Married Students Govern Own Village At U. I. in Galesburg

Married veteran students at the Galesburg Division of the University of Illinois have "seceded" from the University, but only so far as housing is concerned. The veterans founded their own settlement and named it "Illini Heights, U.S.A." "Illini Heights" consists of 110 new cement tile apartments for the veterans and their families provided by the University and the Federal Public Housing Authority. The "village" also includes adjacent land for recreational and playground facilities, roads and streets, and space for garden plots.

Government is in the hands of a mayor and city council. Though ordinary student housing is ample on the 160-acre Galesburg campus, the new apartments offer cooking facilities and "family living" for married veterans, faculty, and staff.

Inoculation against these diseases is safe, simple and inexpensive. The necessary materials are available from the state department of public health at no cost to physicians.

Farmers Spraying Hoppers

Farmers of the Broadlands community are considerably alarmed over the damage grasshoppers are doing in their bean fields. Many are killing the pests by spraying their beans with a mixture of poison. Seemingly the pests are not doing so much damage in cornfields, states F. A. Messman, local grain dealer.

Woman, Holding Baby, Loses Foot In Crash

A 32-year-old Newman woman had her left foot amputated in an automobile accident August 5, at the intersection near the local depot, when she was thrown from a car while clutching a three-months-old child.

The injured woman, who also suffered a serious simple fracture of her right ankle and multiple bruises, is Mrs. Apha Paul, route 1, Newman. She is reported in good condition at Mercy hospital.

The baby, Stephen, was reported only slightly bruised. Mrs. Paul held onto the infant as she was thrown from the car over a bridge abutment and into a ditch below.

The woman was the only one of six in the car, driven by her husband, Clifford Paul, 33, who was seriously hurt. Also riding in the vehicle were three other children, Lenora, 10, Garry, 6, and Bonnie, 4.

Driver of the other car was John Markle, 23, Longview route 1. His passengers were Terry McGarigle, Allerton; and June Spray, Mt. Carmel. None of them was injured.

State police said the accident occurred at the junction of the Broadlands and Newman roads about 8:15 p. m. The Paul car was struck broadside and both vehicles were swung around.

The Paul car hit the bridge abutment. Mrs. Paul, holding the child, was thrown out. Her foot jammed in the door and, according to her attending physician, was ripped off.

Rushed to the Jarman hospital in Tuscola, Mrs. Paul was later taken to Mercy hospital, Urbana, where through surgery the complete amputation was performed on the foot above the ankle.

The Pauls had just moved into a house near Newman from Broadlands and were enroute to their new home when the accident occurred.

State police reported both vehicles involved were damaged heavily. They estimated damage was $500 to the Markle car, and $700 to the Paul car.

Atwood Physician Leaves Little Girl 68 Acre Farm

Judy Jo Garrett, 10 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Teddy Garrett, Peoria, former Atwood residents, was left 68 acres of farm land in Douglas county by Dr. S. J. Veach, an Atwood Physician who died a year ago.

In his will, Dr. Veach left Judy the land as he and the child had been very close friends all her life. The little girl would call on him daily and when she moved to Peoria with her parents, she would return during the summer and visit with him and play in his yard or roller skate in front of his office.

