England and the other "dollar" countries have bitter complaints these days over the shortage of American dollars. Well, they haven't got a thing on the Americans. We are suffering with the same ailment, especially since tax-paying time.

Do we give enough attention to the newcomers in our midst? It seems not. Someone has suggested the idea of a newcomers' club. That undoubtedly is the right idea. A hearty welcome to the "strangers" in our midst would be a service to all of us. New businesses, new residents will stimulate the community and make this a better town . . . A number of the local Odd Fellows Lodge journeyed to Springfield last Saturday and enjoyed the state barbecue. There they mixed with several thousand of their brothers throughout the state; there were no casualties . . . Charles Nagy, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vernick, is among those who have received university degrees this year; he was awarded his Master's degree at Indiana University as an accountant and for work in other commercial subjects.

. . . Jim Fazekas, who operates the Spring Lake Cabanas at Spring Lake, Mich., near the city of Grand Haven, reports that a number of former Westville residents spend their vacations at the popular resort or have permanent homes there; he calls the Spring Lake area "a second Westville." Dog Daze—Corn on the cob, watermelons and red raspberries . . . Hollyhocks, zenias, gladioli, sunflowers in bloom . . . Reunions, homecomings, picnics, more new cars, some dusty jalopies; former residents who haven't been here for some years, now in town on vacation . . . Folks headed for the metropolis to take in the Railroad Fair, the Brookside Zoo, Riverview Park, the big city sights; tandem trailers, heavily loaded with wheat, being pulled by tractors to the grain elevators; nights brilliant with a full moon . . . Crops growing night and day.

Light and Heavy Thinking

It is not how much we have, but how much we enjoy, that makes happiness

Funny thing about temper. You cant' get rid of it by losing it!

We like the man who comes right out and says what he thinks—provided he thinks as we do.

Rumor has it that the widow Pigg on an extended visit from Hoag, Penn., may become a permanent resident of these parts. This prominent socialite has casually let it be known to friends of her fair sex that in addition to regular visits to the beauty parlor, she may even have her face lifted. Joel Bacon, whose popularity is much in evidence of late, appears to be the object of the widow's designs. When quizzed about his interest in the matter, Joel stated that a widow with her face lifted would accomplish little if she landed him, since she would be just getting back another lifted face, well-smoked and cured.

Our Clean Story Club — Several married couples, at a party, were reminiscing about the events of years ago. One husband casually remarked: "By the way, whatever became of the old-fashioned girls who fainted when a man kissed them "

His wife gave him a contemptuous look.

"What I'd like to know," she piped up, "is whatever became of the old-fashioned men who made them faint?"

Bank Deposits Here Still Near 2 Million Mark, Report Shows

Deposits Show Decline From Preceding Quarter

Although the assets of the First National Bank of Westville are only slightly under the $2 million mark, demand deposits have declined about $65,000 during the last quarter, due mainly, it is indicated, to some unemployment and shorter working hours in this territory since the last quarterly statement was issued in April. The current quarterly statement is published on page 8 of this issue.

Demand deposits at the close of business on April 11 were $901,333.76 and on June 30 the total was $836,-142.56.

Total assets, the quarterly report shows, were $73,950.73 less on June 30 than on April 11. Total liabilities also are $75,814.40 less than at the beginning of the second quarter.

County Officers Elected by Legion, Also Auxiliary Units

Nine of the 14 posts of he county were represented at the July meeting of the Vermilion County Council of the American Legion, Thursday night, at Fairmount.

The Legion meeting was held in the new Legion Home, in the school building recently purchased by the Fairmount Post, about a mile west of town. The county Legion Auxiliary met in the Fairmount High School gymnasium. Both organizations elected officers.

Since there was no opposition for any of the offices, it was moved that the adjutant, A. F. Anderson, cast unanimous ballots for election of each officer.

Commander-elect Cox stated that the installation meeting will be held at Danville Post 210 on Sept. 8, and that an effort will be made to have one or more state officers present.

Mr. Kerr announced that a Hoopeston firm furnished a bicycle at cost for he pilgrimage last month to the children's home at Normal, Ill., and that a Hoopeston jewelry firm had donated the engraving work. Thus the cost to the council was only $46.76.

In a discussion on Poppy Day activities, it was urged strongly by R. J. FitzGerald that Legion members engage personally in the sale of these poppies each year.

MRS. BATTANI ELECTED

The election followed the regular business.

