Mrs. Irene Wiese gave a report on the program for next year.

Members of the 4-H club gave four numbers as follows:

Song—Betty Dyar.
Piano solo—Doris Davis.

Tap dance—Sandra Woolverton and Jean Nonman.

Song—Party-A-Month club.

At the close of the meeting ice cream, cookies and iced tea were served.

About seventy were present.

It's A Date

The regular meeting of the Broadlands unit of the Farm Bureau will be held at 8 p. m. at the community building, Broadlands, Monday, July 26.

The Home Bureau, Farm Bureau and Woman's club are uniting in this meeting to hear a discussion of the New Health Setup for the county. Attorney E. G. Mathis of Rantoul will be the speaker.

Everyone is most cordially invited to attend. Bring cake or cookies and own table service.

County Ranks Fourth In 1947 Crop Values

Champaign county ranked 4th among counties in the state in value of farm crops harvested during 1947. The state's leading money-making county was McLean, which produced over 44 million dollars in farm products.

Total value of crop production for Champaign county was more than 36 million dollars.

Champaign county's soybean crop, which surpassed all other counties in value, amounted to $9,907,800. This county was also high producing soybean county in the nation, harvesting $2,940,000 bushels on 147,000 acres.

The second and third ranking money-making counties were Iroquois, 42 millions; and La Salle, 37 millions.

With a 23 million dollar corn crop, Champaign county ranked among the top corn producers in the state. Other contenders were Ford, which produced five million; Iroquois, with 12 million bushels; Vermilion, seven million; Piatt, four million; Douglas, about three million.

Good Prospects For Largest Corn Crop Ever Raised

Abundant rains and near-tropic heat and humidity are hastening the growth of what looks like one of the largest crops of corn ever raised in Illinois.

A recent report by state and federal departments of agriculture shows a prospective yield of 55 bushels per acre for a total of 497,420,000 bushels. Last year's crop was 343,492,000 bushels.

Corn is farther along than usual for this time of year, and in some fields has been laid by with only two cultivations.

Soybeans also are making rapid growth, on an acreage about ten per cent less than that of last year. Oats harvest is in progress, with total yield estimated at 156,251,000 bushels.

Mrs. Olive Pigg Hostess to Sew & So Club

Mrs. Olive Pigg was hostess to the Sew and So Club on Wednesday afternoon of last week.

The afternoon was spent in sewing and visiting.

Refreshments consisted of ice cream, cookies, ice tea and coffee.

Mrs. Margaret Rayl was a guest.

Members present were Mesdames Edna Henson, Alyce Schumacher, Alyce Crain, Lola Lookingbill, Irma Wood, Misses Nellie and Blanche Smith.

Rita Bergfield Is Hostess to Young People's League

The Young People's League of St. John's and St. Paul's churches held their July meeting at the home of Rita Bergfield.

The vice president had charge of the meeting, and roll call was answered by thirteen members.

