"Silent Guest" Campaign to Feed Hungry of Europe

Arnold P. Benson, state director of agriculture, is appealing to the people of Illinois to take part in the 1948 "Silent Guest" movement to provide holiday meals for hungry persons in Europe. The movement is being sponsored by governors of the various states. Benson has been appointed by Governor Dwight H. Green as director and treasurer of the Illinois "Silent Guest" fund.

The plan calls for Illinois families to contribute cash equal to the cost of a Thanksgiving dinner for the "Silent Guest." The money so raised will be used to provide CARE packages to be delivered to the needy in Europe as holiday gifts from the American people.

The campaign has just opened and will continue until Christmas. Contributions should be mailed to Arnold P. Benson, department of agriculture, Statehouse, Springfield.

Mrs. Maxwell Hostess to Woman's Club

The Broadlands Woman's Club met at the home of Mrs. Edward Maxwell, Thursday, Nov. 18th. Mrs. Chet Whitfield and Mrs. Geo. Dohme were assistant hostesses.

The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Norman Seider.

There was group singing of "God Bless America," followed by the Pledge to the Flag, and reading of the Club Collect. Roll call response was "Something About Indians."

Mrs. Louis Frick gave an interesting report on the District meeting held at Mattoon, September 28. Mrs. Edward Nohren read the new and revised by-laws of the club. Mrs. E. H. Wiese read a well-prepared paper on "Indian Welfare." Mrs. Mary Cooper, Club Institute chairman, talked on club work.

Mrs. A. O. Struck then introduced Mrs. Earl McKinney, County President of Lotus. Mrs. McKinney is a member of Junior Federated clubs and the first Junior member to become a County President. Her first visit to Broadlands was much enjoyed by those present at the meeting. She gave a brief report of the Central Regional Conference at Charleston on Oct. 27, and also new ideas about the making of a good Federated club. Her talk was followed by a humorous reading by Mrs. Floyd Block, "Her First Ride in an Ottomobile," which was well given.

A social hour followed. The hostesses served pumpkin pie with whipped cream, coffee and candies.

Guests other than Mrs. McKinney were Mrs. Wm. Crain, Merle Maxwell and Janet Hickie.

Members present were Mesdames Geo. Dohme, Dan Brewer, E. H. Wiese, Mary Cooper, Oscar Limp, A. O. Struck, Harold Loyd, Edward Nohren, Floyd Block, Arch Walker, Raymond Wood, Chet Whitfield, Norman Seider, Clark Henson, A. G. Anderson, Louis Frick, Emil Schumacher and Edward Maxwell.

God's Story-Teller

Lesson for November 28, 1948

"TRUTH in a tale," it is said, "will enter in at lowly doors." The greatest truth of the entire Bible does not come to us in the shape of an essay but of a story—the story of Jesus.

Dr. Foreman

"The gospel did not appear on the editorial page but on the news pages." Many people can understand essays; millions more can understand a story. Jesus himself, when he gave the world his message, used stories to do it. We are told that he never made a talk to the people without using a parable. The parables of the Bible are simple stories, often no more than a sentence long.

They are all alike in this: Whatever the story may be, there is more in it than meets the eye. Parables were not a form of entertainment; they were a way of teaching.

No Cause Is Lost

SOMETIMES the teller of a parable would explain what he meant, as Isaiah does with his little song of the vineyard. Sometimes, and most often in Jesus' case, the meaning is so plain that only a very stupid person could miss it.

Matthew arranges several of Jesus' parables in pairs; one of these is the twin story of the mustard seed and the yeast in the meal (Matt. 13:31-33). Both mean the same thing, and both are so obvious that Jesus did not think it necessary to explain them.

The Kingdom of Heaven—the ideal world, the world as God intends it to be—is a living thing, a growing thing, something at first small, almost invisible. But it will grow; you cannot stop it.

So the ideal world, the Kingdom of Heaven, (Jesus hints) is not an artificial thing, it cannot be constructed by blueprints. It has to follow the course of living things. It does not come all of a sudden, it grows very quietly. You might not see the seed in the ground, but the farmer knows it is there.

Pearl of Great Price

SOMETIMES two or three of Jesus' parables are like a musical theme with variations. The twin stories of the pearl worth more than the jeweler's whole collection, and of the treasure hidden in the field, are very much alike, yet just a little different in meaning.

Both tell us that the Kingdom of God is more valuable than anything else on earth; indeed, it includes everything else of value. But the stories are different. One tells of a man who was looking for something, the other tells of a man who was surprised by finding something.

Once a Chinese gentleman became dissatisfied with his inherited Confucianism, and set out to find a better religion. For years he shopped around, never finding what he needed. He left Christianity to the last, for in his section of China only coolies and peasants were Christians. But when he began to make friends with some real Christians, he was overjoyed. This was what he had been looking for. This was the pearl of great price.