Congregational Church Notes
Rev. C. R. Dierlamm, Minister

Attending church in the right spirit helps to make better Christian citizens. The whole service is of the greatest importance. Neither the sermon nor the music forms a complete hour of worship.

What makes a good service is the right spirit that is represented in the congregation. Everything of the right sort is an aid to successful worship. The purpose of a church is to inspire people to lift up their hearts in adoration to God. It should at all times lift up the Christ as the Saviour of mankind. Anything less than that is an insult to God. People are to be adored and some little praise is due them. When a church makes too much of a minister or a layman, it is time for that church to ask God for forgiveness. No one should ever supplant the Lord, who owns the church. It is His Church. Men are trusted to run it. It belongs to God.

Westville Streets Being Resurfaced In Repair Program

Old Brick Pavement Is Renewed

The work of resurfacing the old brick paving in the stretches of pavement on N. and S. State Sts. by the State Highway Division will be completed some time next week. The McCalman Construction Co., Danville, is doing the work, which has been under way for about two weeks.

Traffic has been moving throughout the repair work, half of each of the roadways being used for two lanes of traffic while the other half of each stretch was being resurfaced. The brick paving, which had been laid when the highway was first widened, was rough and had been deteriorating considerably the last few years. The brickwork has been leveled and smoothed and finished with an asphalt coating.

The village blacktopping program is also under way. About 10 arterial streets are being given blacktopping and rock covering with funds available from motor fuel tax credits of the State Highway Division. This is a part of the program started three years ago. The Elton A. Wagner Co., Danville, is the contractor.

Work also is progressing on the two new rest rooms in the City Park. Gus Lesko has the contract.

This was under direction of the War Production Board. The buildings still are being used by the company for that purpose. The WAA had placed a valuation of $140,000 on the buildings.

Something for Nothing?

Some of our citizens are not at all hopeful concerning the future standard of living in the U. S., holding that there are too many persons who have become the victims of a delusion that we can get something for nothing.

Is it possible that too many have been seized with the conviction that science and technology give assurance of perpetual, fabulous output and consumption without work, or at least with very little work No doubt, there are many with that idea, but it should not be allowed to sprout and grow in the generations that are following.

Not so long ago we heard a man say in all seriousness that as long as half the world is working, the other half need not take work too seriously. Even the thought of such an idea is enough to make one sick at heart. The plenty that is America's has been made so largely by the uncommon amount of work done by much more than half the people.

We are weakening freedom itself when we get the cock-eyed idea that leisure is liberty's twin brother. The self-dependence of our forefathers has bred for us the independence we now enjoy. The theory that we can get something for nothing has been at the bottom of our business and industrial depressions of the past. Over-reaching, overextension, the Mississippi Bubble, the Kansas and Florida land booms, the mania that led to wild speculation in the twenties, all collapsed disastrously. We have seen demonstrated time and again the effect on all of us when a few try to get something for nothing.

Taxpayers Must Choose

No one as yet has found a way to keep on spending more money than his income plus his reserves. England has found that it can't be done, even with the help of billions of dollars from the American taxpayer. There was a theory some time back to this effect: "Why worry about the national debt, we only owe it to ourselves?" No one has been saying much about this crackpot theory lately, however.

As the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois has pointed out, the recent Illinois General Assembly refused to vote any new or increased state or local taxes, particularly for Illinois state taxpayers (the House killed the proposed increase in the motor fuel tax and the Senate stopped all other proposals for new and increased taxes). Nevertheless, the real showdown on higher taxes is coming in the next two years—perhaps at a special session this fall.

Although the state budget, after Gov. Stevenson gets through vetoing some millions of dollars in appropriations, will be in balance for the two-year period from the first of this month to June 30, 1951, the state will spend more money than it takes in from present tax sources in the two years, and therefore the reserve will be depleted. The net balance of July 1, plus the estimated income of the general revenue fund amounts to some $644 million; appropriations by the legislature amounted to more than $638 million requested in the governor's budget, plus some $7 million appropriated outside the budget. Therefore, the reserve, too, is threatened.

The state is paying more money into state aid for schools, higher old age assistance and aid to dependent children, and higher salaries to state officers and employes. Such increases are not going to be easy to cut. In addition, towns and cities, which didn't get the state aid this session that had been promised, will drive ahead again for a slice of state funds. The farmers, who have been getting $7½ million a year in state aid for farm-to-market roads for the last four years, won't get a dime for the next two years—and they may attempt to intensify their campaign for state funds.