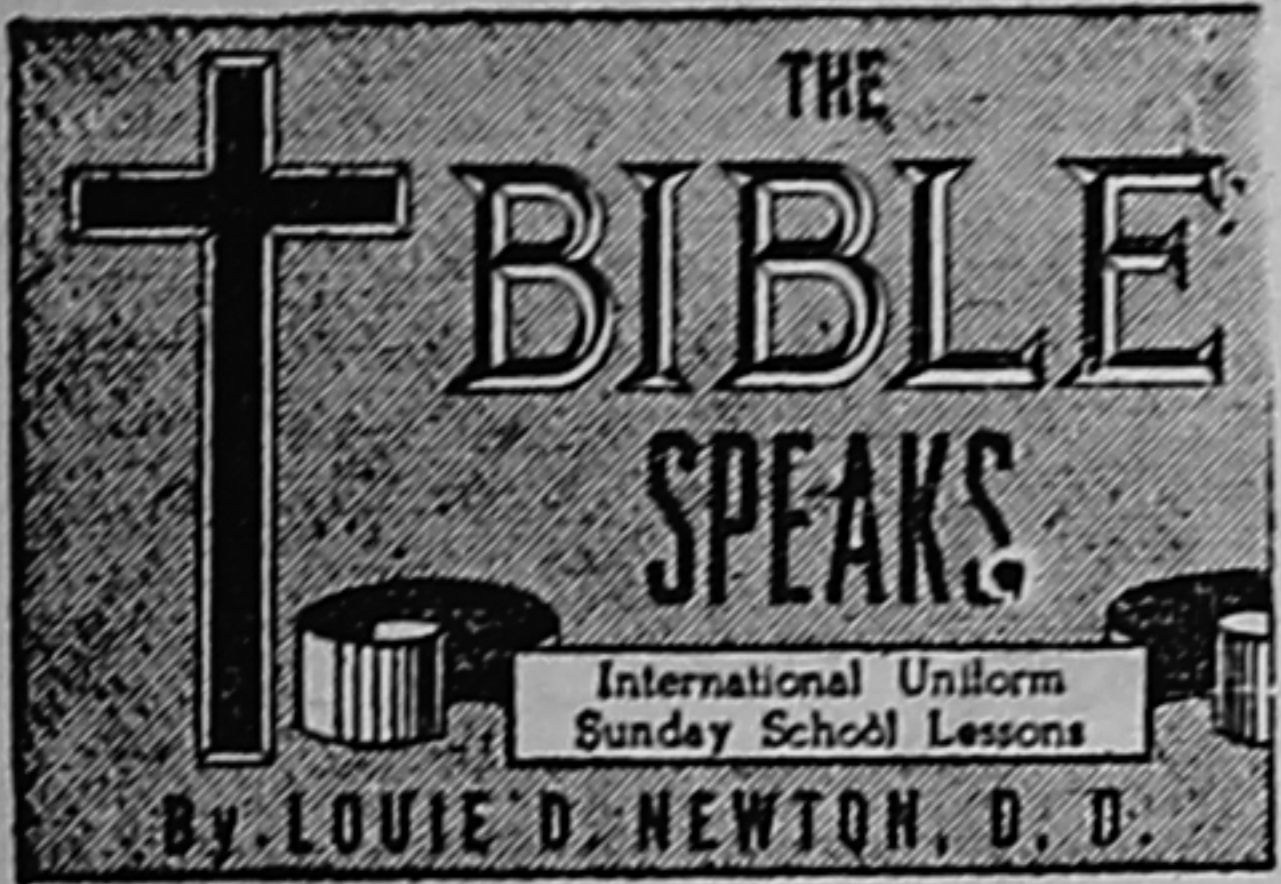

Delicious refreshments were served.

The September meeting will be held at the home of Ralph Haas, Sidell.

Jonathan, Loyal Friend

Lesson for July 25, 1948

WELL might we term this a lesson on the facets of friendship. Rarely will one come upon such a splendid example of friendship in all literature. Coleridge put it well when he wrote, "Friendship is a sheltering tree." Diogenes Laertius, writing on Aristotle, says, "He was once asked what a friend is, and his answer was, 'One soul abiding in two bodies.'"

Dr. Newton

Such was the friendship of Jonathan and David—a sheltering tree—one soul abiding in two bodies. Although Jonathan's father attempted at least ten times to kill David, Jonathan was drawn the closer to David, with whose soul his was knit.

The record of this friendship is found in our scripture and devotional readings for the lesson, with the golden text from Proverbs 17:17, "A friend loveth at all times."

A PRINCE SHARES WITH A SHEPHERD

JONATHAN was the crown prince apparent. David was a shepherd boy. Saul expected to place Jonathan on the throne. God had selected David.

Jonathan would, no doubt, have made a better king than Saul, his father; but he had no desire to be king when he discovered the kingly qualities in his friend, David. Not once did Jonathan ever indicate any disappointment in not becoming king.

JONATHAN STANDS UP FOR HIS FRIEND

WHEN Saul openly plotted the death of David, Jonathan begged his father to reconsider his course and spare the life of the man who had killed Goliath and had proved himself the valiant friend of Saul. This was the final test of Jonathan's sacrificial love for David. He might have remained silent, thus aiding in the death of the one man who stood between him and the throne. But Jonathan was made of the stout texture which counts no sacrifice too dear for a friend. He was willing to stand up and be counted when it meant that he would not become king. Thus we see that true friendship is not always easy. It usually is very costly, but it pays big dividends in the coin of eternal wealth.

FRIENDSHIP THAT COSTS

AND like as Jonathan stood up and witnessed his lasting friendship for David, at a very great cost, so are we today summoned to this ennobling type of friendship for Christ. "Ye are my friends if ye do whatsoever I command you," he once said.