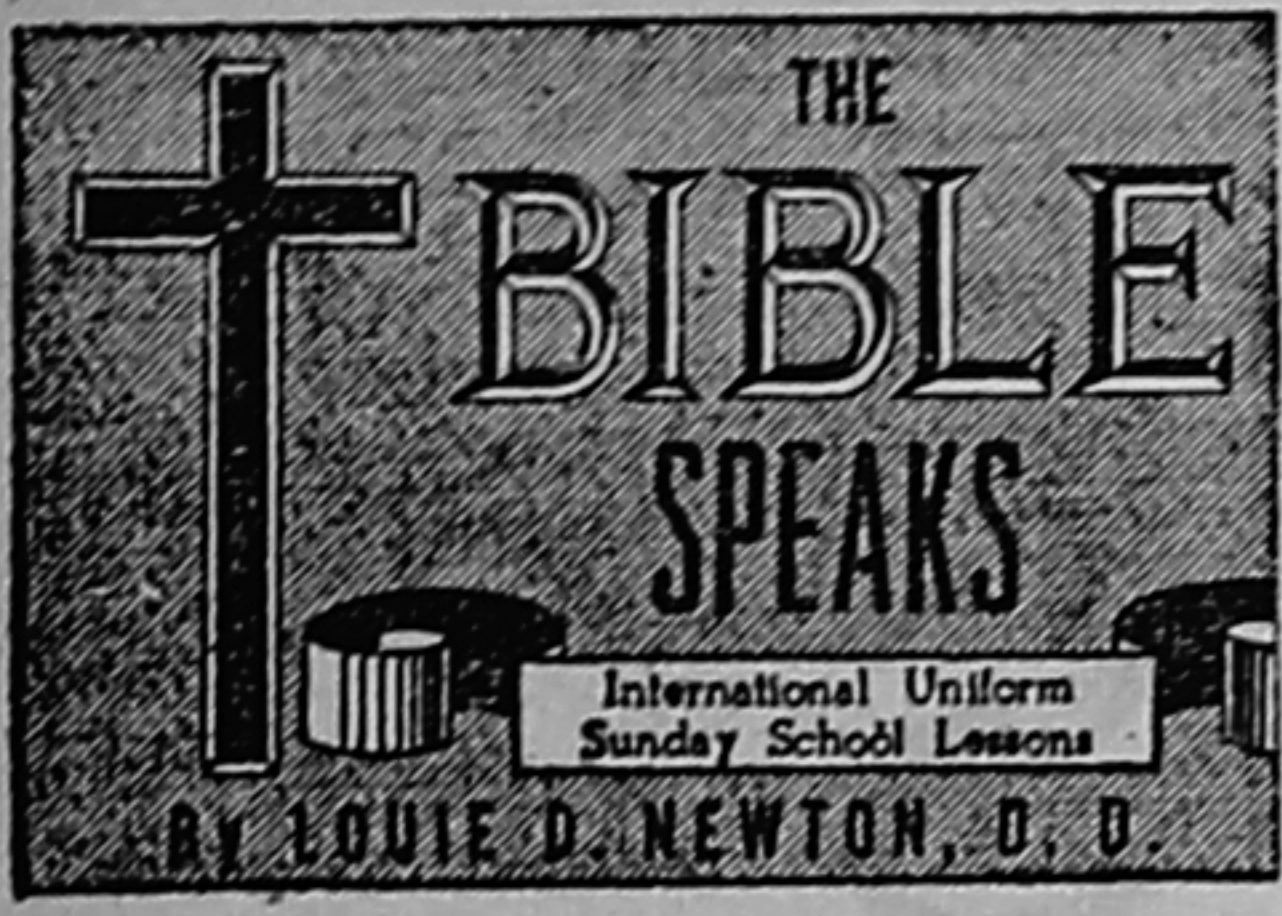

The land was sold Saturday to the Bell and Zoller Mining Co., for $27,300, and lies adjacent to their mine near Murdock. The land had been previously leased to the coal mining company.—Tuscola Review.

Andrew, The Man Who Brought Others

Lesson for August 15, 1948

MEET Andrew, brother of Simon Peter, fisherman of Galilee. Follow his career and you will account him one of the truly great men of the ages, chiefly because he was ever alert to help men on to God. He was always introducing his friends to Jesus.

Dr. Newton

There are many passages of scripture cited for this study, with the devotional reading in Luke and the Golden Text from John 1:42: "He brought him to

WHAT ANDREW TOLD HIS FRIENDS

WHEN Andrew met Jesus, and discovered in him the Saviour of men, he went and found his brother, Simon, and said unto him, "We have found the Messiah, which is, being interpreted, the Christ," John 1:41.

What do we tell our friends? Do we not delight to tell our friends what we have found to be good? This was the mission of Andrew—telling his friends about Jesus, for he had found in Jesus that which was good. John the Baptist had told Andrew about Jesus, and he was determined that he would tell everyone who would listen to this good news.

HOW ANDREW KNEW ABOUT JESUS

ANDREW got his impressions of Jesus firsthand. When he heard John the Baptist say, "Behold the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world," he went on to inquire about Jesus, and Jesus bade him and John spend the day with him. They did, from 10 o'clock in the morning until late afternoon. That was enough. Andrew knew from that day about Jesus. He was now ready to tell others what he knew about Jesus.