Add all these together and it means that Illinois taxpayers had better give real thought to the problem as to whether they want the state spending program curtailed, or are willing to pay a higher sales tax. The choice should be made soon.

Finds Severe Dip Unlikely; 'Strong' Points Are Cited

By L. F. STICE
Dept. of Agricultural Economics
University of Illinois

Our youngsters are raising a pet duck. After observing her actions in the back yard, I have decided she has some traits similar to those of economic man. Ordinarily "Paddles" (the duck's name) spends much time in ravenous consumption of food and water—that's her present contribution to our economic welfare—but when she hears an unusual noise, such as an airplane or fire siren, she scoots for shelter.

After one of these scares, it is difficult to coax "Paddles" back to the feed trough. She seems to have little confidence in our reassurances. Having returned to the trough, she resumes her eating in a very hesitant manner, cocking her head from side to side between bites to observe surrounding activities. Once that she is convinced that she is safe from harm, she again concentrates her entire attention on food and water.

Our Economic Alarm

An important question facing farmers and businessmen now is whether the economic alarms we have been hearing recently signal the beginning of a severe business depression or a minor recession which will leave our economy in a fairly healthy condition.

We are in a business recession. On this point there should be no argument. General declining prices, increases in unemployment, cutbacks in production, and declining incomes, although not drastic, offer proof that our economy has done more than level off. It is on the downward trend.

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics expresses the opinion that there will be some further weakening in the demand for food and other farm products. As a basis for this statement, the BAE points to the declining trends in industrial output (now 8 to 10 percent below the 1948 peak) and in consumer incomes (about 3 percent below their peak).

But the BAE does not suggest that we are entering a severe and lengthy depression. Objective examination of the strong and weak spots in our economy leads to the conclusion that such a development is improbable.

Strong Points

One may cite some of the supporting factors in our present situation by listing those factors which caused trouble in past recessions and showing how present conditions are different. This was done by the National City Bank of New York in a recent publication. The points were:

1. Farm land speculation, excessive inventory accumulation and a large stock market investment on borrowed money are not present in this recession.

2. The banking system is in a sound position, and plenty of money is available for sound loans.

3. Business and individuals are in a much more liquid position financially than they were in previous recessions.

4. Finally, the federal government's program on foreign aid, farm price supports and unemployment are additional props.

In the same article, the National City Bank had this to say regarding possible "weak spots" in the present economic picture: ". . . weak spots are most surely to appear, and not all will have been foreseen . . . Business history can be examined, the weaknesses which have prolonged and deepened past recessions can be searched out, and people can profit from these lessons. Nevertheless, businessmen wonder what other weaknesses persist, to be disclosed by events."

This attitude of uncertainty, and even fear, of unforeseen developments makes it difficult to "coax" businesses out of their shelter of conservatism. Moreover, many economic observers are not yet ready to give the all-clear signal.

In this connection, the article in the National City Bank publication states that: "Everyone should realize that neither the time nor the extent of the drop is fore-ordained. Both will be greatly influenced by the policies that are followed, and by the degree in which people face and deal with problems of recovery."

CHRISTIANS WORKING TOGETHER

by Carl F. Hass

It is a recognized fact that all the peoples of the world are facing a serious crisis in these days of communism and atomic power, and that the future of our civilization and the future of our children is hanging in the balance.

Many of our Christian leaders feel that the Christian church is seriously weakened by division into 256 denominations. This division brings to mind the question of union or combination of the Christian churches, a question which should be of interest to Christians everywhere. Because of the existing divisions the Christian church is powerless to exert real influence over many areas of our social and political life. Often in the mission field we find needless duplication of effort, which could be prevented by some sort of union of the Christian churches. Is there some practical plan for union which would allow for personal differences in forms of worship, creed, etc.?

Dr. E. Stanley Jones has proposed such a plan, which he has named Federal Union. Under this plan all Christian churches would combine certain of their activities, such as foreign missions, home missions, religious education, and others to be mutually agreed upon; yet each individual denomination and church would retain its identity, its own organization, its own creed, and would follow its own form of worship as a branch of the United Church. A Federally United Church would speak with a united voice for all Christian churches in a manner decided upon by the United Church.