Young people find it rather costly to be loyal friends of Christ today. There are many siren voices that invite young people to take the low road—social drinking, gambling devices of one sort and another, satisfaction of sensual desires. But the true friend of Christ will withstand these voices, choosing rather the high road of Christian gentlemen.

SACRIFICIAL FRIENDSHIP

"FRIENDSHIP is the loveliest flower in the garden of humanity," according to my cherished friend, Dr. Hight C. Moore. I would add this thought—true friendship flowers in the garden of humanity, but it finds its life in the Garden of God's Perfect Eden.

I have not known one single friendship that has impressed me that did not stem from above. "How can two walk together except they be agreed?" And the only cement that will hold human hearts together—one soul in two bodies—is the grace of God.

"Friendship is as God, who gives and asks no payment," said Richard Hovey, and not until the human will is yielded to the will of God, even as was the will of Jonathan, can sacrificial friendship come to flower and to harvest.

Magic Ministry

A club of ministers who use magic to illustrate religious lessons has been formed under the name of "Magi-Ministers." Most of the members practice amateur magic. One of their favorite tricks is the passing of a handkerchief through a tube marked "Church" which changes its color from black to white, illustrating how a blackened soul may be cleansed of sin.

Stalin Has Troubles

In spite of his reputed iron grip on the affairs of Russia and her satellite nations, Joseph Stalin appears to be having an increasing number of things to worry about. For one thing, he is nearly 69 years old, and although reports of his failing health have been denied, his frequent long vacations away from Moscow indicate that he is not as active as formerly.

It is only natural, therefore, that younger men in the Soviet hierarchy may be speculating on Stalin's successor, and perhaps doing a little quiet wire-pulling on the side.

The two men most frequently mentioned for Stalin's place are V. M. Molotov and A. A. Zhdanov, who are said to be bitter rivals. Molotov, as foreign minister, has been closer to Stalin, but Zhdanov is also influential in the powerful Politburo, which is the principal executive body of the Soviet Union.

Zhdanov led the movement in the Cominform which recently condemned certain policies of Marshal Tito and the Yugoslav Communists. It has been rumored that Molotov did not approve of this action, but Stalin appears to be supporting Zhdanov. This blast against Tito was the first open break in the Communist ranks.

Wherever free elections have been held in Europe recently the Communists have sustained losses, and there is probably no country in which Communists could gain a majority in an honest election.

Stalin is obviously much disturbed over the promising beginning made toward the strengthening of Western Europe by means of the Marshall Plan. This is one reason for continued Russian harassment of the Western Allies in Berlin, which caused strong protests from the United States, Britain and France recently.

There is no doubt that there is considerable unrest behind the iron curtain, where all the people are held in subjection thru police state methods.

A manifestation of this unrest was seen in Prague; Czechoslovakia recently, where a monster parade of athletic societies displayed American flags and cheered the names of the patriots, Benes and Masaryk. Communist police made a number of arrests as a result of this demonstration.

The satellite countries enjoyed independence before the war, consequently they are fed up with Soviet police rule, although powerless to resist at present.

Some of them are resentful because Russia would not permit them to participate in the Marshall Plan. Then there is a long history of anti-Russian sentiment particularly in Poland, Hungary and Rumania.

Tito's defiance of Moscow should weaken the myth of Stalin's infallibility, and may eventually encourage the will to resist the Kremlin by other slaves of Soviet Communism.

This may be only wishful thinking on our part, but the known facts and circumstances point to the possibility that recent developments are giving Stalin some severe headaches.

Sidelights

The ages of man have been broken down into many stages but possibly the simplest are these three: School tablet, aspirin tablet, stone tablet.

In a discussion of the value of descriptive language, we heard a speaker say recently that a man with a large vocabulary is one who can describe a shapely woman without using his hands.

E. E. (Jonah-in-Reverse) Johnson, of Douglass, Ga., is doing nicely at Emory University hospital in Atlanta. While out fishing recently, Johnson had the unusual experience of having a fish jump down his throat. He was rushed to the hospital and attending physicians stated that he was getting along fine—just suffering from a sore throat. When Johnson was asked what he intended to do when he left the hospital, he replied: "Go fishing."