On the other hand, a drunken sailor, certainly not looking for religion, wandered one night into a Salvation Army meeting. They could do nothing with him, but before they dragged him off to the lodging-house one of them slipped a bit of paper into his pocket. The next morning, cold sober, wondering where he was, he put his hand into that pocket and pulled the paper out. On it were penciled three words: God loves you. It hit him right between the eyes; and he became a Christian. That was the "treasure hid in the field."

How Far Will Love Go?

JESUS' contemporaries told parables too, but they have all been forgotten. Jesus' parables are incomparable, unforgettable, immortal. If Jesus had been known for nothing else, he would have been remembered for the four stories of the Good Samaritan, the Lost Sheep, the Lost Coin, the Lost Son.

These all have much the same point. "Lost" does not mean hopelessly doomed. How many persons we give up as hopeless! But God never gives up any one. A "lost" person is one whom God is seeking.

Narrow Escapes

In the recent election Americans happily escaped the evil flowing from two serious defects in the present method of electing a president. But these misses were much too close for comfort. Far from being any cause for complacency they should spur renewed efforts for reform.

For several hours on election night the American people thought that the House of Representatives would have to choose a president. Only when Ohio and California finally swung into the Truman column could the President count the 266 votes required for a majority in the Electoral College. A switch of a few thousand votes would have set up a deadlock where—with each state having one vote—intrigue and deals would have been at a premium and the Dixiecrats might have dictated the choice.

The second danger the nation squeaked past was that of having a candidate capture the largest popular vote but run second in electoral votes and so lose the election. A shift of half of one per cent in the vote in Ohio, Illinois and California would have given Governor Dewey the Electoral College but left him below Mr. Truman in popular votes. This sort of thing has actually happened three times in American history and regardless of the candidates or parties involved it is not a healthy business.

Both of these dangers can be almost completely removed by abolishing the Electoral College. The compromise plan for this, retaining the electoral vote but making it proportionate to the popular vote in each state, would save for the small states their present extra weight in presidential elections and preserve the constitutional balance. The Lodge-Gossett resolution for a constitutional amendment embodying this reform should be passed by Congress.—Christian Science Monitor.

New Type Penicillin

Development of a new type of penicillin, having several advantages over forms of the drug heretofore produced, was reported in press dispatches recently from Pearl River, N. Y., home of the well-known Lederle Laboratories.

The new product is described as a mixture of two kinds of penicillin salts, and remains in the patient's blood for 24 hours after injection, acting against disease for the entire period, thus requiring fewer "shots" in any given case.

Penicillin in the form in which first used was a most potent weapon against many kinds of infections, but its effects faded away quickly after being administered, and it had to be renewed very frequently.

Later this disadvantage was overcome to a considerable extent by mixing the drug with oil or wax, which had the effect of causing the penicillin to seep into the blood more slowly. But when injected in this form it often caused muscular pains, besides the wax mixture clogged the physicians' hypodermic syringes, according to the article.

The latest type of penicillin, known as "Ledericillin parenteral Lederle," (named for the laboratory which developed it) does not have to be used in oil or wax, but forms a sort of suspension in ordinary distilled water, which is equally effective.

This is only one more of the developments continually being made in the discovery and improvement of new drugs, in which such amazing progress has been made in recent years.

Sidelights

A Communist, it is revealed, is a fellow who borrows your pot to cook your goose in.

A certain fellow we heard about must have been married more than just a few weeks to have given the advice: "A new flame may be hot stuff but the old flame knows what's cooking."

Recently a visitor at the palace of King Farouk asked the monarch: "How many kings do you think there will be in the world 25 years from now?" King Farouk, without hesitation and with no thought of frivolity replied: "Five—the King of England and the King of Hearts, Diamonds, Clubs and Spades."

We have drawn the startling conclusion from some scientific data we have just read that women are here to stay. In 1920, there were two million more men than women in the country. In 1940, men led by only half a million. By 1950, there'll probably be more women than men. Now there's two ways to look at this phenomenon . . .

Time turned back some three centuries when, at the American Indian Day dances at Central Park, New York, Chief Rising Sun announced that what his people needed to help preserve their culture and handicrafts was a piece of land in Manhattan. He said that on this land they could erect a tall building in which to display to the world all the beautiful and useful things they make. His offer for such a plot was $24—what his forefathers are said to have received for the whole of Manhattan.

"Church members cannot scold others into faith nor shame them into belief, nor argue them into a sense of spiritual belief," said Mrs. Mildred McAfee Horton, president of Wellesley College, recently. "All they can do is to demonstrate the power of the presence of God in their own lives."

"We live in a world in which multitudes of people regard the gospel neither as good news nor bad news," says Professor Georgia Harkness of Garrett Biblical Institute. "To them it is no news. They do not reject it. They merely ignore it."

Smile Awhile

A wedding ring is like a tourniquet—it stops your circulation.

Your face is clean, but how'd you get your hands so dirty? Washin' my face.

Your girl isn't spoiled is she? Nope, that's just the perfume she's wearing.

What is a chain store? I suppose it is a place where you buy a marriage license.

When is the only time a woman is justified in spitting in a man's face? When his moustache is on fire.