Do we know Jesus well enough to tell others about him? If a fisherman could tell the story effectively, cannot everyone? But let us remember this, no man can introduce his friend to Jesus until he himself knows Jesus.

THE MAN WHO BROUGHT OTHERS

LET'S look for a moment at some of the people Andrew brought to Jesus. We begin, of course, with Simon, his brother. Here, I think, is the highest test of his ability to tell others about Jesus—bringing his own brother. It is often easier to tell strangers about Jesus than those of our own family.

And now we see Andrew yonder in the multitude, finding the lad with the loaves and fishes, and bringing him to Jesus. That is the test of seeing the right person at the right time. And again this is the acid test of introducing people to Jesus.

Again, we see Andrew sensing the fact that some young Greeks had come a long way to see Jesus. He knew how to help them. In this incident we see the final example of winning people to Jesus—cultured Greeks, who were familiar, we may assume, with the current thought of the world. But this simple fisherman of Galilee knew how to approach them, how to gain their attention, how to bring them to Jesus.

THEY WAIT FOR THE ANDREWS TODAY

THE world waits for some Andrew today. I fully believe that most people could be won to Christ if only there were enough Andrews. Rarely have I had a person to repel me when I faithfully followed the leading of the Holy Spirit to speak to such person about Jesus.

Andrew did not rely upon his own resources. He went in the might of the Lord. He knew what Jesus had done for him. He yearned to see all men enjoy their blessing. He was a simple messenger—a voice.

And God gave him words—words that fell like good seed into fertile soil. So may we today introduce our friends to Jesus. Only let us remember this—we must first know him!

The High Price Issue

Everyone admits that the cost of nearly all items that enter into the cost of living is much too high. It is also generally agreed that high prices work the greatest hardship on persons in the lower income brackets, regardless of the particular group to which they belong.

Then why should the problem of high prices be made a partisan political issue?

If legislation is needed to bring prices down, new laws that would help members of one political party would help those of all parties, it seems to us. All Democrats are not poor and all Republicans are not rich. Each party has its share of the unfortunate who find it hard to make ends meet, and each party includes many who are getting more than their fair share of the national income.

No plan has ever been devised to give everyone an equitable share, and it is unlikely that there ever will be. Whether a return to price ceilings and rationing would help matters much at this time is uncertain. Under the old OPA we had a controlled price-list, but goods for civilian consumption were scarce. We had rationing, and black market racketeers flourished.

The present situation is very peculiar. We have more than 62 million persons employed and production is the highest in history. Wages are also at an all-time high, and crops are bountiful. Yet everything continues to go up and up, and many think we are headed for another big bust. It is all extremely confusing.

Economists and so-called experts, as well as politicians, differ as to what should be done. And so do we.

Red Rail Traffic Cut

In a counter-move against the Russian land blockade of Berlin, the American and British military governments of Western Germany recently ordered all rail traffic to or from the Soviet zone banned during August, except mail.

Allied officials said the Russians had failed to return 15,549 freight cars belonging to Western Germany. The message notifying the Soviet authorities of their action said:

"Due to technical difficulties, bizonal authorities cannot in August accept for movement across the United States and United Kingdom zone railway traffic, exclusive of mail, originating or terminating in the Soviet zone."

This is the first practical stand made by the Western Allies against the senseless and cruel efforts of the Russians to starve out the people of Berlin's western area, now being supplied by air at enormous expense and physical danger to our airmen.

Meanwhile, Allied air strength in Germany is being increased by large numbers of additional transport and military planes, and it is reported that work has begun on a large new airfield in Western Berlin to accommodate American and British planes carrying food, coal and other vital supplies.

The whole situation in Germany is becoming more critical, but it is necessary for the United States and Britain to maintain a firm attitude or be bluffed out by the Russians.

We have repeatedly declared that we will stay in Berlin, and if so we must resist further Russian encroachments on our rights. Any appeasement or show of weakness on our part would only make our situation more difficult.