The research division of the New York City Board of Education, after eight years of study, has reached a conclusion that has been well-known to the remainder of the country for many years. The division's report states that: "The residents of Manhattan, Brooklyn and the Bronx give some violent twists to the English language." As a result of the report, the department of speech began the organization of a special squad of teachers to drill proper pronunciation into children in the grades. As a result there may be a day not too distant when dem, doze, and deze will be headed for oblivion.

The answer to "What makes a good wife?" probably differs from country to country. From Tanganyika, Africa, comes this idea from Mrs. Gayo J. Mandowa of the Government School in Newala: "I am of the opinion that a wife in this part of Africa should be a woman who respects her husband, who looks after things which please him, and takes care of her house well, so as to make her husband remember home whenever he is away. Everybody understands that delicious food is the pleasure of all and badly cooked food is hated by all. A respectable woman must be truthful, un deceitful, and one who does not speak against others. A woman in her own gates is a mirror of beauty to her husband, and if she is not clean, her children filthy, her utensils in a bad state, the beauty vanishes. It is important for a woman to help her husband by handwork such as sewing, knitting, weaving, etc."

Household Hints

Bake meat loaf mixtures in muffin tins for attractive individual servings.

It is not necessary to iron Turkish towels. Ironing may mat the loops and make the towel less absorbent.

Ice cream and ice cubes will freeze better if the ice tray is wet when the mixture is placed in it.

Dampen your new ironing board cover and then tack it into place. When it has dried it will be free from wrinkles.

When your child purchases his new school books next fall, keep them looking like new with a protective coat of white shellac.

If you will brush your lower pie crust with egg white before filling, the crust will not become soggy during the baking of fruit and custard pies.

If breakfast cereals or crackers need freshening, crisp them in the oven. They shouldn't be over-heated so use only a warm oven.

When children tire of milk as a drink, it should be given to them in cream soups, in rice puddings, in custards and other dishes.

To prevent breaking records and small pictures with glass frames when moving, insert between old magazines, then tie in bundles.

If you have placed too much salt in vegetables when cooking, peel a white potato and place in the pan with the vegetables. The potato will take up the excess salt.

Baking powder biscuit dough may be spread with mincemeat, rolled up, cut in slices and baked. A brown sugar sauce is delicious served with the cooked dessert.

Remember, children, father pontificated, when I was a boy I often went to bed hungry, and seldom had a square meal.

Well, father, rejoined little Richard, the smart boy of the family, that shows how much better off you are since you have known us.

Father closed his mouth, and finished his dinner without any further comment.

When General Lew Wallace wrote his phenomenally successful best-seller, "Ben Hur," he very tenderly dedicated it to "The Wife of My Youth." This was very touching to a majority of his readers, but a sizable minority did venture to inquire "How many wives has General Wallace had?"

And so it came to pass that the General's wife wrote a letter to the publishers, and caused them to amend the dedication thus:

"To the wife of My Youth Who still abides with me."

A certain well-loved society woman was recently able to return to her normal activities after a rather lengthy sojourn in a hospital. Her first outing included a brief shopping tour.

I declare it's good to see you back, Mrs. H., said one friendly saleslady. We heard you were in the hospital. Would you mind telling us what your trouble was?

Not at all, replied the cheerful convalescent. I had a foot taken out of my intestine.

Gracious goodness! gasped the astounded saleslady. How in the world did it get there?

The veteran character actor, Charles Coburn, likes to remember his boyhood infatuation for the theater and the youthful shifts he made to see as many plays as possible.

His father placed one prohibition on his play-going.

Son, he warned, you must never go to the burlesque shows.

Why not, father? the younger Coburn wanted to know.

Because, said his father, you will see things there that you shouldn't.

Of course, after that, he had to go.

And did you see things you shouldn't? someone asked Coburn.

The veteran actor laughed. Yes, he replied, I saw father.

Students Name U. of I. Division 'University City'

Prospective college students looking for a place to go will like the University of Illinois Undergraduate Division at Galesburg.

University students refer to the unprecedented $5,000,000 Galesburg Division as "a University city" because all facilities—housing, classroom, food service, and recreational—are under one roof.

The complete unit has more than a mile and one-half of corridors connecting the 117 buildings on the 160-acre campus.

Dean C. M. Louttit points out that because of the inclusiveness of such facilities, incoming students may conceivably register, live, attend classes, spend the evenings in social and cultural attainment, and never once leave the inside of University buildings.