Many articles have recently appeared in leading periodicals on the Crusade for a United Church, and many broadcasts and rebroadcasts have been made concerning it. Perhaps some of you heard the broadcast on "The Town Meeting of the Air," with Dr. Jones and Gov. Youngdahl presenting the Federal Union Plan. Since Dr. Jones left four and a half months ago, he has held missions of evangelism in India, Malaya, the Philippines, Japan, Korea and China. He is, at present, carrying on his Indian Ashrams. In some instances he presented Federal Union in these lands and in every instance it aroused great interest. There is every indication that Federal Union of Churches is becoming a world movement.

Forget the address?

THERE'S an easy way to do almost everything. And when you forget a business address or telephone number, the easy way to find it is to look in the Yellow Pages. For example—you remember the name of a hardware dealer but forget the address. Just turn to HARDWARE DEALERS in the Yellow Pages, find the name, and there's the address and telephone number. It's the easy way, too, to find a name when you know only the address.

You'll find the Yellow Pages equally helpful when you want to locate—

- Local dealers who sell nationally advertised services or trademarked products.
- Manufacturers or wholesalers when you buy in large quantities.
- Where to buy almost any product or any service, including those that are unusual and hard to find.
- Business or professional men with common surnames, like Smith or Jones. You'll find them faster in the Classified.

Well Known Publisher Undergoes Operation

Friends in this vicinity of Bergen F. Morgan, well known as a newspaper publisher in Champaign and Vermilion counties, were informed late last week that he had undergone an operation on Thursday, July 7, for the amputation of his right leg above the knee. He is the husband of the former Frances Herren of Georgetown.

Mr. Morgan is publisher of the Casey, Ill., Daily Reporter, and formerly published the Homer Enterprise and the Potomac Leader. He has published the Casey daily for about six years.

Mr. Morgan suffered an injury to his right foot in March and, due to a circulatory ailment, the operation was found necessary. He is in Barnes Hospital, St. Louis.

Georgetown Briefs

Miss Eulah Felgenhauer, who was graduated from Georgeton High School this year, has been employed by the Grade School Board of Education as secretary to Supt. Ralph Miller of the elementary schools. She began her work Tuesday, July 12.

Through the Disabled American Veterans' Auxiliary at Danville, an effort is being made to locate a Fred Richards, who is believed to be living in the vicinity of Georgetown. An appeal for a search for Mr. Richards came from his niece at Colton, Calif., to the Danville organization and was forwarded to Thomas Fazio of Georgetown from an acquaintance in the DAV Auxiliary.

The death of Mr. Richards' brother, James Benton Richards, a war veteran, occurred in California on Jan. 30, 1949, and he was buried in Sawtelle Veterans cemetery. The latter was born in 1882 near Georgetown or Danville, it is believed by his relatives. James Richards married Margaret Fitzgerald in 1914. He is survived by his wife and daughter, Constance Richards Hannaford, of Colton. The daughter is seeking to locate her uncle to inform him of her father's death. Information may be forwarded to the daughter at 464 North 4th St., Colton, Calif., or contact Thomas Fazio at Fazio's Department Store.

Husband, Wife to Teach

G. JACK SCHULER

MRS. G. JACK SCHULER

Mr. and Mrs. G. Jack Schuler of Allentown, Pa., are the new music teachers for the Georgetown High School. Mr. Schuler, who holds a Master's degree from Illinois Wesleyan University and who later was a pupil of Jerome Stowell of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, has been hired by the High School Board of Education to direct the high school music courses. His wife, also a graduate of Illinois Wesleyan, and a former student in the Guy Maier Class for piano teachers, has been hired by the Board of Education of Grade School District 177 to teach music in the two grade schools and the Junior High School.

R. Leo Smith of Los Angeles, a former resident of Georgetown, arrived last Thursday for a visit with relatives and friends, including his sisters, Mrs. Ross Macklin and Mrs. Buren Airhart. He is connected with the motion picture studios of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Coming from Chicago two days later was his brother, Robert R. Smith, of Lincoln, Neb. The brothers had not seen each other for 13 years.

On Thursday evening, July 14, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey G. Turner of Pittsburgh will arrive in Georgetown for a few days. Mrs. Turner is another sister, the former Miss Louvina Smith. This is the first time that the five children were able to be together since the death of their father, the late R. P. Smith, 23 years ago.

Members of the Georgetown Lions Club will stage their annual family picnic supper next Monday night at the Double-X Cabins just south of town. Elmo Snook, chairman of the supper committee, states that cold fried chicken and corn on the cob will be among the delicacies.