What's a debtor, Pop? A man who owes money. What's a creditor, Pop? A man who thinks he's going to get it back.

What shall I say about the two peroxide blondes who made such a fuss at the game last night? Editor—Why, just say that the bleachers went wild.

A young lady went into a drug store. Have you any Lifebuoy? she asked. Set the pace, lady, said the young drug clerk, set the pace.

Phil—Who were your father and mother before they were married? Bill—I didn't have a father and mother before they were married.

Apt—Mrs. Smith had triplets and two weeks later she had two. What's impossible. How did it happen? Apt—Well, one of the triplets got lost.

An elderly woman visiting the zoo wanted to ride a camel. The keeper hoisted her up but was unable to make the camel move. At last the lady dismounted and started to pet it. Suddenly it went running off as fast as it could. The keeper turned to the old lady. Madam, he said, what did you do to him? I tickled him, she replied. Well, said the keeper, you'd better tickle me. I've got to catch him.

Little Johnny came home from school one afternoon and asked, Mama, where did I come from? His mother was shocked. Johnny was awfully young to be hearing about the facts of life. But she knew the children at school had been talking. Now was the time. Sit down, son, she said. I want to tell you a story about the birds and the bees. . . . She proceeded to describe the facts of life to little Johnny. When she had finished Johnny remarked, Well, I just wondered where I came from. Suzie Smith told me she came from St. Louis.

Little Johnny came home from school one afternoon and asked, Mama, where did I come from? His mother was shocked. Johnny was awfully young to be hearing about the facts of life. But she knew the children at school had been talking. Now was the time. Sit down, son, she said. I want to tell you a story about the birds and the bees. . . . She proceeded to describe the facts of life to little Johnny. When she had finished Johnny remarked, Well, I just wondered where I came from. Suzie Smith told me she came from St. Louis.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

To Dunk or Not To Dunk?

Dunking doughnuts is Sober Hopkins' favorite morning pastime... and for a long time Ma Hopkins has been trying to break him of the habit. Feels it sets a bad example for the children.

So one morning she puts a heavy frosting of chocolate on the doughnuts... figuring that will stop him. Sober thinks it over for a while and then: Dunk! Taste? Smile! And Sober compliments the missus on the lovely mocha flavor!

I guess there'll always be two schools of thought: to dunk or not to dunk. But from where I sit, it's a matter of personal choice and taste—like some folks prefer beer to cider, ale to beer. And the less we criticize those differences of taste, the better.

In fact, Ma Hopkins got so curious about the flavor of chocolate-covered doughnuts dunked in coffee, that she tried it herself. Now—you've guessed it—she's a daily dunker, too!

National Farm and Garden Show Nov. 27 Thru Dec. 4

Highlights for the National Farm and Garden Show, Nov. 27 through Dec. 4 at the Chicago Coliseum, include eight different contests, a home economics section, dairy production demonstrations, and new implement, farm equipment and home appliance items to be shown in actual use on the stage.

Dell Rhea, president of the show, stated that more than $25,000 worth of prizes are being offered.

Junior teams representing many states will compete in the Interstate 4-H Poultry Judging Contest.

In the home economics section apple-pie makers will vie for top honors in a contest on Wednesday, Dec. 1.

Christmas cookie makers will prove their prowess in another contest on Saturday, Dec. 4.

Home economics demonstrations will be presented at 2 p. m. on the other six days of the show.

The opening night of the show will see the crowning of the ideal farmer's daughter, chosen from a field of candidates nominated by show exhibitors.

Entertainment each evening will feature a style review by students of the Vogue School of Fashion Art. Implement, equipment and home appliance demonstrations will be continuous daily in the main hall.

The Coliseum is located at 15th and Wabash in Chicago. Special buses will operate between there and the Amphitheatre, where the livestock exposition is to be held.

Christmas Seal Sale Opened This Week

The 1948 tuberculosis Christmas Seal sale opened officially this week when seals were mailed by the Champaign County TB Association to many residents throughout the county. J. E. Atkinson, president, has announced.

The annual seal sale which finances all the work of the TB Association is carried on principally by mail. There is no personal solicitation by school children or others.

By the chest-x-ray-for-everyone-campaign, one of the services of the TB association, more people who have TB are finding the disease at a time when they can be cured.

Again this year only two sheets of Christmas Seals were enclosed in the letter but it is hoped everyone will be generous with his contribution because, Atkinson explained, the anti-TB services must be expanded and Christmas Seal dollars do not stretch so far as in the past.

For the convenience of people who want to help but did not receive their Seals by mail, C. T. Henson of Broadlands, and Mrs. H. H. Jarman of Longview, have extra Seals.

Injury to Teeth

Some cola-type beverages have a 10 per cent content of phosphoric acid. Although destruction of enamel by acids varies with individuals, some injury was observed at Mayo clinic, which is believed caused by habitual use of acid beverages. Continued vomiting and therapeutic administration of hydrochloric acid, topical application of acids and acids in confections may have similar damaging effects on tooth structure.