At capacity, the University community has room and dormitory accommodations for more than 2,000 students and nearly 200 faculty and staff members under one roof.

Available also are modern, well-lighted classrooms, well-equipped laboratories, and a laundry equal to all community needs.

Included on the Galesburg campus is an air conditioned student hospital, dining halls, barber shop, dry cleaning plant, and book store which also handles typical "drug store" commodities.

A University theater shows regular full-length commercial movies at special prices for students and faculty. Other structures house laboratories, a 13,000 volume library, and chapel.

The Undergraduate Division has its own heating plant and fire department.

For recreation there is a 75 foot swimming pool, gymnasium, tennis courts, five baseball diamonds, and four football fields. A five-hole practice golf course is located on the south side of the campus.

While University students at Galesburg point to the unique features of the "community campus," they are proud to be considered a part of the approximately 30,000 men and women who are attending classes on four University of Illinois campuses.

U. of I. Offers Top-Rate Unit At Galesburg

Undergraduate Division Answers Search of Youth for Education

Education-hungry youth, many with months of searching behind them, are finding a top-notch university in which to enroll despite the present unprecedented demand for college instruction.

The University of Illinois, having reached a capacity of 19,500 students at Urbana, provided the answer by establishing the Galesburg Undergraduate Division in the northwestern section of Illinois.

While many colleges and universities still must limit the number of new students, University officials at Galesburg expect to be able to provide excellent instructional and living facilities to all eligible students who apply. The Division promises to have ample accommodations for new freshmen and sophomore students when it reopens September 15.

Overflowing dormitories and dining halls, and crowded classrooms are unknown on this campus. University administrators are proud of the fact that there is opportunity for strict attention to the academic needs of individual students.

Housing—primary problem at most colleges—is no difficulty at Galesburg. Housing officials have available 30 housing units with the extraordinary number of more than 550 private rooms and approximately 1,000 other accommodations of various types. For women students five dormitories containing private rooms are in use.

All unit accommodations whether for students, faculty, or administrative staff have individual recreation lounges and study halls nearby.

For married veterans, the University and the Federal Public Housing Authority have provided three and four room apartments with all conveniences.

Educational costs to the Galesburg student are probably among the lowest in the state. Room rentals range from $52 to $130 per semester depending upon whether students decide upon single or double rooms or live with others in dormitory style.

The University dining hall offers nutritious, well-balanced "big" meals three times a day on a non-profit cost basis. Estimated cost of student meals is $1.75 per day.

In addition, a new Snack Bar offers meals and light lunches at all hours.

Religion A Major Interest Among U. of Ill. Students

Of more than 19,000 students on the Urbana-Champaign campus, more than 17,000 have definite religious preferences, the five leading groups being Methodist, Catholic, Presbyterian, Jewish, and Lutheran. All of these groups have plans for expanding their facilities to meet the student needs.

RUHM'S PHOSPHATE
 How Fine Is "85% Thru 300 Mesh?"

This is a term used to describe the fineness of a phosphate rock ground down to a point where 85% will wash through a copper screen woven so fine there are 300 openings to the inch, 90,000 openings to the square inch. This is so fine that the unaided eye is hardly able to distinguish the weave. This is so fine that to pass through this screen there must be approximately 27,000,000 particles of phosphate rock in one cubic inch of Ruhm's Phosphate Rock. This is finer than flour, finer than cement, finer by far than any other phosphate rock sold on a commercial basis.

Report Tells What Taxpayers Provide, Get From U. of Ill.

What the Illinois taxpayer pays for the University of Illinois, the investment he has in it, and what the University does is shown in a recent financial report, which reveals that:

For support of the University the average Illinois citizen pays three-fifths cent a day in taxes.

The plant of the University represents an investment, at cost and built over 80 years, of $52,283,348, which means $25.44 for each family in the state.

Of every dollar of the University's operating expenses, 45 cents goes for instruction, 13 cents for organized research, 9 cents for state-wide services, and the remainder for library, plant, and administrative expenses.

For every dollar a student in the University pays in tuition and other fees, he receives instruction costing more than $4.

Scholarships for 2,111 students, and with a value of $211,566 are provided by the University.

Considering all taxes—federal, state, and local—paid by Illinois citizens, only two-fifths cent of each dollar goes to the University.