The supper will be served at about 7:30, and will be potluck style. The newly elected officers will be installed at the business meeting, which will follow the supper. Wives and families of members will be the guests of honor.

A daughter was born Tuesday, July 12, to Mr. and Mrs. Guy Barton Simmons at Carle Memorial Hospital, Urbana. Mrs. Simmons formerly was Miss Sona Lou Zamberletti, and made her home with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Edmonds of Georgetown, before her marriage.

An 8¼-pound son, Robert Gale, was born July 7 to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wilson of Terre Haute. The announcement was received by Mr. and Mrs. David Reagan of Georgetown. Mrs. Wilson is the former Mrs. Kathryn Reagan, widow of the late David Reagan Jr.

The first annual Homecoming of Primrose Camp, Royal Neighbors, will be held at Georgetown City Park, Sunday, July 31. All members of the camps, including the Juveniles and their families, are invited and urged to come.

There will be a basket dinner at noon and ice cream at the close of the day. All attending should bring table service for dinner and for the ice cream. There will be a program during the afternoon, with prizes for contests. There will also be a prize for the person who has been a member the longest period of years. The camp has 200 members.

Seventeen members attended the July meeting last Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Alda Brown. Mrs. Leota Snyder was assistant hostess. The vice-oracle, Mrs. Elsie Spicer, conducted the meeting.

Games were played and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Anna Winland, Mrs. Anna McCumber, Mrs. Mae Richardson and Mrs. Clara Brown. Refreshments of angel cake, ice cream and iced fruit drink were served.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Clara Wolcott, Wednesday, Sept. 7.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bromley, Mr. and Mrs. James Bromley, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Bromley and Miss Grace McClaude attended a Saturday evening picnic at Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Brookshier of Westville were Monday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Opal Brookshier.

Mrs. Lena Gahnke of Chicago is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Byerley.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Christenson and daughter of Valejo, Calif., have been visiting their grandmother, Mrs. W. S. Campbell.

Soybean Association Asks for Support

— Makes Drive For Better Price Position

(Special)

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — "Vermillion County's soybean producers are being asked to invest in the American Soybean Association this fall so that the Association might carry on a program of getting more money for soybeans for the producer," announces J. E. Johnson, Champaign.

"The plan for financing the program for soybeans is similar to the program for cotton sponsored by the National Cotton Council. The American Soybean Association is asking the buyer to collect a small sum—one-fifth cent per bushel or 20c per 100 bushels—on the soybeans he purchases',' Johnson said.

Mr. Johnson stressed the fact that although the amount is small where each grower is concerned, it is the total from all growers that will give the association the funds to get more per bushel for soybeans for the producer.

He pointed out that if the Association in one year succeeded in increasing the price of soybeans only 5c per bushel, it would mean $162,920 additional income to the producers of soybeans in Vermillion county. This amount would be a return on an investment of $6,516 for the county on the basis of the 1948 yield of 3,258,400 bushels.

"The need for such a program could not be any greater than at the moment," he said. "With the prospects for acreage control on corn and other midwest crops being what they are, this area will need soybeans as a further cash crop if the price is favorable enough. Favorable prices will come only through joint efforts of the producers themselves in support of the American Soybean Association."

Paul C. Hughes, field service director for the Association, is in Illinois at the present time contacting handlers and asking them to agree to collect 20c on each 100 bushels which they purchase. The success of the program depends upon the co-operation of the handler in collecting this investment from the producers with a minimum of expense," Mr. Johnson added.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Windy Sure "Stopped The Show"!

The other night a bunch of us were over at Judge Cunningham's watching a swell vaudeville program on his new television set. It came in fine, but just once, the screen got a little streaky.

Before the Judge could touch the knob to bring it into focus, old Windy Taylor starts fooling around with the antenna connection. "I can fix that!" he says.

Windy fixed it all right. He "stopped the show" for us, and Buzz Ellis had to come over and do a $20 repair job. I understand Windy feels so bad, that he's paying the bill and has apologized to the Judge for acting so smart.

From where I sit, it pays to practice a little restraint whenever we get the urge to meddle. Whether it's television or a person's right to enjoy a temperate glass of sparkling beer now and then—let's get a good clear "picture" of the real situation before we cause more harm than good.

Insurance Benefits Due War Veterans

(Special)

CHICAGO—There are some 513,000 veterans of World War I who are carrying government converted insurance and who may be entitled to additional benefits under their insurance contract, it is pointed out by the state service department of the American Legion.