Sidelights

A Texas hitchhiker blamed the heat for his trouble. As he sat behind bars in the county jail cooling off from his most recent escapade, he explained that for an hour or more he had attempted to hitchhike a ride from Waco and nobody would stop for him. So he began throwing rocks and then everyone stopped and aided in making his way to jail easier and certainly, quicker.

A new traffic offense has been placed on record in the municipal court at Atlanta, Ga. Lovett B. Wright, 37, was hailed into court recently, for speeding—backwards. Two patrolmen took Wright in after arresting him for "backing at a high rate of speed and crashing into a gasoline tank." The charge was later changed to "driving while intoxicated" and he was duly fined.

Graveyard dust at $10 per bottle proved unlucky to Dan Anthony, 50-year-old Negro of Americus, Ga. Dan was doing a land-office business with these lucky potions—consisting of graveyard dust flavored with perfume—and was on his way to financial independence when the law overtook him. His luck turned sour when the judge said: "$75 or 90 days in jail."

The Highway Patrol states that speed is the killer. Officers, after many thousands of investigations, are unanimous in their opinions that speed causes more fatal accidents than all other causes. Apparently this holds true with all forms of transportation. Two horses, galloping at top speed, collided head-on at Ann Arbor, Mich., recently, killing both instantly. The horses had been rented by two youths who had been enjoying the ride until—their mounts called it quits.

The Roman catacombs—the first church and cemetery of the early Christians—wind for 587 miles under the Italian city and contain more than 6,000,000 tombs.

RUHM'S PHOSPHATE

How Fine Is "85% Thru 300 Mesh?"

This is a term used to describe the fineness of a phosphate rock ground down to a point where 85% will wash through a copper screen woven so fine there are 300 openings to the inch, 90,000 openings to the square inch. This is so fine that the unaided eye is hardly able to distinguish the weave. This is so fine that to pass through this screen there must be approximately 27,000,000 particles of phosphate rock in one cubic inch of Ruhm's Phosphate Rock. This is finer than flour, finer than cement, finer by far than any other phosphate rock sold on a commercial basis.

Congress Makes a Comeback

The 80th Congress was our first post-war Congress, and it faced mountains of problems. Moreover, it was a Congress of a different party from that of the President. The 80th Congress worked hard to get as far as it did. It ran an independent course and made a great record.

During depression days a bewildered Congress took orders straight from the strongman. This was approved by many as the best kind of unity for the nation. Unity is a fine thing. When purposes are sound and methods are right, unified action can benefit the people. But the United States Congress was not created by the founding fathers to always say "yes" to the nation's president. The whim and fancy of a political leader, no matter how great the leader, may not be to the best interest of our people.

Restored to Strength.
That is perhaps why the founding fathers created the three branches of our government as they did: the legislative to pass the laws, the executive to carry them out and the judiciary to provide justice. Knowing these things, many persons wondered whether Congress would ever regain its rightful place. The 80th Congress has done just that. If ever a Congress denied the rubber stamp process, this one did so. The stature and dignity of Congress appears to be returning. It would hardly be possible for Congress in a nation like ours to please everyone. But every one of us can be thankful that the 80th Congress has done much to restore the integrity and strength that our national legislature should have.

There were times when this Congress did not answer "yes" to the President. Congress did not do this just to nettle Mr. Truman. The 80th Congress was doing things upon its own conviction, following its own best judgment.

The People's Safeguard.
There was no vindictiveness, but instead a determination to rely upon its own judgment rather than upon that of the executive alone. Our people can find no quarrel with this, once they think about it. It is only that kind of Congress which will continue to safeguard the welfare of our nation under the Constitution. We can never afford to forget the importance of Congress as the people's will in this republic. The hard work of the 80th Congress is shown by the fact that it passed more than 1,000 bills and conducted numerous investigations. It studied and acted upon nearly 30 major pieces of legislation. Among these was the Taft-Hartley bill—called the "slave labor bill"—which has not enslaved but has already shown its workability.

Of great significance, too, was the leadership that Congress showed in world affairs. The 80th Congress led the nation out of isolationism and into the leadership of freedom-loving nations of the world. Congress did much to retrieve lost prestige for America in the realm of international affairs.

I believe every citizen should appreciate the great job the 80th Congress did in bringing back the integrity of a legislature which was set up to represent the people. I am grateful to our hard-working legislators.