All government policies carry a waiver provision if the veteran is permanently and totally disabled, and for World War I veterans this means a waiver of premiums plus payment of $5.75 per thousand per month on the amount of insurance in force when the waiver went into effect.

Lester R. Benston, director of rehabilitation, states that "in Illinois we have more than 7,000 WW I men who are rated permanently and totally disabled and any of these veterans who have government policies in force should make application on VA 9-579 so that the waiver and monthly payment can be made to the policy holder.

"All Legion Post service officers are being asked to check all such cases. These service officers also are being asked to check cases of more than 1,000 WW II veterans who have been rated permanent and total, who might also be entitled to a waiver, although no monthly payment is provided under this contract, even though the waiver is granted.

"It is felt that many veterans of both wars do not realize that their government insurance policies give them this protection in the event of permanent and total disability."

MRS. RUTH RADOMSKI

Mrs. Ruth Radomski, wife of Walter Radomski, Georgetown, who was elected a director of the 18th District of the American Legion Auxiliary at the recent District convention at Kankakee, has a long record of service in the Legion Auxiliary.

She was district music chairman in 1946-47; district Americanism chairman in 1947-48; and alternate district director in 1948-49. She has twice served as president of the Georgetown Unit, having been a member of the unit's executive board for the last 12 years. QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS FOR VETERANS

This is another in a series of questions and answers regarding the rights of ex-servicemen and their families, as answered by Howard Bond, Veterans Employment Representative, Illinois State Employment Service, 220 N. Vermilion St., Danville. In this service, theISES attempts to answer questions most frequently asked by ex-servicemen and women.

Question—I am a veteran of World War II and have a bad conduct discharge, which is neither honorable nor dishonorable, but VA has denied me compensation because of it. Isn't VA bound by the character of discharge given me by the Army?

Answer—No. Under existing law, to be entitled to benefit under laws administered by VA, a World War II veteran must have been discharged or released from active service under conditions other than dishonorable. Where discharge, as in your case, is neither honorable nor dishonorable, the VA must make a determination as to whether it is under other than dishonorable conditions. If you believe that an error or injustice was done in giving you this type of discharge, you have the right to ask for a review under Sec. 207, Public Law 601, 79th Congress.

Question—I am considered totally disabled for insurance purposes but receive only 20 percent for disability compensation payments. Can my award be increased?

Answer — Your award can be increased only if the service-connected disability is shown to have increased in severity. However, you could file a claim for total disability non-service-connected pension and perhaps receive a pension, instead of compensation, in the amount of $60 per month. For insurance purposes, there may be other disabilities, not service-connected, which, when combined with your service-connected condition, produce total disability.

Question — Would the amount of compensation I received from the Veterans Administration be affected if I served overseas during the war?

Answer—The amount of compensation payable is predicated on the degree of disability and not on place of service.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS FOR VETERANS

This is another in a series of questions and answers regarding the rights of ex-servicemen and their families, as answered by Howard Bond, Veterans Employment Representative, Illinois State Employment Service, 220 N. Vermilion St., Danville. In this service, theISES attempts to answer questions most frequently asked by ex-servicemen and women.

Question—My wife and I both were in service and now we'd like to homestead in Alaska. Can we count both her service and mine for homestead entry purposes?

Answer—Yes. Public Law 82 (May 31, 1947) provides that husband and wife who both are entitled to service credit are permitted to aggregate their periods of service and count them as one for homesteading purposes. Veterans interested in obtaining acreage in Alaska may request the circular "Answers to Questions by Servicemen about Land Settlement in Alaska" (or specific information about other available lands open for entry) from the General Land Office, Department of Interior, Washington 25, D. C.

Question — Are Filipinos listed as "missing" during the war entitled to any benefits under the U. S. Government?

Answer—Yes. Public Law 241 extends benefits of the Missing Persons Act to certain members of the military forces of the Commonwealth of the Philippines.

Question — I have been drawing $57.50 each month from my $10,000 war risk insurance policy since my discharge from the army after WW I. Are such payments discontinued when the $10,000 is exhausted.

Answer — No. Payments may be continued for the remainder of your life provided your total disability remains unchanged.

SPRINGFIELD—The importance of proper diet during hot weather is emphasized by Dr. Roland R. Cross, state director of public health. Pointing out that the human body requires an increased supply of liquids, he suggests the free use of water, fruit juices and milk to replace the additional loss of body moisture that occurs in hot weather.

Most persons will do well to cut down on fried foods, pastries and other hard to digest foods during the summer, supplanting them with more fruits, vegetables, lean meats and dairy products, Dr. Cross asserted.

Gov. Stevenson has signed three bills passed by the 66th General Assembly to set up a separate board of trustees for Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. The board will be composed of seven members appointed by the governor, with the state superintendent of public instruction as an ex-officio member. Herefofore, Southern Illinois University has been one of five state schools managed by the state teachers college board.

An acute need for new teachers exists in Illinois despite the fact that 80 percent of the graduates of the four state teachers' colleges and Southern Illinois University are entering the educational field, according to Noble J. Puffer, state director of registration and education.

Production from the Illinois oil fields during the first six months of this year, estimated at 31,516,000 barrels, shows but little change from the 31,611,000 barrels produced in the corresponding period in 1948, according to the monthly report of the State Geological Survey. Drilling, more active this year than last, continued to increase in June, with a total of 263 wells completed during the month. Daily average flow in June was 177,000 barrels, the same as in May, with an estimated June production of 5,297,000 barrels.

June drilling operations resulted in discovery of three new oil pools: Dudley in Edgar county, Weaver in Clark county, and Ste. Marie East in Jasper county.

Cave-In-Rock State Park extends a mile along the Illinois bank of the Ohio River in Hardin county. At this point Illinois Route 1 ends at a ferry which crosses the river to connect with Kentucky Highway 91.

The huge cavern that gives the park its name is believed to have been made by a subterranean stream flowing into the Ohio ages ago. The mouth of the cave is 60 feet across, and the average width, 40 feet; the cavity runs back into the river bluff for 108 feet.

Lurid tales are told of lawless deeds that made this a place to be feared during pioneer days. Cave-In-Rock, on a sweeping bend of the great river, was a perfect base of operations for the renegades who began preying on river traffic shortly after the close of the Revolutionary War. Lack of highways at that period diverted practically all travel to the water route.

After vigilantes finally put an end to river piracy, the cave was for a time the headquarters of a band of counterfeiters who mined lead nearby and shaped it into coins. For the past hundred years the cave has served as a natural curiosity, attracting thousands of tourists annually.

ENTERTAINMENT IN BOTH THE MODERN and old-time manner is expected to attract 3,000,000 visitors to the Chicago Railroad Fair this summer. Many new exhibits in the spectacular 50-acre exposition on the lakefront afford a great variety in entertainment and educational features to Fairgoers.

A glittering new ice show and a thrilling exhibition of water sports will vie for attention throughout the summer with such historic attractions as a San Francisco cable car and the rip-roaring frontier town of "Gold Gulch," where a "gambling den," an assay office, old-time bank, barber shop, printing office for the town's newspaper, a courthouse, jail and leather emporium will all be open for business as in the Gold Rush days.

New scenes have been added to the popular "Wheels a-Rolling" pageant, including a "Buffalo Bill" circus parade, led by the famous ringmaster astride his white horse, and a scene featuring the bridal coach which was built in London 111 years ago and brought to Nova Scotia on the same ship with the new governor general of Canada and was used to carry his bride and himself from the seaport to their new home 25 miles away.

Farm Co-Op Pays 6 Percent Dividend

—Farmers in Vermilion county are receiving checks totaling $4,806 as dividends on their stock in the National Farm Loan Association of Danville, according to an announcement by Russell D. Sanders, secretary-treasurer.

The dividend of 6 percent was declared by the association directors recently and is payable to stockholders on record at the close of business, May 31, 1949.

The payment of this dividend has the effect of reducing the average interest rate paid this year by the association members to 3.6 percent on the $1,300,000 outstanding in mortgage loans, the association's official pointed out. Savings of about $28,000 have been returned to members in dividends since 1944.

The management of this credit cooperative, owned solely by farmers and operated for their sole benefit, is vested in the board of directors elected by the members. The present directors are: J. H. Boardman, Hoopeston, president; Clarence F. Burwash, Rossville, vice-president; Charles W. Matthews, Rossville; William H. Mathis, Rankin and Michael J. Tighe, Fairmount.

To punish ourselves for others' faults, is superlative folly. The mental arrow shot from another's bow is practically harmless, unless our own thought barbs it.—Mary Baker Eddy.

True dignity abides with him alone
Who, in the silent hour of inward thought,
Can still suspect, and still revere
In lowliness of heart.
